JOY!

By CHARLES SUTTON

Perhaps they weren't typical locker-room scenes: the winners pouring champagne all over each other in gleeful abandon, the losers sitting listlessly and glassy-eyed under deepening layers of gloom.

Executive suites don't quite lend themselves to such extremes of behavior.

Yet you couldn't mistake the joy in the Los Angeles offices of the Southern California Gas Co. Wednesday, any more than you could misinterpret the long faces over at the Southern California Edison Co.

* * * *

AFTER a year-and-a-half-long battle, in which 28,000 pages of transcript were taken and 897 exhibits were submitted, the gas company was told that a plan it favored for stepping up gas deliveries to Southern California had won the approval of the staff of the Federal Power Commission; while the opposition plan, put forward by Edison and the Los Angeles Water and Power Department, had been rejected.

But if the staff recommendation marked the end of a long battle, the war was by no mean over. And Edison, along with Water and Power and Gulf Pipeline Co., its other partner, still is hopeful of getting a reversal when the commission itself rules on the matter.

* * * *

"IT'S A LONG way from being finished," declared Robert O'Brien, vice president of Edison. "If a compromise is not reached, the dispute is bound to go to the courts." And that could take some years.

On the other hand, the gas company and its partners—Pacific Lighting Co. (the corporate parent of Southern California Gas), El Paso Natural Gas Co., and Transwestern Pipeline Co.—hailed the recommendation as "a clear and substantial victory

NASA Selects 6 to Make 'Field Trips' to the Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Two college professors, a pair of medical doctors, a rocket expert and a geologist have been chosen by the U.S. space agency to make field trips to the moon.

At the same time, informed sources said, the space agency is expected to announce soon the selection of astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell to make the world's longest flight into space—a two-week earth-orbiting voyage aboard a Gemini ship—in early 1966.

The six new "scientists-astronauts," who join 28 other space pilots the United States already has in training, will be introduced by the space agency in a news conference Tuesday at its Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston.

Agency officials Saturday night confirmed the selection of:

—Dr. Edward G. Gibson, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., and 29-year-old father of two. Gibson, now living in San Clemente, Calif., and employed by the Aeronutronic Division of Ford Motor Co., received his master's degree in jet-propulsion engineering at California Institute of Technology. "If I had a hobby," he said, "it would be astrophysics."

Russ Assail Johnson at U.N. Session

Adlai Answers Fedorenko With Sharp Rebuke

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Soviet Union accused President Johnson Saturday of distorting the facts about Viet Nam in "an odd sermon," and drew a prompt rebuke from U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

Speaking at conclusion of a two-day special session commemorating the 20th anniversary of the United Nations, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko charged that the United States was trying to undermine the U.N.

* * * *

IN THE only belligerent words heard in the marathon speech-making, Fedorenko assailed President Johnson's Friday talk.

He asserted that American actions in Southeast Asia and in the Dominican Republic violated the U.N. Charter.

He said President Johnson's appeal to the U.N. to aid in solving the Vietnamese conflict was a distortion of the situation.

Ambassador Stevenson, the concluding speaker, departed from his previously prepared text to make a brief but biting response to the Russian.

* * * *

"THIS IS a commemorative session," Stevenson said, "though for a moment this morning I was not sure whether we were commemorating the birth of the United Nations or the birth of the cold war.

"I, for one, prefer the spirit of the Charter, and I suspect that most of you do, too.

"I must say that the Soviet Union might do more good by supporting peaceful settlement than by attacking my country for defending small countries from aggresion and, indeed, by aiding the aggressor."

* * * *

FEDORENKO'S attack, sparking an otherwise quiet ceremonial affair, alleged that the United Nations' financial crisis was artificially created by the United States.

He demanded an end to what he called American aggressions in Southeast Asia and the Caribbean.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States declared Saturday night that Red terrorist acts and threats in South Viet Nam will only strengthen American determination to help prevent a Communist takeover there.

The U.S. statement was issued by the State Department following the reprisal execution of an American GI prisoner by the Communists, a bloody terrorist bombing of a Saigon restaurant and threat by Hanoi, to kill Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and others.

"These Communist threats to intimidate of course will not succeed," the U.S. statement said. "Our determination to help the embattled people of South Viet Nam to avoid falling under a regime which is capable of such brutality will only be strengthened."

Afro-Asia Summit Delayed

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Afro-Asian Summit Conference was postponed Saturday until next Nov. 5 in Algiers. The move was seen as a blow to Communist China, and came only eight days after the swift overthrow of Algerian President Ahmed ben Bella.

A decision was made by the Conference Standing Committee. It agreed that the foreign ministers would meet here Oct. 28 to make final preparations for the first Afro-Asian summit in 10 years.

The development came less than 24 hours after a bomb blast ripped the building where the conference was to have been held.

The postponement also was viewed as a bitter blow to the new Algerian regime headed by Col. Houari Boumedienne.

Poll Nominates Reagan, Elects Him Over Brown

By BOB HOUSER
I. P-T Political Editor

Actor Ronald Reagan beat out three other Republicans for his party's gubernatorial nomination and then defeated Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the general election, in an early June statewide poll by Opinion Research of California.

And although Republicans rated Reagan their number-one choice, he ranked fourth among four Republicans pitted against Brown. All four defeated Brown in the poll, by the following margins: Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, by 19.8 percentage points; former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, by 9.8; former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, by 8.9, and Reagan by 5.1 points.

* * * *

THE LONG Beach-based polling firm noted that many respondents indicated they did not vote for Kuchel because they believed that he would not be a candidate.

The poll's three-man Republican "primary" showed Reagan, 38.3%; Christopher, 23.2% and Knight, 21.4%. While the Reagan preference is clear in this pairing, it also shows that "middle of the road" candidates Christopher and Knight together get 6.3% more of the vote than Reagan.

Opinion Research notes such a division in an actual primary, splitting the liberal and moderate vote, would give conservative Reagan an excellent chance to take the primary. But if Reagan faces only one moderate opponent, the other moderates could come to the aid of the moderate to defeat Reagan.

The statewide poll also took readings on voter sentiment on Gov. Brown's budget (should be approved, 22.3%, should not be approved, 40.4%); on the correctness of the courts' one man-one vote reapportionment order (yes, 41.8%, no, 27.5%); on sentiment about reapportioning the State Senate (favor, 51.6%, oppose, 33.3%); on reinstatement of foreign farm labor (favor, 70.5%, oppose, 21.4%) and on state college salary hikes (no increase, 20.3%; 10% for increase, 40.9%;

Paper Raps Russ Rocket Readiness

MOSCOW (AP)—The military newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) Saturday complained about shortcomings in the Soviet rocket forces. It said many units were unprepared for the next war.

The sharply-critical article was the latest in a rash of complaints about the rocket troops' preparedness published in the Defense Ministry organ.

* * * *

THE TONE OF THE CRITICISM suggested that a thorough inspection of rocket units had turned up widespread shortcomings.

Krasnaya Zvezda warned: "The next war will demand the greatest stress on moral and physical resources, and will take place in unusually complicated circumstances."

Some commanders were conducting rocket-training exercises "as though combat moves will be made only by one side, and the 'enemy' will either be idle or will display a passivity that will be to the trainee's advantage," the newspaper complained.

* * * *

AMONG THE SHORTCOMINGS the newspaper has discussed in articles published recently were:

Excessive paperwork in target-tracking centers that hampers the efficient handling of combat missions.

Duplication of effort by various control centers, and lack of coordination among them.

Misuse of latest electronic computing equipment by officers who "try to work in the old-fashioned way."

Storm Winds, Blowing Sand Sweep Desert

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Blinding sandstorms snarled desert area traffic Saturday, closing U.S. 80 and 99 in the El Centro area, where winds hit 70 mph.

The story was virtually the same from Indio to Palm Springs and in the Lancaster-Palmdale areas. Campers and trailers posed a special problem in these areas.

THE TRAPPED GENERATION

Adultery Like Measles to Middle-Aged Males

By THELMA C. PURTELL

Adultery is fast becoming the measles of this middle generation; the men of the middle generation, that is. It is something males catch, no worse than the common cold, and the sooner they get it over with, the better.

The theory, as expounded by a number of thoroughly reliable doctors and other professional counselors, goes like this: every man alive, sometime between his 40th and 55th birthday, will commit adultery. He will be unfaithful either in fact, or in the Biblical sense that he is only deterred from direct action because he cannot afford it, because childhood teachings forbid it, or because he cannot find anyone to commit adultery with.

Everyone is quite aware now that it is considered broad minded to think adultery amusing. But, like stepping on a banana peel, adultery is entertaining only when it happens to somebody else.

Adultery can bring anguish to the partner who is betrayed, injure innocent children, destroy families, and also cause death. It harms the adulterer. He reacts by becoming guilty, and defensive, or guilty and callous.

Seventh in a Series

A great many adventures in unfaithfulness begin harmlessly. The man is testing himself; he has great faith in his powers of resistance, he is lonely and only looking for companionship.

When he realizes what has happened, will he call an abrupt halt and stop of his own accord? Counselors say he will not. Frankly, he is enjoying himself. He may imagine that this is his finest hour.

If there is anything classic about the pattern of adultery in the middle years, it is how necessary it is for the male to be certain that his wife knows about his defection.

L.A.C. Says:
If Business Slows

One of our readers has asked if I am deliberately trying to bring on a depression. He referred to recent columns in which I showed stock market fluctuations and prevailing conditions before past recessions occurred. It caused me to refer to a March 1964 Reader's Digest article: "The Dangerous Game of 'Let's Pretend'." It said: "There has developed in this land a grave and crippling hypnosis whose outward signs are easy words of comfort, a dangerous rationalization of glossing over of unpleasant truths. It indicates the fateful notion that if you pretend long enough and hard enough things are not so; they will miraculously become not so."

In this concern over prevailing conditions I find the Wall Street Journal equally concerned over our future economy. In its June 7 issue it gives charts showing how personal debt has increased the past 15 years compared to the nation's Gross National Product. It shows in 1949 personal debt owed by business and individuals was $154 billion, equal to 73% of GNP. By 1955 the debt was up to $402 billion or 100% of GNP. By the end of 1964 the debt had increased to $811 billion, equal to 130% of GNP—meaning all the goods and income produced by the entire nation in that year.

As governments continue their Great Society and state programs the politicians point to the increase in income and savings. But the Journal chart estimates the great part of these savings is held by a relatively small percentage of families. A University of Michigan study estimates that less than 14% of U. S. families hold $5,000 or more in savings. It is among the other 84% of the families that the greatest amount of personal debt is owed.

Object of the long Journal article was to point out the danger of this debt should there be a slowdown in the economy with many families unable to meet their daily needs, and also pay off their debts. It estimates that the cost of paying principal and interest on these personal debts is now 21% of the average family income. In 1955 it was 17% and in 1949 it was 11%.

At the same time it is encouraging to find fully half of U. S. families owe no installment debt at all. But this leads to the conclusion that the other half is carrying debt-servicing burdens of great proportions. These are also the families who would first feel the pressure of a slowdown in the economy. The danger is that the mounting debt burden is largely due to easier terms and granting of credit to less qualified debtors.

Much the same concern is shown regarding business loans such as apartment houses. A large insurance company executive remarks: "We're making loans to companies we would have turned down flat a couple of years ago." The reason, he explains, is that "we are under extreme pressure to find investment outlets." It is also pointed out that some automobile buyers are now given 42 months to pay compared with recent 36-month limits. Altogether it gives a picture of reality that causes concern that our spiraling debt can be a dangerous factor. It is foolish to pretend a serious problem will just go away when the problem is caused by unsound principles.—L.A.C.

(L.A.C.'s column, by L. A. Collins Sr., like other columns, is an expression of personal opinion and does not necessarily reflect the considered opinion of this newspaper.)

Policeman Beaten; Thugs Get Cheers

A group of young toughs assaulted a policeman Saturday while more than a dozen witnesses stood around and cheered them on, according to Torrance police.

Knocked down and kicked unconscious was Lt. Swayne Johnson, 51, night watch commander, Torrance Police Department.

Investigating detectives said Lt. Johnson, who was off duty, had stopped at the Dunker's Delight, 3948 Sepulveda Blvd., shortly after 2 a.m. for a cup of coffee before going home.

THE HOODLUMS jumped Johnson after calling him over to their car in the parking lot at the drive-in restaurant. Witnesses stood around hooting and shouting encouraging remarks as the assailants knocked Lt. Johnson, who was dressed in a business suit, to the ground and kicked him about the head and body, police said.

While the attack was going on, the thugs repeatedly stated, "We know who you are! We know who you are!"

The lieutenant was later treated for cuts and bruises.

Unions Gird for Gains in Aerospace

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
I. P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Leaders of two huge aerospace unions strapped on their bargaining guns here last week for what they feel will be a hot fight with the industry's giants.

The top brass in the United Auto Workers and the International Association of Machinists conferred here for two days to work out last-minute strategy. They wound up by letting it be known that management is in for some hard-nosed bargaining.

The big showdown may well come with the Douglas Aircraft Co., which has sizable blocs of workers represented by the two unions. Douglas' contracts with both unions expire July 15.

* * * *

THE UNIONISTS have kept their wage and fringe demands close to their chests, but UAW President Walter Reuther and incoming IAM President P. L. (Roy) Siemiller made it clear that they won't be bound by President Johnson's 3.2% wage hike guideline.

Reuther and Siemiller are determined to obtain what they call "parity." This they describe as bringing aerospace wage and fringe benefits up to the level of other industries — particularly that of the auto industry, in which the UAW has won increases over the Presidential guideline.

They claim that the average aerospace base wage is 13 cents an hour behind the auto industry's $3.08 hourly average pay, and that fringe benefits lag even more.

* * * *

THE UNIONS also are determined to improve the industry's job-protection picture. They want guarantees against downward shifts in job classification during slack periods, plus an industry-government-union program of retraining for laid-off workers.

The current IAM strike against Aerojet-General plants in Azusa and Sacramento is regarded as an opening skirmish in the bargaining with the larger aerospace industries. The four-week-old strike has idled some 4,000 employes.

In the Aerojet dispute, the union and company are believed to be close to agreement in wages and fringe benefits, even though the union has not countered a management offer of a 51-cent-an-hour package over a three-year period. The offer would grant eight-cent-an-hour base wage increases in three annual increments.

* * * *

AEROJET and IAM seem to be farthest apart on a company demand for a cutback in the number of union stewards in the plants, and the union's seeking of greater layoff protection, including the job classification issue.

The Douglas negotiations are expected to be more of a pattern-setter for the industry than Aerojet because Douglas has contracts with both unions, it is in both airframe and space manufacture, and its contracts expire first among the giants.

* * * *

OTHER major West Coast contract expirations:

Lockheed-IAM, July 23; Boeing-IAM, Sept. 15; North American-UAW, Sept. 30; Convair-IAM, Oct. 8; Ryan-UAW, Oct. 15.

About 350,000 workers are involved in the upcoming negotiations, for which preliminary talks have already begun at Douglas and Lockheed.

The current contracts were reached three years ago.

* * * *

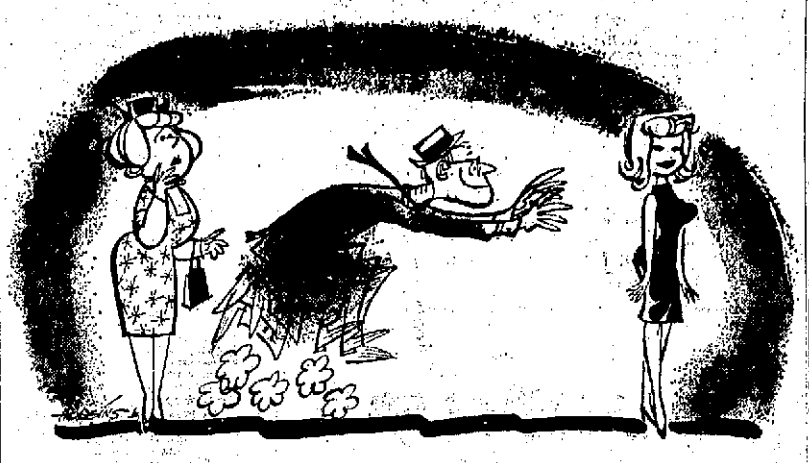

ONE OF the chief weapons the union bargainers will use against management is a thick dossier on company profits, as computed by UAW-IAM researchers.

The union researchers claim that the industry's overall, after-taxes profits have climbed to over 12% of net worth from a low of 7.5% in 1960, and the unions feel their workers should have a larger slice of the profit pie.

Both Reuther and Siemiller claim what they seek won't add substantially to the nation's space bill, because output per man-hour is increasing rapidly due largely to the automation that has displaced many of their unions' members.

THE TRAPPED GENERATION

First of all, since it always seems to be easier to be negative, there are a number of things she cannot do and must not do.

At this moment, she cannot get her husband "back." Whether he is up to his eyes in "that first love, that true love" or busy taking out his resentments against life, there is not one single act—gentle, shrewish, forgiving, conciliatory, rancorous which he will not misinterpret or ignore. He will react like the adolescent he is emulating.

A wife must not lose her own integrity, her own dignity.

Should she try the device of breaking out into sexy nightgowns and candlelight, she is infinitely pathetic. It is a bitter lesson, but she must recall that sex is not equated with love. She must not let her own hopes lead her down the garden path of endowing him with any of the tender emotions she may feel.

* * * *

IF SHE IS not strong enough to face her rejection by herself, she must look for help. She must not take out her unhappiness on herself and her children.

She must listen to the counselors, her pastor, a psychiatrist; if necessary she should go away for complete help for a time, if it is suggested. Whatever she does is better than allowing herself to perish. For this is a very real, ever present danger. Women do die, every day of the year, because they think they can no longer face life alone, deserted, unloved.

A woman must not be ashamed or allow herself to be taunted into shame for her natural jealousy and sense of outrage. She would be neurotic and in need of treatment if she did not feel angry and abandoned.

* * * *

STARTING divorce proceedings immediately without consideration and advice is not recommended. The wife is in a state of shock. If this has been her first reaction, let her move away for a while, anything to give herself time to collect her thoughts and emotions.

She must, above all, guard against a sense of guilt. A wife tearfully confessing her faults and creeping around the edges of her husband's life, will be accepted at her own, low evaluation.

A woman may, of course, decide she will have an affair herself. This is not recommended, either. A reputable therapist would never suggest such a thing; if he did, a woman should leave his office at once. All it can accomplish is to make her feel guilty and more miserable than ever. It has never made a man come rushing home. And on the purely practical side, it will leave her open for blackmail, give him grounds for divorce, and other unpleasant side-results which she may be too protected to anticipate.

* * * *

IS THERE anything at all this woman can do?

Having caught her breath, a woman can live through this as she has everything else, from menses to menopause.

It is not a bad idea to take a leaf from the rules of Alcoholics Anonymous and only try to get through 24 hours at a time.

She can dress up, ride her hobbies, rediscover her talents, generally become the girl she used to be (if she has slipped) so long as she is doing it for her own personal satisfaction, realizing that it will not affect her marriage relationship one way or another right now. Anything is better than sitting home brooding.

PSYCHIATRISTS and pastors say that in the end most men make their adjustment, and ask to return to their families. An eminent gynecologist says that most affairs burn themselves out between a few months and four years.

One more thing may happen. All passion lost, there may be nothing to settle for but companionship, and not being alone at age 50 or 60.

Automobile Is Research Subject

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The automobile has become "the symbol and the symptom" of much that is right—and wrong—in American society, says the head of a research center that is going to study the auto.

Sterling T. Tooker, president of the center, says the research will include automobile safety features and the physiological, psychological, cultural and population-density factors in accidents.

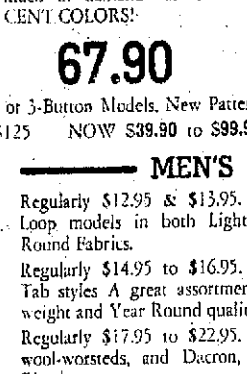

A crisis has developed, Tooker said, "because the exploding use of automobiles has exceeded our environment's adjustment to it."

L.A.C. Says:
If Business Slows

One of our readers has asked if I am deliberately trying to bring on a depression. He referred to recent columns in which I showed stock market fluctuations and prevailing conditions before past recessions occurred. It caused me to refer to a March 1964 Reader's Digest article: "The Dangerous Game of 'Let's Pretend'." It said: "There has developed in this land a grave and crippling hypnosis whose outward signs are easy words of comfort, a dangerous rationalization of glossing over of unpleasant truths. It indicates the fateful notion that if you pretend long enough and hard enough things are not so; they will miraculously become not so."

In this concern over prevailing conditions I find the Wall Street Journal equally concerned over our future economy. In its June 7 issue it gives charts showing how personal debt has increased the past 15 years compared to the nation's Gross National Product. It shows in 1949 personal debt owed by business and individuals was $154 billion, equal to 73% of GNP. By 1955 the debt was up to $402 billion or 100% of GNP. By the end of 1964 the debt had increased to $811 billion, equal to 130% of GNP—meaning all the goods and income produced by the entire nation in that year.

As governments continue their Great Society and state programs the politicians point to the increase in income and savings. But the Journal chart estimates the great part of these savings is held by a relatively small percentage of families. A University of Michigan study estimates that less than 14% of U. S. families hold $5,000 or more in savings. It is among the other 84% of the families that the greatest amount of personal debt is owed.

Object of the long Journal article was to point out the danger of this debt should there be a slowdown in the economy with many families unable to meet their daily needs, and also pay off their debts. It estimates that the cost of paying principal and interest on these personal debts is now 21% of the average family income. In 1955 it was 17% and in 1949 it was 11%.

At the same time it is encouraging to find fully half of U. S. families owe no installment debt at all. But this leads to the conclusion that the other half is carrying debt-servicing burdens of great proportions. These are also the families who would first feel the pressure of a slowdown in the economy. The danger is that the mounting debt burden is largely due to easier terms and granting of credit to less qualified debtors.

Much the same concern is shown regarding business loans such as apartment houses. A large insurance company executive remarks: "We're making loans to companies we would have turned down flat a couple of years ago." The reason, he explains, is that "we are under extreme pressure to find investment outlets." It is also pointed out that some automobile buyers are now given 42 months to pay compared with recent 36-month limits. Altogether it gives a picture of reality that causes concern that our spiraling debt can be a dangerous factor. It is foolish to pretend a serious problem will just go away when the problem is caused by unsound principles.—L.A.C.

Policeman Beaten; Thugs Get Cheers

A group of young toughs assaulted a policeman Saturday while more than a dozen witnesses stood around and cheered them on, according to Torrance police.

Knocked down and kicked unconscious was Lt. Swayne Johnson, 51, night watch commander, Torrance Police Department.

Investigating detectives said Lt. Johnson, who was off duty, had stopped at the Dunker's Delight, 3948 Sepulveda Blvd., shortly after 2 a.m. for a cup of coffee before going home.

THE HOODLUMS jumped Johnson after calling him over to their car in the parking lot at the drive-in restaurant. Witnesses stood around shouting and shouting encouraging remarks as the assailants knocked Lt. Johnson, who was dressed in a business suit, to the ground and kicked him about the head and body, police said.

While the attack was going on, the thugs repeatedly stated, "We know who you are! We know who you are!"

The lieutenant was later treated for cuts and bruises.

A woman must not be ashamed or allow herself to be taunted into shame for her natural jealousy and sense of outrage. She would be neurotic and in need of treatment if she did not feel angry and abandoned.

* * * *

STARTING divorce proceedings immediately without consideration and advice is not recommended. The wife is in a state of shock. If this has been her first reaction, let her move away for a while, anything to give herself time to collect her thoughts and emotions.

She must, above all, guard against a sense of guilt. A wife tearfully confessing her faults and creeping around the edges of her husband's life, will be accepted at her own, low evaluation.

A woman may, of course, decide she will have an affair herself. This is not recommended, either. A reputable therapist would never suggest such a thing; if he did, a woman should leave his office at once. All it can accomplish is to make her feel guilty and more miserable than ever. It has never made a man come rushing home. And on the purely practical side, it will leave her open for blackmail, give him grounds for divorce, and other unpleasant side-results which she may be too protected to anticipate.

* * * *

IS THERE anything at all this woman can do?

Having caught her breath, a woman can live through this as she has everything else, from menses to menopause.

It is not a bad idea to take a leaf from the rules of Alcoholics Anonymous and only try to get through 24 hours at a time.

She can dress up, ride her hobbies, rediscover her talents, generally become the girl she used to be (if she has slipped) so long as she is doing it for her own personal satisfaction, realizing that it will not affect her marriage relationship one way or another right now. Anything is better than sitting home brooding.

PSYCHIATRISTS and pastors say that in the end most men make their adjustment, and ask to return to their families. An eminent gynecologist says that most affairs burn themselves out between a few months and four years.

One more thing may happen. All passion lost, there may be nothing to settle for but companionship, and not being alone at age 50 or 60.

Automobile Is Research Subject

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The automobile has become "the symbol and the symptom" of much that is right—and wrong—in American society, says the head of a research center that is going to study the auto.

Sterling T. Tooker, president of the center, says the research will include automobile safety features and the physiological, psychological, cultural and population-density factors in accidents.

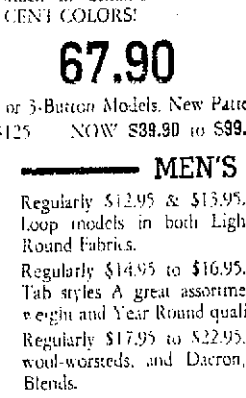

A crisis has developed, Tooker said, "because the exploding use of automobiles has exceeded our environment's adjustment to it."

and their puppet Liberation Front in South Viet Nam have acknowledged their responsibility for the execution of Sgt. Bennett and for the bombing of the My Canh restaurant in Saigon in which 44 persons—Vietnamese, Americans, French, Swiss and Filipinos—were killed and many more persons were injured.

"They have compounded their brutal conduct by publicly bragging about their action and making threats to carry out even more outrageous acts.

"We in America cannot help but be appalled by this show of wanton inhumanity.

"These Communist threats to intimidate of course will not succeed. Our determination to help the embattled people of South Viet Nam to avoid their falling under a regime which is capable of such brutality will only be strengthened.

"Hanoi's recent statements have surely also made it clear to anyone who may have had any doubt that it is the power directing the policies and actions of the Viet Cong, its instrument in South Viet Nam, and must bear full responsibility for these acts."

* * * *

U. S. OFFICIALS said the American statement was in response to the Bennett execution and restaurant-bombing episodes rather than the latest Hanoi radio broadcast, which declared Taylor, U. S. Commander William C. Westmroeland and the new South Vietnamese military junta leadership will share the same fate as Bennett.

However the officials said the U. S. statement still applies.

Earlier Rep. Gerald R. Ford, of Michigan, the House Republican leader, had urged President Johnson to "harden the U. S. attitude toward North Viet Nam," blockading her ports and stepping up air attacks. He called for "a mighty United States military air offensive" against Communist strength in both North and South Viet Nam.

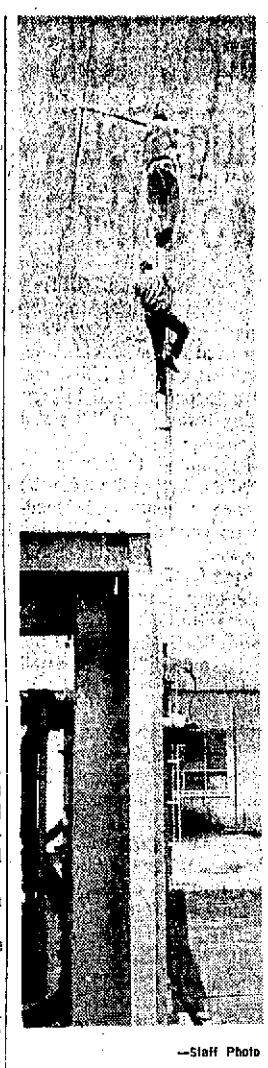

SAIGON (UPI)—More than 2,000 Communist guerrillas swept down on government strongholds t othe sound of bugles Saturday in two "human wave" attacks reminiscent of Chinese charges in the Korean war.

The attacks—one of them only 15 miles from Saigon—signaled resumption of the Viet Cong's monsoon offensive.

The now Communist drive came as the casualty toll from Friday's Saigon floating-restaurant bombing rose to 122, including 42 dead. The American toll was 12 dead and 15 wounded.

A new mystery blast at Bien Hoa airbase and a string of other incidents raised the figure of American dead to at least 20 in 24 hours.

The Communist attacks were believed timed as a prelude to next week's scheduled Afro-Asian conference in Algiers. However, the summit conference was postponed until next November and observers here said the development robbed the Viet Cong of a propaganda forum.

Debris Sifted for Clue to Cause of Plane Crash That Killed 84

Mystery surrounding the crash of a Military Air Transport Service jet plane early Friday, with loss of 84 lives, deepened Saturday as an accident investigation board convened at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station near Santa Ana.

The sleek craft with 12 Air Force crew members and 72 Marines aboard slammed into Loma Peak minutes after takeoff for transpacific flight. All aboard were killed.

Sifting the wreckage, probers recovered the pilot's tape from the shattered craft and hoped it would detail the last airborne minutes.

It was learned reliably that there was no radio contact between the station's control tower and the pilot, Air Force Capt. William F. Cordell Jr., 27, after he was cleared for takeoff.

* * * *

THE LAST message on the tape was with the Federal Aviation Agency's flight-clearance center.

The board of inquiry, convened by Gen. Howell M. Estes, the MATS commander, is composed of 13 officers and three enlisted men.

He named Col. James D. Grace of MATS headquarters at Scott AFB, Ill., as the board president.

Gen. Estes said the board should conclude its probe within 10 days.

The board summoned experts in a dozen fields as advisers and consultants. They will study the weather, the mechanical condition of the doomed plane, and the instruments they recovered, and seek to piece together some knowledge of how it was operating when it lifted off El Toro bound for Okinawa via Honolulu.

Of the 72 Marines aboard, 70 were to be replacements in units in Viet Nam and other Far East outposts. One was on special orders and another was traveling on leave.

Medical records of the Leathernecks aboard had been sent to Okinawa in anticipation of their arrival. The records were flown back to El Toro, arriving Saturday night.

By nightfall Saturday, only 28 bodies had been positively identified.

The following names were added Saturday to the casualty list:

Lance Cpl. Lawrence O. Rhode, husband of Marriet, Clinton, Ky.
Cpl. Ronald Smith, brother of John M., Lyon, Mass.
Cpl. Theodore E. Stark, husband of Blain L., Jacksonville, Fla.

IT'S BEEN TRYING FOR YEARS

This Company Unusual, Strives to Lose Business

By BOB SHIBLEY

While most companies are striving for long life and a large income, there is one organization in Southern California that has been trying for over a quarter of a century to go out of business.

The 40-Plus Club of Los Angeles, run by and for unemployed businessmen, probably is the only company that not only welcomes rapid turnover of personnel but willingly finds other jobs for its employes.

The organization is run like a large company, complete with board of governors as well as elected officers.

The board of governors consists of six former members who have found employment. They meet monthly with the active officers to discuss current problems.

Since 1962 the club has placed 70% of its members at an average annual income of over $13,000.

However, before anybody resigns his present position and marches to the club's 672 S. Lafayette Park Place headquarters, it should be noted that qualification depends upon meeting certain requirements.

As the name suggests, prospective members must be at least 40 years old. Another rule states that a person has earned $9,000 or more a year in five of the past 15 years in an executive or managerial position.

Also, of course, a state of unemployment is mandatory.

"These rules," explained Vice President Hal Phillips, "make it easier for us to find work because we are all experienced in the higher levels of both finance and business."

A nonprofit organization, 40-Plus requires a $25 entrance fee and $8 monthly dues. It is with this money, and the $50 each member must pay within six months after finding employment, that club bills are paid.

Each member is assigned to one of the club's eight committees: membership, placement, sales, mailing, building, business reporting and public relations. Members are also required to spend two days working in the office each week.

"By running our own office," Phillips said, "we not only keep ourselves busy, but also get a first-hand look at what is available."

One feature of the club is that interviews are set up for club members rather than by them. This is handled by the sales committee.

Another is that employment automatically disqualifies a member.

"We are," Phillips said, "the only company in history that wants to go out of business."

Negro Woman on All-White Faculty

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Negro woman has been appointed to the faculty of the University of Mississippi Medical School, the Times-Picayune reported in its Sunday editions.

In a dispatch from Jackson, Miss., the newspaper said Dr. Marion Myles has been named an assistant professor of pharmacology and research.

She is a native of Pennsylvania and a former professor of biology at Alcorn A. & M. College for Negroes in Mississippi.

Dr. E. R. Jobe, executive secretary of the State Institutions of Higher Learning's board of trustees, confirmed the appointment. He said her contract was approved at the board's meeting Thursday at Biloxi.

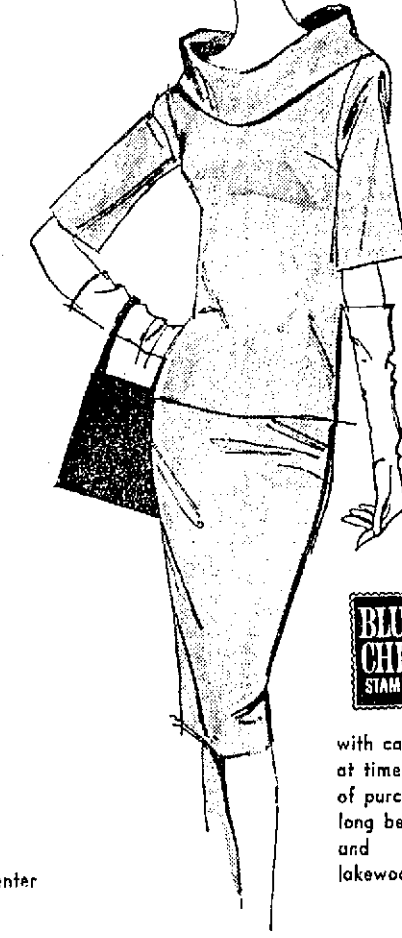

The newspaper reported the board had been sharply divided.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare had put the University Medical Center in Jackson on probation. The action followed alleged incidents of failure to comply with the nondiscrimination provision of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"These rules," explained Vice President Hal Phillips, "make it easier for us to find work because we are all experienced in the higher levels of both finance and business."

A nonprofit organization, 40-Plus requires a $25 entrance fee and $8 monthly dues. It is with this money, and the $50 each member must pay within six months after finding employment, that club bills are paid.

Each member is assigned to one of the club's eight committees: membership, placement, sales, mailing, building, business reporting and public relations. Members are also required to spend two days working in the office each week.

"By running our own office," Phillips said, "we not only keep ourselves busy, but also get a first-hand look at what is available."

One feature of the club is that interviews are set up for club members rather than by them. This is handled by the sales committee.

Another is that employment automatically disqualifies a member.

"We are," Phillips said, "the only company in history that wants to go out of business."

Negro Woman on All-White Faculty

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Negro woman has been appointed to the faculty of the University of Mississippi Medical School, the Times-Picayune reported in its Sunday editions.

In a dispatch from Jackson, Miss., the newspaper said Dr. Marion Myles has been named an assistant professor of pharmacology and research.

She is a native of Pennsylvania and a former professor of biology at Alcorn A. & M. College for Negroes in Mississippi.

Dr. E. R. Jobe, executive secretary of the State Institutions of Higher Learning's board of trustees, confirmed the appointment. He said her contract was approved at the board's meeting Thursday at Biloxi.

The newspaper reported the board had been sharply divided.

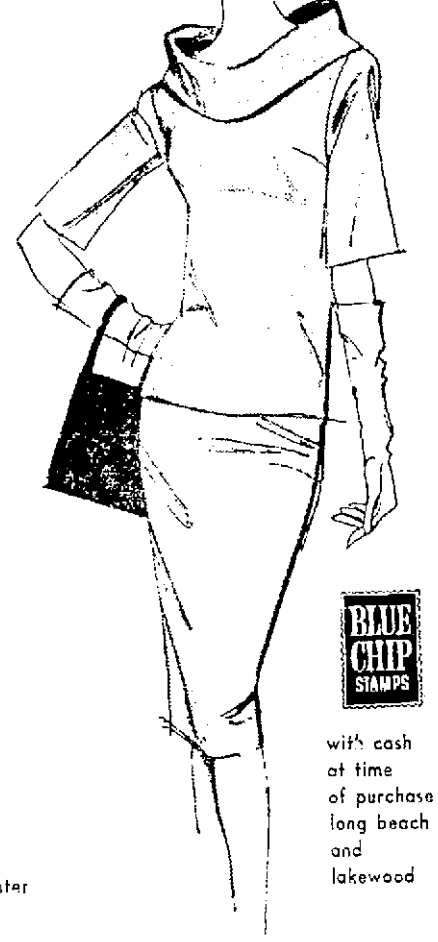

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare had put the University Medical Center in Jackson on probation. The action followed alleged incidents of failure to comply with the nondiscrimination provision of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Icebreaker in Port

NEW YORK (AP)—The icebreaker West Wind reached the American Air Force base at Thule, Greenland, Saturday, the Coast Guard reported. The port had been closed by ice since last September.

1st Place News Picture Honor to I,P-T Photog

ROGER COAR

JOE RISINGER

Independent, Press-Telegram staffer Curt Johnson has won first place in the news category in the 1965 contest of California Press Photographers Association, representing all major newspapers of the state.

Curt also won a Gold Seal award, recognizing a place in the association's traveling exhibit of top photos, for a closeup a charming poolroom invasion by a feminine player.

* * * *

A blind boy exploring with his fingers the trunk of a tree in Recreation Park led staffer Joe Risinger to his award.

Contest results were announced at the association's convention at Harrah's at Lake Tahoe. Johnson received his plaque from Philip Raykoff of Long Beach, executive director of the association.

Bakersfield Girl Chosen 'Governor'

DAVIS (AP) — Sylvia Jean Gilger, 17, of Bakersfield, was elected governor Saturday by delegates to the California Girls' State Convention meeting on the University of California Davis campus.

Other state officers elected were Lt. Gov. Susie Wong, 17, Los Angeles; Secretary of State Gwendolyn Van Hook, 17, Los Angeles; Controller Kathy Rapp, 16, Placentia; Treasurer Diana Hissey, 16, Los Angeles; Atty. Gen. Nadine Felix, 17, Stockton and Superintendent of Public Instruction Johanna Lyon, 16, Paso Robles.

Miss Gilger, a Tory, won the governorship in a race against Roberta Sartuche, 17, of Baldwin Park, representing the Whigs.

Girls' State will hold its final session Monday.

Desalting Meet Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — An international meeting on desalting water, with delegates from 54 countries, is planned here Oct. 3-9.

Farmer Kills Thug, Routs Two Others

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — Three thugs picked on the wrong farmer Saturday when they tried to rob David Arceneaux. Arceneaux killed one and a second injured himself getting away from his pistol fire.

The injured thug was arrested a quarter-mile from the Arceneaux home and bloodhounds caught the third a mile away. Nobody in the Arceneaux family was hurt. Two of the thugs were ex-convicts.

Lafayette Parish (county) Sheriff W. E. Harson said the three men hid in a small building near the Arceneaux home.

When Mrs. Arceneaux came out to do yard work, one grabbed her. She screamed, awakening her husband in the house.

Arceneaux picked up a .38-caliber pistol as the other two burst into his bedroom, one carrying a shotgun.

* * * *

ARCENEAUX shot the man carrying the shotgun and he died on the bedroom floor. He was Robert Elias, about 30, who had served a prison term.

The other two fled and Arceneaux fired at one, who leaped over a fence and collapsed. He managed to stagger off, and Arceneaux thought he had wounded the man.

Sheriff's deputies quickly arrested the man who went over the fence and discovered that he had dislocated his knee in the jump. Arceneaux had not hit him.

* * * *

HARSON SAID the second man was Douglas Simons, also an ex-convict.

State police brought up bloodhounds to track the third man down. The man fought with the dogs and then with troopers. He was taken to a hospital for treatment of slight injuries.

The third man was not identified immediately.

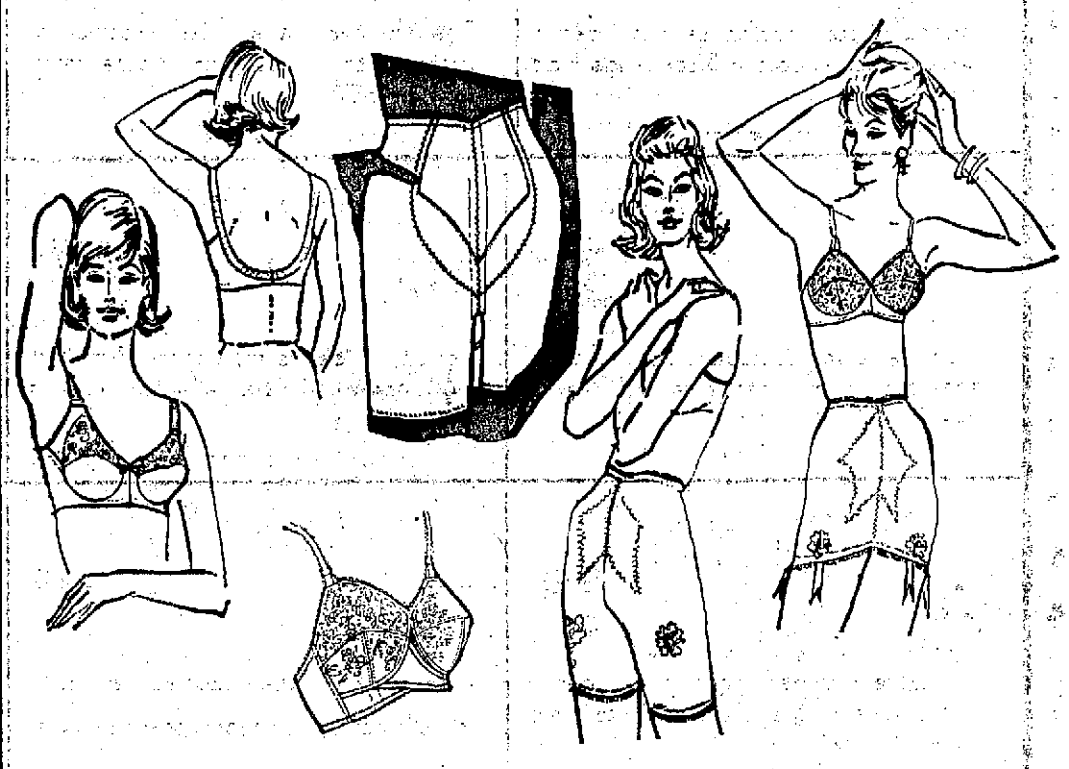

He Gets Six Months for Stealing House

CUPAR, Scotland (AP) — Neighbors in a government pre-fab housing development testified he was one of the men who carted the thing off, all right, so Michael Winters, 26, on trial alone, was sentenced to six months in jail for stealing a house.

Sheriff John A. Lillie, passing sentence, said the charge was new to him—"theft of a house, which is generally considered an immovable object."

ANAHEIM KILLERS AWAIT NEW PENALTY TRIAL

Special Favors for Murderers Stir Ire

By BOB DAVIS

The true impact of recent Supreme Court decisions, which have freed murderers and reduced sentences for criminals convicted of serious crimes, has hit Orange County in the case of three convicted murderers.

The three men were convicted in Orange County Superior Court almost five years ago of blasting an Anaheim businessman to death with a shotgun, and were sent to San Quentin State Prison where they were to be executed in the gas chamber.

Numerous appeals and Supreme Court decisions have permitted the return of Joseph Rosoto, 45, John Vlahovich, 37 and Donald Franklin, 39.

* * * *

THEIR purpose in returning is to undergo another trial on July 26 to determine whether their death penalty should be upheld.

Their return has prompted a number of county law-enforcement officials to express bitter resentment in private over the court decision to give the murderers another in a long line of "second chances."

Their return has also prompted resentment expressed by a number of inmates in the Orange County Jail because the three have been given many "favors" other inmates do not enjoy.

* * * *

THESE favors are the result of a court order issued by Superior Court Judge William L. Murray.

"Five years ago I wouldn't dream of giving these men any of the favors they have been receiving," Judge Murray said. "But in view of the recent Supreme Court decisions I have no alternative."

These favors include:

1. Special cells where they are not bothered by other inmates or jail personnel—except for cursory inspection.

Special eating facilities away from other inmates.

3. Special lighting in a special room where Vlahovich and Franklin can conduct legal research and prepare for their trial free from disturbance or interference from other inmates and jailers. (Wall lamps were purchased to comply with this court order. Both men elected to defend themselves.)

4. Provide a desk, chairs and typewriter for their use.

5. Make such facilities available now, and one hour prior to the morning court session, one hour during noon recess, and four hours after the afternoon session.

6. Return all papers, memoranda and legal documents pertaining to the case which Vlahovich had in his possession at San Quentin when he was returned here.

7. Permit all three men to retain in their possession at all times all personal possessions and writings dealing with the case.

8. Furnish a messenger to transport between the jail and the law library twice a day all law books and legal-study materials requested by Vlahovich and Franklin.

Plus, lesser favors.

It is expected that the three men will also be given the additional privilege of making one telephone call each day to whomever they chose, and being housed in the same jail cell during their trial.

* * * *

THE THREE were convicted of killing Leslie J. Simpson, 45, who was ambushed in front of his Anaheim home Feb. 7, 1959, and gunned down with one blast from a shotgun. Another blast tore off both hands of his wife, Fern, 29, but she lived.

Although Vlahovich and Franklin chose to represent themselves, Rosoto asked the court to appoint famed San Francisco attorney Melvin M. Belli to defend him. Belli has accepted the appointment.

* * * *

JUDGE MURRAY said the appointment means the taxpayers must pay for Belli's services. He said the trial judge will determine what Belli will be paid, but explained it probably will be about $150 a day.

Rosoto refused to permit the tax-paid public defender to represent him, and insisted on Belli as his attorney.

* * * *

"IN VIEW of the Supreme Court decision, I have no choice but to comply with their wishes in order to guarantee their every constitutional right," Judge Murray said.

"I have, however, advised Vlahovich and Franklin that they can have a court-appointed attorney if they wish before the trial starts. Personally, I believe both of them are as competent of representing themselves as my 11-year-old son."

Soviets to Mark Anniversary of Mendel Theory

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union will officially mark the 100th anniversary of the Mendelian Theory of genetics which it once denied, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda announced.

The 1866 theory of Johann Gregor Mendel, an Augustinian monk from Moravia, were restored to Soviet textbooks after the overthrow of Premier Nikita Khrushchev last October.

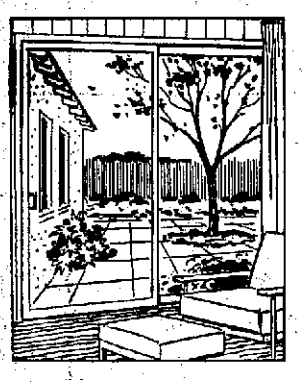

The recognition of the Mendelian Theory was accompanied by the eclipse of Trofim Lysenko, who under Stalin had dominated Soviet genetics study. Contrary to Mendel, Lysenko taught that acquired characteristics could be transmitted by heredity, and that a well indoctrinated communists would pass this indoctrination by the act of conception.

PLUS HYMNS OF PRAISE

Old-Timer Draws Throngs to Sermons on the Mount

LINVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Uncle Joe Hartley, a grizzled old mountaineer who looks with disdain on the modern church, welcomes the multitudes today to his 41st annual Singing on the Mountain for a day of old-time religion.

Hartley founded the gathering in 1925 and has served as chairman every year since. At 94, he carries a cane and his walk has slowed. But his wit and memory are sharp and his comments cutting.

More than 20,000 persons are expected for the day-long session of preaching and hymns on the slopes of 6,000-foot Grandfather Mountain, near Linville. The first of those who make a weekend of it set up their camps Thursday as rain swept MacRae Meadows.

* * * *

UNCLE JOE HARTLEY . . . Admires Billy Graham

"THE CHURCHES just don't have the spirit and power they used to," Hartley said while watching preparations. "The churches in the cities have lost the power of God. They just don't know anything about it.

"The preachers around here used to really preach. Now they just whisper a little, and take up a collection."

But there's one modern preacher Uncle Joe likes.

"You take Billy Graham," he said. "He's about as fine as Abraham and Moses.

"The year before last, it was just pouring," he recalled. "When Billy got up to speak, God just drove the rain clouds away."

* * * *

THE GRAHAM appearance was probably the most memorable Singing on the Mountain occasion. Thousands packed MacRae Meadows to hear the evangelist, and the highway patrol reported bumper-to-bumper traffic on 55 miles of highway from Marion to nearby Blowing Rock.

Hartley pointed his cane to a grove of trees bordering the meadow and said:

"There's where they do the real preaching. Some of those holy rollers really cut shins. And I can remember when those old black-bonnetted women used to shout.

* * * *

"THERE'S SOME of these rich, high-falutin' people around here say we should stop that. I say I can't, that's the Holy Ghost working."

Hartley's left arm was broken two months ago in an auto accident and it is still in a sling.

"You've never seen another man like me and you never will," he said. "I'd of probably made 150 years if I hadn't broken my arm."

Hartley spent most of his life as a fire warden, caretaker and farmer in Avery County. He has taught Baptist and Methodist Sunday School classes for 60 years, and can quote long passages from the Bible and Shakespeare.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

2 Houses Pass Rival Tax Bills

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate and Assembly passed rival tax bills Saturday, threatening to wreck Gov. Brown's plans to balance his $4.9-billion budget by a July 1 deadline.

"I don't know how much more this house can do to show its responsibility," snapped Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, after 52-8 lower house approval of a measure to raise $100 million by speeding up sales-tax collections for two months next year.

Despite Unruh's apparently firm stand, the Senate voted 30-3 for a $251.4-million revenue measure, including a boost in the cigarette tax from 3 cents to 9 cents a pack.

The conflicting actions, on the second day of a special session, indicated a two-house conference committee would get the job of reaching a compromise by midnight Wednesday, when the 1965-66 budget takes effect. If there's no agreement by then, the Democratic governor promises to slash up to $109 million in new programs voted by the Democratic legislature.

Miss Malone Gets Federal Job

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vivian Malone, the first Negro graduate of the University of Alabama, has gone to work for the man who escorted her into the school two years ago—Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

VIVIAN

Miss Malone has landed a job here as a research analyst in the civil-rights division of the Justice Department.

She first met Katzenbach in June, 1963, when, as deputy attorney general under Robert F. Kennedy, he helped her walk past Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's "stand in the schoolhouse door" and enroll in the previously segregated university.

She was graduated on May 31 with a major in industrial relations. Another Negro who enrolled at the same time, James A. Hood, withdrew from the university in August, 1963.

Miss Malone, who is 22, told UPI she sought the job because she has a deep interest in civil rights and because it is "interesting and stimulating and offers opportunities for advancement."

Rain Raises Kansas Flood Levels

NICKERSON, Kan. (UPI)—Heavy rain sent creeks rising again Saturday in parts of western Kansas but residents along the Arkansas River, already braced for their worst flood in history, took the new threat in stride.

Early-morning rain of 2.75 inches at Nickerson at first caused fears the Arkansas would gain enough momentum for a last destructive punch on its dying rampage that chased more than 20,000 people from their homes.

But the rain subsided and it later appeared the runoff would have little effect on the Arkansas as it pushed downstream toward Hutchinson.

Ex-Sheriff Biscailuz in Hospital

SANTA MONICA (CNS)—Former Los Angeles County Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, 82, Saturday was reported in fair condition in Santa Monica Hospital after suffering a possible heart attack Friday night.

Hospital officials reported he was resting comfortably. He retired from the sheriff's department he built in 1958 after 26 years of service.

Duty-Shirking Officer Cashiered

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—A court-martial Saturday dismissed Lt. Richard B. Steinke from the service for refusing to go with a counterguerrilla unit in South Viet Nam.

Also stripped of all pay and allowances, the 27-year-old Milwaukee, Wis., Army officer was spared a prison sentence. He could have been given up to five years in prison.

The lieutenant took the verdict and sentence without visible emotion. The sentence is subject to review by higher military courts.

Steinke was charged formally with refusing to obey a written order and "willful disobedience to expose himself to hostile elements and hazardous conditions."

Logan, Utah, Girl, 17, Strangled

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—A 17-year-old Logan high school girl, returning home from a wedding reception, was strangled Saturday morning and her partly clad body dumped in a backyard a block from her home.

The body of Tanya Weber, a senior, was shoved behind some bushes at the rear of a house. It was found by a neighbor.

Capt. Ray Jones of the Logan police department said Tanya attended a wedding reception Friday night with three friends. Her parents were visiting relatives in Weiser, Idaho, at the time.

A pathologist's report showed the girl died between midnight and 2 a.m. There was no evidence she had been sexually assaulted.

Debris of Boat Found; 2 Die, 2 Hunted

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A Coast Guard plane searching for a Visalia family's cabin cruiser reported finding debris from a boat Saturday off Baja California.

Missing are an expectant mother, Mrs. Ivy Wynn, 23, and her 3-year-old daughter, Letitia.

Man Safe After Fall in Canyon

PACOIMA (CNS)—A 28-year-old Glendale man was rescued by a sheriff's mountain rescue team and a helicopter Saturday after he apparently fell and was injured in the Angeles National Forest.

Montrose sheriff's deputies said the 'copter brought Tom Peppard into Pacoima Lutheran Hospital shortly before 3 p.m. Saturday.

Preliminary examination showed him to be suffering from possible broken ribs, and he was described in fair condition. It was earlier feared he had sustained a broken back.

The 14-man rescue team hiked into rugged Big Tujunga Canyon, located near Big Tujunga Canyon Road and the Angeles Crest Highway above La Crescenta, to aid Peppard. Deputies were notified of the mishap by a U.S. Forest Service ranger at 12:33 p.m.

Suicide Youths' 3d Death Cause

ANN ARBOR, Mich (AP)—Suicide now ranks third as the cause of death among youths 15 to 19 years old, a Cleveland child psychiatrist told a University of Michigan seminar on adolescent medicine Saturday.

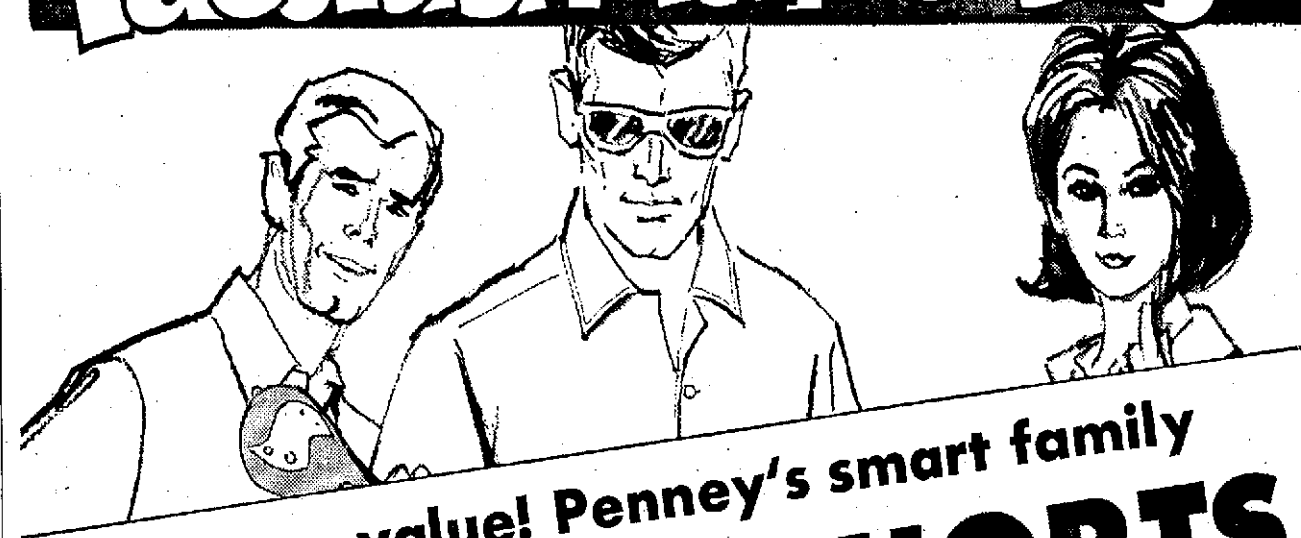

Dr. Willard D. Boaz said suicide ranks behind accidents and adolescent diseases in causes of deaths for the age group. Suicide is tied closely to "the impulsivity of the adolescent" and often can result from something as simple as a bawling-out by a teacher, he said.

Logan, Utah, Girl, 17, Strangled

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—A 17-year-old Logan high school girl, returning home from a wedding reception, was strangled Saturday morning and her partly clad body dumped in a backyard a block from her home.

The body of Tanya Weber, a senior, was shoved behind some bushes at the rear of a house. It was found by a neighbor.

Capt. Ray Jones of the Logan police department said Tanya attended a wedding reception Friday night with three friends. Her parents were visiting relatives in Weiser, Idaho, at the time.

A pathologist's report showed the girl died between midnight and 2 a.m. There was no evidence she had been sexually assaulted.

Debris of Boat Found; 2 Die, 2 Hunted

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A Coast Guard plane searching for a Visalia family's cabin cruiser reported finding debris from a boat Saturday off Baja California.

Missing are an expectant mother, Mrs. Ivy Wynn, 23, and her 3-year-old daughter, Letitia.

Man Safe After Fall in Canyon

PACOIMA (CNS)—A 28-year-old Glendale man was rescued by a sheriff's mountain rescue team and a helicopter Saturday after he apparently fell and was injured in the Angeles National Forest.

Montrose sheriff's deputies said the 'copter brought Tom Peppard into Pacoima Lutheran Hospital shortly before 3 p.m. Saturday.

Preliminary examination showed him to be suffering from possible broken ribs, and he was described in fair condition. It was earlier feared he had sustained a broken back.

The 14-man rescue team hiked into rugged Big Tujunga Canyon, located near Big Tujunga Canyon Road and the Angeles Crest Highway above La Crescenta, to aid Peppard. Deputies were notified of the mishap by a U.S. Forest Service ranger at 12:33 p.m.

Suicide Youths' 3d Death Cause

ANN ARBOR, Mich (AP)—Suicide now ranks third as the cause of death among youths 15 to 19 years old, a Cleveland child psychiatrist told a University of Michigan seminar on adolescent medicine Saturday.

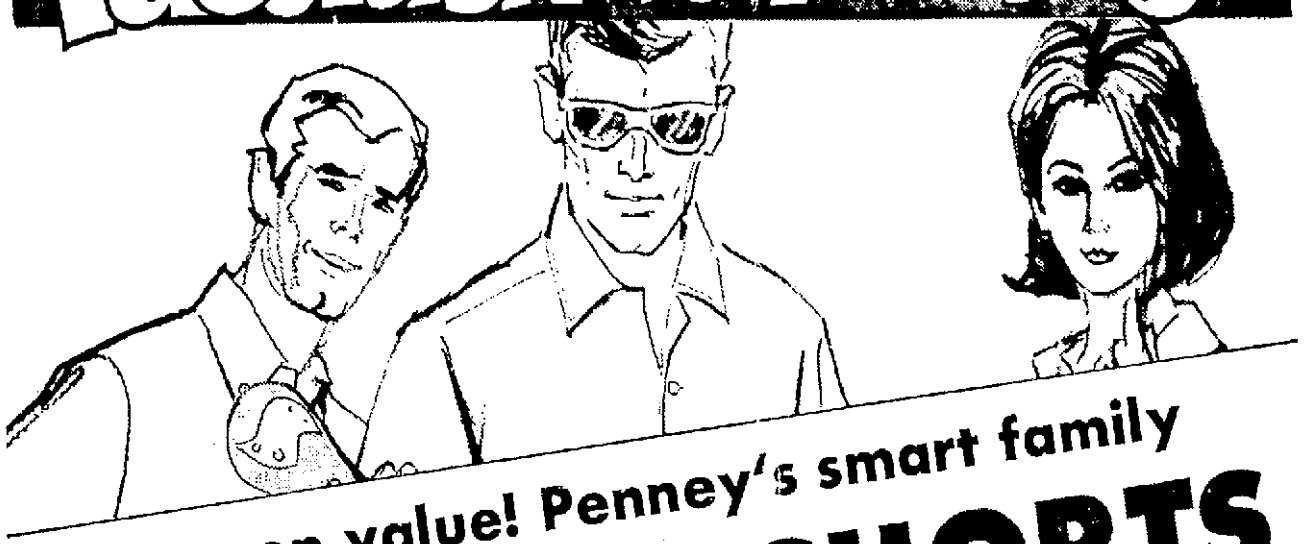

Dr. Willard D. Bonz said suicide ranks behind accidents and adolescent diseases in causes of deaths for the age group. Suicide is tied closely to "the impulsivity of the adolescent" and often can result from something as simple as a bawling-out by a teacher, he said.

Ex-Speaker S. Collins Dies at 69

FULLERTON (UPI)—Samuel L. (Sam) Collins, former congressman and state Assembly Speaker, died Saturday at St. Jude's Hospital of heart failure. He was 69.

Collins remained active in his law firm here until his pulse weakened Saturday morning and he was taken to the hospital, a family spokesman said.

After serving as Orange County district attorney from 1928-1932, Collins was a congressman from 1932 to 1936. He was elected to the California Legislature in 1940 and served 13 sessions as assembly speaker until he retired in 1952.

A native of Fortville, Ind., Collins opened his Fullerton law practice in 1920.

His survivors include his widow, Marjorie; a brother, John, San Felipe, Mexico; a daughter, Mrs. Ron Harrod, Corona Del Mar; a son, Sam E. Collins, Fullerton, who was a partner in his father's law firm, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services are pending with McAulay & Suters Mortuary.

Graveline, married and the father of four, was a member of the evaluation and applications directorate of the Air Force's aerospace medical division at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., until he joined the medical office of the Manned Spacecraft Center two months ago.

—Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin, 29-year-old flight surgeon and Navy jet pilot stationed at Cecil Naval Air Station near Jacksonville, Fla. Kerwin, a native of Illinois, is married and the father of one girl.

—Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, the only bachelor in the U.S. astronaut ranks, a 29-year-old member of the U.S. Geological Survey in Flagstaff, Ariz. Schmitt, a native of New Mexico, earned his doctor's degree at Harvard.

The new space trainees, selected after nearly one year of intensive searching by the Federal Space Agency, comprise America's fourth and most highly educated group of astronauts.

However, they are still perhaps five years from the moon. Under current plans, the scientists-astronauts will train for seats aboard America's three-man Apollo moonships. However, they are not expected to get aboard until other astronauts, better trained as pilots, make at least one or two lunar landings.

This would place America's first truly scientific expedition to the moon around 1970 or 1971.

Dr. Gibson, with his wife and two children, a girl, 5, and a boy, 1, remained in seclusion at his home at 2907 Via Cobina, San Clemente, Saturday. Gibson said he could make no comment on the story of his selection as a scientist-astronaut "because I have been told by NASA to say nothing before the press conference in Houston Tuesday."

Mrs. Gibson told newsmen her husband asked her to make no statement "until we return from Houston."

Officials at Aeronutronic in Newport Beach said Dr. Gibson was a research scientist at the firm but "very little is known about him." Gibson reportedly joined the firm last year and officials Saturday said, "We can't even find his personnel records."

Although the 29-year-old scientist enjoys "all sports, especially swimming and skin diving, if I had a hobby it would be astrophysics," he told newsmen.

Gibson, 5 feet 9 and 160 pounds, has good opportunity to enjoy sea sports at the beach community.

Power Concerns Plan to Fight for Gas

for utility consumers in the area."

The El Paso plan, which won the staff's approval, would enable the two pipeline companies, by expanding their facilities, to pump up to 540 million cubic feet of gas a day to Southern California at an investment cost of $104 million. The recipients would be Pacific Lighting, Southern California Gas, and its sister firm, Southern Counties Gas Co.)

* * * *

THE GULF Pacific Plan, opposed by El Paso and Transwestern, would enable Gulf to build an entirely new pipeline to this area to supply part of the exclusive needs of Edison and Water and Power on a guaranteed year-around basis.

And that's the nub of the dispute as far as Edison and the Water and Power Dept. are concerned: the guaranteed annual volume.

As matters now stand, said a spokesman for Edison, "we're captive customers, getting the leftovers from Southern California Gas. Under the El Paso plan, moreover, we'd still be getting the leftovers."

The Gulf Pacific plan would change that to a certain extent by giving the two electric companies an independent business relationship with not only a new pipeline company, but a new supplier of gas, as well—Humble Oil Co. of Texas. The result would ensure Edison and Water and Power a more stable supply of gas.

* * * *

IN EFFECT, the new arrangement would bring an entirely new element into what is now a state-regulated monopoly. And members of the California Public Utilities Commission by and large feel this new element of competition would be healthy in the long run.

The FPC staff demurred, however, declaring that the entry of Gulf might actually boost gas rates here for the average householder.

Actually, both sides agree it is a highly debatable point. And even the experts confess to a tendency to get lost occasionally in the maze of financial and regulatory considerations involved in the complex case.

WHAT SEEMS important, in any case, is that the staff of the FPC felt, along with the backers of the El Paso plan, that an additional pipeline eventually would boost gas rates in this area.

"The economic benefits that will accrue to the consumer are considerable," declared Basil Kantzer, Transwestern president, speaking of the El Paso plan.

Said Edison's O'Brien, however: "The consumer will be helped in every way by the Gulf plan—not only in terms of money, but in integrity of supply, in continuity of service, and in reduction of air pollution."

* * * *

IN RAISING the question of air pollution, O'Brien struck another sensitive nerve in the case.

Drawing on the testimony of Air Pollution Control District officials here, lawyers for Gulf and Edison sought at the FPC hearings to show that a guaranteed supply of at least part of Edison's gas needs would inevitably reduce the power firm's dependence on fuel oil as a substitute fuel. And fuel oil, they took pains to point out, is a significant contributor to air pollution.

But the FPC staff apparently gave less weight to the smog factor than Edison and Gulf had hoped.

Edison officials still are not convinced, they said, that the commission itself won't take a more concerned view of the pollution problem than its staff.

* * * *

"ON THIS point," declared Edison counsel Rollin Woodbury, "we believe the people of Southern California are in complete disagreement (with the staff's brief)."

Meanwhile, Edison started mapping plans for an assault of the staff brief. As Edison sees it, both it and Water and Power need an arrangement that doesn't place them at the mercy of an uncertain source of supply. This uncertainty is explained by the fact that the gas companies' own suppliers are subject to the whims of the weather. Extreme winters, for example, place an almost intolerable strain on the supply, with precious little left over for commercial firms like Edison, right now Southern California's biggest and unhappiest customer.

RECOMMENDATION TO FPC IGNORES OIL SMOG

for utility consumers in the area."

The El Paso plan, which won the staff's approval, would enable the two pipeline companies, by expanding their facilities, to pump up to 540 million cubic feet of gas a day to Southern California at an investment cost of $104 million. The recipients would be Pacific Lighting, Southern California Gas, and its sister firm, Southern Counties Gas Co.)

* * * *

THE GULF Pacific Plan, opposed by El Paso and Transwestern, would enable Gulf to build an entirely new pipeline to this area to supply part of the exclusive needs of Edison and Water and Power on a guaranteed year-around basis.

And that's the nub of the dispute as far as Edison and the Water and Power Dept. are concerned: the guaranteed annual volume.

As matters now stand, said a spokesman for Edison, "we're captive customers, getting the leftovers from Southern California Gas. Under the El Paso plan, moreover, we'd still be getting the leftovers."

The Gulf Pacific plan would change that to a certain extent by giving the two electric companies an independent business relationship with not only a new pipeline company, but a new supplier of gas, as well — Humble Oil Co. of Texas. The result would ensure Edison and Water and Power a more stable supply of gas.

* * * *

IN EFFECT, the new arrangement would bring an entirely new element into what is now a state-regulated monopoly. And members of the California Public Utilities Commission by and large feel this new element of competition would be healthy in the long run.

The FPC staff demurred, however, declaring that the entry of Gulf might actually boost gas rates here for the average householder.

Actually, both sides agree it is a highly debatable point. And even the experts confess to a tendency to get lost occasionally in the maze of financial and regulatory considerations involved in the complex case.

WHAT SEEMS important, in any case, is that the staff of the FPC felt, along with the backers of the El Paso plan, that an additional pipeline eventually would boost gas rates in this area.

"The economic benefits that will accrue to the consumer are considerable," declared Basil Kantzer, Transwestern president, speaking of the El Paso plan.

Said Edison's O'Brien, however: "The consumer will be helped in every way by the Gulf plan—not only in terms of money, but in integrity of supply, in continuity of service, and in reduction of air pollution."

* * * *

IN RAISING the question of air pollution, O'Brien struck another sensitive nerve in the case.

Drawing on the testimony of Air Pollution Control District officials here, lawyers for Gulf and Edison sought at the FPC hearings to show that a guaranteed supply of at least part of Edison's gas needs would inevitably reduce the power firm's dependence on fuel oil as a substitute fuel. And fuel oil, they took pains to point out, is a significant contributor to air pollution.

But the FPC staff apparently gave less weight to the smog factor than Edison and Gulf had hoped.

Edison officials still are not convinced, they said, that the commission itself won't take a more concerned view of the pollution problem than its staff.

* * * *

"ON THIS point," declared Edison counsel Rollin Woodbury, "we believe the people of Southern California are in complete disagreement (with the staff's brief)."

Meanwhile, Edison started mapping plans for an assault of the staff brief. As Edison sees it, both it and Water and Power need an arrangement that doesn't place them at the mercy of an uncertain source of supply. This uncertainty is explained by the fact that the gas companies' own suppliers are subject to the whims of the weather. Extreme winters, for example, place an almost intolerable strain on the supply, with precious little left over for commercial firms like Edison, right now Southern California's biggest and unhappiest customer.

FIREMAN HURRIES HOSE FOR ACTION AS COTTON INFERNO RAGES

Cotton Bales Damaged by Huge Blaze

Fire destroyed or damaged an estimated $125,000 worth of baled cotton Saturday near Compton, county fire officials reported.

The blaze broke out shortly after 2 p.m. at the Reliance Upholstery and Supply Co., 16902 S. Main Ave., and six units from surrounding county areas responded to the call.

Firemen said flames were contained to a wooden shed piled high with the cotton bales. The shed was destroyed and units still were pouring water on the smoldering cotton late Saturday night.

Origin of the fire was undetermined.

Blind Girl, 14, Wins Rally

A 14-year-old Long Beach girl, Marsha Harrison of 2132 Radnor Ave., won the Braille Institute-California Sports Car Club sports car rally Saturday, defeating more than 45 competitors.

Miss Harrison, working from navigational instructions in braille, came within 2:15 seconds of the exact elapsed time figured by the organizers of the rally.

The Long Beach girl was in a car driven by Tom Potts of Los Angeles. She was awarded first place trophy last night at a winner's banquet at the Pomona Valley Inn, where the rally ended after starting from downtown Los Angeles.

Car Thief Picks the Mandolin--Bypasses Banjo

The thief preferred the mandolin music to that of the banjo.

At least that was the feeling Terrance D. Baldwin, of Santa Ana, had Saturday after his car was ransacked.

The victim told police a mandolin valued at $400 was taken while has car was parked at 1831 Beverly Way. The thief, however, bypassed a banjo in the same way.

4 Held, 1 Sought in Attack on Girl

A fifth suspect was being hunted by Long Beach police late Saturday after the brutal kidnap-rape of a teen-age Signal Hill girl.

The victim, an 18-year-old nurses' aide, was abducted from a street corner, hauled to an apartment and assaulted repeatedly by five men.

Four suspects later were arrested after the attractive blonde victim led police to the apartment where she had been held captive for several hours.

* * * *

DURING HER ordeal, the hysterical victim told police, she was robbed, threatened with a razor, raped, forced to submit to numerous indecent acts, then beaten with a wire coathanger.

Officers Pete Burcombe and Larry Parke said the attack was reported about 6 a.m. Saturday after the men released the girl. She said she and a boyfriend were sitting in a parked car at 17th Street and California Avenue about 1 a.m. when a second car pulled alongside.

The girl said two men jumped out of the car, threatened her boyfriend into fleeing, then forced her at knife-point into their vehicle.

* * * *

SHE SAID THE men drove her to an apartment, which she later identified for police as apartment C at 1720 Gundry Ave., where the attacks reportedly occurred.

She said the men held her prisoner until 4:30 a.m., when they allowed her to dress, then drove her to within a few blocks of her home and released her.

Officers Parke and Burcombe, accompanied by the victim, went to the Gundry Avenue address where they arrested four suspects. Jailed for investigation for rape, kidnapping, and armed robbery were Samuel L. Wells, 27, of 923 Esther St.; Carl Haywood, 19, a transient; B. J. Evans, 23, of 1422 Orange Ave., and Julius Haywood, 18, of the Gundry Avenue address.

* * * *

POLICE SAID the victim's two rings, a razor-equipped weapon, and a coathanger with a crudely-fashioned handle were found in the suspects quarters. The men denied the attack.

A police doctor, who examined the victim, said she bore bruises and marks indicating she had been attacked and beaten.

She was released to her home following medical treatment.

Dozen L.B. Women in Air Race

By LEE CRAIG
Aero-Space Editor

Nearly a dozen local women pilots will be among contestants flying 79 light aircraft in the 19th annual All-Woman Transcontinental Air Race beginning Saturday at Gillespie Field, El Cajon.

Destination for the 148 pilots and co-pilots from 23 states who will fly the race —better known as the Powder Puff Derby — will be Chattanooga, Tenn.

Heading the local contingent, as usual, will be Fran Bera, 4284 Pepperwood Ave., one of the country's outstanding woman pilots and a six-time winner of the derby.

Miss Bera, holder of nearly every pilot and instructor rating, will be flying a Piper Cherokee 140 with her co-pilot, Margaret Mead, 6210 Orange Ave.

* * * *

Miss Mead, a professional flight instructor at Aztec Aircraft, Long Beach Airport, has logged over 2,000 hours flying time and holds a commercial license, single and multi-engine, instrument, instructor and ground school ratings.

Flying alone in her own Beechcraft Bonanza will be Mrs. Judy Wagner, 2516 Via La Selva, Palos Verdes Estates.

Mrs. Wagner, who placed second in the race last year, is the wife of Dr. Ellis Wagner, Torrance oral surgeon and also a pilot.

Among Orange County representatives will be Tig Pennock, 10111 Overhill Dr., Santa Ana, an Orange County Airport flight instructor, and her co-pilot, Thon Abbott, 356 Ramona Way, Costa Mesa. They will fly a Piper Cherokee 140.

* * * *

OTHERS INCLUDE Madine Parsel, 425 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, also in a Cherokee 140 with her co-pilot, Myrna Shanfield, 2632 Silverwood Dr., Los Alamitos, and Ann Cantillon, 12622 Shasta Way, Santa Ana, in a Cherokee 235 with Nancy Crews of Inglewood.

Also entered is Barbara Willis, 15222 Friends St., Pacific Palisades, flying her fifth race, in a Cessna 182. Her co-pilot will be Patricia Knoop, of Kettering, Ohio.

Another Palos Verdes Estates entrant is Jean Rose, 4420 Lucero Circle, derby winner in 1950 and a former WASP pilot in World War II. She will fly a Cherokee 140 along with Betty Lambert of San Diego.

* * * *

MOST EXPERIENCED pilot in the race will be Claire Walters of Los Angeles, 1951 winner and operator of a Long Beach Airport flight school.

Mrs. Walters, a pilot since 1941(has logged more than 18,500 hours flying time. She will be co-pilot for the co-owner of her flight school, Betty Faux, also a veteran flier. They will fly a Cessna 182.

The 1965 derby will cover 2,547 miles, with seven available stops en route including a "must" stop at Savannah, Ga. The race is flown in daylight hours only and under visual flight rules. Each pilot will be racing against the handicap assigned to her plane, which must be a stock model with 145-400 horsepower.

FIREMAN HURRIES HOSE FOR ACTION AS COTTON INFERNO RAGES

Cotton Bales Damaged by Huge Blaze

Fire destroyed or damaged an estimated $125,000 worth of baled cotton Saturday near Compton, county fire officials reported.

The blaze broke out shortly after 2 p.m. at the Reliance Upholstery and Supply Co., 15902 S. Main Ave., and six units from surrounding county areas responded to the call.

Firemen said flames were contained to a wooden shed piled high with the cotton bales. The shed was destroyed and units still were pouring water on the smoldering cotton late Saturday night.

Origin of the fire was undetermined.

Car Thief Picks the Mandolin--Bypasses Banjo

The thief preferred the mandolin music to that of the banjo.

At least that was the feeling Terrance D. Baldwin, of Santa Ana, had Saturday after his car was ransacked.

The victim told police a mandolin valued at $400 was taken while has car was parked at 1831 Beverly Way. The thief, however, bypassed a banjo in the same way.

4 Held, 1 Sought in Attack on Girl

A fifth suspect was being hunted by Long Beach police late Saturday after the brutal kidnap-rape of a teen-age Signal Hill girl.

The victim, an 18-year-old nurses' aide, was abducted from a street corner, hauled to an apartment and assaulted repeatedly by five men.

Four suspects later were arrested after the attractive blonde victim led police to the apartment where she had been held captive for several hours.

OTHERS INCLUDE Madine Parsel, 425 Via Lido Nord, Newport Beach, also in a Cherokee 140 with her co-pilot, Myrna Shanfield, 2632 Silverwood Dr., Los Alamitos, and Ann Cantillon, 12622 Shasta Way, Santa Ana, in a Cherokee 235 with Nancy Crews of Inglewood.

Also entered is Barbara Willis, 15222 Friends St., Pacific Palisades, flying her fifth race, in a Cessna 182. Her co-pilot will be Patricia Knoop, of Kettering, Ohio.

Another Palos Verdes Estates entrant is Jean Rose, 4420 Lucero Circle, derby winner in 1950 and a former WASP pilot in World War II. She will fly a Cherokee 140 along with Betty Lambert of San Diego.

* * * *

MOST EXPERIENCED pilot in the race will be Claire Walters of Los Angeles, 1951 winner and operator of a Long Beach Airport flight school.

Mrs. Walters, a pilot since 1941(has logged more than 18,500 hours flying time. She will be co-pilot for the co-owner of her flight school, Betty Faux, also a veteran flier. They will fly a Cessna 182.

The 1965 derby will cover 2,547 miles, with seven available stops en route including a "must" stop at Savannah, Ga. The race is flown in daylight hours only and under visual flight rules. CASTING FOR MORE TROPHIES

Mrs. Jennie Bishop, who at 79 has more trophies and medals than some people have seen, competes in the Western Angling and Casting Tournament in Recreation Park in spite of a hip injury.

HE SITS 3 DAYS, SHOUTS

Saved After Fall to Hillside Shelf

BERGEN, Norway (AP) — A young American student resting in the hospital told Saturday of his rescue after three days on a mountain shelf near the tourist resort of Balestand in western Norway.

"I was convinced all the time that I would be rescued, but I will never forget those three days on the mountain shelf," 21-year-old William Lemke of Evanston, Ill., said.

A rescue operation was launched after Lemke was reported missing from a Balestrand youth Hostel where he was staying. He was found by a search party Friday and brought to safety.

He had been sitting on the 2x7-foot shelf since Tuesday and local mountaineers said it amounts to a miracle that Lemke is alive.

* * * *

"I WAS OUT photographing when the accident happened," Lemke recalled, "I lost my camera from a small mountaintop, where I was standing.

"I went for it, but instead, I fell outside the edge of the mountain.

"Fortunately, the plunge stopped on the small shelf a few yards from the top. First, I tried to climb up again but found out it was hazardous even to stand up and decided to be sitting as immovable as possible and yell for help.

"When dusk came, my mood was low, but I was still convinced I would be rescued and went on yelling.

"I had no food and no water. I found some mossy-like growth on the shelf and by twisting it I could squeeze some water out of it. When I became too hungry, I decided to eat the moss. I didn't like the taste of it but what was I supposed to do?

"The nights were very cold and I had to put some moss under my anorak to keep warm. If I doubled up, I was able to lie down, but I didn't sleep of course.

"Some 20 yards beneath me was a raging waterfall and if I had fallen into it there would have been no hope for survival.

* * * *

"IT WAS tough to sit up there listening to the waterfall, thirsty as I was.

"I almost cried with joy when the search party discovered me. When they pulled me up by a rope I could have embraced them."

A spokesman for the Balestrand Hospital said Lemke's condition was amazingly good. He was able to walk without assistance from the mountain area. The spokesman said Lemke probably will be allowed to leave the hospital soon.

Lemke has studied for a couple of years in Aberdeen, Scotland, but now he plans to go home.

Patent Granted TV Screen That Can Be Any Size

MODESTO (AP) — Andy Fischer, owner of a Modesto metal-fabricating firm, has been granted a patent for a television screen that can be produced in any size from a few inches square to as big as a billboard and can be rolled up like a home movie screen.

The screen is the result of 17 years of work and $10,000 in parts, tools and attorneys' fees, Fischer says. It requires a new type of receiver. A working model, says Fischer, would cost at least $15,000 and would require a major laboratory.

The screen, which can be rigged for color, uses only 100 to 150 volts, compared to 20,000 to 25,000 volts for conventional sets. The power required does not vary with the size of the screen.

Casting Queen Reigneth

Mrs. Jennie M. Bishop, 79-year-old queen of the Long Beach Casting Club, won second place in the open plug accuracy contest Saturday despite the handicap of a cane and a crutch. The event was the 34th annual tournament of the Western Association of Angling and Casting Clubs.

"I'm proud of this," said Mrs. Bishop, who has a merry voice. "I beat Ed Thomas of the Rancho Club at Santa Monica, and he is one of the best."

* * * *

SHE TIED Thomas with 95 points, then beat him, 91 to 89, in the playoff. Winner was David Cohen of San Francisco, with 97 points.

"I didn't do so well in the other events because of that crutch," she said. The crutch and cane are temporary, the result of a hip operation. "I'm glad I've lived long enough to get my limit of albacore. I'm hoping to do it again this summer."

Mrs. Bishop, who lives at 5017 Broadway, has 75 trophies and almost as many medals for her skill in angling arts. She will have more after the close of the tournament today.

* * * *

SHE WAS a late bloomer, starting when she was 61. Incidentally, the hip injury was the result of fishing . . . she fell out of a bunk on a sportsfishing boat in a high sea.

"I'm feeling great, just great," she said. "Being 79 isn't as bad as some people would have you think. It's just a matter of outlook. I think like a person of 40, and that is how old I feel."

'Fireworks' Start Early in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Fouth of July is still a week away, but the fireworks start in the House of Representatives Monday.

Leaders have lined up a list of important and controversial bills for what could be the most hectic four days of the 1965 congressional session. Their plan is to finish work by Thursday night so members can fan out for the Independence Day weekend.

Major legislation ready for action:

—A 6-billion housing bill, carrying a new low income bracket rent-subsidy plan that has been embroiled in dispute from the moment it was proposed by President Johnson. Democrats believe they have the votes to pass the bill, which also provides for bigger public housing and urban renewal, without any major change.

—A $1.9-billion extension of the War on Poverty program, including new limitations on the powers given state governors to vote community projects to help the poor. Most Republicans and some Democrats oppose the whole bill, which would double the current program. But only the veto provision appears to be in doubt.

—A Senate-approved measure to eliminate the use of silver in dimes and quarters sharply cut the silver content of half-dollars. The bill is expected to pass, but mining state members are planning to fight hard to keep some silver in the smaller coins.

—A $1.25 hourly minimum wage for workers in District of Columbia industries not covered by the federal wage floor. While limited to the nation's capital, the bill could kick up a sharp dispute and preview the coming battle over the national minimum wage.

—A "continuing resolution" to authorize operation of federal agencies whose budgets for the year starting July 1 have not yet been approved. There seldom is a serious battle over such resolutions, but there usually is some speech-making about the inability of Congress to get its budget-making job done before the start of a new fiscal year.

In addition, the House probably will act on a compromise version of a proposed constitutional amendment to insure continuity of the Presidency. The legislation would provide for the appointment of a Vice President when that office becomes vacant, and for the Vice President to take over the reins in the event the President becomes disabled.

The only remaining issue is over the amount of time Congress would have to settle any dispute between the elected Chief Executive and the Vice President over reclaiming the Presidency.

EX-L.B. MAN IN RESEARCH

Wires in Skull Enable Deaf Patient to Hear

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Editor

A research team that included a former Long Beach man recently performed experiments that enabled a deaf man to detect sounds, Stanford Medical Center has announced.

Medical investigators electrically stimulated the hearing nerve of 61-year-old Anthony Vierra of San Jose.

Researchers said Vierra was able to identify tunes such as "Jingle Bells" and "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

* * * *

ONE OF THE researchers was Dr. John M. Epley, formerly of Long Beach and now an ear-nose-throat specialist in Portland, Ore.

Dr. Epley, son of Malcolm Epley, Independent, Press-Telegram executive editor, 6317 Mariquita St., was a resident in otolaryngology at Stanford, Palo Alto, when the experiments were performed.

Dr. Epley and Dr. F. Blair Simmons, assistant professor of surgery, implanted six tiny wires in Vierra's auditory nerve. These electrodes led to a connector threaded into the skull just behind the right ear, where external contact could be made.

* * * *

IN NORMAL circumstances, sounds enter the inner ear to trigger the nerve fibers of the auditory, or eighth cranial, nerve. These fibers produce the electrochemical pulses that travel along the nerve to the brain, which interprets them as sounds.

In the experiment, the medical investigators stimulated the auditory nerve directly by applying tiny pulses of electrical current to the electrodes.

By stimulating the nerve fibers, the researchers produced a variety of sensations, covering a range of pitches between low sounds like hums to high sounds like violins.

* * * *

"ALTHOUGH THE range and variety were insufficient to reproduce speech for Vierra, he could tell speech from other sounds," Dr. Simmons said, "probably because of the difference and changes in rhythm or amplitude."

Vierra was able to identify simple tunes he remembered hearing before he became deaf.

A spokesman for Stanford Medical Centter said this is the first time such extensive stimulations of the auditory nerve have been carried out in man.

* * * *

AIM OF THE study was to acquire additional knowledge about hearing and about the possibility of implanting artificial hearing devices in deaf persons.

Stanford says that the results obtained from this research project suggest that speech communication via direct nerve stimulation might be possible eventually.

However, such an achievement would require much more research and certainly more than six wires in the hearing nerve.

Stanford researchers have been placing electrodes within the ears of experimental animals for many years, it was disclosed.

* * * *

CAUSE OF Vierra's deafness is not known, but doctors think it probably is associated with a condition called retinitis pigmentosa, an eye disorder.

Because Vierra is partly blinded because of his eye condition, he is able to see written messages only in large block letters. Researchers communicated with him in this manner.

The condition has not affected his speech.

Vierra has been totally deaf in his right ear for several years. Hearing in his left ear was adequate until February 1964 but deteriorated rapidly after that.

* * * *

THE NEW research shows how tremendously complex the hearing process is.

It was found that pitch was affected both by electrode selection during the experiment and by stimulus repetition rate.

The researchers say this suggests that two methods of pitch encoding take place within one group of auditory fibers.

Auditory sensation, they say, increases in loudness with increasing current amplitude.

The research has been reported to the medical community in Science, weekly journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. It was carried out in cooperation with other scientists at the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, N.J.

Welcome for Queen Unroyal---but Rousing

TORONTO (AP) — "Yoo-Hoo Queen!" patients shouted Saturday from the windows of Women's College Hospital to welcome Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth.

The royal visitor accepted the unroyal greeting with a smile. Then she broke away from her escorts to chat with three elderly patients watching quietly on the sidelines.

"I just love her," said Irene Kirk, 70, after her chat with the Queen Mother. "She was really lovely to me, and it was a great joy for me to meet her."

The Queen Mother later donned diamonds and pearls to attend the 106th running of the Queen's Plate for 3-year-olds—Canada's poshest racing event.

* * * *

A CAPACITY crowd of 32,000 at the Woodbine Racetrack rose to its feet as the Queen Mother rolled to the grandstand in an open carriage drawn by four chestnut geldings, accompanied by brass-helmeted members of the governor-general's horseguard. Trumpeters of the Horseguard Band blew a fanfare at the Queen Mother's approach.

The Queen Mother was introduced to the top-hatted members of the Jockey Club. She walked among them with Lord Thomson of Fleet, the Canadian-born international press magnate who wore the hodden-grey kilt of the Toronto Scottish.

Italy Tourist Up

ROME (AP) — The government announced that 693,136 foreigners came to Italy in April, the traditional start of the tourist season. That was 25.5% more than in April 1964.

Reds' Troops Dropped Near Berlin Route

BERLIN (UPI)—A Russian paratroop jump near Berlin's lifeline highways to the West was reported Saturday as the Communists prepared to tighten controls on water routes to this isolated city.

West Berlin police said travelers reported seeing the paratroopers jump at dusk Friday between two Autobahn highways running from West Berlin to West Germany.

* * * *

TRAVELERS also saw several Communist armored-car columns heading toward West Berlin on the Autobahnen from Munich and from Helmstedt, police said.

Western officials have reported Communist military maneuvers along the Autobahnen for the past three days but the Communists insist the reports are a hoax.

* * * *

BARGE captains reported that officials of the East German Transportation Ministry Saturday began issuing new permits aboard boats on the Elbe River and the Mittelland Canal, the water routes linking Berlin with the West.

The new permits, which will come into effect July 1, cost $50 a year for each barge. Barges formerly were permitted to use the canals free of charge.

The legislation would provide for the appointment of a Vice President when that office becomes vacant, and for the Vice President to take over the reins in the event the President becomes disabled.

The only remaining issue is over the amount of time Congress would have to settle any dispute between the elected Chief Executive and the Vice President over reclaiming the Presidency.

EX-L.B. MAN IN RESEARCH

Wires in Skull Enable Deaf Patient to Hear

By BEN ZINSER
Medical Editor

A research team that included a former Long Beach man recently performed experiments that enabled a deaf man to detect sounds, Stanford Medical Center has announced.

Medical investigators electrically stimulated the hearing nerve of 61-year-old Anthony Vierra of San Jose.

Researchers said Vierra was able to identify tunes such as "Jingle Bells" and "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

* * * *

ONE OF THE researchers was Dr. John M. Epley, formerly of Long Beach and now an ear - nose - throat specialist in Portland, Ore.

Dr. Epley, son of Malcolm Epley, Independent, Press-Telegram executive editor, 6317 Mariquita St., was a resident in ololaryngology at Stanford, Palo Alto, when the experiments were performed.

Dr. Epley and Dr. F. Blair Simmons, assistant professor of surgery, implanted six tiny wires in Vierra's auditory nerve. These electrodes led to a connector threaded into the skull just behind the right ear, where external contact could be made.

* * * *

IN NORMAL circumstances, sounds enter the inner ear to trigger the nerve fibers of the auditory, or eighth cranial, nerve. These fibers produce the electrochemical pulses that travel along the nerve to the brain, which interprets them as sounds.

In the experiment, the medical investigators stimulated the auditory nerve directly by applying tiny pulses of electrical current to the electrodes.

By stimulating the nerve fibers, the researchers produced a variety of sensations, covering a range of pitches between low sounds like hums to high sounds like violins.

* * * *

"ALTHOUGH THE range and variety were insufficient to reproduce speech for Vierra, he could tell speech from other sounds," Dr. Simmons said, "probably because of the difference and changes in rhythm or amplitude."

Vierra was able to identify simple tunes he remembered hearing before he became deaf.

A spokesman for Stanford Medical Centter said this is the first time such extensive stimulations of the auditory nerve have been carried out in man.

* * * *

AIM OF THE study was to acquire additional knowledge about hearing and about the possibility of implanting artificial hearing devices in deaf persons.

Stanford says that the results obtained from this research project suggest that speech communication via direct nerve stimulation might be possible eventually.

However, such an achievement would require much more research and certainly more than six wires in the hearing nerve.

Stanford researchers have been placing electrodes within the ears of experimental animals for many years, it was disclosed.

* * * *

CAUSE OF Vierra's deafness is not known, but doctors think it probably is associated with a condition called retinitis pigmentosa, an eye disorder.

Because Vierra is partly blinded because of his eye condition, he is able to see written messages only in large block letters. Researchers communicated with him in this manner.

The condition has not affected his speech.

Vierra has been totally deaf in his right ear for several years. Hearing in his left ear was adequate until February 1964 but deteriorated rapidly after that.

* * * *

THE NEW research shows how tremendously complex the hearing process is.

It was found that pitch was affected both by electrode selection during the experiment and by stimulus repetition rate.

The researchers say this suggests that two methods of pitch encoding take place within one group of auditory fibers.

Auditory sensation, they say, increases in loudness with increasing current amplitude.

The research has been reported to the medical community in Science, weekly journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. It was carried out in cooperation with other scientists at the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, N.J.

Reds' Troops Dropped Near Berlin Route

BERLIN (UPI)—A Russian paratroop jump near Berlin's lifeline highways to the West was reported Saturday as the Communists prepared to tighten controls on water routes to this isolated city.

West Berlin police said travelers reported seeing the paratroopers jump at dusk Friday between two Autobahn highways running from West Berlin to West Germany.

* * * *

TRAVELERS also saw several Communist armored-car columns heading toward West Berlin on the Autobahnen from Munich and from Helmstedt, police said.

Western officials have reported Communist military maneuvers along the Autobahnen for the past three days but the Communists insist the reports are a hoax.

* * * *

BARGE captains reported that officials of the East German Transportation Ministry Saturday began issuing new permits aboard boats on the Elbe River and the Mittelland Canal, the water routes linking Berlin with the West.

The new permits, which will come into effect July 1, cost $50 a year for each barge. Barges formerly were permitted to use the canals free of charge.

HE SITS 3 DAYS, SHOUTS

Saved After Fall to Hillside Shelf

BERGEN, Norway (AP) — A young American student resting in the hospital told Saturday of his rescue after three days on a mountain shelf near the tourist resort of Balestand in western Norway.

"I was convinced all the time that I would be rescued, but I will never forget those three days on the mountain shelf," 21 - year - old William Lemke of Evanston, Ill., said.

A rescue operation was launched after Lemke was reported missing from a Balestrand youth Hostel where he was staying. He was found by a search party Friday and brought to safety.

He had been sitting on the 2x7-foot shelf since Tuesday and local mountaineers said it amounts to a miracle that Lemke is alive.

* * * *

"I WAS OUT photographing when the accident happened," Lemke recalled, "I lost my camera from a small mountaintop, where I was standing.

"I went for it, but instead, I fell outside the edge of the mountain.

"Fortunately, the plunge stopped on the small shelf a few yards from the top. First, I tried to climb up again but found out it was hazardous even to stand up and decided to be sitting as immovable as possible and yell for help.

"When dusk came, my mood was low, but I was still convinced I would be rescued and went on yelling.

"I had no food and no water. I found some mossy-like growth on the shelf and by twisting it I could squeeze some water out of it. When I became too hungry, I decided to eat the moss. I didn't like the taste of it but what was I supposed to do?

"The nights were very cold and I had to put some moss under my anorak to keep warm. If I doubled up, I was able to lie down, but I didn't sleep of course.

"Some 20 yards beneath me was a raging waterfall and if I had fallen into it there would have been no hope for survival.

* * * *

"IT WAS tough to sit up there listening to the waterfall, thirsty as I was.

"I almost cried with joy when the search party discovered me. When they pulled me up by a rope I could have embraced them."

A spokesman for the Balestrand Hospital said Lemke's condition was amazingly good. He was able to walk without assistance from the mountain area. The spokesman said Lemke probably will be allowed to leave the hospital soon.

Lemke has studied for a couple of years in Aberdeen, Scotland, but now he plans to go home.

Patent Granted TV Screen That Can Be Any Size

MODESTO (AP) — Andy Fischer, owner of a Modesto metal-fabricating firm, has been granted a patent for a television screen that can be produced in any size from a few inches square to as big as a billboard and can be rolled up like a home movie screen.

The screen is the result of 17 years of work and $10,000 in parts, tools and attorneys' fees, Fischer says. It requires a new type of receiver. A working model, says Fischer, would cost at least $15,000 and would require a major laboratory.

The screen, which can be rigged for color, uses only 100 to 150 volts, compared to 20,000 to 25,000 volts for conventional sets. The power required does not vary with the size of the screen.

Casting Queen Reigneth

Mrs. Jennie M. Bishop, 79-year-old queen of the Long Beach Casting Club, won second place in the open plug accuracy contest Saturday despite the handicap of a cane and a crutch. The event was the 34th annual tournament of the Western Association of Angling and Casting Clubs.

"I'm proud of this," said Mrs. Bishop, who has a merry voice. "I beat Ed Thomas of the Rancho Club at Santa Monica, and he is one of the best."

* * * *

SHE TIED Thomas with 95 points, then beat him, 91 to 89, in the playoff. Winner was David Cohen of San Francisco, with 97 points.

"I didn't do so well in the other events because of that crutch," she said. The crutch and cane are temporary, the result of a hip operation. "I'm glad I've lived long enough to get my limit of albacore. I'm hoping to do it again this summer."

Mrs. Bishop, who lives at 5017 Broadway, has 75 trophies and almost as many medals for her skill in angling arts. She will have more after the close of the tournament today.

* * * *

SHE WAS a late bloomer, starting when she was 61. Incidentally, the hip injury was the result of fishing . . . she fell out of a bunk on a sportsfishing boat in a high sea.

"I'm feeling great, just great," she said. "Being 79 isn't as bad as some people would have you think. It's just a matter of outlook. I think like a person of 40, and that is how old I feel."

Welcome for Queen Unroyal---but Rousing

TORONTO (AP) — "Yoo-Hoo Queen!" patients shouted Saturday from the windows of Women's College Hospital to welcome Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth.

The royal visitor accepted the unroyal greeting with a smile. Then she broke away from her escorts to chat with three elderly patients watching quietly on the sidelines.

"I just love her," said Irene Kirk, 70, after her chat with the Queen Mother. "She was really lovely to me, and it was a great joy for me to meet her."

The Queen Mother later donned diamonds and pearls to attend the 106th running of the Queen's Plate for 3-year-olds—Canada's poshest racing event.

* * * *

A CAPACITY crowd of 32,000 at the Woodbine Racetrack rose to its feet as the Queen Mother rolled to the grandstand in an open carriage drawn by four chestnut geldings, accompanied by brass-helmeted members of the governor-general's horseguard. Trumpeters of the Horseguard Band blew a fanfare at the Queen Mother's approach.

The Queen Mother was introduced to the top-hatted members of the Jockey Club. She walked among them with Lord Thomson of Fleet, the Canadian - born international press magnate who wore the hodden-grey kilt of the Toronto Scottish.

Italy Tourist Up

ROME (AP) — The government announced that 693,136 foreigners came to Italy in April, the traditional start of the tourist season. That was 25.5% more than in April 1964.

VINCENNES, Ind. (AP)—Dogcatcher Hollis Lane was bitten when he went to a Vincennes home to pick up a stray dog.

No dog bit him—it was one of the youngsters at the home that nipped him.

The youngster wanted the dog so badly that Lane left it.

Czechs Take Game Census

PRAGUE (AP) — According to the latest game census taken in Czechoslovakia, there are nearly 250,000 heads of roegame, more than 40,000 heads of deer, and moufflons, fallow deer and wild boars, more than several thousands of each variety in the hunting grounds of this country.

Among small game, the most numerous, about one and a quarter of a million, are hare. Pheasants and partridges number 800,000 each.

DO COWARD BLITHELY

'Port' Players in Spirited Debut

By SAMUEL A. BOYEA

Some deft, rather daft hocus-pocus, author Coward (Noel) and divine comedienne Bea (Bradley) combined Friday evening to make the British spook-satire, "Blithe Spirit" an ideal send-off for the town's newest theatrical company—Port of Call Players, Berth 75, San Pedro—batten down your hatches and all that.

The company's co-founder, W. David Sievers, who has persistently tried, without ever really succeeding, to put the death of theatrical tragedy in this town, directed the debut of the Players. The man is obviously more in his element as an exponent of drawing room comedy. Though "Blithe's" theatrical legerdermain slumps rather thin by Act Three, Sievers paces the entire proceedings with a dexterity worthy of Noel "Cahd cafe" wit and the astral talents of his star, Miss Bradley.

* * * *

WITH MALICE "afthought" — considering the theater's location and the savage ocean winds — Sievers even has his players ad-lib appropriately when a departing ship's whistle or other nautical disturbances intrude on the play's dialogue and business.

Since "Blithe Spirit" is Madame Arcati's (Bea Bradley) adventure into necromacy, these nautical romances blend into the high-spirited comedy.

The Bradley-headed cast is a fine one from stem to stern.

As the second wife in this ethereal triangle, blond Claudene Atkinson (Ruth) is simply fetching, interweaving verve and bewilderment with firm creative effectiveness and economy. Jacqueline Smalley, made up in green including hair and skin, conjures up the right theatrical cunning as the first, vain wife, seven years dead, and now re-appearing by courtesy of Madame Arcati's seance. Except, perhaps, for rather repetitious floating, ballet-like arm movements, actress Smalley consistently impressed as a performer who, by temperament, is more keenly suited to "smarht" comedy of the "Blithe" type than to the treacherous terrain of tragedy. Her accent was quite authentic.

* * * *

THOUGH STILL stubbornly refusing to yield to a British accent, Edwin Gangel was sound as Charles, the astral bigamist caught between the Scylla of blonde Miss Atkinson's Ruth and the Charybdis of Miss Smalley's Elvira. His interpretation could benefit from more urbanity, flexibility and less, sweeping gestures, but his dedication compensates. Some of his scenes with Miss Atkinson were real funny and smartly held.

Living with his second wife in fashionable boredom, novelist Gangel (Charles) summons Bea Bradley (Madam Arcati) to hold a seance in his English country house. The central-staged play gets its pace with Miss Bradley's hectic arrival on bicycle. As a medium who got in on the ground floor of her "art" by being born to a medium mother and by getting her first ectoplasmic experience at five and a half years, Miss Bradley's Mme. Arcati believes that a steady rhythm is what counts in her field.

* * * *

IN HER flamboyant clothing plus tennis (or yachting) shoes, Miss Bradley, as actress, thoroughly convinces that steady rhythm is what indeed counts on-stage. She takes charge from the time she flounces on a stage as a sort of hopped-up Edith Stillwell running amok among mere earthlings. This tall, young Long Beach girl via Brooklyn (where else?) was always fascinating, whether calling up "control"—a bashful, little girl with cold (Daphnee) who died in 1886, whether going through completely inane vibrations to the music of Irvin Berlin's "Always," or hustling left-over sandwiches.

Tall Bea puts the gleam in the eye of this "stormy" production — and a mad, mad maid, Valerie Shidler (Edith) helps her in context and execution to right the spiritual imbalance at the end. Matt Bond (Dr. Bradman) and Harriet Bond (Mrs. Bradman) were OK as guests.

Angeles National Forest Areas Close

LOS ANGELES (AP)—About one-third of Angeles National Forest will be closed to the public beginning Thursday until weather conditions ease the threat of fire.

Major highways, paved roads, major campgrounds and recreation areas will remain open. Trails within the closed area will be closed only on days when the fire danger index reaches "very high" or "extreme."

WEEK-LONG SEMINAR

Back to School for Judges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's "back to school" on Monday for 25 judges recently appointed to the federal bench.

A week-long seminar has been planned for them by more seasoned jurists under the auspices of the judicial conference of the United States. The conference, composed of the chief judge and a district judge from each of the 11 U. S. judicial circuits, oversees the activities of the federal courts.

This year's seminar will be in Denver, as was the one last year. Others have been held in Monterey, Calif., Norfolk, Va., and Dearborn, Mich. Total attendance has been 110.

* * * *

THE IDEA is to acquaint the judges with federal practice, including the art of getting parties together before trial to eliminate sources of delay.

District Judge Irvin R. Kaufman of New York, whose conference subcommittee is masterminding the program, said:

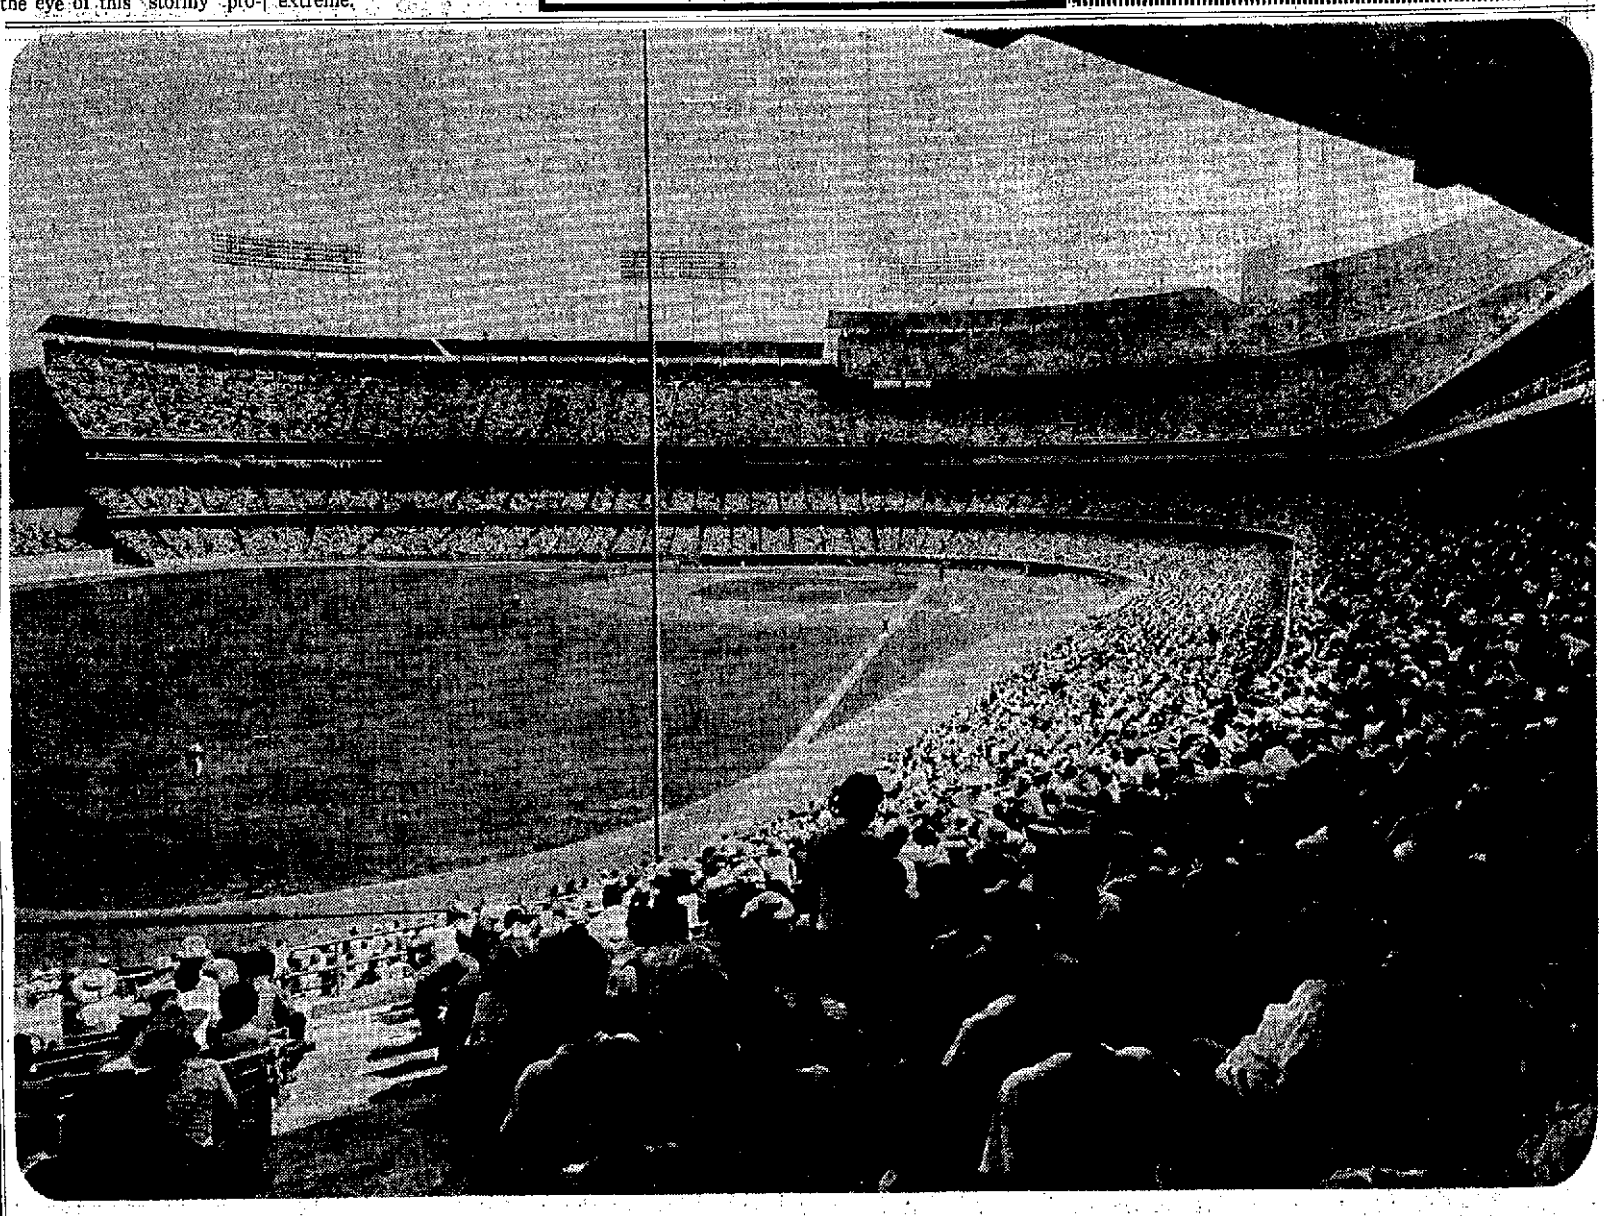

"The great advocates of legal reform have sought to induce judges to abandon the passive role of referees at a sports contest."

He urged judges to "take an active part in the control of litigation from its inception, so that deception, surprise, technicalities, and delay will be obliterated and a trial will truly represent an enlightened search for the truth."

GEORGE LEDERER DAY AT DODGER STADIUM

Every day the Dodgers play, at home or away, is George Lederer Day—because whenever the Dodgers take the field George is in the press box, ready to file his complete and colorful reports on Dodger play, exclusively to readers of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

And that is just part of the reason Dodger fans are George Lederer fans. Real fans want to know what the Dodgers are doing off the field as well as on, in the business office, in the locker room, and on the boulevards. George tells it all.

Reading George Lederer is almost like being at the ball game, maybe better. Because you never miss the fine points of a play when you read George's reports, and George has a style that makes every story as individual as the ball game. Except George doesn't supply hotdogs.

GEORGE LEDERER DAY AT DODGER STADIUM

Every day the Dodgers play, at home or away, is George Lederer Day—because whenever the Dodgers take the field George is in the press box, ready to file his complete and colorful reports on Dodger play, exclusively to readers of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

And that is just part of the reason Dodger fans are George Lederer fans. Real fans want to know what the Dodgers are doing off the field as well as on, in the business office, in the locker room, and on the boulevards. George tells it all.

Reading George Lederer is almost like being at the ball game, maybe better. Because you never miss the fine points of a play when you read George's reports, and George has a style that makes every story as individual as the ball game. Except George doesn't supply hotdogs.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Viet Nam—Death on Many Fronts

By Combined Wire Services

Viet Nam meant death on many fronts and in different ways for Americans. And before the brutal war is resolved — either militarily or by negotiation—death would visit more and more American homes.

—Radio Hanoi announced an Army sergeant had been put to death in retaliation for the execution of Viet Cong terrorists by the Saigon regime.

—Two terrorists blasts turned a gay floating restaurant in Saigon into flaming death for at least 29 persons, five or six of them Americans. About 100 other persons were wounded.

—A military jet transport crashed at El Toro, Calif., killing 72 Marines and 12 Air Force crewmen. The Marines were bound for Okinawa, a staging area for Viet Nam.

The sergeant executed by the Communists was Harold George Bennett, 25, of Perryville, Ark., captured by the Viet Cong last Dec. 29.

Radio Hanoi gave few details of the killing, but said other Americans "must pay for their blood debts' if any more Viet Cong terrorists are executed.

* * * *

IN PERRYVILLE, Bennett's widowed mother, who has two other sons in service, wept. "It's the most horrible thing in the world," she said. "I sure do not believe we should be involved."

In Washington, officials denounced the killing of Bennett as cold-blooded murder. It was plain that the Communists hoped to use the incident as a lever for mercy for other Viet Cong terrorists and also to fan opposition to American policy on Viet Nam at home.

In addition to Bennett, the Viet Cong was known to be holding prisoner 14 other American servicemen, one U.S. Aid official and four non-government American civilians.

The My Cahn Restaurant, moored at the riverbank in Saigon, "the Paris of the Orient,' was a favorite of Americans and well-to-do Vietnamese. It was crowded for dinner Friday night, and the nearby boulevard bustled with people.

At 8:15 a giant blast tore through both decks of the restaurant and through the street crowds. Moments later there was a second blast. Mangled bodies and parts of bodies littered the scene. Horribly wounded women and children cried for help.

The C135 four-engine jet, a military version of the Boeing 707, crashed into a hillside at 1:44 a.m., Friday, soon after takeoff from El Toro.

* * * *

THE PLANE was based at McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey, the Marines were enlisted men and a few officers, heading for the Far East as replacements.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the word came from an odd source. Senate Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen strolled into the Senate press gallery and said he wouldn't be surprised if the United States soon doubled its forces in South Viet Nam—to 120,000 or more—and if the United States began ground artillery fire across the border into North Viet Nam.

The Illinois Republican, a strong supporters of President Johnson's policy in Viet Nam, sad he got these ideas from talking with Robert T. Stevens.

Stevens, also a Republican and once secretary of the Army, was just back from a tour of Viet Nam. It was not clear whether Dirksen spoke for anyone in the Johnson administration.

The Saigon government broke relations with France, against U.S. advice. France once dominated what is now Viet Nam. French President Charles de Gaulle, critical of U.S. support of South Viet Nam, would make the area a neutral zone.

Soviet-American relations have cooled considerably because of the increased tempo of the war, particularly the aerial bombing of North Viet Nam. Moscow reported that American warplanes flew over Hanoi, the North Viet Nam capital, and that four were shot down. There was no confirmation here.

Johnson's long-range objective in Southeast Asia is to roll back the Red tide and guarantee menanced nations their independence, thus bolstering the free world's defenses.

President Lyndon Baines Johnson was in San Francisco Friday to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the fouding of the United Nations.

After expressing his faith in the world body he spoke of the great problems facing the world — poverty, the arms race, the population explosion. He spoke also of Viet Nam.

"I call upon this gathering of the nations of the world to use their influence, individually and collectively, to bring to the tables those who seem determined to make war. We will support your efforts as we will support effective action by any agent or agency of these United Nations."

He added that the processes of peaceful settlement in Viet Nam were "blocked by willful aggressors contemptuous of the opinion and the will of mankind."

As before, the masters of Red China and Communist North Viet Nam held the key to peace.

ON THE congressional front, Johnson signed into law a $4.7 billion cut in federal sales (excise) taxes, opening the way to lower prices on a long list of consumer goods such as new cars, television sets and cosmetics. He hinted at future cut that would help low-bracket wage earners in particular.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON WAVES to crowd as he and former President Truman leave hotel in Kansas City. The President stopped to have breakfast with Truman before going to San Francisco.

Congress kept up a fast pace on presidential requests.

The House Education and Labor Committee approved a $601 million bill to double present federal aid for the building of college classrooms, libraries and laboratories. The measure also would grant federal scholarships to college students.

The Senate Finance Committee cleared for floor action a $6.8 billion Social Security-health and welfare bill providing both medical care and higher cash benefits for 20 million older Americans.

The medicare benefits, more liberal than those in the house-passed verison, would be financed by increased Social Security taxes and would take effect July 1, 966.

The bill also would allow beneficiaries to earn more outside income without forfeiting pension money. Senate passage is expecting after the July 4 recess.

The American Medical Association's house of delegates, which bitterly opposes medicare, decided at its New York convention to delay taking a stand on whether physicians should participate in the program. Some delegates vociferously demanded a nationwide boycott.

The AMA policy-making body also declined to endorse the U.S. Surgeon General's 1964 report branding smoking a health hazard. The AMA has begun a study of its own. Coincidentally, the House joined the Senate in passing a bill to require cigarette makers to put health warning labels on their packages. Both chambers differed, however, over whether the proviso should be extended to cigarette advertising.

The Senate passed and returned to the House a bill to impose federal controls on so-called pep pills and goof balls which have figured in juvenile crime and sex orgies. The legislation was recommended by the President. The House also authorized $16.5 million for federal juvenile delinquent control projects in the next two years.

The Senate approved, over sharp western opposition, a Johnson bill to conserve industrial silver by taking the 90% silver content from newly minted dimes and quarters and reducing it to 40% in half dollars. The House is working on similar legislation. The new dimes and quarters, made with nickel and copper, would go into circulation next year.

FORMER Florida Gov. Leroy Collins was chosen by Johnson to succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., as undersecretary of commerce. Roosevelt recently was named to head the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The Goldwater-Republican Party breach turned up a comic opera touch Wednesday.

Ray C. Bliss, chairman of the Republican national committee, fired his top aide, William Cody Kelly. The charge: That Kelly had broken into the desk of Frank J. Kovac, the party's finance director, in party headquarters in Washington.

Through a mist of charges and countercharges, it appeared Kelly thought Kovac was about to defect to Barry Goldwater's new Free Society Association, taking with him a list of big party contributors.

Said Kelly: "I was caught in the crossfire between moderate and conservative forces within the party."

A court martial at Naha, Okinawa, deliberated less than an hour and found Lt. Richard Steinke, 27, of Milwaukee, Wis., guilty of refusing to go into combat in Viet Nam.

Steinke, a West Point graduate, testified he disagreed with United States policy in Viet Nam and felt the war there "is not worth one American life." The lieutenant, who graduated high in the class of 1962, could be sentenced to five years in prison and dismissal from the service.

President Ahmed ben Bella of Algeria was preparing to remove certain high army officers, but the officers acted first.

Led by Col. Houari Boumedienne they seized Ben Bella and other high government officers and carried them off to prison. The coup was nearly bloodless, but all week long Algeria was shaken by riots and unrest in principal cities.

Deaths of the week:

Bernard M. Baruch, 94, financier, philanthropist, sportsman and advisor to presidents famous for his park bench conference, June 20 of a heart attack in his New York apartment.

David O. Selznick, 63, producer of many outstanding movies, including "Gone With the Wind," and developer of many film stars, June 22 of a heart attack in Hollywood.

SALESMAN OF THE MONTH

Jimmy Thompson, veteran salesman at Dick Browning Oldsmobile at 1227 Long Beach Blvd. in Long Beach, has been named Salesman of the Month by Mr. R. D. Browning, owner. Mr. Browning estimates that 25% of Jimmy Thompson's sales are repeat business or by referral. Thompson began selling automobiles in 1936. He has been selling Oldsmobiles at the 1227 Long Beach Blvd. location since 1956.

The Dick Browning agency is currently celebrating its fifth anniversary and as part of his continuing efforts to improve customer-relations, Mr. Browning has designed some unique "report cards" whereby Olds purchasers and owners evaluate the salesmen and service personnel.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS

U.S. Policy Praised, Hit

By United Press International

Viet Nam again dominated the editorial pages last week in Asia and Europe.

The Austrian independent newspaper NEUES OESTERREICH praised the United States for its Viet Nam policy.

"Today it seems to be fashionable, not only in Austria, but also in other European countries, to pinch Uncle Sam," the newspaper said.

"Apparently we forgot too quickly the great postwar economic aid, the Marshal Plan and E.R.P. (European Reconstruction program).

"We apparently also forget what the United States is still doing for the free world.

"Therefore," the paper continued, "let us not be fault-finding in the Vietnamese conflict. Let us rather remember the years from 1935 to 1938 when the appeasers prevented timely opposition to the (German) national socialists while effective opposition would still have been possible with comparatively few sacrifices.

"World War II was the price they had to pay for the tactic of step-by-step retreat.

"Let us hope that history will not repeat itself in this respect and that the free world will not again stand at the abyss one day because it had chosen the lesser risk."

On American involvement in Santo Domingo, the liberal French daily LE MONDE proclaimed that Washington holds the key to peace, and has the power to force Dominican junta leader Gen. Antonio Barreras to agree to the draft peace plan of the Organization of American States (OAS).

"Two months after the dramatic rising of the Dominican people against the Reid Cabral junta," the newspaper went on, "there is the first serious hope of a provisional settlement of the crisis aggravated and rekindled by the armed intervention of the United States."

By United Press International

Viet Nam again dominated the editorial pages last week in Asia and Europe.

The Austrian independent newspaper NEUES OESTERREICH praised the United States for its Viet Nam policy.

"Today it seems to be fashionable, not only in Austria, but also in other European countries, to pinch Uncle Sam," the newspaper said.

"Apparently we forgot too quickly the great postwar economic aid, the Marshal Plan and E.R.P. (European Reconstruction program).

"We apparently also forget what the United States is still doing for the free world.

"Therefore," the paper continued, "let us not be fault-finding in the Vietnamese conflict. Let us rather remember the years from 1935 to 1938 when the appeasers prevented timely opposition to the (German) national socialists while effective opposition would still have been possible with comparatively few sacrifices.

"World War II was the price they had to pay for the tactic of step-by-step retreat.

"Let us hope that history will not repeat itself in this respect and that the free world will not again stand at the abyss one day because it had chosen the lesser risk."

On American involvement in Santo Domingo, the liberal French daily LE MONDE proclaimed that Washington holds the key to peace, and has the power to force Dominican junta leader Gen. Antonio Barreras to agree to the draft peace plan of the Organization of American States (OAS).

"Two months after the dramatic rising of the Dominican people against the Reid Cabral junta," the newspaper went on, "there is the first serious hope of a provisional settlement of the crisis aggravated and rekindled by the armed intervention of the United States."

SALESMAN OF THE MONTH

Jimmy Thompson, veteran salesman at Dick Browning Oldsmobile at 1227 Long Beach Blvd. in Long Beach, has been named Salesman of the Month by Mr. R. D. Browning, owner. Mr. Browning estimates that 25% of Jimmy Thompson's sales are repeat business or by referral. Thompson began selling automobiles in 1936. He has been selling Oldsmobiles at the 1227 Long Beach Blvd. location since 1956.

The Dick Browning agency is currently celebrating its fifth anniversary and as part of his continuing efforts to improve customer-relations, Mr. Browning has designed some unique "report cards" whereby Olds purchasers and owners evaluate the salesmen and service personnel.

Freeway Patrols Braced for Fourth

EDITOR'S NOTE: Next weekend is the Fourth of July holiday. California likely will lead the nation again in slaughter on the highways. The agency most concerned with preventing highway accidents is the California Highway Patrol. UPI sent a reporter out with a CHP patrolman to find out what is involved in accident prevention on freeways.

By DONALD B. THACKERY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Don Burks drives San Francisco's freeway system for eight hours a day, including the afternoon commuter rush.

Burks, 27, is a California Highway Patrolman. He ranges the freeways in an easily distinguished black and white CHP car equipped with red lights and a siren.

On a recent Friday afternoon he attended the informal briefing for patrolling officers of the San Francisco CHP station and then climbed into his car.

The freeway started filling as he drove north.

* * * *

"IT GETS CROWDED a little earlier on Fridays," Burks said. "But the commute hour does not produce the freeway fatals. Traffic moves too slowly."

Burks motioned at the bumper-to-bumper lines of cars moving south from the city of San Mateo County.

"Let these guys get home, shower, change clothes and have a couple of drinks," he said. "Then they start out somewhere for dinner—and they're in a hurry. Blam . . .

"Another bad time for speeders is about nine or ten o'clock at night. Some guy has spent his time sitting in a bar and he's three hours late getting home. So he thinks he has to save 10 minutes on the trip home to keep his wife from being mad at him. So he speeds and . . ."

* * * *

DURING THE rush hour Burks checked on a couple of stalled cars. One had gasoline coming and the other needed a tow truck. Burks radioed for the tow. Then he pushed a large truck carrying a 10,000-pound load. The driver got the truck started or he would merely have been pushed to some place he could get off the freeway.

"During this time we are not so interested in spotting vehicle code violations as we are in keeping the traffic moving," he said. "With a minor accident we don't go through a long investigation. We just get the cars off the road."

Speeding is the largest single cause of fatal accidents in California, as elsewhere. The traffic toll for Memorial Day, 1965, was 65 in California. Almost one-third of these fatal accidents were traced directly to speed.

Almost another third were caused by failure to yield, drunk driving, driving on the wrong side or falling asleep at the wheel—all easily preventable causes, but ones which will crop up again next week in the CHP reports of July Fourth fatalities.

* * * *

COMING ACROSS the Bay Bridge after the commute hour was over, Burks fell in behind a car pulling a trailer. There was no rear vision mirror on either side and the trailer blocked off the view through the car's back window. Burks pulled the driver over and wrote out a ticket.

"I could have given him either a ticket or a warning," Burks said. "The law on having a mirror on the right hand side while pulling a trailer is only a couple of years old. If he had had one on the left, I would probably have figured the guy was at least trying and let him off with a warning even though he would have been partly blind.

"But this way, when he doesn't have any kind of a rear vision mirror, he is completely blind and I figure he just doesn't care. So I wrote him a ticket."

Burks finished his shift without further incident and returned to the CHP station.

* * * *

"BOY! A WHOLE shift and no accidents," he said. "That doesn't happen often. It would sure be nice if . . ."

Burks didn't finish the sentence, but he was probably thinking of the Fourth of July weekend which is coming up. Last July Fourth holiday 84 persons were killed on California's highways — an all-time record for any holiday for any state.

This year the holiday will take other lives, or rather, careless drivers will take them.

Portable Dams for Dry Country

NEW YORK (AP)—A device dating from the Middle Ages and modernized with steel is being used by conservationists and trout anglers to conserve fish life in drought stricken areas of the country.

Steel Facts, publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said the devices are gabions—wire mesh "cages"—which can be scientifically placed in stream beds and filled with on-site rocks to form dam-like structures. Drying streams are thus deepened so that fish can move and spawn better.

The gabions keep relatively small rocks together without mortar or cement, are easily carried into wild areas for assembling, requires no heavy earthmoving equipment and can be filled with almost any available rocks.

Symposium Erects Sign of Progress

The first visible evidence of the International Sculpture Symposium, now in progress at Long Beach State College at Long Beach, rose on the campus Saturday.

Israeli sculptor Kosso Eloul and his crew of symposium students erected a full-scale, 15-foot lumber-and-cloth mockup of his concrete and stainless steel notched monolith that will rise in a few weeks behind the science complex, where the upper campus slopes down to State College Drive and the lower campus.

The mockup will be viewed today by some 300 persons who will attend a buffet lunch on campus and meet the sculptors participating in the symposium. The luncheon is one of a series of fund-raising events planned by the symposium committee.

* * * *

THE ISRAELI sculptor, who exhibits under his first name of Kosso, paced around the huge mockup, viewed it from all angles of the slope, and pronounced himself satisfied.

"You create these things in your mind and on paper," he explained, "but you always suffer from last-minute doubts until you actually see how a full-scale, three-dimensional mockup looks on the site."

PIOTR KOWALSKI
Polish Sculptor

Another sculptor, Pintr Kowalski of Poland, arrived by air Saturday from Paris to join the symposium. Kowalski, who now lives in France, revealed that he was so excited by the prospects of the symposium that he had passed up almost-mandatory personal appearances at three of his showings in Europe.

* * * *

HE CURRENTLY has a show at the Louisiana Museum in Copenhagen. On Tuesday his work will be exhibited in a showing of monumental sculpture opening at the Galiera Museum in Paris, and he is also represented in a "Movement and Light" exhibition opening Saturday at the Kunsthalle in Bern, Switzerland.

Kowalski, who has worked in all modern media such as concrete, metal and plastic, disclosed that a sculptor's life is not without its serious physical hazards.

He recently underwent a period of temporary but total blindness, he said, as a result of poisoning suffered while working with polyesthers.

* * * *

KOWALSKI said he was looking forward particularly to exploring the industrial fabricating resources of aircraft, steel, concrete and other industries in Southern California.

"Benvenuto Cellini worked with the most advanced technological processes of his day as a rennaissance sculptor," Kowalski said. "Modern sculptors similarly should have the tremendous technology of their day available."

10,000 to Attend L.B. Summer Schools

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

After a two-week respite, more than 10,000 Long Beach students will return to school next Thursday to start the summer term.

Opening will be 11 grade schools, five junior high schools and, for the first time in the summer, all five major Long Beach high schools.

Also opening Thursday at eight elementary schools will be the first eight-week Project Head Start, a federally supported program designed to prepare preschoolers from low-income families to enter kindergarten and first-grade next fall.

Long Beach City College, which opened six- and eight-week sessions Monday, has reported a total enrollment of 5,583, including a 20% increase in students at the liberal arts campus compared with last summer.

* * * *

LATE registration for students entering the sessions at the junior and senior high schools will be conducted at the schools Monday and Tuesday between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The high schools are Jordan, Lakewood, Millikan, Poly and Wilson. The junior high schools are Bancroft, Jefferson, Lindbergh, Stanford and Washington.

The seven-week session at the junior and senior high schools will conclude Aug. 18. Two two-hour instruction periods will be held each day. The hours are 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 10:10 a.m. to 12:10 p.m.

Grade school registration was completed last month. Opening will be Addams, Burnett, Gant, Lincoln, Monroe, Stevenson, Twain, Bixby (reading improvement), Garfield and Longfellow (reading improvement).

* * * *

THE SIX-WEEK session at all elementary schools will end Aug. 11. Daily hours are 8:10 a.m. to 12:40 p.m.

Alvin Resnik, director of the school district's Project Head Start program, said that more than 500 preschoolers have enrolled. Classes will be conducted at the following elementary schools: Barton, Burnett, Edison, Field, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Whittier, Garfield and Tucker.

Daily hours in the program, which also includes health care and meals are 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:40 to 3:10 p.m. A pupil may attend either session but not both.

A ninth Project Head Start center, operated independently by the Long Beach Community Improvement League at 2222 Olive St., also will open Thursday.

TV's Merv Griffin Named Beauty Parade Marshal

Merv Griffin, star of television's "Merv Griffin Show" will be grand marshal of the International Beauty Parade Aug. 8, IBC Executive Producer Wayne Dallard announced.

The parade will include individual floats bearing contestants from nearly 50 states and 50 countries who will be vying for the world's two most coveted titles, "International Beauty Queen" and "American Beauty Queen," plus bands, marching units, and colorful folk dancing groups.

The parade, scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., will proceed along Ocean Boulevard from Alamitos to Magnolia Avenues. KTTV will telecast the three-hour parade in color for the first time.

* * * *

GRIFFIN, whose television show is seen on channel 11 Monday through Friday from 11 p.m. to midnight, will be the first grand marshal in the history of the parade.

"We are elated that Merv Griffin has accepted our invitation," said Robinson A. Reid, IBC president. "He will fly to Long Beach especially for the parade, then return to New York City in time for his Monday night show on which he will show a film feature of the parade."

* * * *

GRIFFIN has appeared not only on television, but in movies, musical comedy, and nightclubs. He has also recorded a number of hits, including "I've Got a Lovely Bunch of Coconuts," which became the nation's number one song hit, with more than a million records sold.

MERV GRIFFIN
Parade Marshal

Griffin has also starred on his own network radio show and on many TV series, including "Saturday Prom," "The Arthur Murray Party," The Jack Paar Show," "Keep Talking," "Talent Scouts," and lengthier assignments as host of both the nighttime and daytime versions of "Play Your Hunch," four weeks as host of the "Tonight" show and star of NBC's "Merv Griffin Show."

Tax Rate to Rise? Still a Mystery

By DON BRACKENBURY
I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

For both taxpayers and supervisors of Los Angeles County, Tuesday will be D-Day. The "D" meaning "do we or don't we" wind up with a tax-rate increase for 1965-66.

Even after supervisors adopt the 1965-66 budget—as they are expected to do Tuesday—no one will be certain whether property owners face a tax-rate hike or not.

The problem is that County Assessor Philip E. Watson does not submit his compilation of the county's assessed valuation until after July 1.

The tax rate, which this past year has been $2.3997 per $100 of assessed valuation, is affected both by the total amount of county spending financed from the property tax and by the assessed valuation.

* * * *

WHEN L. S. Hollinger, chief county administrative officer, recommended a budget of $862 million, he estimated the county's assessed valuation would rise 6% over last year.

If this happened, Hollinger said, his proposed budget —$91 million greater than the current year—would require only a 4.73-cent increase in the tax rate.

Supervisors vowed, however, there would be no increase at all.

At first, they hoped the State Legislature would approve a variety of measures submitted by Los Angeles County and permitting raising of fees and other actions increasing the county's revenue.

* * * *

WHEN THESE measures fell by the wayside as the Legislature adjourned, supervisors could depend only on their own budget cutting to hold down the tax rate.

At their meeting of June 17, supervisors began paring away. Their main target was the list of capital projects. About $9 million of such construction was eliminated, but because other items had to be added, the net decrease in that portion of the budget financed by the property tax was only $5.9 million.

If Hollinger's estimate of the assessed-valuation increase is right, the $5.9 million cut would just about wipe out the 4.73-cent increase he predicted in the tax rate.

Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli charged, however, that the 6% estimate is "unrealistic." Bonelli said he had information the gain in valuation would be closer to 3%. If so, Hollinger's recommended budget would cost an extra 13 cents per $100 on the tax rate, he said.

* * * *

IT WAS THIS uncertainty over the assessed valuation, and consequently the tax rate, that resulted in supervisors failing to act on the budget June 17.

"I will not support a budget that cannot guarantee me here today that there won't be one cent increased in the tax rate," Bonelli said at that time.

Supervisors directed that an appraisal be made of two blocks of county-owned land in the Los Angeles Civic Center, indicating that if they could be sold for $4 million or $5 million, this might eliminate any possibility of a tax-rate increase.

Less than half of the total budget is financed from the property tax. As recommended by Hollinger, for example, the property tax would have been the source of only $349 million of the proposed $862 million in expenditure.

* * * *

THIS IS BECAUSE many of the spending items of the county are almost entirely state-financed. The Department of Charities, for example, is recommended for a budget of $501 million, but $369 million of this would come from state and federal revenues. The county property tax would have to raise only $132 million.

The overall budget is misleading in one other way. Many items which involve county financing must be included among expenses, even if they represent no burden on the property tax.

As a prime example, supervisors were asked to include in the 1965-66 budget a $15 million item to cover the one-half of 1% motor vehicle tax for rapid transit—just in case they should decide to implement it.

* * * *

UNLESS IT were budgeted, it could not be spent. Although it might not even be ordered, the overall budget would be increased by $15 million as a result.

It is because of items like this that the 1965-66 budget, as it now stands, totals $869 million—more, in other words, than Hollinger originally recommended, despite the deletions made by supervisors June 17.

The important part of the budget—at least from the standpoint of property owners—is that financed by the tax levy, and this has been cut by $5.9 million to date.

193 in Area Assigned to Youth Corps

There have been 193 young people assigned to the Neighborhood Youth Corps in the Long Beach area during the first month of its operation.

Announcement was made Saturday by Dwight O. Welch coordinator.

Enrollment will continue, Welch said, for eligible young men and women from 16-22 who are not in school or who have graduated from high school and are unable to find work.

"This is not summer employment," Welch pointed out.

Inquiries can be made at the California State Employment Service, 1350 Locust Ave.

Drive down Pacific Coast Highway late in the afternoon and you'll see hordes of them on their way home from the beach thumbing rides—a dozen swimsuit-clad youths grouped at a traffic signal, a couple of mop-haired surfers with surfboards, a pair of pretty girls in bell-bottomed trousers.

They are the new breed of hitch-hiker facing Southern California motorists—the teen-agers who are on the roadside en masse in the Long Beach area, now that summer vacation is here.

Most of them have little difficulty getting rides.

But the few who thumb rides with their boards often face long roadside waits—and sometimes no rides at all.

"Sometimes you end up walking," Jim Entwistle, 17, admitted ruefully as he trudged barefoot, his board tucked under his arm, from Huntington Beach to his aunt's house in Westminster six miles away.

"But most of the time I get a ride," he claimed. "I might have to wait an hour or two, but I usually get a ride."

The same afternoon two young surfers sat dejectedly on the curbing at Seventh Street and Pacific Coast Highway in Long Beach. They weren't having any luck either.

"We've carried this thing clear from Seal Beach," said one of them, Randy Bick, 15, of Long Beach, motioning to the surfboard on the ground beside him.

"It's really pretty hard to get a ride with a board unless you find a guy who's really cool and has a station wagon or pickup truck," he explained.

"We wait a couple of hours sometimes," put in his companion, Gary Apfel, 15, of Lakewood. "Then if you don't get one, you just start walking."

EDITORIAL

The Special Tax Session

HAVING FAILED DURING the regular legislative session to reduce the budget to the level of anticipated revenues or to increase revenue to the level of the budget, California lawmakers are back at work in special session.

There seems to be small hope for passage, before the July 1 deadline, of a major tax reform program such as that presented by Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh during the regular session. Attention centers, therefore, on several stopgap plans—including a plan, offered by Unruh, to accelerate the collections of sales taxes for the months of April and May next year.

NORMALLY, SALES TAXES paid by consumers in April are not forwarded to the state until the end of July, well into the following fiscal year. Unruh proposes to collect the April and May sales taxes in May and June—in time to use them for the support of the budget now under discussion.

This plan, which would raise an estimated $100,000,000, obviously does nothing about providing for deficits which will occur in the next budget. It simply accepts the spending of $100,000,000 more, and that sum will have to be obtained from some source later on.

Perhaps the best argument in behalf of the collection plan is that it involves a period of delay during which state revenues may exceed estimates, thus making the acceleration of sales tax collections unnecessary. If revenues should exceed expectations, the Legislature could pass a measure cancelling the special tax collection.

THE OTHER PRINCIPAL stopgap proposal under consideration at this writing is a "single-shot" six-cents-per-pack cigarette tax. A cigarette tax of this amount would raise approximately $130,000,000—well over the amount needed to meet the budget deficit. Naturally, the smokers and the cigarette manufacturers don't like such a plan. But in view of the medical evidence with regard to the smoking habit, and in view of the fact that cigarettes can hardly be regarded as necessary, many persons will consider this a logical source of emergency revenue.

THE ALTERNATIVE TO a stopgap tax program, of course, is to reduce the budget in line with the anticipated revenues. However, when Gov. Brown last week suggested doing so, there was an immediate outcry from those whose projects would be affected. Such vital items as the raise in pay for California state college professors must remain in the budget, of course. But there are many millions of dollars worth of expenditures which in a pinch such as this could be eliminated without disastrous results. Economy, however, seems to be more painful than taxes.

WHATEVER THE Legislature does in the special session, the necessity will remain for a far-reaching study of the state's tax structure, followed by a major reform program that will enable California to meet its fiscal obligations with a minimum of hardship to its citizens. Such a program should eliminate the need for future "stopgap" tax sessions such as this.

Area Legislators Compile Laudable Record in Session

I. P-T State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Long Beach with considerable justification braces itself every legislative session. Its oil-impregnated shoreline has become a favorite target of Sacramento fund raids.

McCAULEY

However, the regular session of 1965 was marked by successful Long Beach efforts to head off any fund raids from Sacramento or power raids from downtown Los Angeles.

Legislators from the Long Beach area and city officials did a magnificent job in protecting the city's interests.

Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, the cousin-in-law of Governor Brown, put in his usual package of anti-Long Beach bills. One series of O'Sullivan bills would have triggered a $300 million state tax raid. Another O'Sullivan measure would have drastically revamped the 1964 compromise.

All O'Sullivan anti-Long Beach measures were beaten. And with Senate redistricting around the corner, tidelands foe O'Sullivan faces the fight of his life for political survival.

Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, also guided through the Legislature a key bill that will provide a way to settle the many boundary disputes in the Alamitos Bay area of Long Beach. Hundreds of property owners faced lengthy litigation or the possibility of losing their titles to the state. But the Kennick bill should clear the way for a settlement.

Also beaten was a bill that would have forced the eventual separation of Long Beach City College from Long Beach Unified School District. Passage of the bill probably would have meant higher school taxes.

Long Beach Vice Mayor James Hayes also was the No. 1 witness in a round of hearings on bills to consolidate Long Beach Municipal Court and other municipal judicial districts into a huge single district headquartered in downtown Los Angeles. Hayes ripped into the bill repeatedly, and it eventually was killed in the Assembly.

Assemblyman George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, though only in his third year in the Legislature, suddenly bolted to major party leadership when he was elected GOP Assembly Whip. It gave Deukmejian new influence in Sacramento, and resulted in statewide exposure for him and speculation that someday he will be urged to make a major statewide race.

Perhaps one of the biggest one-man victories was scored by Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, when he assured a 1965 opening of temporary facilities for Palos Verdes State College.

Previously, the Brown Administration had served notice it would not authorize any funds for a 1965 opening. And Governor Brown personally was ignoring Thomas letters on the subject.

Thomas promptly staged a one-man rebellion. First, he said he would not vote for the Governor's budget due to the administration stand on the college. Then he charged that State Finance Director Hale Champion rather than Governor Brown was running the state.

The administration caved in under the Thomas pressure. And belatedly, Champion reversed himself and pledged there would be enough money in the budget for PVSC to open this autumn.

Assemblyman James Whetmore, R-Garden Grove, saved Orange County taxpayers some money. He successfully pushed through a bill that called off a duplicate school election in a new district. A second election was scheduled for a newly-formed district, even though the new district hadn't officially taken life. The second election was to cost thousands of dollars.

Assemblyman William Dannemeyer, R-Fullerton, also is responsible for a new convenience for traffic offenders. Dannemeyer successfully got through a bill creating a night traffic court in Orange and Los Angeles Counties. He also authored an Orange County Transit District bill that cleared both houses of the Legislature.

These effective legislators are paid a salary of only $500 a month plus Sacramento living expenses and fringe benefits. They earned it!

Washington's Vulgar Social Life

DURING A LIFETIME that has not been notable for its Spartan simplicity I have paid a great many visits to Washington, D. C., and spent a great deal of time in Hollywood. Inevitably I wrote a piece some years ago in which I pointed out the similarities of the two places. They were one-industry towns, I said, and I even got around to the similarities of the respective press corps: Arthur Krock reminded me of Louella Parsons, Joseph Alsop of Hedda Hopper. If I were to bring the piece up to date I suppose I would argue that James Reston occupies a position similar to that of Sheilah Graham: Walter Lippmann has no opposite number in Hollywood, as he has remained aloof from the mouse-race in Washington; but surely David Brinkley has achieved the status of a Jimmy Fidler.

* * * *

THE TROUBLE WITH such analogies is that once you have made the point of the fundamental similarity between the one one-industry town and the other, it becomes a game in which you force resemblances of things and people where no real resemblance exists. Washington is not an institution that submits to continual light treatment any more than Hollywood should be taken as seriously as the producers would like it to be. And yet the vulgarity of the Washington social life would be startling and depressing if it were reported with the same seriousness as the capers of the Hollywood characters.

The excuse for the Washington social life has always been that the statesmen must be able to relax. But in a large measure the social life and the relaxation have become an end in themselves. In the 30 years that I have been visiting Washington I have seen an increase in the size and number of parties at which the statesmen were outnumbered by the out-of-towners. That, to be sure, is one way for a statesman to relax, especially if he is a readily identifiable ham. But there is a vast difference between the relaxing small dinner party and the big blasts that New York and Atlanta and Los Angeles and Detroit citizens flock to by the hundreds. Am I against such parties? Certainly I am. They vulgarize the purpose of the capital city with the same disrespect as the exhibitionists who chain themselves to the White House fence.

Somewhat less spectacular are the men and women who have private income, who secure a more or less tenuous connection with the federal government (or none at all), and settle in Georgetown because it's fun. Fun it is, and no doubt about that. It is more fun to put on your new Givenchy for the party at the French embassy than it would be to doll up for a dance with the same old crowd at a Long Island or Los Angeles country club. They are silly, useless people, but they are not altogether harmless. They have money, they often have acceptable social credentials, and they have some skill in the minor art of wriggling through the transition from one administration to the next. But they represent a concentration of gossip and rumor-mongering that deals with the individuals who are running the country and not just the country club, and as such they are a nuisance or worse.

Ideally, Washington as a one-industry town would conduct its business along the lines of a Gary, Indiana, or a Provo, Utah. The business of government is government, as Calvin Coolidge never said, and there is already so much of that that the sidelines should be carried on elsewhere. The culture-vultures who wish to have an Athens of America but are dissatisfied with Boston are referred to Athens, Ohio, which already has a fairly old university. The party-lovers are urged to try Newport, R. I., which now offers a jazz festival, and New York, N. Y., which is not only a party town but is also almost as unsafe at night as the District of Columbia itself. During the Eisenhower administrations and since the coming of Lyndon B. Johnson culture and chic fared less well than they might have. During the Roosevelt administrations culture began to creep in with the arrival of all those intellectuals, and culture became chic under Kennedy. This may be the moment for a dispersal of the elements that only confuse the statesmen and distract them from their duties. But I am not too optimistic. The White House has "cultural advisors" who are not going to give up easily, and the notion that cultural activities might be transferred to Athens, Ohio, is of course fantastic. Cultural activists are gregarious and like to watch each other swoon.

* * * *

AS FOR THOSE BIG BASHES, it will take more than the Martin Market to put a stop to them. Just as long as a $100 ticket to a ball is tax deductible, our senators will be offered that kind of relaxation, although George Murphy is probably the only one who could do the frug.

Bell Takes Moderate Line in District of Diversities

I, P-T Political Editor

ALPHONZO BELL, three-term Congressman from the 28th District (West Los Angeles, Santa Monica, Rolling Hills), has already told us he might be a Republican compromise candidate for Governor in 1966 if other GOP entrants make it a kamikaze June Primary.

HOUSER

Bell's current case history is interesting because he seems to be a rounder and rounder peg in his square district, or vice versa, (no disparagement of the term intended).

His is a Republican district. Before Bell's election in 1960, it was the home territory of the unabashedly right wing Rep. Donald Jackson. It was one of only six California districts (out of 38) which gave a margin to Barry Goldwater in 1964.

BUT BELL is a moderate and doesn't pretend to be anything else. He was a founding member of the so-called "Wednesday Club" of Republican moderates in Congress. Despite these facts, the 50-year-old Bell's election victory margins increase—55.4% in 1960, 63.9% in 1962 and 65.5% in 1964. And results from his surveys of voter sentiment in the district show a more liberal response than polls reported by Long Beach Congressman Craig Hosmer in a district of majority Democratic registration which gave the edge to Lyndon Johnson last year.

The liberal cast to Bell's surveys and his own increasing majorities must make him bold to write such lines as occurred in one of his regular communications last week defending the proper use of civil disobedience. But such lines must make his district's Goldwater majority uneasy.

Bell put it like this: "Civil disobedience as a method of action designed to advance civil rights is in danger of falling into disrepute. If it tumbles, it could harm a just cause with many serious long-range ramifications.

"Used historically to protest inequitable laws and practices, and bound with the origins of American freedom, civil disobedience has a noble and proud past in the world. For Ghandi it was an instrument to carve modern India. In American experience, Henry David Thoreau in 1845 chose nonpayment of poll taxes and imprisonment to express abhorrence of slavery. Militant suffragettes, arrested in 1917 for picketing the White House, remained in prison to strengthen their appeal for enfranchisement."

BELL SAID U. S. civil rights advocates have for the past five years used their constitutional rights to win "well deserved concessions for their cause" and that many breach of peace and trespass ordinances enacted in southern states merely to enforce segregation "has seemed to justify nonviolent resistance."

But Bell notes also that willful obstructionism by the overly militant and immature have discredited a good cause. He included "atrocious campus behavior" in his censure. Then he concludes:

"The line between passive resistance and violent eruption is thinner than one might imagine. If civil disobedience is to be applied effectively against truly unjust regulations, keen judgment and greater effort to impose discipline among mature civil rights leaders is an absolute requirement.

"Ahead of us in this summer of 1965 are ominous suggestions that from the civil rights movement will come either bloodshed or suppression—neither of which our society can afford."

PERHAPS Congressman Bell's way of going is better programmed than may seem apparent in his speaking moderation and liberalism in a district of conservative coloration. Clues: Two of the three Assembly Districts in his congressional district favored Johnson in 1964; it was the Rolling Hills area 46th A.D. which put Barry over the top. And, the congressional district's victory margins for Bell and a 1962 ticket mate were almost identical. The ticket mate? Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel.

In your editorial, "Conflicting Reports Show Why Berkeley Probe Needed," 22 June 1965, you exceeded the limits of truth, sensibility and decency. It is beyond the ken of reasonable men to understand how the I, P-T can call the members of the State Senate Fact Finding Subcommittee on un-American Activities, responsible. Any group of men that persists in perpetrating the name-calling atrocities of these committees, that exist only to expose for exposure's sake, evade the real issue.

The real issue should be the search for means of educational reform to make higher education a visible experience for young intellectuals. How long will it be before the black cloud of name-calling ceases to shield from us the true light of intellectual integrity?

Middle-Age Series Lacks Big Element

EDITOR:

Your condensation series from "Generation in the Middle" by Thelma Purtell certainly generates food for thought. The second article of the series seems more dedicated to destroying the family ties that have had such large part in making our nation great.

First, her series of questions that all parents must answer, have one thing in common: no mention of love. But each and every question must be answered with love and with a strong devotion to family life and all it means.

Her second point: "the thought that the man and woman might keep and confine love to only one another for life is pretty much the invention of Americans" She seems to have missed the Chinese and their veneration and respect and love for the elder members; the Jewish people and their wonderful religion which draws the family close together and the Mexican people with their love of family.

If Miss Purtell, as she says, thinks that biology is the reason that men and women marry, she must have been wonderfully sheltered from love all her life. If the rate of divorces has increased, it may be because it is smart and modern to teach that love is a fad and whether it will live on or be swept away unnoticed and unsung in the longer history of man, no one can even guess.

If it is swept away, it will be the most important stepping-stone to communism or socialism that the world has ever witnessed.

Much From Many, Little for Few

EDITOR:

It would be well for every citizen to meditate on the remarks recently made by Congressman Otto Passman, a member of the party now in control in Washington.

"Your government is a spender — not an earner. Anything the government gives the people, it must first take from them. Never, in the history of America has it been preposed to take away so much from so many to do so little for so few. We should keep in mind that a government big enough to give you everything is a government big enough to take everything you have, including your freedoms."

The Special Tax Session

HAVING FAILED DURING the regular legislative session to reduce the budget to the level of anticipated revenues or to increase revenue to the level of the budget, California lawmakers are back at work in special session.

There seems to be small hope for passage, before the July 1 deadline, of a major tax reform program such as that presented by Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh during the regular session. Attention centers, therefore, on several stopgap plans—including a plan, offered by Unruh, to accelerate the collections of sales taxes for the months of April and May next year.

NORMALLY, SALES TAXES paid by consumers in April are not forwarded to the state until the end of July, well into the following fiscal year. Unruh proposes to collect the April and May sales taxes in May and June—in time to use them for the support of the budget now under discussion.

This plan, which would raise an estimated $100,000,000, obviously does nothing about providing for deficits which will occur in the next budget. It simply accepts the spending of $100,000,000 more, and that sum will have to be obtained from some source later on.

Perhaps the best argument in behalf of the collection plan is that it involves a period of delay during which state revenues may exceed estimates, thus making the acceleration of sales tax collections unnecessary. If revenues should exceed expectations, the Legislature could pass a measure cancelling the special tax collection.

THE OTHER PRINCIPAL stopgap proposal under consideration at this writing is a "single-shot" six-cents-per-pack cigarette tax. A cigarette tax of this amount would raise approximately $130,000,000—well over the amount needed to meet the budget deficit. Naturally, the smokers and the cigarette manufacturers don't like such a plan. But in view of the medical evidence with regard to the smoking habit, and in view of the fact that cigarettes can hardly be regarded as necessary, many persons will consider this a logical source of emergency revenue.

THE ALTERNATIVE TO a stopgap tax program, of course, is to reduce the budget in line with the anticipated revenues. However, when Gov. Brown last week suggested doing so, there was an immediate outcry from those whose projects would be affected. Such vital items as the raise in pay for California state college professors must remain in the budget, of course. But there are many millions of dollars worth of expenditures which in a pinch such as this could be eliminated without disastrous results. Economy, however, seems to be more painful than taxes.

WHATEVER THE Legislature does in the special session, the necessity will remain for a far-reaching study of the state's tax structure, followed by a major reform program that will enable California to meet its fiscal obligations with a minimum of hardship to its citizens. Such a program should eliminate the need for future "stopgap" tax sessions such as this.

Area Legislators Compile Laudable Record in Session

L. P-T State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Long Beach with considerable justification braces itself every legislative session. Its oil-impregnated shoreline has become a favorite target of Sacramento fund raids.

McCAULEY

However, the regular session of 1965 was marked by successful Long Beach efforts to head off any fund raids from Sacramento or power raids from downtown Los Angeles.

Legislators from the Long Beach area and city officials did a magnificent job in protecting the city's interests.

Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, the cousin-in-law of Governor Brown, put in his usual package of anti-Long Beach bills. One series of O'Sullivan bills would have triggered a $300 million state tax raid. Another O'Sullivan measure would have drastically revamped the 1964 compromise.

All O'Sullivan anti-Long Beach measures were beaten. And with Senate redistricting around the corner, tidelands foe O'Sullivan faces the fight of his life for political survival.

Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach, also guided through the Legislature a key bill that will provide a way to settle the many boundary disputes in the Alamitos Bay area of Long Beach. Hundreds of property owners faced lengthy litigation or the possibility of losing their titles to the state. But the Kennick bill should clear the way for a settlement.

Also beaten was a bill that would have forced the eventual separation of Long Beach City College from Long Beach Unified School District. Passage of the bill probably would have meant higher school taxes.

Long Beach Vice Mayor James Hayes also was the No. 1 witness in a round of hearings on bills to consolidate Long Beach Municipal Court and other municipal judicial districts into a huge single district headquartered in downtown Los Angeles. During the Roosevelt administrations culture began to creep in with the arrival of all those intellectuals, and culture became chic under Kennedy. This may be the moment for a dispersal of the elements that only confuse the statesmen and distract them from their duties. But I am not too optimistic. The White House has "cultural advisors" who are not going to give up easily, and the notion that cultural activities might be transferred to Athens, Ohio, is of course fantastic. Cultural activists are gregarious and like to watch each other swoon.

AS FOR THOSE BIG BASHES, it will take more than the Martin Market to put a stop to them. Just as long as a $100 ticket to a ball is tax deductible, our senators will be offered that kind of relaxation, although George Murphy is probably the only one who could do the frug.

Congressman Wants In on Irvine Action

WASHINGTON—It looks as if there was a conflict of interest motive behind the backstage skirmishing of Rep. H. Allen Smith, right wing Republican from Los Angeles, to kill the Patman investigation of foundations.

Wright Patman, forthright Congressman from Texarkana, Tex., has dug up some amazing facts on certain big foundations and how some use tax-free money to finance political campaigns and right wing propaganda.

PEARSON

And Smith, a high ranking member of the House Rules Committee, teamed up with chairman Howard Smith, the Virginia Dixiecrat, early in this Congress to try to stymie the probe. Later, H. Allen Smith made a speech on the House floor opposing the Patman Committee's right to subpoena foundation records.

"I do not think we should pester some of these good foundations and get all their records, more records and more records," said Rep. Smith of California.

Significantly, his speech was made just as the trustees of the Irvine Foundation, one of the biggest in California, was refusing to submit any more records to the Patman Committee.

The Irvine Foundation owns 93,000 acres of land in Southern California's fast-growing suburban Orange County, of which thirteen miles extends along the Pacific Coast. The Irvine Ranch, now chiefly in orange trees, constitutes one of the most important potentials for suburban real estate development in Southern California. Various real estate men have wanted to get part of it.

Congressman Smith is one of them — apparently one reason why he went to bat for the Irvine Foundation in opposing the Patman probe of foundations.

* * * *

THIS COLUMN can now reveal that the Congressman wrote the following significant letter to Mrs. Thurmond Clarke, mother of Joan Irvine Smith, biggest single stockholder in the Irvine Ranch:

"Since our telephone call when I was in the district around Labor Day, I haven't heard from you, your daughter, or her attorneys. I simply wanted you to know that I will be more than pleased to take this up with the chief counsel of the Foundation Subcommittee of the House Small Business Committee (Patman's Committee) and do anything I can to assist if you will let me have basic information as to what you have in mind."

Then Smith switched to the subject closest to his heart—getting in on the real estate development of the Irvine Ranch.

"On another subject," he continued, "for the past year or two I have been trying to get started at Irvine, maybe building an office building, apartments, or other facilities. A very excellent builder friend of mine, named Frank Howard, and another close friend, Lou Lewis, have moved to Irvine Terrace and are anxious to move their building facilities into the area and try to get started and grow along with the development of the Irvine Ranch. We have had a number of conversations with Charlie Thomas and Mr. Porter and others who have certainly been most cooperative. I simply wanted to mention this because I know that we could build in accordance with the regulations in a very outstanding manner, and if some opportunity opens up, we would certainly be interested. Of course we're not in the million-dollar category of large development but could do a very good job on what we're able to do."

What the Congressman from Glendale, Calif., apparently didn't realize was that Mrs. Clarke and her daughter Joan are delighted to have the Irvine Foundation investigated, have nothing to hide, and Joan Smith has cooperated fully with the Patman Committee. It's the majority of the trustees of this strange and powerful foundation who have been opposing the Patman probe. More about them in a future column.

Satellite Countries Beef Up Stock of Russian Warplanes

I, P-T National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Congressmen who received a briefing on European military developments after the Paris Air Show last week returned to Washington with worried frowns.

The reason: intelligence reports of a significant buildup in the newest tactical airplanes among Soviet Bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

Russia is producing such craft in unexpectedly large numbers, the sources reported. The most puzzling aspect concerned assignment of the new planes. They are being given in fairly generous quantities to the Soviet satellite countries—Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, etc.

An easy inference that can be drawn is that the Soviet Bloc plans some major military moves in Europe. The conditions are favorable. NATO countries are having problems with their European defense forces, and Uncle Sam, the bulwark of NATO defense, is preoccupied in Santo Domingo and Saigon.

"We may not be paying enough attention to Europe," said one source.

The new military procurement bill raises the specter of an airplane lag. The Air Force's active inventory at the present stands at about 14,400 aircraft. This will drop to 13,700 next summer. Two B-52 squadrons will be deactivated and B-47 medium bombers, designed with European tactical requirements in mind will be phased out of active service. But the Air Force will increase tactical squadrons from 117 to 119.

THE SENATE Foreign Relations Committee, which is planning to hold an inquiry into the United States role in the Dominican Republic crisis, has already made up a list of witnesses to testify.

Among them is Special Assistant to the President McGeorge Bundy who has played an active part in trying to untangle the Dominican mess and flew down there several weeks ago to inspect the situation.

When his name was submitted to Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Mann for approval, Mann turned it down flat on the grounds that presidential assistants are immune to congressional inquiry.

Foreign Relations committee staff members agreed, but added that it would certainly make Bundy and Mann look foolish when the committee made it known that Bundy had defended U.S. policy in Viet Nam on nationwide television but was not allowed to discuss the Dominican situation before 19 members of the Senate.

Mann reportedly has changed his mind.

WHILE THE Republican Party is developing more splinters than the bleachers in a Class D ball park, a leader of the party's liberal wing has issued a warning that the GOP must unite into a "forward looking" unit or face extinction.

In a recent speech before a New York Republican group, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California voiced alarm that the two-party system is in peril because the GOP threatens to "shrivel away into chronic political impotence."

"We need to make it, once again, a courageous national party representing the needs of the many, and not of the few," said Kuchel of the party. "We need to welcome men and women of all races and faiths, rich and poor, skilled and unskilled, from business and industry, from the farms and the cities, those who are retired and those who are young."

But Kuchel strongly qualified how far-reaching the party's embrace should reach:

"There is not room in the Republican Party for people who slander the Eisenhowers or the Chief Justice (Earl Warren). Our party opposes the ridiculous demands of the ultra-conservative that we repeal the income tax and that we leave civil rights to each state.

"The Republican Party objects to both the radical left and the radical right. Extremism of any kind can find no living room in Lincoln's house."

More Women Should Enter Politics, Says GOP Leader

THE NEW assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, Mrs. Mary Brooks, hopes to see many more women run for office.

KELLY

"If we are to preserve the two-party system, women candidates are badly needed in city, county and state elections. One of the most valuable services a woman can give to her country is to run for the state legislature," Mrs. Brooks said.

She won a seat in Idaho's State Senate in 1964. The district was predominantly Democratic. No one believed she could win. She is proud that she won with only 50 votes less than President Johnson received. She did not make a speech during her entire campaign, although she is an excellent speaker. Twelve hours a day for three months she visited voters.

She made friends with most of the voters in her district. In the process she wore out a pair of shoes. Her children teased her and said "you're trying to steal Adlai's method."

Mrs. Brooks said "door bell ringing wins elections. It works equally well in large cities. It is an inexpensive way to campaign.

"If you want to win party acclaim, visit people. If they like you they will vote for you."

Mrs. Brooks is one of the most experienced women in politics. Her father was the late Sen. John Thomas of Idaho. She is the widow of Sen. Wayland "Curley" Brooks, R-Ill.

In 1957 she became a Republican national committeewoman. In 1960 she was appointed Republican National Committee assistant chairman and served as official hostess for the Republican National Convention in Chicago.

"It is tragic that women sit alone in their houses or apartments when politics offers unlimited vistas to a better world. Politics should be a part of life for the young woman, the married woman, the older woman—widowed or single. There is no age limit to political success," Mary said.

She praised GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss, who is understanding and appreciative of what women can do in politics.

Mrs. Brooks plans to attend regional meetings this autumn. If invited, she will visit states, counties and towns where Republican congressmen were defeated. She is particularly interested in California and other western states; in the South (where Republicans are gaining) and in Iowa.

She said she takes the word of Senator Goldwater that his Free Society Associations is not divisive."

There is room in the Republican Party for a wide range of opinions. We welcome all responsible people to our party," she said.

Mrs. Brooks said the Republican Party is the home of citizens who think there is too much concentration of power in the Executive Branch of the federal government.

L.B. PROPERTY OWNERS' LOSSES MOUNT

Hot Water System Failures Probed

By GEORGE WEEKS

Breakdowns of domestic hot-water systems in Long Beach have reached the proportions of a significant burden to property owners.

The cause in many cases is corrosion within domestic heaters and also in the lines leading to home showers, bathtubs and kitchen sinks using hot water.

One cause of the corrosion appears to be the mingling of Metropolitan Water District water with the supply from city wells.

* * * *

CITY OFFICIALS have agreed on these points, at least tentatively. But they have not yet put together the answers for preventing more breakdowns of heaters and pipes installed only a few years ago.

Brennan S. Thomas, general manager of the Water Department, says something like 80% of the trouble seems to occur in larger apartment buildings with pump-forced hot-water systems.

As one remedy, Water Department employes are checking on the effectiveness of small chemical feeders — essentially cylinders 16 inches long and about one inch in diameter — installed by some property owners on hot-water lines. The feeders are intended to reduce the corrosion hazard by keeping the water stable.

* * * *

THE DEPARTMENT also is following up on suggestions in a report by a firm of consultants, Montgomery Research of Pasadena, engaged last December to study corrosion problems.

At the same time City Manager John R. Mansell has directed Edward M. O'Connor, superintendent of buildings, to look into possible changes in the plumbing code. Findings will be reviewed by representatives of industries producing and installing plumbing equipment and by the city's board of examiners and appeals. The latter has jurisdiction over types of allowable materials and equipment.

Also assisting are engineers from the American Iron and Steel Institute, who have studied the problem here at Mansell's request.

Mansell said a combination of answers may be discovered, such as changes in materials allowed, use of chemical feeders in apartment houses and even additional city facilities for blending and treating water.

* * * *

WHATEVER THE eventual answers, the complaints to city officials continue to pile up. Spokesmen for the Long Beach Apartment House Association have expressed their concern. And some owners of numerous single-family dwellings assert that the breakdowns are not confined to apartment buildings.

These complainers say that plumbing bills of $100 or more are not uncommon after the bottom has dropped out of a hot-water heater or long sections of connecting lines have been clogged.

One source of disagreement at this stage is whether the city should require the use of copper lines, rather than galvanized steel, in new systems and replacements.

* * * *

THE MONTGOMERY report makes this definite recommendation. City hall officials are inclined to question it. Mansell said he considers the case unproved at this point.

Other recommendations in the report include:

—A polyphosphate should be added to the water—a zinc-based material as opposed to sodium-based.

—Water treatment experiments, such as those undertaken during the past 10 years by the Water Department, should be continued. Any experimental changes in plant operation of chemical additions should be continued at least six months, unless definitely proved harmful, before being put into effect on a permanent basis.

—The Water Department should establish a public education and surveillance branch. Its main duties would be to inspect domestic systems, collect data and educate customers and plumbing contractors on the importance of keeping hot-water temperatures low, avoiding bimetallic couplings and using adequate pipe sizes in circulating systems.

THE REPORT attributes the corosion to a combination of causes. Among them are the presence of dissolved oxygen in the water, the wldespread use of dissimilar metals, excessive temperatures and the changing ratio of MWD water to city water.

Officials and property owners agree that most of the complaints have come from areas where the city water is mingled with the imported supply.

In commenting on the Water Department's new budget and the Montgomery report, Mansell noted that if remedies are developed that require capital improvements, funds could be obtained from the $2.3 million still unspent from a 1957 water bond issue.

Meanwhile, he said the department should go ahead with its own studies, in coordination with the work of the Building Department and the Board of Examiners and Appeals.

H. D. Jacobs New Red Cross Head

H. Dale Jacobs, new manager of the Long Beach Chapter, American Red Cross, will report for his new duties July 1 at the chapter, 319 W. Broadway. He will succeed Roland R. Bach, whose retirement will take effect that day, following 21 years as chapter manager.

H. DALE JACOBS
Red Cross Head

Jacobs comes to Long Beach Chapter from San Francisco, where he has served since 1961 as assistant regional manager of the Western area of nine states. Prior to that, he had been administrative director of the Red Cross blood program for Western area.

The new chapter manager has been active in Red Cross work since 1948. Earlier jobs in the Western area included personnel, as assistant then director of this service, director of fund raising, and assistant director of disaster service.

* * * *

HIS EXPERIENCE in disaster services includes direction of relief operations following spring floods in San Joaquin County in 1958, and earlier in Midwest floods. More recently, he was management representative from Anchorage, Alaska, following the earthquake in March of 1964.

Military welfare service at Fort Lewis, Washington, was his first Red Cross field work, in 1948. Later he was field representative for eastern Washington, Oregon and northern Idaho.

Jacobs and his wife, Mable, are both graduates of the University of Washington, his major personnel administration, hers music.

Capt. Lytle to Succeed Capt. Dornin at L.B. Base

By BUCK LANIER
Naval Affairs Reporter

Long Beach Naval Station gets a new commanding officer Wednesday at 10 a.m. when Capt. Robert E. Dornin retires after holding the post for the final year and 10 months of his 30-year Navy service.

Capt. Dornin will be succeeded by Capt. Morton H. Lytle, presently chief of staff for the U. S. Naval Base, Los Angeles. The new skipper will retain his staff post until about Aug. 1.

CAPT. R. E. DORNIN
Officer Retires

CAPT. M. H. LYTLE
New Commander

Long Beach was Capt. Dornin's first duty post after graduation from the Naval Academy in 1935. He was assigned to the battleship New Mexico. A former football star at the Academy, he returned in 1937 to coach.

For the next six years he served aboard submarines. During World War II he was executive officer of one and commander of another. Following assignments in the Submarine Service, commanding officer of the Recruit Training Command in San Diego and with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Capt. Dornin became skipper of the heavy cruiser USS Los Angeles, also home ported in Long Beach.

* * * *

CAPT. DORNIN reported as station commander from Washington duty as deputy chairman of the Deep Submergence Systems Review Group, having been ordered there from the JCS assignment following the Thresher disaster.

He plans to work as a consultant with Analyst, Inc. Offices will be in Torrance and Oakland.

Capt. Lytle has been base chief of staff for the past 10 months. Prior to reporting here he was in charge of the Bureau of Naval Weapons Military Assistance Program for three years.

An Academy graduate, he served in submarines during World War II, has been on the 11th Naval District staff and on the Naval War College Staff. Capt. Lytle has nine wartime submarine patrols to his credit.

A reception in Allen Center Officers' Club will follow the ceremony.

The Week's Recreation Schedule

Monday is the first day of the summer playgrounds program.

Free swimming lessons for all ages will be given at the Colorado Lagoon, Bay Shore and 59th Place. Children's classes are as follows: beginners, 10 a.m., and 1 p.m.; intermediates, 10:30 and 1:30 p.m.; swimmers and life saving, 2 p.m.; advanced, 2:30 p.m.; competitive swimming, Lagoon; basic survival, Bay Shore at 3 p.m.; basic canoeing, 3:30 p.m., the Lagoon.

Tiny tots swimming is 11 a.m., at the Lagoon, and 11:30 a.m., at the Bay.

Adults beginners are scheduled at 11 a.m., at Bay Shore; adult life saving is 11 a.m., at the Lagoon and 11:30 a.m. at Bay Shore. The women's beginning and intermediate classes, 2 p.m. at 59th Place.

A COMMUNITY program will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday at Bixby Park.

Memorial Hospital's Largest House Staff

Thursday, Memorial Hospital of Long Beach will welcome the largest house staff in the hospital's history—30 residents and interns from all over the United States and Canada — and one from Europe.

There will be 14 residents and 16 rotating interns — interns who rotate through the various hospital services.

Memorial Hospital is one of the very few community hospitals in California to fill all its vacancies for house officers consistently, year after year.

* * * *

THIS IS particularly significant in view of the fact that most community hospitals do not get enough applicants.

The 1965-66 house staff will include:

Residents: John F. Sullivan, M.D., University of Wisconsin, fourth-year pathology; Phyllis C. Walker, M.D., University of SC, fourth year pathology; Donald E. Bauermeister, M.D., USC, third-year pathology; William G. Cass, M.D., University of Colorado, third-year Ob-Gyn; Norman H. Peckham, M.D. Loma Linda University, third-year pathology; Hans Herbert Dibbern, M.D., University of Zurich, Switzerland, second-year pathology; Robert Denes, M.D., State University of New York, Syracuse, second-year medical; Arnold P. Hageman, M.D., University Minnesota, second-year radiology; Norman J. Diamond, M.D., University of Minnesota, first-year internal medicine; Carl A. Hanssen, M.D., George Washington University; first-year medical; James A. MacRill, M.D., California College of medicine, first-year Ob-Gyn; James S. Noble, M.D., University of Oregon, first-year general practice; Mitchell I. Streger, M.D., State University of New York, Brooklyn, first-year Medical; William T. Trathen, M.D., University of Toronto, first-year general practice.

Interns: Gerald T. Alexander, M.D., University of California at Los Angeles; Sherman M. Axel, M.D., University of Colorado; Benjamin S. Bell, M.D., University of Kentucky; Don M. Bradley, M.D., University of Michigan; George M. Chun, M.D., Tulane University; Robert C. Crawford, Jr., M.D., Duke University; Paul A. Dumas, M.D., Laval Uiversity; Walter F. Soll, M.D., University of Minnesota; George H. Tarryk, Jr., M.D., Tufts University.

Festival of Garden Lights Thursday

Biennial Festival of Garden Lights and Fountains at Descanso Gardens, La Canada, will start at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The free lighting and garden attraction will be on display nightly through Aug. 15.

L.B. Safety Council Seats New Officers

Robert M. Griffiths has been installed president of the Long Beach chapter of the National Safety Council for a second term.

Other officers installed by Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher Jr. of the First Baptist Church, Glendale, were Maurice M. Kent, first vice president; Don J. Pearson, second vice president; Martin Quamma, (re-elected) secretary and Earl H. Cline, treasurer.

New directors: Captain Jamie Adair, E. A. Ballman, William Farell, Arthur Garrett, William George, R. M. Gray, H. G. Hanawalt, Judge Merrill Lilley, Reverend Don E. Lindblom, J. C. Lynch, Harold Nolan, Claude Ripley, Gordon Sandberg, Mrs. Doris Spilman, F. M. Scott, James Willingham.

Hold over directors: Floyd Ayers, Don Bazemore, F. Marion Clark, Lionel Dyck, Jr., Howard Link, Lloyd Linn, Dr. I. D. Litwack, Ed Lorenzen, G. V. Martin, Dolores Ward, and Sam Witt.

President Griffiths presented officer William J. Meyer of the Police Department, Public Relations, with a public service award for outstanding community service in safety.

L.B. PROPERTY OWNERS' LOSSES MOUNT

Hot Water System Failures Probed

By GEORGE WEEKS

Breakdowns of domestic hot-water systems in Long Beach have reached the proportions of a significant burden to property owners.

The cause in many cases is corrosion within domestic heaters and also in the lines leading to home showers, bathtubs and kitchen sinks using hot water.

One cause of the corrosion appears to be the mingling of Metropolitan Water District water with the supply from city wells.

* * * *

CITY OFFICIALS have agreed on these points, at least tentatively. But they have not yet put together the answers for preventing more breakdowns of heaters and pipes installed only a few years ago.

Brennan S. Thomas, general manager of the Water Department, says something like 80% of the trouble seems to occur in larger apartment buildings with pump-forced hot-water systems.

As one remedy, Water Department employes are checking on the effectiveness of small chemical feeders — essentially cylinders 16 inches long and about one inch in diameter — installed by some property owners on hot-water lines. The feeders are intended to reduce the corrosion hazard by keeping the water stable.

* * * *

THE DEPARTMENT also is following up on suggestions in a report by a firm of consultants, Montgomery Research of Pasadena, engaged last December to study corrosion problems.

At the same time City Manager John R. Mansell has directed Edward M. O'Connor, superintendent of buildings, to look into possible changes in the plumbing code. Findings will be reviewed by representatives of industries producing and installing plumbing equipment and by the city's board of examiners and appeals. The latter has jurisdiction over types of allowable materials and equipment.

Also assisting are engineers from the American Iron and Steel Institute, who have studied the problem here at Mansell's request.

Mansell said a combination of answers may be discovered, such as changes in materials allowed, use of chemical feeders in apartment houses and even additional city facilities for blending and treating water.

* * * *

WHATEVER THE eventual answers, the complaints to city officials continue to pile up. Spokesmen for the Long Beach Apartment House Association have expressed their concern. And some owners of numerous single-family dwellings assert that the breakdowns are not confined to apartment buildings.

These complainers say that plumbing bills of $100 or more are not uncommon after the bottom has dropped out of a hot-water heater or long sections of connecting lines have been clogged.

One source of disagreement at this stage is whether the city should require the use of copper lines, rather than galvanized steel, in new systems and replacements.

* * * *

THE MONTGOMERY report makes this definite recommendation. City hall officials are inclined to question it. Mansell said he considers the case unproved at this point.

Other recommendations in the report include:

—A polyphosphate should be added to the water—a zinc-based material as opposed to sodium-based.

—Water treatment experiments, such as those undertaken during the past 10 years by the Water Department, should be continued. Any experimental changes in plant operation of chemical additions should be continued at least six months, unless definitely proved harmful, before being put into effect on a permanent basis.

—The Water Department should establish a public education and surveillance branch. Its main duties would be to inspect domestic systems, collect data and educate customers and plumbing contractors on the importance of keeping hot-water temperatures low, avoiding bimetallic couplings and using adequate pipe sizes in circulating systems.

THE REPORT attributes the corosion to a combination of causes. Among them are the presence of dissolved oxygen in the water, the widespread use of dissimilar metals, excessive temperatures and the changing ratio of MWD water to city water.

Officials and property owners agree that most of the complaints have come from areas where the city water is mingled with the imported supply.

In commenting on the Water Department's new budget and the Montgomery report, Mansell noted that if remedies are developed that require capital improvements, funds could be obtained from the $2.3 million still unspent from a 1957 water bond issue.

Meanwhile, he said the department should go ahead with its own studies, in coordination with the work of the Building Department and the Board of Examiners and Appeals.

LAUNCHTIME AT COLORADO LAGOON

Ahoy!..Aweigh! All Model Boats

The 36th summer of model boat-building will begin Monday at 9:30 a.m. at Colorado Lagoon, Rod Ogilby, instructor with the Long Beach Recreation Department has announced.

Children past 8 years may buy the materials at the boat shop at Nieto Avenue and Colorado Street. Prices range from 60 cents to $1.50. They will assemble their boats with the help of the instructor.

Races of finished models will be held each Friday afternoon. Winners are awarded ribbons. Children who have passed their swimming tests will, with parental consent, be given sailboat rides.

Exams Set for Pool Technicians

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Examinations to certify swimming pool service technicians will be given July 14 by the County Health Department at Los Angeles High School, 4600 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, explained that such certification is required before a person can offer commercial service to private or public swimming pools in the area served by the County Health Department.

* * * *

LONG BEACH does not require such certification, Dr. Sutherland said.

He pointed out, however, that service technicians in Long Beach probably would want to get certification so they could take jobs in areas outside of the city.

The examination tests knowledge of use of chemicals for bacteria and algae control plus operation and maintenance of filters, pumps and pool equipment.

Applications for certification may be obtained by writing to the Los Angeles County Health Department, Swimming Pool Section, 220 N. Broadway, Los Angeles, 90012.

Deadline for submitting applications is July 2. Only those persons who receive letters from the department stating that their application has been approved will be permitted to take the exam, Dr. Sutherland said.

Toys Needed for 'Project Head Start'

Toys and play equipment are being sought by Project Head Start, an eight-week summer preschool program sponsored by the Long Beach Community Improvement League.

The league's education center at 2222 Olive Ave. will house the program designed to help children who will enter kindergarten in September.

* * * *

STAFFED by volunteers, Project Head Start will begin Thursday.

League President Ernest Priestly said the eight-week session is part of the league's program to help member of the Negro community help themselves.

"In developing a program that will be meaningful and valuable to the child," Priestly said, "many areas of need must be considered. Toys and play equipment are important."

He said anyone with a surplus toy or play equipment—even if it is in need of repair—can donate it at the center or by telephoning 426-3329.

Radio Group to Hear Editor

Edward P. Tilton, WHF Editor of QST magazine, will be the guest speaker of the Long Beach Microwave Society Wednesday night at 7:30.

Tilton's topics will be moon bounce and space communications. Color slides and tape recordings will be presented with his discussions.

Artesia Freeway Is Ruchti Topic

"The Effect of the Artesia Freeway on North Long Beach" is the title of a speech to be given by Long Beach City Planning Director Werner Ruchti when the Artesia Street-Long Beach Boulevard Civic Improvement Association meets at noon Tuesday.

The luncheon meeting at Long Beach Blvd., Compton, is open to the public.

SISTER CITY GIFT

Celebrating city-to-city friendship, Long Beach will place on display Tuesday in its shoreline Arena a handsome Shinto shrine, the gift of Yokkaichi, Japan.

Mayor Sukenori Hirata of Yokkaichi presented the shrine to Long Beach in a further development of the sister city relationship between the two cities. It is a replica of Yokkaichi's own "village" shrine.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade will accept the token at a public ceremony set for 3 p.m. Tuesday. Attending will be members of the Sister City Committee and the Japanese-American Citizens League, along with Navy officers and Takumi Itoh, an emissary of Mayor Hirata.

* * * *

THE NAVY got special invitations because the 1,125-pound religious object was brought here from Japan on the USS Yorktown. City employes will place it in a permanent display case in the Arena lobby.

The highly-decorated shrine consists of carved wood with brass ornaments, flanked by a pair of miniature lions and a large drum. It measures 14 by 12 by 11 ½ feet.

Summer Recreation Activities Announced

A comprehensive summer recreation program for persons of all ages is under way in Long Beach, the Recreation Department announced.

Swimming instruction will open Monday at six pools and three places on the beach. Model-boat building begins at Colorado Lagoon on Monday. Craft instruction for children will be held at 72 parks and playgrounds. There is craft instruction for adults at Bixby Park.

Musical and other programs are scheduled for the Municipal Auditorium and Bixby Park. There will be dancing—square, round and folk—for adults.

Junior and senior high school students will stage "Alice in Wonderland." Many other dramatic events are planned.

The Tacklebusters Club for children under 16 plans a series of deep-sea excursions. There will be camps for boys and girls.

Sports events of many kinds will be held.

LAUNCHTIME AT COLORADO LAGOON

Ahoy!..Aweigh! All Model Boats

The 36th summer of model boat-building will begin Monday at 9:30 a.m. at Colorado Lagoon, Rod Ogilby, instructor with the Long Beach Recreation Department has announced.

Children past 8 years may buy the materials at the boat shop at Nieto Avenue and Colorado Street. Prices range from 60 cents to $1.50. They will assemble their boats with the help of the instructor.

Races of finished models will be held each Friday afternoon. Winners are awarded ribbons. Children who have passed their swimming tests will, with parental consent, be given sailboat rides.

Exams Set for Pool Technicians

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Examinations to certify swimming pool service technicians will be given July 14 by the County Health Department at Los Angeles High School, 4600 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, explained that such certification is required before a person can offer commercial service to private or public swimming pools in the area served by the County Health Department.

* * * *

LONG BEACH does not require such certification, Dr. Sutherland said.

He pointed out, however, that service technicians in Long Beach probably would want to get certification so they could take jobs in areas outside of the city.

The examination tests knowledge of use of chemicals for bacteria and algae control plus operation and maintenance of filters, pumps and pool equipment.

Applications for certification may be obtained by writing to the Los Angeles County Health Department, Swimming Pool Section, 220 N. Broadway, Los Angeles, 90012.

Deadline for submitting applications is July 2. Only those persons who receive letters from the department stating that their application has been approved will be permitted to take the exam, Dr. Sutherland said.

Toys Needed for 'Project Head Start'

Toys and play equipment are being sought by Project Head Start, an eight-week summer preschool program sponsored by the Long Beach Community Improvement League.

The league's education center at 2222 Olive Ave. will house the program designed to help children who will enter kindergarten in September.

* * * *

STAFFED by volunteers, Project Head Start will begin Thursday.

League President Ernest Priestly said the eight-week session is part of the league's program to help member of the Negro community help themselves.

"In developing a program that will be meaningful and valuable to the child," Priestly said, "many areas of need must be considered. Toys and play equipment are important."

He said anyone with a surplus toy or play equipment—even if it is in need of repair—can donate it at the center or by telephoning 426-3329.

Radio Group to Hear Editor

Edward P. Tilton, WHF Editor of QST magazine, will be the guest speaker of the Long Beach Microwave Society Wednesday night at 7:30.

Tilton's topics will be moon bounce and space communications. Color slides and tape recordings will be presented with his discussions.

Artesia Freeway Is Ruchti Topic

"The Effect of the Artesia Freeway on North Long Beach" is the title of a speech to be given by Long Beach City Planning Director Werner Ruchti when the Artesia Street-Long Beach Boulevard Civic Improvement Association meets at noon Tuesday.

The luncheon meeting at Long Beach Blvd., Compton, is open to the public.

Summer Recreation Activities Announced

A comprehensive summer recreation program for persons of all ages is under way in Long Beach, the Recreation Department announced.

Swimming instruction will open Monday at six pools and three places on the beach. Model-boat building begins at Colorado Lagoon on Monday. Craft instruction for children will be held at 72 parks and playgrounds. There is craft instruction for adults at Bixby Park.

Musical and other programs are scheduled for the Municipal Auditorium and Bixby Park. There will be dancing—square, round and folk—for adults.

Junior and senior high school students will stage "Alice in Wonderland." Many other dramatic events are planned.

The Tacklebusters Club for children under 16 plans a series of deep-sea excursions. There will be camps for boys and girls.

Sports events of many kinds will be held.

Tokyo Growth

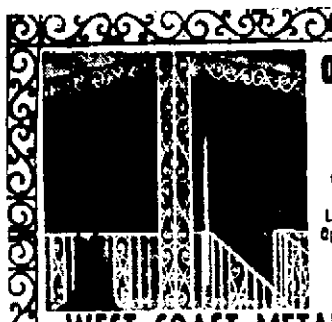

TOKYO (UPI)—The population of Tokyo as of May 1 was 10,788,052, an increase of 92,459 over the figure recorded April 1.

Committee Dinner

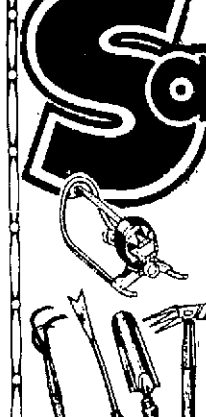

Wilmington Councilman John S. Gibson will sponsor the 10th annual dinner for members of advisory committees in his 15th District at Harbor College Tuesday.

Celebrating city-to-city friendship, Long Beach will place on display Tuesday in its shoreline Arena a handsome Shinto shrine, the gift of Yokkaichi, Japan.

Mayor Sukenori Hirata of Yokkaichi presented the shrine to Long Beach in a further development of the sister city relationship between the two cities. It is a replica of Yokkaichi's own "village" shrine.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade will accept the token at a public ceremony set for 3 p.m. Tuesday. Attending will be members of the Sister City Committee and the Japanese-American Citizens League, along with Navy officers and Takumi Itoh, an emissary of Mayor Hirata.

* * * *

THE NAVY got special invitations because the 1,125-pound religious object was brought here from Japan on the USS Yorktown. City employes will place it in a permanent display case in the Arena lobby.

The highly-decorated shrine consists of carved wood with brass ornaments, flanked by a pair of miniature lions and a large drum. It measures 14 by 12 by 11 ½ feet.

Friends Get Under His Skin

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP)—Last year John McKay and Lewis Seward, both 8 years old, were doing exercises together.

"I was going up when he was going down," Lewis said. John broke his tooth in the collision. Lewis got a cut head.

This year, Lewis bumped his head on the same spot. The injury swelled and doctors x-rayed. They found John's broken tooth embedded beneath the scalp.

Man's Best Helper

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (AP) — Walter Hoe Jr. and his dog, Buster, worked out a solution to the telephone lineman's problem.

Hoe wanted a telephone line run from one end of the house to the other but he wanted it kept out of sight.

Since Hoe had no basement, the lineman decided to extend the line through the narrow crawl space under the house. The lineman, however, was too big to get into the space.

Hoe then tied one end of the wire to Buster's collar. He went around to the other end of the crawlway and whistled for the dog, who came running — pulling the line behind him.

Hot Oil Set to End, but Club Stays

By Harry Wilson Sharpe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government will stop policing interstate shipments of crude oil next Wednesday, June 30. But it will keep a big club in the closet.

That is the day set by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall for suspension of enforcement of the Connally "hot oil" Act, which ended one of the wildest eras in petroleum industry history.

Congress passed the law 30 years ago when states such as Texas and Oklahoma were bursting at the seams with overproduction. They tried to control output with proration laws. The purpose was to regulate interstate shipments and head off a catastrophic drop in market prices.

But get-rich-quick operators had other ideas. They could turn a quick—and big—profit if they could beat the laws. Some of their devices were simple but ingenious.

* * * *

A SHORT PIPELINE laid from wellhead to highway at night could load tank trucks which highballed across state lines to stock a tank farm or to sell to small-time refiners. Or an underground line was even better. Trucks could load from it day or night, without arousing suspicion.

There were other tricks which put law-abiding producers and state control officials in a lynching mood.

Such was the state of affairs when the late Sen. Tom Connally of Texas stepped into the breach. He fathered the hot oil act, which armed the federal government with policing powers, backed up by drastic penalties.

The government has stood by as a watchdog ever since. Its worst trouble spots have been in some sections of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. But Udall is now convinced that state officials have these in firm control.

* * * *

UDALL IS BOSS of federal oil-gas policy, subject only to President Johnson. His new order is, in effect, a vote of confidence in the ability of all state agencies to stamp out any violations.

But he specified that if things get out of hand the government will move in swiftly. He emphatically repeated that interstate shipment of contraband oil—oil which violates state proration rules—is a criminal offense.

This was underscored by Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach in his recent annual report on the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, a 33-state organization dedicated to oil and gas conservation.

He pointed out that the Connally Act amounted to federal consent to state control over production and marketing and their impact on interstate commerce. Then he added that Udall's order "does not alter the basic operation of the act . . . nor does it preclude reestablishment of special enforcement," if necessary.

This put it up to the states to keep their skirts clean. It also marked a new milestone for the petroleum industry—less federal interference in its affairs.

Crash Program for Spanish Teachers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sixty Cuban refugees have enrolled at Mount St. Mary's College for an intensive 10-week program after which they will become Spanish teachers in Los Angeles area junior high schools.

All of the Cubans were teachers in their native country and all have the equivalent of an AB degree.

The program is being paid for by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the Refugee and Migration Act of 1962.

Mule's Many Admirers Put Up Monument

MULESHOE, Tex. (AP) — A monument to the mule, that four-legged symbol of hard work, courage and stubbornness, will be dedicated here July 3 as a memorial to all mules everywhere.

The monument is a life-size statute modeled after an 18-year-old Muleshoe mule named Pete. The fiberglass statue will be placed atop a base of Arkansas stone near the intersections of U. S. Highways 70 and 84, not far from the Santa Fe Railroad station.

Contributions from mule admirers from all over the world, many of them addressed simply "Mule Memorial, Muleshoe, U.S.A.," furnished the funds.

A campaign to preserve the memory of the mule began in 1961 when Dr. J. B. Barnett, of Marlin, Tex., became disturbed by the prospect of mules disappearing from the American scene.

British Teacher Weds African in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A British schoolteacher married an African student in Moscow's Wedding Palace Saturday. Political trouble had threatened to postpone the interracial marriage.

The bride, the former Ruth Eggleton, 28, Devonshire, England, has taught at the Anglo-American school here for children of diplomats for the past two years. The groom, Jackson Kessi, 26, Moshi, Tanzania, has just completed his studies in economics as a member of the first graduating class of Moscow's Patrice Lumumbas Friendship University. They met 18 months ago.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Heavy Selloffs Brought Biggest Loss in 2 Years

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two heavy selloffs capped an easier week on the New York Stock Exhcange last week and helped produce the heaviest loss in the market indicators in nearly two years.

The market struggled several times early in the week to move higher but lacked the volume to complete the move and just fell back after advancing only slightly. One small gain was made in the Dow-Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) Tuesday, but it was insignificant.

Prices drifted lower in the slowest trading in nearly a year Monday and produced a 5.05 loss in the DJIA. Tuesday, the indicator rose 1.31, its only gain on the week, in equally dull turnover. However, gains still outnumbered losses in Tuesday's session.

* * * *

THE DOWNTREND continued Wednesday with a 5.21 drop in the DJIA. Selling pressure increased sharply Thursday and, in the absence of any significant buying interest, prices sank. The DJIA lost 12.46 in the session.

Firmness in a handful of blue chips and a large gain in DuPont limited the average's loss Friday to 3.40 but the list showed much more of a loss as the advance-decline ratio jumped to 3-to-1.

The DJIA fell 24.81 in the week, its worst drop since it fell 28.51 in the week President Kennedy was assassinated. It finished at a new 1965 low of 854.36. Rails slipped 5.82 to a new 1965 low of 190.74. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index finished at a new low of 83.06, off 2.28 on the week.

* * * *

VOLUME slowed to 21,849,450 shares from the 30,228,470 shares a week before and 22,903,019 shares in the same week last year.

Losers outnumbered gainers by nearly 8-to-1 as a record 1,235 issues retreated while only 159 advanced. Of the 1,496 issues traded, 369 hit new 1965 lows while only 14 touched new highs.

Ford was the volume leader with a loss of 1½ at 51⅞ on 453,900 shares which included a block of 106,600 traded Thursday.

Control Data continued its recent retreat with a loss of 5 at 39⅞ on 323,200 shares as the second issue in the active list.

Chrysler was in third spot with a loss of 3 at 297,700 shares. General Motors dropped 2⅝, also in active trading.

* * * *

XEROX tumbled 4 points in active dealings. American Telephone, also active, lost 1⅜.

Chemicals were in retreat with DuPont leading the pack with a loss of 8. Eastman Kodak slipped 1¼ and Union Carbide gave up 1⅛. International Minerals & Chemical dropped 3⅝.

Even the already depressed steel group took its worst beating in a long time. Lukens dropped 4⅛, Jones & Laughlin 2, U.S. Steel 2⅛, Bethlehem and Youngstown 1 each and Republic 1⅝.

Electronics were buffeted by rather heavy selling. IBM sank 15¾. Litton gave up 5½, Foxboro 3⅛, Fairchild Camera 3¼, Zenith 3½ and Honeywell 2⅝. Texas Instruments tacked on ¼.

* * * *

METALS, which attracted considerable buying interest not too long ago, were depressed. International Nickel and Kennecott dropped 3⅞ each, Anaconda 3½, National Lead 3¼, Cerro 3⅜, Alcoa 2 and Kaiser Aluminum 2⅛.

U.S. Smelting retreated 10 and Mueller Brass gave up ¾. Both firms have agreed in principle to a merger.

Airlines were heavily sold. National plunged 7¼, Northwest and Eastern 5¼, American 4⅝, United 3½, Western 3⅛, Trans World 3⅞ and KLM Royal Dutch 3.

ACF Industries backed off 3¼ despite a favorable earnings report. Drugs also were under pressure and Bristol-Myers, Schering, Smith-Kline & French and G. D. Searle all dropped around 3.

* * * *

ALLIED STORES retreated 4⅞. Korvette dropped 2⅞, Kresge skidded 3¾, Sears 2⅞, and Arlan's Department Stores 2. Coca-Cola fell 5¾, National Dairy 5⅛, H. J. Heinz 3¾ and Ward Food 4.

U.S. Rubber dropped 5⅛. Corning Glass gave up 10⅞. American Broadcasting plunged 5½. General Electric lost 3⅛ and Westinghouse Electric eased 2⅜.

International Telephone slipped 2¼. Caterpillar Tractor dropped 3½. Celenese lost a similar amount. Golds met fairly good demand. American South African and Homestake Mining rose 1¾ and Dome Mines picked up 2¼.

U-Pick Cherry Season Under Way

City dwellers interested in getting back to the farm for a day can harvest their own cherries in Beaumont and Cherry Valley.

Growers allow visitors to pick from the trees and display U-Pick signs. Roads to the cherry mecca are San Bernardino Freeway 10 and Highways 60, 70 and 79. An information booth is at Beaumonth Avenue and Cherry Valley Boulevard, Beaumont.

Friends Get Under His Skin

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP)—Last year John McKay and Lewis Seward, both 8 years old, were doing exercises together.

"I was going up when he was going down," Lewis said. John broke his tooth in the collision. Lewis got a cut head.

This year, Lewis bumped his head on the same spot. The injury swelled and doctors x-rayed. They found John's broken tooth embedded beneath the scalp.

Man's Best Helper

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (AP) — Walter Hoe Jr. and his dog, Buster, worked out a solution to the telephone lineman's problem.

Hoe wanted a telephone line run from one end of the house to the other but he wanted it kept out of sight.

Since Hoe had no basement, the lineman decided to extend the line through the narrow crawl space under the house. The lineman, however, was too big to get into the space.

Hoe then tied one end of the wire to Buster's collar. He went around to the other end of the crawlway and whistled for the dog, who came running — pulling the line behind him.

Hot Oil Set to End, but Club Stays

By Harry Wilson Sharpe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government will stop policing interstate shipments of crude oil next Wednesday, June 30. But it will keep a big club in the closet.

That is the day set by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall for suspension of enforcement of the Connally "hot oil" Act, which ended one of the wildest eras in petroleum industry history.

Congress passed the law 30 years ago when states such as Texas and Oklahoma were bursting at the seams with overproduction. They tried to control output with proration laws. The purpose was to regulate interstate shipments and head off a catastrophic drop in market prices.

But get-rich-quick operators had other ideas. They could turn a quick—and big—profit if they could beat the laws. Some of their devices were simple but ingenious.

* * * *

A SHORT PIPELINE laid from wellhead to highway at night could load tank trucks which highballed across state lines to stock a tank farm or to sell to small-time refiners. Or an underground line was even better. Trucks could load from it day or night, without arousing suspicion.

There were other tricks which put law-abiding producers and state control officials in a lynching mood.

Such was the state of affairs when the late Sen. Tom Connally of Texas stepped into the breach. He fathered the hot oil act, which armed the federal government with policing powers, backed up by drastic penalties.

The government has stood by as a watchdog ever since. Its worst trouble spots have been in some sections of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. But Udall is now convinced that state officials have these in firm control.

* * * *

UDALL IS BOSS of federal oil-gas policy, subject only to President Johnson. His new order is, in effect, a vote of confidence in the ability of all state agencies to stamp out any violations.

But he specified that if things get out of hand the government will move in swiftly. He emphatically repeated that interstate shipment of contraband oil—oil which violates state proration rules—is a criminal offense.

This was underscored by Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach in his recent annual report on the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, a 33-state organization dedicated to oil and gas conservation.

He pointed out that the Connally Act amounted to federal consent to state control over production and marketing and their impact on interstate commerce. Then he added that Udall's order does not alter the basic operation of the act . . . nor does it preclude reestablishment of special enforcement," if necessary.

This put it up to the states to keep their skirts clean. It also marked a new milestone for the petroleum industry—less federal interference in its affairs.

Crash Program for Spanish Teachers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sixty Cuban refugees have enrolled at Mount St. Mary's College for an intensive 10-week program after which they will become Spanish teachers in Los Angeles area junior high schools.

All of the Cubans were teachers in their native country and all have the equivalent of an AB degree.

The program is being paid for by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the Refugee and Migration Act of 1962.

ROME (AP) — A scheduled two-day strike against Italy's vast nationalized electric industry was called off Saturday after Premier Aldo Moro intervened and the power agency agreed to reopen contract talks.

Mule's Many Admirers Put Up Monument

MULESHOE, Tex. (AP) — A monument to the mule, that four-legged symbol of hard work, courage and stubbornness, will be dedicated here July 3 as a memorial to all mules everywhere.

The monument is a life-size statute modeled after an 18-year-old Muleshoe mule named Pete. The fiberglass statue will be placed atop a base of Arkansas stone near the intersections of U. S. Highways 70 and 84, not far from the Santa Fe Railroad station.

Contributions from mule admirers from all over the world, many of them addressed simply "Mule Memorial, Muleshoe, U.S.A," furnished the funds.

A campaign to preserve the memory of the mule began in 1961 when Dr. J. B. Barnett, of Marlin, Tex., became disturbed by the prospect of mules disappearing from the American scene.

British Teacher Weds African in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A British schoolteacher married an African student in Moscow's Wedding Palace Saturday. Political trouble had threatened to postpone the interracial marriage.

The bride, the former Ruth Eggleton, 28, Devonshire, England, has taught at the Anglo-American school here for children of diplomats for the past two years. The groom, Jackson Kessi, 26, Moshi, Tanzania, has just completed his studies in economics as a member of the first graduating class of Moscow's Patrice Lumumbas Friendship University. They met 18 months ago.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Heavy Selloffs Brought Biggest Loss in 2 Years

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two heavy selloffs capped an easier week on the New York Stock Exhcange last week and helped produce the heaviest loss in the market indicators in nearly two years.

The market struggled several times early in the week to move higher but lacked the volume to complete the move and just fell back after advancing only slightly. One small gain was made in the Dow-Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) Tuesday but it was insignificant.

Prices drifted lower in the slowest trading in nearly a year Monday and produced a 5.05 loss in the DJIA. Tuesday, the indicator rose 1.31, its only gain on the week, in equally dull turnover. However, gains still outnumbered losses in Tuesday's session.

* * * *

THE DOWNTREND continued Wednesday with a 5.21 drop in the DJIA. Selling pressure increased sharply Thursday and, in the absence of any significant buying interest, prices sank. The DJIA lost 12.46 in the session.

Firmness in a handful of blue chips and a large gain in DuPont limited the average's loss Friday to 3.40 but the list showed much more of a loss as the advance-decline ratio jumped to 3-to-1.

The DJIA fell 24.81 in the week, its worst drop since it fell 28.51 in the week President Kennedy was assassinated. It finished at a new 1965 low of 854.36. Rails slipped 5.82 to a new 1965 low of 190.74. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index finished at a new low of 83.06, off 2.28 on the week.

* * * *

VOLUME slowed to 21,849,450 shares from the 30,228,470 shares a week before and 22,903,019 shares in the same week last year.

Losers outnumbered gainers by nearly 8-to-1 as a record 1,235 issues retreated while only 159 advanced. Of the 1,496 issues traded, 369 hit new 1965 lows while only 14 touched new highs.

Ford was the volume leader with a loss of 1½ at 51⅞ on 453,900 shares which included a block of 106,600 traded Thursday.

Control Data continued its recent retreat with a loss of 5 at 39⅞ on 323,200 shares as the second issue in the active list.

Chrysler was in third spot with a loss of 3 at 297,700 shares. General Motors dropped 2⅝, also in active trading.

* * * *

XEROX tumbled 4 points in active dealings. American Telephone, also active, lost 1⅜.

Chemicals were in retreat with DuPont leading the pack with a loss of 8. Eastman Kodak slipped 1¼ and Union Carbide gave up 1⅛. International Minerals & Chemical dropped 3⅝.

Even the already depressed steel group took its worst beating in a long time. Lukens dropped 4⅛, Jones & Laughlin 2, U.S. Steel 2⅛, Bethlehem and Youngstown 1 each and Republic 1⅝.

Electronics were buffeted by rather heavy selling. IBM sank 15¾. Litton gave up 5½, Foxboro 3⅛, Fairchild Camera 3¼, Zenith 3½ and Honeywell 2⅝. Texas Instruments tacked on ¼.

* * * *

METALS, which attracted considerable buying interest not too long ago, were depressed. International Nickel and Kennecott dropped 3⅞ each, Anaconda 3½, National Lead 3¼, Cerro 3⅜, Alcoa 2 and Kaiser Aluminum 2⅛.

U.S. Smelting retreated 10 and Mueller Brass gave up ¾. Both firms have agreed in principle to a merger.

Airlines were heavily sold. National plunged 7¼, Northwest and Eastern 5¼, American 4⅝, United 3½, Western 3⅛, Trans World 3⅞ and KLM Royal Dutch 3.

ACF Industries backed off 3¼ despite a favorable earnings report. Drugs also were under pressure and Bristol-Myers, Schering, Smith-Kline & French and G. D. Searle all dropped around 3.

* * * *

ALLIED STORES retreated 4⅞. Korvette dropped 2⅞, Kresge skidded 3¾, Sears 2⅞, and Arlan's Department Stores 2. Coca-Cola fell 5¾, National Dairy 5⅛, H. J. Heinz 3¾ and Ward Food 4.

U.S. Rubber dropped 5⅛, Corning Glass gave up 10⅞, American Broadcasting plunged 5½, General Electric lost 3⅛ and Westinghouse Electric eased 2⅜.

International Telephone slipped 2¼, Caterpillar Tractor dropped 3½. Celenese lost a similar amount. Golds met fairly good demand. American South African and Homestake Mining rose 1¾ and Dome Mines picked up 2¼.

U-Pick Cherry Season Under Way

City dwellers interested in getting back to the farm for a day can harvest their own cherries in Beaumont and Cherry Valley.

Growers allow visitors to pick from the trees and display U-Pick signs. Roads to the cherry mecca are San Bernardino Freeway 10 and Highways 60, 70 and 79. An information booth is at Beaumont Avenue and Cherry Valley Boulevard, Beaumont.

Device Locates Hidden Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hand-carried device has been developed to enable firemen to locate hidden fires, the Commerce Department said.

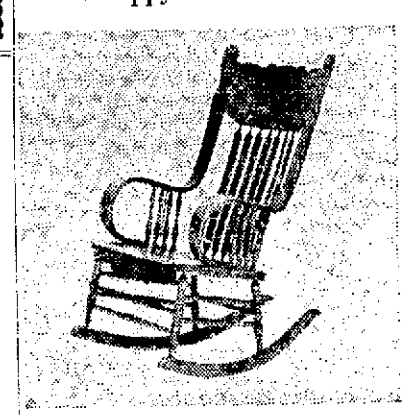

The device emits an audible signal when it is pointed toward a flame, embers or other heat sources.

Bellflower Politician, Teacher Langdon Dies

A 67-year-old former Bellflower city councilman who was prominent both as an educator and as a businessman, died Saturday in Woodruff Gables Hospital, a victim of cancer.

Joe Langdon, a physical education teacher at Excelsior High School since 1923 until his 1961 retirement, was a Bellflower city councilman from 1958 until 1961.

He also operated a soft water distributorship and a washing machine-dryer franchise.

Memorial service for Langdon will be Thursday, 2 p.m., in Bellflower Presbyterian Church. His body was donated to medical research.

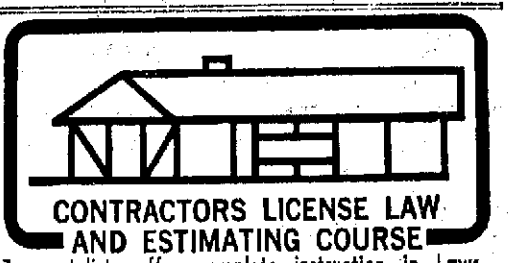

Surviving him are his wife, Carol; a son, Joe Jr.; and a daughter, Mrs. Jane Gresham.

In recent years, Langdon divided his time between Palm Springs and Bellflower. Formerly, he lived at 15517 Leahy Ave., Bellflower.

Burglar Gets $10 in Four Attempts

A cat burglar prowled through four apartments in the 900 block on Freeman Avenue early Saturday, but got only $10 for his trouble.

The series of burglaries was discovered by Officer George Medak as he was returning home from duty.

He noted an open door which led to the apartment of one victim. Subsequent investigation revealed three additional burglaries in the same area.

Miss Patricia Brown said her apartment at 1918 Freeman Avenue was entered by a thief who pried open a kitchen window, took a purse containing $10, then fled through the front door.

Officer C. W. Clark said similar breakins were discovered at the apartments of Edward J. Lynman, 918 Freeman Ave.; Dennis B. Cox, 924 Freeman Ave.; and Henry D. Schorr, 930 Freeman Ave., but no loss was reported.

WINS WINGS

Patrick R. Delgado, 15 54th Pl., has just been awarded the wings of a flight officer with American Airlines following completion of American's flight officer course at Fort Worth, Tex. He will be based at New York's LaGuardia Field.

New Board Member Set for Cerritos

Trustees of Cerritos College District will meet Thursday noon to swear in new board member John Nordbak.

Nordbak, a Downey architect, was named to the board in the regular election last April to replace the late Dale Donnell, representative from the Artesia-Hawaiian Garden area.

Nordbak will be Downey's first representative on the board since the annexation of Downey Unified School District to the Cerritos College District becomes effective July 1. The annexation was approved last year. Also approved at the annexation election was a proposition to increase the board from five the seven members. Dr. Curtis Paxman of Norwalk currently is serving as president of the board.

Girl Drowns After Dive From Cliff

A 13-year-old Florida girl, visiting in the Southland with her father and stepmother, was found about noon Saturday after she dived off a cliff into the ocean at El Morro Bay, near Laguna Beach.

Lifeguards recovered the body of Jane G. Paul 20 minutes after she was carried under by a strong current.

The child was visiting with her father, Townsend D. Paul, a Pasadena dentist. She lived with her mother in Gainesville, Fla.

Orange Co. May Lease Marine Copter Area

An Orange County offer to lease 485 acres of the mile square Marine Corps helicopter training field for a dollar a year is being considered by Defense Department officials with a decision expected within two weeks, Supervisor David Baker said.

Baker, who recently returned from Washington, where he conferred with the commandant of the Marine Corps, the deputy director of defense and the director of the Real Estate Division, said he was confident that the offer would be accepted.

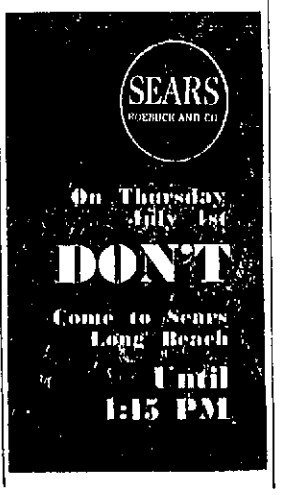

The leasing of the land to the county for a park and recreational site also fits in with President Johnson's America Beautiful Program, the supervisor from the second district said.

* * * *

"LAST MONTH, the President in a speech said that 1,200,000 acres of land that are now part of military establishments would be given to local and state governments for development for natural beauty and recreational facilities," Baker said. The lease would be for 50 years and would enable the county to develop the land while the Marines maintained 155 acres for helicopter training field.

The 640 acres is located both in Garden Grove, Fountain Valley and in unincorporated territory. It is between Brookhurst Avenue on the west, Euclid Street on the east. The northern boundary is Edinger Avenue while the southern boundary is Warner Avenue.

County plans for the property call for the building of two golf courses, a cultural center, a lagoon and a camp site.

Bellflower Politician, Teacher Langdon Dies

A 67-year-old former Bellflower city councilman who was prominent both as an educator and as a businessman died Saturday in Woodruff Gables Hospital, a victim of cancer.

Joe Langdon, a physical education teacher at Excelsior High School since 1923 until his 1961 retirement, was a Bellflower city councilman from 1958 until 1961.

He also operated a soft water distributorship and a washing machine-dryer franchise.

Memorial service for Langdon will be Thursday, 2 p.m., in Bellflower Presbyterian Church. His body was donated to medical research.

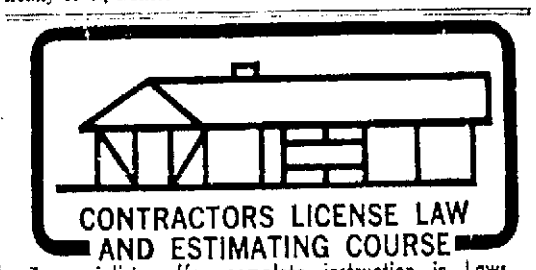

Surviving him are his wife, Carol; a son, Joe Jr.; and a daughter, Mrs. Jane Gresham.

In recent years, Langdon divided his time between Palm Springs and Bellflower. Formerly, he lived at 15517 Leahy Ave., Bellflower.

Burglar Gets $10 in Four Attempts

A cat burglar prowled through four apartments in the 900 block on Freeman Avenue early Saturday, but got only $10 for his trouble.

The series of burglaries was discovered by Officer George Medak as he was returning home from duty.

He noted an open door which led to the apartment of one victim. Subsequent investigation revealed three additional burglaries in the same area.

Miss Patricia Brown said her apartment at 1918 Freeman Avenue was entered by a thief who pried open a kitchen window, took a purse containing $10, then fled through the front door.

Officer C. W. Clark said similar breakins were discovered at the apartments of Edward J. Lynman, 918 Freeman Ave.; Dennis B. Cox, 924 Freeman Ave.; and Henry D. Schorr, 930 Freeman Ave., but no loss was reported.

New Board Member Set for Cerritos

Trustees of Cerritos College District will meet Thursday noon to swear in new board member John Nordbak.

Nordbak, a Downey architect, was named to the board in the regular election last April to replace the late Dale Donnell, representative from the Artesia-Hawaiian Garden area.

Nordbak will be Downey's first representative on the board since the annexation of Downey Unified School District to the Cerritos College District becomes effective July 1. The annexation was approved last year. Also approved at the annexation election was a proposition to increase the board from five the seven members. Dr. Curtis Paxman of Norwalk currently is serving as president of the board.

Girl Drowns After Dive From Cliff

A 13-year-old Florida girl, visiting in the Southland with her father and stepmother, was found about noon Saturday after she dived off a cliff into the ocean at El Morro Bay, near Laguna Beach.

Lifeguards recovered the body of Jane G. Paul 20 minutes after she was carried under by a strong current.

The child was visiting with her father, Townsend D. Paul, a Pasadena dentist. She lived with her mother in Gainesville, Fla.

Orange Co. May Lease Marine Copter Area

An Orange County offer to lease 485 acres of the mile square Marine Corps helicopter training field for a dollar a year is being considered by Defense Department officials with a decision expected within two weeks, Supervisor David Baker said.

Baker, who recently returned from Washington, where he conferred with the commandant of the Marine Corps, the deputy director of defense and the director of the Real Estate Division, said he was confident that the offer would be accepted.

The leasing of the land to the county for a park and recreational site also fits in with President Johnson's America Beautiful Program, the supervisor from the second district said.

* * * *

"LAST MONTH, the President in a speech said that 1,200,000 acres of land that are now part of military establishments would be given to local and state governments for development for natural beauty and recreational facilities," Baker said. The lease would be for 50 years and would enable the county to develop the land while the Marines maintained 155 acres for helicopter training field.

The 640 acres is located both in Garden Grove, Fountain Valley and in unincorporated territory. It is between Brookhurst Avenue on the west, Euclid Street on the east. The northern boundary is Edinger Avenue while the southern boundary is Warner Avenue.

County plans for the property call for the building of two golf courses, a cultural center, a lagoon and a camp site.

Cinema 'Cap Victory Goes to Arksroni

'Forgotten' Horse Leaves Favorites Down the Stretch

By ERNIE MASON

The glory road, which Bill Hartack found barricaded last week, led straight to the winner's circle at Hollywood Park Saturday.

Slipping through along the rail for the entire journey, Hartack booted Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart's Arksroni, the "forgotten" horse of the Frank Childs stable, to a three-quarter length victory in the $58,500 Cinema Handicap before a crowd of 49,507.

* * * *

HARTACK last week attempted a similar ground-saving maneuver with Quadrangle in the Inglewood Handicap, but he was shut off in mid-stretch, the incident forcing a stewards' inquiry which resulted in the disqualification of the "culprit," Viking Spirit.

But Saturday, Hartack didn't find a straw in his path as he booted the roan-coated son of Arkansas II, a $10,000 claim last summer at Del Mar, to the biggest victory of his career.

Easy Lime, a 17-1 shot who took command at the head of the stretch, finished second and Charger's Kin was third, a length and one-half ahead of Arksroni's stablemate, Carpenter's Rule.

* * * *

ARKSRONI, who was placed third in the Will Rogers Stakes when Carpenter's Rule won but was disqualified, was an absentee when nominations for the next major tussle for three-year-were announced. A mix-up in filling the nominations was blamed, so the grey colt rested while Carpenter's Rule picked up the blue ribbon.

Saturday there was no mix-up and Arksroni was plenty evident as he cruised through inside of leaders Nasharco, Charger's Kin and Easy Lime at the eighth pole and sped on to his second stakes win of the year, earning $36,000 for owner Hart, a 71-year-old veteran of the thoroughbred game.

* * * *

FOR HIS backers in the first short-sleeved crowd of the season, Arksroni returned $13.20, $6.60 and $5 across the board. Easy Lime paid $14.60 and $8.60 and Charger's Kin paid $8.20 to show.

Nasharco, as expected, was the pacemaker as the field of 15, largest of the season, raced past the stands the first time. While Johnny Longden had the R. S. Flinn colorbearer winging, Charger's Kin, Blue Surge and Easy Lime were closest, Carpenter's Rule racing on the extreme outside in fifth and his victorious stablemate Far Back, in front of only California Derby winner Perfect Sky.

Hartack explained in a post-race session that Arksroni's bad habit of lugging in forcing him to seek the shortest path home, along the rail.

Schul Sets 3-Mile Record, Pennel Soars to 17 Feet

By JOHN DIXON
I. P-T Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO — So who needs the NCAA?

The AAU didn't as its two-night national championships were launched in record-busting fashion Saturday night before 12,000 at Balboa Stadium.

The finishes were furious, the records were many—and winning marks surpassed the achievements in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. meet one after another.

The thrillers were an American record and an almost-record.

* * * *

BOB SCHUL, No. 1 on the NCAA's most wanted list in the bitter feud with the Amateur Athletic Union, earned the U.S. mark, a blistering 13:10.4 for three miles.

And he needed every last stop watch tick to edge Neville Scott of New Zealand and Ron Larrieu in a standing, shouting, gasping finish.

Olympian also-ran Larrieu led Olympic winner Schul and Scott, who is on a comeback kick after licking alcohol, most of the way in a three-man skirmish.

With 200 yards to go, Schul started his drive, perhaps the fiercest of any distance runner who ever lived. He caught Larrieu quickly, and so did Scott, but the kiwi had no chance at Schul. The Tokyo 5,000-meter winner had two yards on Scott at the finish, and the gallant little Larrieu was another three yards to the rear.

Schul's was 13:10.4, Scott's 13:10.8, a New Zealand national record. Larrieu was stopped in 13:11.4. Schul held the old American record of 13:15.6, but Larrieu had a 13:11.4 pending.

* * * *

JOHN PENNEL was the "almost" hero.

He pole vaulted 17 feet, made a good try at 17-5 one-quarter inch above the world record. Jeff Chase was second at 16-4.

Pennel was the first 17-footer in history at 17-¾ in 1963. Only Fred Hansen ever soared higher without aid of a booster. Now retired, he's gone 17-1, 17-2 and 17-4.

"Of course, I am very happy with the effort, but actually I was experimenting," said Pennel. "I am attempting to shorten my grip on the pole. I'll really show you something when I get this new style perfected."

Only Tom Farrell defied the NCAA boycott of the meet, winning his heat in the 880 handily. He will sacrifice a final season of cross country at St. John's to represent the United States in duals with Russia, Poland and Germany—if he finishes first or second in the finals tonight.

On-again, off-again Gerry Lindgren stated that he "definitely" would run in the six-mile race tonight.

Who is the fastest man in the world, the successor to Charley Paddock, Jesse Owens, Mel Patton and Bob Hayes?

It's a fellow named George Anderson.

Anderson, a student at Southern U. who was given as much chance of winning the 100-yard dash in the National AAU championships as a Model-T Ford at Indianapolis, edged Darel Newman of the 49er Track Club in a "photo finish, please hold your tickets" thriller.

There were more than 50 AAU badge wearers on the field, but they couldn't call it. After 30 minutes of eye straining at the phototimer snapshot, it was Anderson, 9.3; Newman, 9.4; Fred Kuller, the unbeaten state junior college champion from Santa Ana, 9.5; James Hines of Texas Southern, 9.5.

* * * *

IT WAS a two-man race all the way. Newman, the Baldies' favorite, appeared to have it until the final strides. Earlier, Newman won his heat in 9.3.

Whitey Taylor, director of athletics for the Striders, said he will enter an official protest to the AAU.

'If a man doesn't qualify, he doesn't qualify. This isn't an invitational event. They added Richmond Flowers to the high hurdles, to. It isn't fair to the other boys."

Both Anderson and Flowers lost their title chances when their starting blocks slipped, and officials permitted them

'NOT QUITTING'

Mick Still Good for More Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle wants to set the record straight on two counts — he's coming back next year and never said he wouldn't in the first place.

General conjecture on whether he would hang up his spikes after this season came about because of a chance remark made by the 33-year-old Yankee outfielder while the club was still on the road two weeks ago.

Disgusted over his steady succession of injuries and depressed by his .230 batting average at the time, Mantle said, "If I can't do any better than this I might as well quit."

Pressed as to whether he meant at the end of the year, Mantle nodded affirmatively after he made that statement.

Immediately there were stories quoting him as saying this would be his last year with the Yankees if he didn't hit .300. Mantle laughs at those stories even though he's out with another injury now and his average has climbed only to .246.

"I'm not quitting," he said. "I'm coming back. I've hit less than .300 before and I didn't quit, so why should I quit now?"

There is a story behind the original story, one which has never come to light before.

When Yankee manager Johnny Keane got wind of Mantle's reported intention of retiring, he went to him for a heart-to-heart talk. This was on June 15 when the club returned home.

"What's all this stuff about you quitting, Mickey?" Keane inquired concernedly. "We're certainly not thinking along those lines. I think you know all of us would like to have you around here for a few more years."

It was then that Mantle assured the manager he had no intention of quitting. He told Keane of the remark he had made and how it had been misinterpreted.

OSTEEN STORY---LOST APOSTROPHE

Dodgers Can't Escape Law

By GEORGE LEDERER

The family name used to be O'Steen and Claude Osteen can't help but wonder today why they ever dropped the apostrophe. The luck of the Irish obviously deserted the family at the same time.

By little more than the margin of that apostrophe, Osteen has lost eight games as a Dodger, all of them, curiously enough, in the park that he terms "ideal for a pitcher."

Saturday's serial in "The Catastrophe of Claude" ended with the Pirates chasing him by a score of 6-1. Osteen was charged with two runs and scored his own.

There ought to be a law against a pitcher having a 6-8 record with a 2.40 earned run average and Saturday there was. With a capital "L."

Vern Law, an ordained deacon turned comeback demon, made it eight wins in a row with a three-hitter and placed the Dodgers behind the eight-ball by collecting three hits and scoring the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning.

The loss squared the Dodgers' record on this home stay at 6-6 and at 3-3 against the Pirates.

One consolation for the league leaders is that Cincinnati also lost, thus enabling them to retain their 2½-game edge. The rest of the pack is closing in, however, with the Giants trailing by 3½, Milwaukee by 4 and the Pirates by 6½.

The Dodgers, who have won a flock of consolation prizes, also picked up another when Willie Davis made a surprise appearance in the lineup for the first time in 12 games.

Willie was given the go-ahead by Dr. Robert Kerlan, although he still has a rib-cartilage separation that may take a month to heal.

"As long as he can run and swing in a normal manner, it won't bother him to play," said Dr. Kerlan. "It's strictly a matter of pain. There is no danger otherwise."

Davis did not swing in a normal manner Saturday and was hitless in three chances. The rest of the club did swing normally, or at least par for the course in the last dozen games.

Wes Parker, with two singles, and Osteen, with one, were the only Dodgers able to solve the slider and sinker assortment of the 35-year-old Law.

In the last 12 games, the Dodgers have scored 28 runs and batted .207. And seven of the 75 Dodger hits have been credited to the pitchers!

American Loop's Version of Mets ---That's Angels

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Some 13,286 fans seated in the staid confines of Yankee Stadium Saturday felt right at home. There is no reason to miss the Mets when the Angels are around.

Unquestionably the crowd would have been doubled if the stadium were named Shea, but the Mets couldn't have lost any better than the Angels.

The amazin' Angels reverted to the expansion egg and laid a 10-3 decision in the Yankees' nest which required feathering by any means.

Like the Yankees, the Angels collected 12 hits but were prolific in their waste, which is a nasty word considering the water shortage here.

This means that manager Bill Rigney must drink his scotch straight which is all right, too, since his club has lost four in a row, eight of nine and scored just 10 runs in 78 innings.

* * * *

THE SOUND of Yankee bats is now reaching the ears of those clubs housed in the first division and Mr. Keane, tracer of lost pennants, is optimistic. "We can only get better," said Johnny, who is definitely on the spot.

"The important thing is that we can again maneuver. Injuries forced me to play my bench for the first two months and now my bench is exactly that again." Mickey Mantle is the "only" Yankee regular unavailable which, of course, is like equipping a Lotus-Ford with an Offenhauser engine.

"I don't know when Mickey will play," said Keane.

* * * *

"HE COULD pinch-hit now, but then he'd run and reinjure the leg. You can't ask Mickey Mantle to hit the ball and not run." The Angels finally hit the ball Saturday, but they, too, could not run—at least as far as the plate. They got one more hit than they had assembled in the previous three games and it was nice to see Jose Cardenal double and single after going 0-22, and you had to feel happy for newcomer Merritt Ranew, who slapped his first American League homer, besides a single.

Vic Power, accused of non-

Cinema 'Cap Victory Goes to Arksroni

'Forgotten' Horse Leaves Favorites Down the Stretch

By ERNIE MASON

The glory road, which Bill Hartack found barricaded last week, led straight to the winner's circle at Hollywood Park Saturday.

Slipping through along the rail for the entire journey, Hartack booted Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart's Arksroni, the "forgotten" horse of the Frank Childs stable, to a three-quarter length victory in the $58,500 Cinema Handicap before a crowd of 49,507.

HARTACK last week attempted a similar ground-saving maneuver with Quadrangle in the Inglewood Handicap, but he was shut off in mid-stretch, the incident forcing a stewards' inquiry which resulted in the disqualification of the "culprit," Viking Spirit.

But Saturday, Hartack didn't find a straw in his path as he booted the roan-coated son of Arkansas II, a $10,000 claim last summer at Del Mar, to the biggest victory of his career.

Easy Lime, a 17-1 shot who took command at the head of the stretch, finished second and Charger's Kin was third, a length and one-half ahead of Arksroni's stablemate, Carpenter's Rule.

ARKSRONI, who was placed third in the Will Rogers Stakes when Carpenter's Rule won but was disqualified, was an absentee when nominations for the next major tussle for three-year-olds were announced. A mix-up in filling the nominations was blamed, so the grey colt rested while Carpenter's Rule picked up the blue ribbon.

Saturday there was no mix-up and Arksroni was plenty evident as he cruised through inside of leaders Nasharco, Charger's Kin and Easy Lime at the eighth pole and sped on to his second stakes win of the year, earning $36,000 for owner Hart, a 71-year-old veteran of the thoroughbred game.

FOR HIS backers in the first short-sleeved crowd of the season, Arksroni returned $13.20, $6.60 and $5 across the board. Easy Lime paid $14.60 and $8.60 and Charger's Kin paid $8.20 to show.

Nasharco, as expected, was the pacemaker as the field of 15, largest of the season, raced past the stands the first time. While Johnny Longden had the R. S. Flinn colorbearer winging, Charger's Kin, Blue Surge and Easy Lime were closest, Carpenter's Rule racing on the extreme outside in fifth and his victorious stablemate Far Back, in front of only California Derby winner Perfect Sky.

Hartack explained in a post-race session that Arksroni's bad habit of lugging in forcing him to seek the shortest path home, along the rail.

Schul Sets 3-Mile Record, Pennel Soars to 17 Feet

By JOHN DIXON
I. P-T Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO — So who needs the NCAA?

The AAU didn't as its two-night national championships were launched in record-busting fashion Saturday night before 12,000 at Balboa Stadium.

The finishes were furious, the records were many—and winning marks surpassed the achievements in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. meet one after another.

The thrillers were an American record and an almost-record.

BOB SCHUL, No. 1 on the NCAA's most wanted list in the bitter feud with the Amateur Athletic Union, earned the U.S. mark, a blistering 13:10.4 for three miles.

And he needed every last stop watch tick to edge Neville Scott of New Zealand and Ron Larrieu in a standing, shouting, gasping finish.

Olympian also-ran Larrieu led Olympic winner Schul and Scott, who is on a comeback kick after licking alcohol, most of the way in a three-man skirmish.

With 200 yards to go, Schul started his drive, perhaps the fiercest of any distance runner who ever lived. He caught Larrieu quickly, and so did Scott, but the kiwi had no chance at Schul. The Tokyo 5,000-meter winner had two yards on Scott at the finish, and the gallant little Larrieu was another three yards to the rear.

Schul's was 13:10.4, Scott's 13:10.8, a New Zealand national record. Larrieu was stopped in 13:11.4. Schul held the old American record of 13:15.6, but Larrieu had a 13:11.4 pending.

JOHN PENNEL was the "almost" hero.

He pole vaulted 17 feet, made a good try at 17-5 one-quarter inch above the world record. Jeff Chase was second at 16-4.

Pennel was the first 17-footer in history at 17-¾ in 1963. Only Fred Hansen ever soared higher without aid of a booster. Now retired, he's gone 17-1, 17-2 and 17-4.

"Of course, I am very happy with the effort, but actually I was experimenting," said Pennel. "I am attempting to shorten my grip on the pole. I'll really show you something when I get this new style perfected."

Only Tom Farrell defied the NCAA boycott of the meet, winning his heat in the 880 handily. He will sacrifice a final season of cross country at St. John's to represent the United States in duals with Russia, Poland and Germany—if he finishes first or second in the finals tonight.

On-again, off-again Gerry Lindgren stated that he "definitely" would run in the six-mile race tonight.

Who is the fastest man in the world, the successor to Charley Paddock, Jesse Owens, Mel Patton and Bob Hayes?

It's a fellow named George Anderson.

Anderson, a student at Southern U. who was given as much chance of winning the 100-yard dash in the National AAU championships as a Model-T Ford at Indianapolis, edged Darel Newman of the 49er Track Club in a "photo finish, please hold your tickets" thriller.

There were more than 50 AAU badge wearers on the field, but they couldn't call it. After 30 minutes of eye straining at the phototimer snapshot, it was Anderson, 9.3; Newman, 9.4; Fred Kuller, the unbeaten state junior college champion from Santa Ana, 9.5; James Hines of Texas Southern, 9.5.

IT WAS a two-man race all the way. Newman, the Baldies' favorite, appeared to have it until the final strides. Earlier, Newman won his heat in 9.3.

Whitey Taylor, director of athletics for the Striders, said he will enter an official protest to the AAU.

"If a man doesn't qualify, he doesn't qualify. This isn't an invitational event. They added Richmond Flowers to the high hurdles, to. It isn't fair to the other boys."

Both Anderson and Flowers lost their title chances when their starting blocks slipped, and officials permitted them

'NOT QUITTING'

Mick Still Good for More Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle wants to set the record straight on two counts — he's coming back next year and never said he wouldn't in the first place.

General conjecture on whether he would hang up his spikes after this season came about because of a chance remark made by the 33-year-old Yankee outfielder while the club was still on the road two weeks ago.

Disgusted over his steady succession of injuries and depressed by his .230 batting average at the time, Mantle said, "If I can't do any better than this I might as well quit."

Pressed as to whether he meant at the end of the year, Mantle nodded affirmatively after he made that statement.

Immediately there were stories quoting him as saying this would be his last year with the Yankees if he didn't hit .300. Mantle laughs at those stories even though he's out with another injury now and his average has climbed only to .246.

"I'm not quitting," he said. "I'm coming back. I've hit less than .300 before and I didn't quit, so why should I quit now?"

There is a story behind the original story, one which has never come to light before.

When Yankee manager Johnny Keane got wind of Mantle's reported intention of retiring, he went to him for a heart-to-heart talk. This was on June 15 when the club returned home.

"What's all this stuff about you quitting, Mickey?" Keane inquired concernedly. "We're certainly not thinking along those lines. I think you know all of us would like to have you around here for a few more years."

It was then that Mantle assured the manager he had no intention of quitting. He told Keane of the remark he had made and how it had been misinterpreted.

OSTEEN STORY---LOST APOSTROPHE

Dodgers Can't Escape Law

By GEORGE LEDERER

The family name used to be O'Steen and Claude Osteen can't help but wonder today why they ever dropped the apostrophe. The luck of the Irish obviously deserted the family at the same time.

By little more than the margin of that apostrophe, Osteen has lost eight games as a Dodger, all of them, curiously enough, in the park that he terms "ideal for a pitcher."

Saturday's serial in "The Catastrophe of Claude" ended with the Pirates chasing him by a score of 6-1. Osteen was charged with two runs and scored his own.

There ought to be a law against a pitcher having a 6-8 record with a 2.40 earned run average and Saturday there was. With a capital "L."

Vern Law, an ordained deacon turned comeback demon, made it eight wins in a row with a three-hitter and placed the Dodgers behind the eight-ball by collecting three hits and scoring the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning.

The loss squared the Dodgers' record on this home stay at 6-6 and at 3-3 against the Pirates.

One consolation for the league leaders is that Cincinnati also lost, thus enabling them to retain their 2½-game edge. The rest of the pack is closing in, however, with the Giants trailing by 3½, Milwaukee by 4 and the Pirates by 6½.

The Dodgers, who have won a flock of consolation prizes, also picked up another when Willie Davis made a surprise appearance in the lineup for the first time in 12 games.

Willie was given the go-ahead by Dr. Robert Kerlan, although he still has a rib-cartilage separation that may take a month to heal.

"As long as he can run and swing in a normal manner, it won't bother him to play," said Dr. Kerlan. "It's strictly a matter of pain. There is no danger otherwise."

Davis did not swing in a normal manner Saturday and was hitless in three chances. The rest of the club did swing normally, or at least par for the course in the last dozen games.

Wes Parker, with two singles, and Osteen, with one, were the only Dodgers able to solve the slider and sinker assortment of the 35-year-old Law.

In the last 12 games, the Dodgers have scored 28 runs and batted .207. And seven of the 75 Dodger hits have been credited to the pitchers!

American Loop's Version of Mets ---That's Angels

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Some 13,286 fans seated in the staid confines of Yankee Stadium Saturday felt right at home. There is no reason to miss the Mets when the Angels are around.

Unquestionably the crowd would have been doubled if the stadium were named Shea, but the Mets couldn't have lost any better than the Angels.

The amazin' Angels reverted to the expansion egg and laid a 10-3 decision in the Yankees' nest which required feathering by any means.

Like the Yankees, the Angels collected 12 hits but were prolific in their waste, which is a nasty word considering the water shortage here.

This means that manager Bill Rigney must drink his scotch straight which is all right, too, since his club has lost four in a row, eight of nine and scored just 10 runs in 78 innings.

THE SOUND of Yankee bats is now reaching the ears of those clubs housed in the first division and Mr. Keane, tracer of lost pennants, is optimistic. "We can only get better," said Johnny, who is definitely on the spot.

"The important thing is that we can again maneuver. Injuries forced me to play my bench for the first two months and now my bench is exactly that again." Mickey Mantle is the "only" Yankee regular unavailable which, of course, is like equipping a Lotus-Ford with an Offenhauser engine.

"I don't know when Mickey will play," said Keane.

"HE COULD pinch-hit now, but then he'd run and reinjure the leg. You can't ask Mickey Mantle to hit the ball and not run." The Angels finally hit the ball Saturday, but they, too, could not run—at least as far as the plate. They got one more hit than they had assembled in the previous three games and it was nice to see Jose Cardenal double and single after going 0-22, and you had to feel happy for newcomer Merritt Ranew, who slapped his first American League homer, besides a single.

Chink In Dodger Armor?

Was the first chink in the league-leading Dodgers' armor showing Thursday night when the O'Malleys took a 13-3 pasting from the cutlass-wielding Pirates of Pittsburgh?

Could be. With Tommy Davis, Willie Davis and Lou Johnson hors de combat, the Dodgers' bat attack is as potent as day-old soup in a free downtown kitchen.

DON DRYSDALE
Dodgers Need Him

Dodger hitting never was a thing you bragged about to mother. Even as early as spring training, manager Walt Alston conceded, "We're not going to knock down any fences . . . but if we can find a few runs, we might be all right."

Alston's statement was under the consideration that Dodger pitching would be 100% effective, or close to that figure.

Thursday night the pitching was horrible. The Pirates scored their 13 runs in just six innings against four Dodger throwers. The most important matter in the whole carnage was that the strong man, Don Drysdale, was belted for his third consecutive loss—and I mean he was creamed!

On just the second Drysdale pitch, ex-Wilson High star Bob Bailey crashed a 370-foot homer. Two outs later, Wilbur Stargell sent a Drysdale pitch into orbit. If the seats hadn't blocked that one, our astronaut in space might have one-handed it himself.

Stargell wasn't through, as you probably well know by now. His third-inning blast against Drysdale unhinged a seat in the right field pavilion and the stadium cleanup crew still is searching for his sixth-inning bomb against beardless John Purdin, a nice chap who probably should be gaining more experience with Duke Snider at Spokane.

In-between home runs—and in the space of less than four innings—Big "D" gave up four more slashing blows.

That's our point . . . and perhaps the first chink in the Dodger armor. Without an effective Drysdale, the Dodgers are as dead as the French government in Saigon.

One game does not a season make. On the other hand, if this one game is a crystal ball into the future, deep trouble indeed lies ahead for the hitless Dodgers. Not discounting the merits of Koufax, Osteen and Podres, the No. 1 key to a Dodger pennant is Drysdale. Too many eggs have been placed in Don's basket for him to falter now.

If the Thursday night debacle was just "one of those things," maybe it's a good thing Drysdale got it off his chest now. If it wasn't . . . and possibly the result of Don's overwork through the years, the Dodgers' shaky chances of winning a pennant are out the window.

BUZZIE BAVASI, Dodger g.m., was speechless (and that's an upset) and near the fainting stage Thursday night after two occurrences:

1. When Ron Fairly was hit on the foot by a pitched ball.

2. When John Kennedy (batting a robust .180) streaked from third base in an attempt to spear a pop fly and came within an ant's necktie of spiking Drysdale, who caught the ball.

Picture the Dodgers without Fairly. The outfield would be composed of Jim Gilliam, Wally Moon and Willie Crawford, hardly a composite journeyman unit.

TALE THAT SHOULDN'T BE TOLD:

On his off-day Wednesday, the Dodgers' ace announcer Vin Scully took his wife and two sons to a neighborhood park to play Wiffle Ball. (A "Wiffle Ball' is one of those plastic things with holes in it . . . and not too easy to hit.).

Scully and his sons didn't fare too well, but Mrs. Vin really laced into "Wiffle."

"If she was only a man," sighed Scully. "Maybe I could get her into the Dodgers' starting lineup right now."

YOU WOULD HAVE THOUGHT an American Medical Assn. conference was being held in the Dodger trainers' quarters before the ill-fated Thursday engagement.

Lying on a rubbing table, stripped to the waist, was Willie Davis, who has been sidelined since June 12 with a popped rib cartilage.

Tending to him was Dr. Bob Kerlan. "Assisting" were trainers Bill Buhler and Wayne Anderson, plus boss Alston, Johnny Podres, Maury Wills and Drysdale.

Dr. Kerlan gave a thorough rib manipulation to Willie, then, as everyone broke into smiles, sensing that Davis would be ready for action soon, the centerfielder let out a scream of pain that reminded one of a World War II field hospital scene.

The cartilage had popped out again. Willie won't be ready to play until mid-July, if then.

PRE-GAME COMMENT from Willie Stargell: "I know I can hit any righthander. It's the lefties I'm worried about."

Sad postscript: Don Drysdale is a righthander!

Giants Clip Phillies on Walk in 9th

Bases-Full Pass to Hart Forces in Winning Run

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jim Ray Hart walked with the bases full and one out in the ninth inning Saturday to force in Jim Davenport and give the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Willie McCovey's 16th homer in the eighth inning tied the score at 5-5 and young Gary Wagner went in to pitch the ninth for the Phils.

He retired pinch hitter Len Gabrielson on an infield tap, but then a walk to Davenport, a single by Jay Alou and an intentional walk to Willie Mays filled the bases.

* * * *

HART, who had one hit in four previous trips, worked the count to 3-2 and then got the game winning pass.

The victory went to Masanori Murakami, his first of the season against one loss. He pitched the final two innings and gave up only one hit and walked two.

JOHNSON'S TWO-RUN DOUBLE DECISIVE

Orioles Edge White Sox in 14th

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Johnson rapped a two-run double in the 14th inning, following Ron Hansen's third error of the game, and brought the Baltimore Orioles a 2-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

Held hitless since the eighth inning, the Orioles got started in the 14th when Luis Aparicio singled off relief ace Eddie Fisher. Jerry Adair then reached first when Hansen fumbled his grounder.

Brooks Robinson hit into a force-out, but Johnson followed with a long, high drive to left field that kicked off the glove of Tom McCraw as he backed up to the wall.

The loss went to Fisher, only his second against eight victories. Dick Hall, who held the White Sox to one hit over the final five innings, got the victory for a 6-2 record.

Fisher came on in relief for the White Sox in the 10th when the Orioles, who had collected only four hits, threatened against starter Gary Peters after Johnson was hit by a pitch leading off the inning.

Sam Bowens sacrificed and Johnson raced to third as Jackie Brandt grounded out. Dick Brown was intentionally walked before Fisher came on to get pinch hitter Norm Siebern on a foul pop.

Twins Bow but Still Retain Lead

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Minnesota's sloppy defense handed the Detroit Tigers a 5-2 victory Sunday but the Twins still held on to their half-game lead in the American League.

The Twins were able to stay on top when contenders Chicago and Cleveland lost their games, too.

Mickey Lolich pitched a superb six innings to gain his eighth victory as the Twins literally presented the Tigers with all their five runs.

Oriole Pick Signs

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Scott McDonald, 18, high school pitcher who was the Baltimore Orioles' No. 1 draft choice signed a contract with the American League team Saturday night, Don McShane, Orioles' West Coast scout, announced.

loser of his last three starts) will be opposing Veale (7-5). Veale shut out the Dodgers on three hits in his first try.

Osteen and Law matched five scoreless innings Saturday before Bob Bailey, latest of the Dodger killers,

DODGERS OF DAY

CLAUDE OSTEEN held Pirates to two runs and singled, and WES PARKER, singled twice in 6-1 loss to Pirates.

led off the sixth with a mighty home run into the Dodger bullpen. It was his sixth of the year, third against the Dodgers and second vs. Osteen.

Bailey is batting .375 against the Dodgers with nine hits in 24 chances. He has hit two home runs in this series.

Osteen got the run back in the same round, which he started with a single. It was the Dodgers' second hit against Law and only the second ball hit to the outfield. After two were out, Parker's second single made it 1-1.

It didn't last long.

Law began the Pirate eighth with a single and that was all for Osteen. Alston, booed by a few of the 21,769 paying fans, brought in Bob Miller, who gave up a tie-breaking double to pinch-hitter Bill Virdon after Bailey sacrificed.

Miller also walked Roberto Clemente intentionally and gave up singles to Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski that made it 4-1.

Alston's next walk to the mound, to welcome Ron Perranoski, was booed loudly. Perranoski retired the side without further damage, but Howie Reed gave up two more runs on Clendenon's fourth hit in the ninth.

The Dodgers have scored a grand total of 13 runs for Osteen in his eight losses, which were by scores of 3-2, 2-0, 2-1, 6-4, 5-4, 6-1, 1-0 and 6-1.

Something is missing, probably the apostrophe.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

The mystery of pitcher Juan Pizarro, the Chicago White Sox' 19-game winner last season and a flop so far this year, was solved Saturday. A doctor's examination revealed that the stylish Puerto Rico southpaw has a torn tricep tendon in his left shoulder. He was placed on the disabled list and will be sidelined for an automatic 30 days . . . National League umpire Tom Gorman suggests games interrupted by rain be played from the point it stopped and not all over. Gorman was the chief umpire at Milwaukee June 20 when rain threatened to disrupt a game between the Braves and St. Louis in the first half of the fifth with the Cards leading, 5-0. The two managers, Red Schoendienst (Cards) and Bobby Bragan (Braves) were each fined $200 by the league for their attempts to delay the game and to speed it up . . . The Braves optioned infielder Sandy Alomar to Atlanta of the International League . . . In the same report that announced the placement of Pizarro on the disabled list, the team reported third baseman Pete Ward will be lost for several days. Ward is bothered by a neck injury.

Milwaukee Nudges Reds on Wild Pitch

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Frank Bolling raced home on Bill McCool's wild pitch in the seventh inning with the run that gave Milwaukee a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati Saturday.

The loss prevented the second-place Reds from gaining ground on the Dodgers, who still lead by 2½.

Ken Johnson scattered six hits for his sixth triumph against three defeats. He blanked the Reds after the first inning when Tommy Harper walked, stole second, moved to third on a fly out and came home as Frank Robinson doubled.

* * * *

JOEY JAY pitched the first six innings for the Reds but had to leave after his right elbow weakened.

McCool came on at the start of the seventh and walked Bolling with one out. Bolling dashed to third on Hank Aaron's single and scored the deciding run as McCool unleashed a wild pitch with Joe Torre at bat.

Robinson tripled leading off the Reds' seventh but was out trying for an inside-the-park home run. Gordy Coleman followed with a single.

ANGELS—

support Friday, continued to support Angel pitchers with two hits, but Angel pitchers couldn't support themselves.

Marcelino Lopez (7-7) drew his fourth consecutive defeat since last winning on June 4 and this drew some sharp words from Rigney.

"He won seven games by blowing his fast ball by the opposition and now he's trying to be cute with a little curve," rasped Rigney. "This is the pitch that kept him out of the big leagues for the last two years."

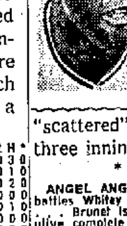

Academically, it could be argued that Lopez would have averted a three-run Maris' ground ball with one out and Phil Linz on first by virtue of a walk. Power, however, misplayed the skipper into a single and ensuing singles by Elston Howard and Joe Pepitone produced three runs.

Following a fourth-inning double by Pepitone, Lopez threw a curve to Clete Boyer who converted it into his fourth home run. A walk and run-scoring single by Bobby Richardson made it another three-run inning and disturbed Barry Latman's sun-bathed tranquility.

Four singles and Jim Fregosi's throwing error on another double play grounder made Latman long for the good life of the bullpen as the Yankees scored four times in the fifth.

Jim Bouton, 15 wins shy of his 18 victories in 1964, had an easy one in prospect when he pulled a thigh muscle in his left leg delivering a change-up to Willie Smith in the fourth. Bobby Tiefenauer (1-1) gained the victory as he

HEARD IN THE DUGOUTS . . .

No. 6 (Stan) Could Help Cards

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Heard in the dugouts:

The setting: The slumping St. Louis Cardinals were losing another game with sloppy fielding, weak hitting, poor pitching.

Enter Stan Musial in a business suit, former Cardinal great:

"Hi, Leo."

"Hi, Stan, what's the matter with the Cardinals," Leo asked.

"It looks," said Musial, "as if I'd better change into my No. 6 uniform. Maybe I can help."

P.S.—Musial heads President Lyndon B. Johnson's national physical fitness program, appears in perfect health . . .

Secret out: Pittsburgh Pirate manager Harry Walker was at his wit's end. His club had lost 17 straight games to the Cardinals over a two-season period. Walker changed his hard luck by swapping rings with Pittsburgh sports broadcaster Bob Prince. Pittsburgh ended the jinx, and Walker and Prince returned each other's rings . . .

Players still talk about shortstop Julio Gotay now with the American League Angels. Julio, poor with his English, wanted a bowl of soup in a restaurant. The waitress couldn't understand him, finally was persuaded to let him taste all the soups in the house until Gotay made his choice. On the road, Gotay carried a sack of fruit to eat, like a youngster with his school lunch.

While with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Gotay used a hot plate in his room, once smoked out roommate Roberto Clemente preparing a dish of ham and eggs . . .

Cardinal manager Red Schoendienst batted 100% involving pitchers Bob Purkey and young Steve Carlton. The Cards were trailing. In two moves, Schoendienst allowed Purkey to bat, and he singled. Later, in the game, Carlton went out for pinch-hitter Bob Skinner, who promptly homered . . .

Milwaukee catcher Joe Torre, a good man on any club, takes a dim view of the baseball draft through his own experience. In high school, Torre was overweight and not impressive.

"I wouldn't have been picked by any club, then," said Torre, hitting in the .300s . . .

Catcher Tim McCarver, infielder-outfielder Phil Gagliano of the Cards, and Hollywood movie star Stella Stevens have something in common. All three came up from Memphis, Tenn., about the same time.

Chink In Dodger Armor?

Was the first chink in the league-leading Dodgers' armor showing Thursday night when the O'Malleys took a 13-3 pasting from the cutlass-wielding Pirates of Pittsburgh?

Could be. With Tommy Davis, Willie Davis and Lou Johnson hors de combat, the Dodgers' bat attack is as potent as day-old soup in a free downtown kitchen.

DON DRYSDALE
Dodgers Need Him

Dodger hitting never was a thing you bragged about to mother. Even as early as spring training, manager Walt Alston conceded, "We're not going to knock down any fences... but if we can find a few runs, we might be all right."

Alston's statement was under the consideration that Dodger pitching would be 100% effective, or close to that figure.

Thursday night the pitching was horrible. The Pirates scored their 13 runs in just six innings against four Dodger throwers. The most important matter in the whole carnage was that the strong man, Don Drysdale, was belted for his third consecutive loss—and I mean he was creamed!

On just the second Drysdale pitch, ex-Wilson High star Bob Bailey crashed a 370-foot homer. Two outs later, Wilbur Stargell sent a Drysdale pitch into orbit. If the seats hadn't blocked that one, our astronaut in space might have one-handed it himself.

Stargell wasn't through, as you probably well know by now. His third-inning blast against Drysdale unhinged a seat in the right field pavilion and the stadium cleanup crew still is searching for his sixth-inning bomb against beardless John Purdin, a nice chap who probably should be gaining more experience with Duke Snider at Spokane.

In-between home runs—and in the space of less than four innings—Big "D" gave up four more slashing blows.

That's our point . . . and perhaps the first chink in the Dodger armor. Without an effective Drysdale, the Dodgers are as dead as the French government in Saigon.

One game does not a season make. On the other hand, if this one game is a crystal ball into the future, deep trouble indeed lies ahead for the hitless Dodgers. Not discounting the merits of Koufax, Osteen and Podres, the No. 1 key to a Dodger pennant is Drysdale. Too many eggs have been placed in Don's basket for him to falter now.

If the Thursday night debacle was just "one of those things," maybe it's a good thing Drysdale got it off his chest now. If it wasn't . . . and possibly the result of Don's overwork through the years, the Dodgers' shaky chances of winning a pennant are out the window.

BUZZIE BAVASI, Dodger g.m., was speechless (and that's an upset) and near the fainting stage Thursday night after two occurrences:

1. When Ron Fairly was hit on the foot by a pitched ball.

2. When John Kennedy (batting a robust .180) streaked from third base in an attempt to spear a pop fly and came within an ant's necktie of spiking Drysdale, who caught the ball.

Picture the Dodgers without Fairly. The outfield would be composed of Jim Gilliam, Wally Moon and Willie Crawford, hardly a composite journeyman unit.

TALE THAT SHOULDN'T BE TOLD:

On his off-day Wednesday, the Dodgers' ace announcer Vin Scully took his wife and two sons to a neighborhood park to play Wiffle Ball. (A "Wiffle Ball' is one of those plastic things with holes in it . . . and not too easy to hit.)

Scully and his sons didn't fare too well, but Mrs. Vin really laced into "Wiffle."

"If she was only a man," sighed Scully. "Maybe I could get her into the Dodgers' starting lineup right now."

YOU WOULD HAVE THOUGHT an American Medical Assn. conference was being held in the Dodger trainers' quarters before the ill-fated Thursday engagement.

Lying on a rubbing table, stripped to the waist, was Willie Davis, who has been sidelined since June 12 with a popped rib cartilage.

Tending to him was Dr. Bob Kerlan. "Assisting" were trainers Bill Buhler and Wayne Anderson, plus boss Alston, Johnny Podres, Maury Wills and Drysdale.

Dr. Kerlan gave a thorough rib manipulation to Willie, then, as everyone broke into smiles, sensing that Davis would be ready for action soon, the centerfielder let out a scream of pain that reminded one of a World War II field hospital scene.

The cartilage had popped out again. Willie won't be ready to play until mid-July, if then.

PRE-GAME COMMENT from Willie Stargell: "I know I can hit any righthander. It's the lefties I'm worried about."

Sad postscript: Don Drysdale is a righthander!

Giants Clip Phillies on Walk in 9th

Bases-Full Pass to Hart Forces in Winning Run

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jim Ray Hart walked with the bases full and one out in the ninth inning Saturday to force in Jim Davenport and give the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Willie McCovey's 16th homer in the eighth inning tied the score at 5-5 and young Gary Wagner went in to pitch the ninth for the Phils.

He retired pinch hitter Len Gabrielson on an infield tap, but then a walk to Davenport, a single by Jay Alou and an intentional walk to Willie Mays filled the bases.

* * * *

HART, who had one hit in four previous trips, worked the count to 3-2 and then got the game winning pass.

The victory went to Masanori Murakami, his first of the season against one loss. He pitched the final two innings and gave up only one hit and walked two.

support Friday, continued to support Angel pitchers with two hits, but Angel pitchers couldn't support themselves.

Marcelino Lopez (7-7) drew his fourth consecutive defeat since last winning on June 4 and this drew some sharp words from Rigney.

"He won seven games by blowing his fast ball by the opposition and now he's trying to be cute with a little curve," rasped Rigney. "This is the pitch that kept him out of the big leagues for the last two years."

Academically, it could be argued that Lopez would have averted a three-run Maris' ground ball with one out and Phil Linz on first by virtue of a walk. Power, however, misplayed the skipper into a single and ensuing singles by Elston Howard and Joe Pepitone produced three runs.

Following a fourth-inning double by Pepitone, Lopez threw a curve to Clete Boyer who converted it into his fourth home run. A walk and run-scoring single by Bobby Richardson made it another three-run inning and disturbed Barry Latman's sun-bathed tranquility.

Four singles and Jim Fregosi's throwing error on another double play grounder made Latman long for the good life of the bullpen as the Yankees scored four times in the fifth.

Jim Bouton, 15 wins shy of his 18 victories in 1964, had an easy one in prospect when he pulled a thigh muscle in his left leg delivering a change-up to Willie Smith in the fourth. Bobby Tiefenauer (1-1) gained the victory as he "scattered" seven hits for three innings.

JOHNSON'S TWO-RUN DOUBLE DECISIVE

Orioles Edge White Sox in 14th

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Johnson rapped a two-run double in the 14th inning, following Ron Hansen's third error of the game, and brought the Baltimore Orioles a 2-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

Held hitless since the eighth inning, the Orioles got started in the 14th when Luis Aparicio singled off relief ace Eddie Fisher. Jerry Adair then reached first when Hansen fumbled his grounder.

Brooks Robinson hit into a force-out, but Johnson followed with a long, high drive to left field that kicked off the glove of Tom McCraw as he backed up to the wall.

The loss went to Fisher, only his second against eight victories. Dick Hall, who held the White Sox to one hit over the final five innings, got the victory for a 6-2 record.

Fisher came on in relief for the White Sox in the 10th when the Orioles, who had collected only four hits, threatened against starter Gary Peters after Johnson was hit by a pitch leading off the inning.

Sam Bowens sacrificed and Johnson raced to third as Jackie Brandt grounded out. Dick Brown was intentionally walked before Fisher came on to get pinch hitter Norm Siebern on a foul pop.

Twins Bow but Still Retain Lead

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Minnesota's sloppy defense handed the Detroit Tigers a 5-2 victory Sunday but the Twins still held on to their half-game lead in the American League.

The Twins were able to stay on top when contenders Chicago and Cleveland lost their games, too.

Mickey Lolich pitched a superb six innings to gain his eighth victory as the Twins literally presented the Tigers with all their five runs.

Oriole Pick Signs

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Scott McDonald, 18, high school pitcher who was the Baltimore Orioles' No. 1 draft choice signed a contract with the American League team Saturday night, Don McShane, Orioles' West Coast scout, announced.

DODGERS LOSE—

loser of his last three starts) will be opposing Veale (7-5). Veale shut out the Dodgers on three hits in his first try.

Osteen and Law matched five scoreless innings Saturday before Bob Bailey, latest of the Dodger killers, led off the sixth with a mighty home run into the Dodger bullpen. It was his sixth of the year, third against the Dodgers and second vs. Osteen.

Bailey is batting .375 against the Dodgers with nine hits in 24 chances. He has hit two home runs in this series.

Osteen got the run back in the same round, which he started with a single. It was the Dodgers' second hit against Law and only the second ball hit to the outfield. After two were out, Parker's second single made it 1-1.

It didn't last long.

Law began the Pirate eighth with a single and that was all for Osteen. Alston, booed by a few of the 21,769 paying fans, brought in Bob Miller, who gave up a tie-breaking double to pinch-hitter Bill Virdon after Bailey sacrificed.

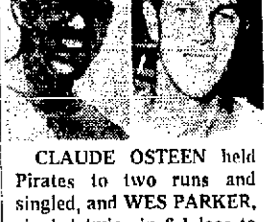

Miller also walked Roberto Clemente intentionally and gave up singles to Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski that made it 4-1.

Alston's next walk to the mound, to welcome Ron Perranoski, was booed loudly. Perranoski retired the side without further damage, but Howie Reed gave up two more runs on Clendenon's fourth hit in the ninth.

The Dodgers have scored a grand total of 13 runs for Osteen in his eight losses, which were by scores of 3-2, 2-0, 2-1, 6-4, 5-4, 6-1, 1-0 and 6-1.

Something is missing, probably the apostrophe.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

The mystery of pitcher Juan Pizarro, the Chicago White Sox' 19-game winner last season and a flop so far this year, was solved Saturday. A doctor's examination revealed that the stylish Puerto Rico southpaw has a torn tricep tendon in his left shoulder. He was placed on the disabled list and will be sidelined for an automatic 30 days . . . National League umpire Tom Gorman suggests games interrupted by rain be played from the point it stopped and not all over. Gorman was the chief umpire at Milwaukee June 20 when rain threatened to disrupt a game between the Braves and St. Louis in the first half of the fifth with the Cards leading, 5-0. The two managers, Red Schoendienst (Cards) and Bobby Bragan (Braves) were each fined $200 by the league for their attempts to delay the game and to speed it up . . . The Braves optioned infielder Sandy Alomar to Atlanta of the International League . . . In the same report that announced the placement of Pizarro on the disabled list, the team reported third baseman Pete Ward will be lost for several days. Ward is bothered by a neck injury.

Milwaukee Nudges Reds on Wild Pitch

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Frank Bolling raced home on Bill McCool's wild pitch in the seventh inning with the run that gave Milwaukee a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati Saturday.

The loss prevented the second-place Reds from gaining ground on the Dodgers, who still lead by 2½.

Ken Johnson scattered six hits for his sixth triumph against three defeats. He blanked the Reds after the first inning when Tommy Harper walked, stole second, moved to third on a fly out and came home as Frank Robinson doubled.

* * * *

JOEY JAY pitched the first six innings for the Reds but had to leave after his right elbow weakened.

McCool came on at the start of the seventh and walked Bolling with one out. Bolling dashed to third on Hank Aaron's single and scored the deciding run as McCool unleashed a wild pitch with Joe Torre at bat.

Robinson tripled leading off the Reds' seventh but was out trying for an inside-the-park home run. Gordy Coleman followed with a single.

HEARD IN THE DUGOUTS . . .

No. 6 (Stan) Could Help Cards

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Heard in the dugouts:

The setting: The slumping St. Louis Cardinals were losing another game with sloppy fielding, weak hitting, poor pitching.

Enter Stan Musial in a business suit, former Cardinal great:

"Hi, Leo."

"Hi, Stan, what's the matter with the Cardinals," Leo asked.

"It looks," said Musial, "as if I'd better change into my No. 6 uniform. Maybe I can help."

P.S.—Musial heads President Lyndon B. Johnson's national physical fitness program, appears in perfect health . . .

Secret out: Pittsburgh Pirate manager Harry Walker was at his wit's end. His club had lost 17 straight games to the Cardinals over a two-season period. Walker changed his hard luck by swapping rings with Pittsburgh sports broadcaster Bob Prince. Pittsburgh ended the jinx, and Walker and Prince returned each other's rings . . .

Players still talk about shortstop Julio Gotay now with the American League Angels. Julio, poor with his English, wanted a bowl of soup in a restaurant. The waitress couldn't understand him, finally was persuaded to let him taste all the soups in the house until Gotay made his choice. On the road, Gotay carried a sack of fruit to eat, like a youngster with his school lunch.

While with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Gotay used a hot plate in his room, once smoked out roommate Roberto Clemente preparing a dish of ham and eggs . . .

Cardinal manager Red Schoendienst batted 100% involving pitchers Bob Purkey and young Steve Carlton. The Cards were trailing. In two moves, Schoendienst allowed Purkey to bat, and he singled. Later, in the game, Carlton went out for pinch-hitter Bob Skinner, who promptly homered . . .

Milwaukee catcher Joe Torre, a good man on any club, takes a dim view of the baseball draft through his own experience. In high school, Torre was overweight and not impressive.

"I wouldn't have been picked by any club, then," said Torre, hitting in the .300s . . .

Catcher Tim McCarver, infielder-outfielder Phil Gagliano of the Cards, and Hollywood movie star Stella Stevens have something in common. All three came up from Memphis, Tenn., about the same time.

ARRUZA

Return of Numero Uno

By RICH ROBERTS

When Carlos Arruza fixes you with those clear, dark eyes, you can almost feel the sword.

For this is Numero Uno, killer of bulls, the greatest matador in all Mexico . . not to mention Tijuana, too.

Don't laugh. The border bull ring, for matadors, is deadly serious.

"The first time I came to Tijuana was in about 1937," Arruza recalls in his hunt-and-peck English. "It was a very easy and a very comfortable ring for bullfighters because we came here—how you say?—to tease the people.

"But now the bull ring of Tijuana is one of the most important and difficult to work, because the American audience, they read so much, they go to Spain, they really know what they are seeing. It's impossible to tease them. We must come here to make the real thing."

"The real thing," to Arruza, allows for none of the flashy but phony capework, the cheap tricks to make it look good without taking any chances. No grandstanding. No playing to the tourists. Less bull—more fight.

THIS IS IMPORTANT to Arruza, who at 45 represents bullfighting as an art form perhaps better than any living man. "Living" man, because others, like his old friend and rival, Manolete, who died on the horns, as they say, might understand it even better.

"For all the bullfighters it is something like a religion," Arruza says. "Maybe I could explain it if I studied my English." He laughs at his bi-lingual shortcomings but is not embarrassed.

Pressed, he scoffs at the notion that the matador represents the forces of good while the bull symbolizes evil—the devil.

"Ha!" he bellows. "No, no, the bull is our best friend. He is an angel. Not a devil, an angel."

The fair-haired world might find the reasoning inconsistent, being unaccustomed to knocking off man's "best friend" with a sword between the shoulders.

"I don't think it's a cruel thing," Arruza frowns. "I think it's very worse to kill the bull cold without fighting to eat than a brave bull that don't feel any pain because he is fighting.

"I can tell you thousands of names of bulls that are in history, and you can't tell me the name of any bull that you eat, like beef, they die so poorly."

ARRUZA'S APPEARANCES at Tijuana last Sunday and next Sunday—the Fourth of July—mark his emergence from four years' absence as a serious matador. He has signed for 20 corridas in Mexico and Spain this season for total fees of some $120,000, making him one of the world's highest paid . . . well, athletes. But he insists it is more than money that brings him back.

"Noooooo!" he retorts. "If you make something for money you are lose—completely. But inactivity—that's the worse thing that can happen to a man . . . nothing to do."

Arruza returns on his own terms—rejoneo. Bullfighting on horseback.

"I retired on foot in 1953. I don't feel it's good to come back on foot, because in that retirement . . . it's the Three Musketeers and 20 years later. Now coming up: young people. It's different."

Arruza, astride one of several white Arabian chargers in his stable, places the banderillas and runs the bull from horseback, then dismounts for the faena, the final phase leading to the kill.

"It may be more difficult than on foot because you have to control the brains of the horse and yours together," he says. "And, well, it's not safer because if you have a gore on foot you are out maybe 20 days in the hospital, while if you have a fall off a horse you can have a fracture that will put you out six or seven months.

"But I never think of that. It's better don't think of that!"

IT FOLLOWS that horse and rider must be in tune to avoid disaster.

"The horses, they think and act like a bullfighter," Arruza says. "They are afraid before the corrida. In the moment when you put this (decoration) in their hair, they know they are going to fight that day. They are tense and nervous."

Arruza has been tense and nervous practically all his life. His father, a well-to-do Mexico City tailor, took him to his first bullfight at 11. To little Carlos Ruiz Camino, the call of the trumpets was irresistible.

"It was all so beautiful," Carlos gestures with undying ecstasy. "I want to be a bullfighter and run away from my house. I don't want to go to school. My parents—they were afraid for me. They didn't take me seriously.

"You go to the—I don't know how to say it in English, where they kill the bulls for meat. Sometimes they have bulls there that are a little brave, and we jump to fight them. All the people there are happy with this. And I made my first appearance as a professional when I was 13."

And, at 45, the trumpets have called him back. Again, Arruza y Camino cannot resist.

Newman Protests 9.3 Loss to Southern U. Flash

to start in the finals in the ninth lane.

Ludvik Danek of Czechoslovakia isn't the world's biggest athlete, but he's close. He may not be the world's best, but who can challenge his record?

The genial 6-7 giant continued a fantastic streak Saturday, when he won the discus throw to remain unbeaten, untied and unscored upon during his American tour. And he's pitched the pie plate more than 200 feet in every victory.

* * * *

DANEK lost only one of 17 competitions last year and established a world record of 211-9½. Saturday he threw 205-7, a meet record.

Jay Silvester led a great field of also-rans, taking second at 202-7. Dave Weill was third at 191-0, John McGrath fourth at 187-0 and Rink Babka fifth at 183-9.

Danek commented (according to the interpreter) "Conditions in the ring were all right, but I did not feel very good. We could not sleep in our hotel because of the noise made by the men and women at the American Legion convention."

Danek prefers the quiet life of Belmont Shore, where the party-goers retire earlier in the morning.

Ralph Boston, another world record holder, maintained his vast superiority over the rest of the earth's kangaroos by capturing the long jump at 26-3½, 13½ inches short of his recort but 10 inches beyond runnerup Darrell Horn.

Don Shy of the 49er Track Club was the meet's hard-luck guy.

He won his high hurdles heat in 13.6, fastest of the night. In the finals the whippet from Mt. San Antonio College broke well, stayed with the leaders through early running, then lowered his sights. He lowered 'em right into the hurdles, and after pounding away like a policeman on a raid he pulled up at the eighth hurdle.

Shy's finish foul-up was so surprising that the officials gave him fifth place. They finally corrected their mental miscue.

Willie Daveport of the Army won in 13.6, fellow Olympian Blaine Lindgren was second in 13.7, Roger Morgan of Northeast Louisiana was a fast-closing third, also in 13.7.

The 440 contributed one of the outstanding achievements, and also one of the biggest surprises.

Theron Lewis of Southern U. won his qualifying heat in 45.8, fastest time in the world this year. Dave Achibald won the other heat in 46.6 as Olympic champion Mike Larrabee jogged in sixth and last in 48.1.

"I've got a pinched nerve in my back, that's all there is to it," moaned Larrabee. "I've had it about three weeks. They tell me rest is the only cure."

* * * *

THE MILE qualifying races were routine.

Peter Snell, Jim Ryun David Farley of the Marines and John Garrison were credited with 4:11.4 in the first heat of the "four to qualify" run, while Cary Weisiger (4:11.0), Josef Odlozil (4:11.2), Harry McCalla (4:11.2) and Jim Grelle (4:11.4) qualified in the other heat.

Competition continues at 4 p.m., today, with the mile the headliner and finale at 8 p.m.

It's Huarte's Show, 34-14

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte of Notre Dame turned the All America football game into a personal challenge in leading the East to a 34-14 victory over the favored West Saturday night before a record 25,503 crowd.

Huarte passed for two touchdowns, scored a third, masterminded a fourth and kicked four extra points to give the East its second straight triumph and third in the five-game series.

	East	West
First downs	21	10
Rushing yardage	180	39
Passing yardage	133	106
Passes	14-28	12-25
Passes intercepted by	0	2
Punts	2-37.5	5-34.2
Fumbles lost	1	1
Yards penalized	25	48

Huarte directed the East from a 14-7 halftime deficit to a pair of touchdowns in the third period and an insurance TD in the final quarter.

The only man close to Huarte, the $200,000 catch of the American Football League New York Jets, was North Carolina's 230-pound halfback, Ken Willard. Willard gained a game-record 133 yards in 18 carries for the East.

Willard won the most valuable player award for the game with 25 votes compared to seven for Huarte. The award is made by sportswriters and broadcasters covering the game.

Huarte opened the scoring with a 13-yard pass to Syracuse fullback Jim Nance in the first sequence after kickoff, slid three yards for a third-period touchdown that put the East on top for good and connected with Notre Dame battery mate Jack Snow on a nine-yard scoring effort in the fourth period.

Indiana fullback Tom Nowatzke scored on a one-yard burst late in the third period after Willard ran for 55 of the 68 yards in the game-tying drive.

Army quarterback Rollie Stichweh, operating at halfback, took a handoff from Navy quarterback Roger Staubach and went one yard for the final East touchdown 21 seconds before the end.

Nowatzke missed the conversion but the East had the most lopsided win in the history of the series.

The Westerners found themselves behind by seven points midway in the opening quarter after Huarte tossed to Nance and kicked the point. The Irish quarterback, who completed 10 of 23 for 82 yards carried the East 73 yards in 10 plays.

The West rebounded with two touchdowns within a six-minute stretch — the first on an interception and 15-yard TD romp by Washington's Rich Redman and the second at 2:33 into the second period after Tulsa end Garry Porterfield recovered a fumble.

Redman made a one-handed baseball stab of Huarte's underthrown pass, spun and loped into the end zone. Minnesota fullback Mike Reid kicked the first of two conversions.

Willard appeared to have the East rolling as he twisted 22 yards to midfield but was hit hard and the ball squirted to Porterfield at the West 47. Another Tulsa star, Jerry Rhome, moved the West 53 yards in 10 plays with Kansas all-America Gale Sayers busting the final yard early in the second quarter.

The West never got on the scoreboard in the second half.

East	7	0	14	13	—34
West	7	7	0	0	—14

East—Nance 13 pass from Huarte (Huarte kick).
West—Redman 15 intercepted (Reid kick).
West—Sayers 1 run (Reid kick).
East—Nowatzke 1 run (Huarte kick).
East—Huarte 3 run (Huarte kick).
East—Snow 9 pass from Huarte (Huarte kick).
East—Stichweh 1 run (kick failed).

Jazy Takes Slow 3,000, Faces Clarke Wednesday

Compiled from Wire Reports

Michel Jazy of France, who has set three individual world running records and helped with a world record in the 6,000-meter relay in the past three weeks, won a 3,000-meter race against mediocre opposition Saturday night.

Jazy was not pushed and did not push himself, finishing in 8:04.2.

JAZY

Last Wednesday night Jazy set a world record for the distance at 7:49.

In response to requests from the French Athletic Federation to save his strength, Jazy has cancelled a scheduled appearance tonight in Lourdes.

He will go to Helsinki Tuesday, and Wednesday night will face Ron Clarke of Australia in what is being heralded as an all-out attempt by both men to better Clarke's world record of 13:25.8 for 5,000 meters, Jazy holds the European record of 13:29.

* * * *

OLYMPIC silver medalist, Bill Crothers of Toronto, was a double winner in the Canadian track and field championships Saturday when he romped to victory in the 880 in a slow 1:54.4.

Friday night, Crothers captured the 440. Two other Canadians, Dave Steen, former University of Oregon weightman, and George Britten of Montreal were also double victors.

Steen took the shotput and discus with ordinary efforts and Britten was a victor in the long jump and triple jump.

New Zealand's John Davies beat Clarke, the touring record-breaker, in the 3,000 run in Finland's traditional midsummer track and field meet.

Davis was clocked in 7:56.4 to Clarke's 8:00.4. Both times were far off the world record 7:49 time of Jazy.

Veteran Phil Mulkey of Birmingham, Ala., won the U. S. track and field Federation's national decathlon championship despite 25-mile per hour winds and torrential rains that all but washed out the final events Saturday in Gainesville, Fla.

The 32-year-old athlete collected 7,008 points in two days. He made his best showing Saturday with a discus throw of 155-½.

University of Florida sophomore Harry Winkler, 20, finished second with 6,783 points and Jimmy Rutland of the University of Georgia was third with 6,648.

The javelin throw and 1,500 meters were held during a thunderstorm and spectators in the grandstand could not see runners on the track.

KILLINGSWORTH SIGNS BUC PACT

Jordan High pitcher Larry Killingsworth signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday and will report to the Pirates' Salem farm club in the Appalachian League.

The lanky righthander grabbed all-City honors after striking out 131 batters in 88⅓ innings and posting a 2.28 ERA in 1965, his senior year.

Find Corpse of Former NBA Player

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—The body of Phil Jordon, 31, former professional basketball player, was found in the Puget Sound Saturday.

The Pierce County coroner's office said Jordon, a resident of Tacoma, drowned June 7 after a raft he and three companions were riding broke up in the Puyallup River. All but Jordon made it to shore.

He played basketball for Whitworth College in Spokane and later joined the National Basketball Association after a stint with the Seattle Buchan Bakers AAU team.

He played for the New York Knickerbockers, Cincinnati Royals, St. Louis Hawks and Detroit Pistons of the NBA.

Cordts Sweeps Show at Ascot

Scratch Boat in Transpac Race to Hawaii Next Sunday is Serena of San Francisco

S.F. Has Scratch Boat in Transpac Race

Setting the pace for the 24th biennial Transpacific Yacht Race from Los Angeles to Honolulu next Sunday, July 4, will be San Francisco's colorful 83-foot schooner, Serena, named as scratch boat theoretically, the one that should finish first in the record fleet of 54 sailing yachts.

The Serena, sailing under auspices of the San Francisco Yacht Club, is owned by K. W. DeMeuse of Hayward, Calif. Acting as both skipper and navigator, DeMeuse has named southland yachtsman Dan Elliott as sailing master. Elliott was aboard Portland's pride, the 82-foot ketch Ticonderoga, as sailing master when the "Big Ti" won first-to-finish honors in the 1963 race.

As entries, together with handicap ratings and time allowances, divided into four classes of A-to-D competition, were announced, it was disclosed that 13 sea queens are among the Class A competitors, all first-to-finish hopefuls, marking it as the largest "big boat" entry in Transpacific history.

John P. Scripps' 89-foot ketch, Nuvia Del Mar, from San Diego, scratch boat in the 1963 crossing, received second highest rating, with a time allowance of 5 hours, 46 minutes, and 34 seconds.

Officials disclosed that among the smaller boats in Class D, the Japanese Chita II, 36-foot yawl, from Los Angeles' sister city, Nagoya, has been given the lowest handicap rating. Its time allowance will be the greatest at 4 days, 9 hours, 21 minutes, and 30 seconds.

Yacht finishing with the lowest corrected time, computed on a mathematical formula, will be overall winner, copping the coveted Governor of Hawaii's Trophy. This was given to the 40-foot sloop Islander in 1963, skippered by Tom Corkett of Balboa.

Held every two years, and starting traditionally on Independence Day, at noon, the Transpac is the longest, regularly scheduled ocean sailing race in the world.

Its course of 2,225 nautical miles starts off Los Angeles Harbor and finishes off Diamond Head, Hawaii.

Ongais Claims Top Drag Titles at Lions

By BRUCE YOUNG

Danny Ongais, the terror of Carlsbad Raceway, Saturday night added another win to his long victory string at Lions Drag Strip as he sped to top fuel eliminator honors before 6,080 fans.

Ongais piloted his Chrysler-blown rail past the Beaver Bros. Chevy in the final run. Ongais also took top time with a 201.34 mph and low elapsed time, 7.75.

George Bolthoff of Reseda took top gas prize with a strong 8.43-second, 188.66-mph run. He defeated Goob Tuller in the final eliminations.

Top competition eliminator went to Hawthorne's Roger Wolforb who turned in a fine 190.66 and 8.56.

ARRUZA

Return of Numero Uno

By RICH ROBERTS

When Carlos Arruza fixes you with those clear, dark eyes, you can almost feel the sword.

For this is Numero Uno, killer of bulls, the greatest matador in all Mexico . . not to mention Tijuana, too.

Don't laugh. The border bull ring, for matadors, is deadly serious.

"The first time I came to Tijuana was in about 1937," Arruza recalls in his hunt-and-peck English. "It was a very easy and a very comfortable ring for bullfighters because we came here—how you say?—to tease the people.

"But now the bull ring of Tijuana is one of the most important and difficult to work, because the American audience, they read so much, they go to Spain, they really know what they are seeing. It's impossible to tease them. We must come here to make the real thing."

"The real thing," to Arruza, allows for none of the flashy but phony capework, the cheap tricks to make it look good without taking any chances. No grandstanding. No playing to the tourists. Less bull—more fight.

THIS IS IMPORTANT to Arruza, who at 45 represents bullfighting as an art form perhaps better than any living man. "Living" man, because others, like his old friend and rival, Manolete, who died on the horns, as they say, might understand it even better.

"For all the bullfighters it is something like a religion," Arruza says. "Maybe I could explain it if I studied my English." He laughs at his bi-lingual shortcomings but is not embarrassed.

Pressed, he scoffs at the notion that the matador represents the forces of good while the bull symbolizes evil—the devil.

"Ha!" he bellows. "No, no, the bull is our best friend. He is an angel. Not a devil, an angel."

The fair-haired world might find the reasoning inconsistent, being unaccustomed to knocking off man's "best friend" with a sword between the shoulders.

"I don't think it's a cruel thing," Arruza frowns. "I think it's very worse to kill the bull cold without fighting to eat than a brave bull that don't feel any pain because he is fighting.

"I can tell you thousands of names of bulls that are in history, and you can't tell me the name of any bull that you eat, like beef, they die so poorly."

ARRUZA'S APPEARANCES at Tijuana last Sunday and next Sunday—the Fourth of July—mark his emergence from four years' absence as a serious matador. He has signed for 20 corridas in Mexico and Spain this season for total fees of some $120,000, making him one of the world's highest paid . . . well, athletes. But he insists it is more than money that brings him back.

"Nooooooo!" he retorts. "If you make something for money you are lose—completely. But inactivity—that's the worse thing that can happen to a man . . . nothing to do."

Arruza returns on his own terms—rejoneo. Bullfighting on horseback.

"I retired on foot in 1953. I don't feel it's good to come back on foot, because in that retirement . . . it's the Three Musketeers and 20 years later. Now coming up: young people. It's different."

Arruza, astride one of several white Arabian chargers in his stable, places the banderillas and runs the bull from horseback, then dismounts for the faena, the final phase leading to the kill.

"It may be more difficult than on foot because you have to control the brains of the horse and yours together," he says. "And, well, it's not safer because if you have a gore on foot you are out maybe 20 days in the hospital, while if you have a fall off a horse you can have a fracture that will put you out six or seven months.

"But I never think of that. It's better don't think of that!"

IT FOLLOWS that horse and rider must be in tune to avoid disaster.

"The horses, they think and act like a bullfighter," Arruza says. "They are afraid before the corrida. In the moment when you put this (decoration) in their hair, they know they are going to fight that day. They are tense and nervous."

Arruza has been tense and nervous practically all his life. His father, a well-to-do Mexico City tailor, took him to his first bullfight at 11. To little Carlos Ruiz Camino, the call of the trumpets was irresistible.

"It was all so beautiful," Carlos gestures with undying ecstasy. "I want to be a bullfighter and run away from my house. I don't want to go to school. My parents—they were afraid for me. They didn't take me seriously.

"You go to the—I don't know how to say it in English, where they kill the bulls for meat. Sometimes they have bulls there that are a little brave, and we jump to fight them. All the people there are happy with this. And I made my first appearance as a professional when I was 13."

And, at 45, the trumpets have called him back. Again, Arruza y Camino cannot resist.

to start in the finals in the ninth lane.

Ludvik Danek of Czechoslovakia isn't the world's biggest athlete, but he's close. He may not be the world's best, but who can challenge his record?

The genial 6-7 giant continued a fantastic streak Saturday, when he won the discus throw to remain unbeaten, untied and unscored upon during his American tour. And he's pitched the pie plate more than 200 feet in every victory.

DANEK lost only one of 17 competitions last year and established a world record of 211-9½. Saturday he threw 205-7, a meet record.

Jay Silvester led a great field of also-rans, taking second at 202-7. Dave Weill was third at 191-0, John McGrath fourth at 187-0 and Rink Babka fifth at 183-9.

Danek commented (according to the interpreter) "Conditions in the ring were all right, but I did not feel very good. We could not sleep in our hotel because of the noise made by the men and women at the American Legion convention."

Danek prefers the quiet life of Belmont Shore, where the party-goers retire earlier in the morning.

Ralph Boston, another world record holder, maintained his vast superiority over the rest of the earth's kangaroos by capturing the long jump at 26-3½, 13½ inches short of his recort but 10 inches beyond runnerup Darrell Horn.

Don Shy of the 49er Track Club was the meet's hard-luck guy.

He won his high hurdles heat in 13.6, fastest of the night. In the finals the whippet from Mt. San Antonio College broke well, stayed with the leaders through early running, then lowered his sights. He lowered 'em right into the hurdles, and after pounding away like a policeman on a raid he pulled up at the eighth hurdle.

Shy's finish foul-up was so surprising that the officials gave him fifth place. They finally corrected their mental miscue.

Willie Daveport of the Army won in 13.6, fellow Olympian Blaine Lindgren was second in 13.7, Roger Morgan of Northeast Louisiana was a fast-closing third, also in 13.7.

The 440 contributed one of the outstanding achievements, and also one of the biggest surprises.

Theron Lewis of Southern U. won his qualifying heat in 45.8, fastest time in the world this year. Dave Achibald won the other heat in 46.6 as Olympic champion Mike Larrabee jogged in sixth and last in 48.1.

"I've got a pinched nerve in my back, that's all there is to it," moaned Larrabee. "I've had it about three weeks. They tell me rest is the only cure."

THE MILE qualifying races were routine.

Peter Snell, Jim Ryun, David Farley of the Marines and John Garrison were credited with 4:11.4 in the first heat of the "four to qualify" run, while Cary Weisiger (4:11.0), Josef Odlozil (4:11.2), Harry McCalla (4:11.2) and Jim Grelle (4:11.4) qualified in the other heat.

Competition continues at 4 p.m., today, with the mile the headliner and finale at 8 p.m.

PASSES, RUNS AND . . .

It's Huarte's Show, 34-14

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte of Notre Dame turned the All America football game into a personal challenge in leading the East to a 34-14 victory over the favored West Saturday night before a record 25,503 crowd.

Huarte passed for two touchdowns, scored a third, masterminded a fourth and kicked four extra points to give the East its second straight triumph and third in the five-game series.

	East	West
First downs	21	15
Rushing yardage	150	97
Passing yardage	179	186
Passes	14-28	12-25
Passes intercepted by	0	1
Punts	2-37.5	5-34.2
Fumbles lost	1	2
Yards penalized	75	55

Huarte directed the East from a 14-7 halftime deficit to a pair of touchdowns in the third period and an insurance TD in the final quarter.

The only man close to Huarte, the $200,000 catch of the American Football League New York Jets, was North Carolina's 230-pound halfback, Ken Willard. Willard gained a game-record 133 yards in 18 carries for the East.

Willard won the most valuable player award for the game with 25 votes compared to seven for Huarte. The award is made by sportswriters and broadcasters covering the game.

Huarte opened the scoring with a 13-yard pass to Syracuse fullback Jim Nance in the first sequence after kickoff, slid three yards for a third-period touchdown that put the East on top for good and connected with Notre Dame battery mate Jack Snow on a nine-yard scoring effort in the fourth period.

Indiana fullback Tom Nowatzke scored on a one-yard burst late in the third period after Willard ran for 55 of the 68 yards in the game-tying drive.

Army quarterback Rollie Stichweh, operating at halfback, took a handoff from Navy quarterback Roger Staubach and went one yard for the final East touchdown 24 seconds before the end.

Nowatzke missed the conversion but the East had the most lopsided win in the history of the series.

The Westerners found themselves behind by seven points midway in the opening quarter after Huarte tossed to Nance and kicked the point. The Irish quarterback, who completed 10 of 23 for 82 yards carried the East 73 yards in 10 plays.

The West rebounded with two touchdowns within a six-minute stretch — the first on an interception and 15-yard TD romp by Washington's Rich Redman and the second at 2:33 into the second period after Tulsa end Garry Porterfield recovered a fumble.

Redman made a one-handed baseball stab of Huarte's underthrown pass, spun and loped into the end zone. Minnesota fullback Mike Reid kicked the first of two conversions.

Willard appeared to have the East rolling as he rushed 22 yards to midfield but was hit hard and the ball squirted to Porterfield at the West 47. Another Tulsa star, Jerry Rhome, moved the West 53 yards in 10 plays with Kansas all-America Gale Sayers busting the final yard early in the second quarter.

The West never got on the scoreboard in the second half.

East	7	0	14	13—34
West	7	7	0	0—14

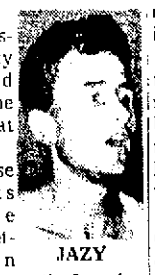

East—Nance 13 pass from Huarte (Huarte kick)
West—Redman 15 intercepted (Reid kick)
West—Sayers 1 run (Reid kick)
East—Nowatzke 1 run (Huarte kick)

Jazy Takes Slow 3,000, Faces Clarke Wednesday

Compiled from Wire Reports

Michel Jazy of France, who has set three individual world running records and helped with a world record in the 6,000-meter relay in the past three weeks, won a 3,000 meter race against mediocre opposition Saturday night.

Jazy was not pushed and did not push himself, finishing in 8:04.2.

JAZY

Last Wednesday night Jazy set a world record for the distance at 7:49.

In response to requests from the French Athletic Federation to save his strength, Jazy has cancelled a scheduled appearance tonight in Lourdes.

He will go to Helsinki Tuesday, and Wednesday night will face Ron Clarke of Australia in what is being heralded as an all-out attempt by both men to better Clarke's world record of 13:25.8 for 5,000 meters. Jazy holds the European record of 13:29.

OLYMPIC silver medalist Bill Crothers of Toronto, was a double winner in the Canadian track and field championships Saturday when he romped to victory in the 880 in a slow 1:54.4.

Friday night, Crothers captured the 440. Two other Canadians, Dave Steen, former University of Oregon weightman, and George Britten of Montreal were also double victors.

Steen took the shotput and discus with ordinary efforts and Britten was a victor in the long jump and triple jump.

New Zealand's John Davies beat Clarke, the touring record-breaker, in the 3,000 run in Finland's traditional mid-summer track and field meet.

Davis was clocked in 7:56.4 to Clarke's 8:00.4. Both times were far off the world record 7:49 time of Jazy.

Veteran Phil Mulkey of Birmingham, Ala., won the U. S. track and field Federation's national decathlon championship despite 25-mile per hour winds and torrential rains that all but washed out the final events Saturday in Gainesville, Fla.

The 32-year-old athlete collected 7,008 points in two days. He made his best showing Saturday with a discus throw of 155-½.

University of Florida sophomore Harry Winkler, 20, finished second with 6,783 points and Jimmy Rutland of the University of Georgia was third with 6,648.

The javelin throw and 1,500 meters were held during a thunderstorm and spectators in the grandstand could not see runners on the track.

KILLINGSWORTH SIGNS BUC PACT

Jordan High pitcher Larry Killingsworth signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday and will report to the Pirates' Salem farm club in the Appalachian League.

The lanky righthander grabbed all-City honors after striking out 131 batters in 88⅓ innings and posting a 2.28 ERA in 1965, his senior year.

Find Corpse of Former NBA Player

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — The body of Phil Jordon, 31, former professional basketball player, was found in the Puget Sound Saturday.

The Pierce County coroner's office said Jordon, a resident of Tacoma, drowned June 7 after a raft he and three companions were riding broke up in the Puyallup River. All but Jordon made it to shore.

He played basketball for Whitworth College in Spokane and later joined the National Basketball Association after a stint with the Seattle Buchan Bakers AAU team.

He played for the New York Knickerbockers, Cincinnati Royals, St. Louis Hawks and Detroit Pistons of the NBA.

Cordts Sweeps Show at Ascot

San Gabriel's Pete Cordts, driving a Falcon Sprint, the only American car entered, finished second in the trophy dash, won both heat events and the main at Ascot Park Saturday night to dominate the Formula-Sedan action before 4,838 fans.

FORMULAS

Scratch Boat in Transpac Race to Hawaii Next Sunday is Serena of San Francisco

S.F. Has Scratch Boat in Transpac Race

Setting the pace for the 24th biennial Transpacific Yacht Race from Los Angeles to Honolulu next Sunday, July 4, will be San Francisco's colorful 83-foot schooner, Serena, named as scratch boat theoretically, the one that should finish first in the record fleet of 54 sailing yachts.

The Serena, sailing under auspices of the San Francisco Yacht Club, is owned by K. W. DeMeuse of Hayward, Calif. Acting as both skipper and navigator, DeMeuse has named southland yachtsman Dan Elliott as sailing master. Elliott was aboard Portland's pride, the 82-foot ketch Ticonderoga, as sailing master when the "Big Ti" won first-to-finish honors in the 1963 race.

As entries, together with handicap ratings and time allowances, divided into four classes of A-to-D competition, were announced, it was disclosed that 13 sea queens are among the Class A competitors, all first to finish hopefuls, marking it as the largest "big boat" entry in Transpacific history.

John P. Scripps' 89-foot ketch, Novia Del Mar, from San Diego, scratch boat in the 1963 crossing, received second highest rating, with a time allowance of 5 hours, 46 minutes, and 34 seconds.

Officials disclosed that among the smaller boats in Class D, the Japanese Chita II, 36-foot yawl, from Los Angeles' sister city, Nagoya, has been given the lowest handicap rating. Its time allowance will be the greatest at 4 days, 9 hours, 21 minutes, and 30 seconds.

Yacht finishing with the lowest corrected time, computed on a mathematical formula, will be overall winner, copping the coveted Governor of Hawaii's Trophy. This was given to the 40-foot sloop Islander in 1963, skippered by Tom Corkett of Balboa.

Held every two years, and starting traditionally on Independence Day, at noon, the Transpac is the longest, regularly scheduled ocean sailing race in the world.

Its course of 2,225 nautical miles starts off Los Angeles Harbor and finishes off Diamond Head, Hawaii.

Greatest Thoroughbreds Recalled

Men who have followed horse racing as a profession down through the years naturally have seen thousands upon thousands of thoroughbreds come and go.

Only a few are remembered . . . and generally they are the truly great ones.

Invariably, one or possibly two horses will stand out above all others in the memories of these men.

EARL SANDE
Votes for Man O'War

It could be for various reasons . . . their greatness, their courage and honest efforts, their personalities or because they played an important role in that man's career.

And it could be one of racing's immortal champions . . . or it could be a cheap plater.

Thus, the question of the day put to many racing personalities during a visit to Hollywood Park the past week was, "What was the most unforgettable horse you have ever seen?"

Earle Sande, one of the all-time great jockeys who is currently visiting the Southland, was the first to be asked.

Sande, who won the Kentucky Derby three times with Zev, Flying Ebony and Gallant Fox, the latter going on to win the Triple Crown, surprisingly didn't pick any of these champions.

He chose the immortal Man O' War:

"He was big and strong and loved to race," Earl recalled. "And he knew he was good and let everybody know it. Even when Upset dealt him his only loss, he was glorious in defeat. He's one a man could never forget."

IT'S QUITE A CONTRAST from Man O' War to the steed that starter Sid Swanson singles out as his most unforgettable. Sid, who has sent most of the great ones winging on their way from the starting gate, says, "Mine was a horse called Tippetywitchit. He was something special. He was still winning races at the age of 14."

R. E. (Danny) Leighninger, one of my favorite people in racing, chooses Phar Lap, the legendary Australian champ.

Lanny, a placing judge at Hollypark and also the "Voice of the Railbirds," says, "Phar Lap stands out in my memory. This was truly a wonder horse. I haven't seen the likes of him before or since. The one time he ran on the American continent—in the 1932 Coffroth Handicap—he came from last place to pass every horse in the field within an eighth of a mile. And something most people forget is that he humiliated some outstanding horses that day.

"What's more, he never trained for the race. The way he got fit was walking up and down the hills around Tijuana."

HERMAN SHARPE, also a placing judge, selects another horse most people have never heard of before . . . McGonigle. "He's one I can't forget," he declared. "They used to call him 'Old Brown Eyes.' You had to blindfold him to get him into the gate, but once he got out of it he could really run. Another one that stands out is Chase Me. His owner used him as a saddle horse to ride around the park in his early years and he didn't get to the races until he was six. The only race he ever lost was his last one. And he was way out in front in that race in New York when he broke a leg and had to be destroyed."

Buddy Hirsch, one of the top trainers in the game, singles out the great Exterminator. "I saw him race as a boy," he recalls, "and he was all iron. 'Old Bones' they used to call him and with good reason. He wasn't much to look at. You could always see his ribs because he didn't carry much flesh. But how he could ramble. And at any distance, too."

Jack Meyers, another Hollypark judge, selects a French-bred horse named Abadane, who won a five-eighths sprint one day and came back the next to win at a mile and a quarter.

TRAINER VIC FULTON chose Runstar. "A. B. Spreckels owned both him and Morvich when they were 2-year-olds and decided to sell one. The one he sold was Morvich, who went on to win the 1922 Kentucky Derby. Meanwhile, after winning his first out, Runstar hurt himself and was out for over a year and a half. He came back though in 1923 and won the Coffroth Handicap and a horse had to be a great one to win that race. He was the kind of a horse that took personal charge when he went on the race track. You knew who was the best by his actions. I remember a time when he did get beat, he did everything he could to keep the horse from passing him. He even tried to savage (bite) him."

For Frank Radigan, assistant to Quadrangle's trainer, Elliott Burch, stays with a mare as his most unforgettable. "Bowl of Flowers," he said. "From the first day she came to the race track she did everything right. A remarkable mare . . . class all the way."

Jockey Jackie Leonard tabs Right Proud. "He was a big, strapping colt who could really run. Besides that he was the most curious and playful cuss I've ever been around. Whenever I galloped him in the morning, we'd have to stop a dozen times because he had to gawk at everything that caught his attention," Jack explained.

JOHNNY ADAMS, Hall of Fame jockey and now a successful trainer, lists some for both ends of his career. "When I was still riding, Queen Hopeful was a favorite of mine . . . a little filly who tried awfully hard. Then there was that old rascal Malicious and, well, you had to like him. Since I've been training, I've developed soft spots for New Policy and Drill Site. You knew when they stepped onto the track they'd give you their best every time. And that's a nice feeling for a trainer to have."

George Zarelli, another Hollypark judge, picked a little-known horse named Augeas, who one day at the old Tijuana track spilled his jockey in the post parade and ran off through the stable area.

He was recaptured about 10 minutes later, loaded into the starting gate by force . . . then went on to win the race and pay a whopping $800.

"Who could ever forget a horse like that?" said George.

NHL Expansion Slow But Sure

By RICH ROBERTS

Fools rush in, to be sure, but this is ridiculous.

The National Hockey League's deliberate plodding toward expansion is driving fans crazy all over North America.

The Blades' days as a minor league franchise are numbered to two more campaigns — three at the most. That much was assured two days ago when NHL president Clarence Campbell announced that Los Angeles and St. Louis, with their large, modern arenas, "qualify right away."

But are the other eight cities applying for NHL franchises to infer from Campbell's surprise statement that they do not qualify?

"I would say that implication is correct," says Jack Geyer, executive director of the Blades. "However, it doesn't mean they won't by the time expansion takes place with the new division in two or three years."

Geyer feels that Vancouver, B. C., "is a cinch" to go ahead with its proposed ice plant if it has reasonable assurance of acquiring an NHL franchise, which should be forthcoming when the NHL distributes the six memberships for its new division, probably in October.

And although San Francisco's Cow Palace apparently is lacking in both of the NHL's minimum requirements—seating for 12,500 and a rink size of 85x200, a new arena planned for Oakland should qualify either Mel Swig's Seals or Bing Crosby's new group for a key to the exclusive club.

Since the NHL's whole incentive for expansion is the prospect of coast-to-coast TV returns, it sorely desires a strong Pacific Coast network of at least these three outlets—L. A., the Bay area and Vancouver.

Along with St. Louis, educated guesses have Pittsburgh and Baltimore completing the new division.

But Campbell and the NHL are not to be rushed. They intend to be sure of their footing every step of the way. Even when expansion does transpire, the new clubs will play a limited number of games against the existing teams — 24 in all or about one-third of a 74-game schedule.

"We waited to expand until we were sure of the formula," Campbell says. "We are confident we have it now."

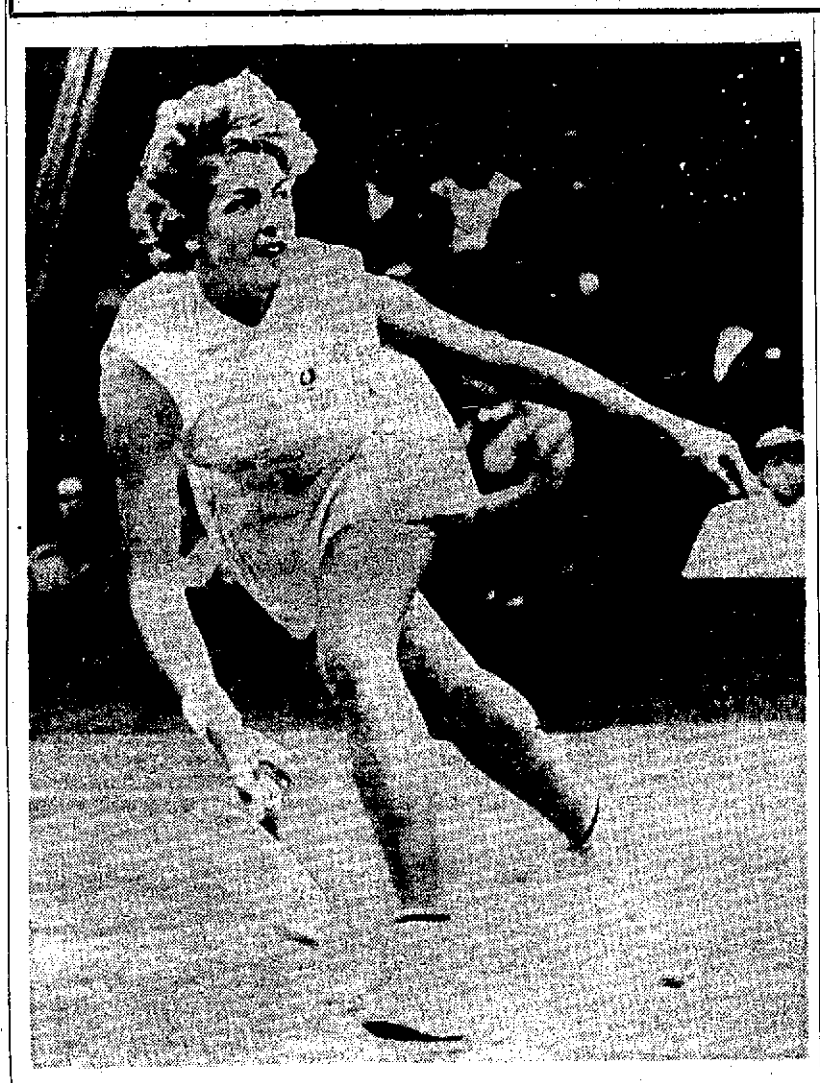

As the new teams, then, gradually strengthen themselves, with the aid of a draft program, interplay between the divisions will increase until perhaps developing into a realignment into East and West divisions.

Geyer, for one, finds no objection to this temporary "second-class citizenship."

He agrees with Campbell's view that the six new teams should begin competing as soon as possible, but not before they can hold their own in big league company.

Nor should the present level of NHL competition be seriously affected—hence, the limited interplay of 24 games.

So now it's for sure that big league hockey is coming to the Southland. We just have to be patient about it.

New Rams Asst. Sees Better Days Ahead

By AL LARSON

Accustomed to the finer things in life, like lofty positions in football standings, Bill Austin comes to the Rams steeped in a winning tradition.

The 37-year-old offensive line coach brings nine-years of coaching experience and seven seasons as a National Football League player to his new Rams post.

"This is my 24th year in football and I've only been associated with one loser (the 1953 Giants who posted a 3-9 record)." Austin quickly emphasized, "And I never plan to be associated with another."

Austin launched his pro coaching career under Vince Lombardi when he assumed the head job at Green Bay in 1959. Bill helped develop the Packer forwards into pro football's finest offensive line. Austin then resigned his Packer job after last season.

"I think I'll have a bigger and stronger offensive line here than I had at Green Bay. This is one of the strong points of the Rams along with their defense. It's a young group and I'm real enthused. Joe Scibelli is only 26, Ken Iman's 26, Charlie Cowan's 27, Joe Carollo's 25 and Don Chuy's 24."

Austin pointed out the first matter of business when the Rams open training camp July 25 at Orange will be to "improve the blocking for our passers."

BILL AUSTIN
Doesn't Like Losing

"After going over the films and game reports, I found that Ram quarterbacks got caught 65 times in 14 games. That's far too many. No quarterback can pass while sitting on the ground.

"I'm always optimistic, never pessimistic. I won't go out on a limb and say we'll win the championship, but I will say that we'll have an improved record."

Note: the Rams finished fifth with a 5-7-2 record in 1964.

"I always shoot for first place, never second or third. Although the Packers wound up in the NFL's Runnerup Bowl game in Miami last season, I'm not anxious to go back. I'd rather be fighting for the title.

"Yes, everyone asks me about Paul Hornung and whether I think the Packers and Paul will bounce back this year.

"I look for Paul to have a fine year and I think, as always, Green Bay will have a good football team. Vince Lombardi won't stand for anything else. You can be certain the Packers will be well-coached. He's a task master and perfectionist.

"I'm sure the trade bringing linebacker Dan Currie here will be a boon to the Rams' defense. Dan's a holler-type guy who hates to lose. He's also been associated with a winning tradition while playing with Green Bay.

Austin was added to the Rams' staff last January following the resignation of Ray Wietecha, who later filled Bill's vacancy with Green Bay.

Bill highlighted his 4-year varsity career (1945-48) at Oregon State with all-Coast honors his senior year. Bill was line coach at Wichita in 1958 and prior to that (1953-57) he was a regular guard with the New York Giants. He was head coach at the Presidio of San Francisco (1951) and at Camp Drake, Tokyo, (1952) during his 2-year Army stint. Bill's rookie NFL playing season was 1949.

One thing you can bet, Bill never will subscribe to the maxim: It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game. With Bill it's win and stay alive in '65.

YANKS PROMINENT

Ralston, Moffitt Remain in Running

WIMBLEDON (UPI)—Two of America's brightest hopes—Dennis Ralston (men's singles) and Billie Jean Moffitt (women's singles) advanced Saturday in fourth and third-round play respectively in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Ralston breezed past Brazilian Thomas Koch, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 to reach the quarterfinals and Miss Moffitt reached the fourth round in her division with a 7-5, 12-10 victory over Jill Blackman of Australia.

MOFFITT

Ralston, the Bakersfield, Calif., player joined Marty Riessen and Allen Fox as the U.S. survivors in men's singles while Justina Bricka and Jane Albert were among American women to join Miss Moffitt in the advance.

The men, therefore, have one more survivor than the Aussies who have dominated this tourney in recent years. Roy Emerson, however, is still highly favored.

* * * *

NANCY Richey, top-ranked in the United States and seeded fourth, pasted Rosemary Deloford of Britain, 6-1, 6-0, to enter the last 16. Miss Bricka of St. Louis had a tougher time reaching that plateau, outlasting Monique Salfati of France, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

Julie Heldman of New York had little trouble beating Jill Lloyd of Britain 6-2, 6-2, while Miss Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., advanced with a 6-4, 6-3 sweep of Helga Schultze of Germany.

Emerson, seeded first and favored to retain his title, won a grudge match from his former Aussie doubles partner, Ken Fletcher, 10-8, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9. Fletcher resents Emerson's return to the auspices of the Australian LTAA after the doubles partner had agreed to defy the association with an overseas tour.

Fred Stolle, the only other Aussie in the quarterfinals and the second seed, disposed of countryman Bob Hewitt, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Unseeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa upset sixth-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, 9-7, 6-4, 11-13, 11-9.

The quarterfinal pairings pit Emerson against Diepraam, Ralston against Riessen, Drysdale against Fox, and Osuna against Stolle. Emerson and Ralston would meet in the semifinal if they win their next matches.

TOP ONES IN BEST FORM

Margaret Smith (top) and Maria Bueno display forehand and backhand strokes which lends credence to their being No. 2 and 1 seeds, respectively, in Wimbledon tennis championships. Each has advanced to halfway mark.

49er Sailor Wins U.S. Title

DETROIT—Henry Schofield of Long Beach State College was named the top intercollegiate sailor following the final series of races in the North American Dinghy championships Saturday over St. Clair Lake.

The 49er sailing team finished third in final point standings with 347. Rhode Island captured the title with 387½ points. San Diego State finished second with 357½.

* * * *

TULANE 342, U. S. Merchant Marine 340, British Columbia 320, Cornell 290, U. Washington 284, Wayne State 268, U. S. Coast Guard Academy 268 and Kent State 166, trailed.

Bill Boyd, another 49er skipper, continues on to Sweden where he'll compete in a series of summer Dragon class races.

'Tidal Wave' for Swim Meet

A tidal wave of great performances are predicted for the seventh Los Angeles Invitational Swimming and Diving meet July 9-10-11 as the nation's top aquatic stars announced their intention to compete.

Olympic gold medal winner Sharon Stouder of City of Commerce is the latest to file an entry for the L.A. Swim Stadium extravaganza that is a prelude to the national championships.

Among others who will compete are Patty Caretto, Jeanne Hallock, Sandra Nitta, Morgan Manning, Marilyn Ramenofsky and divers Patsy Willard, Sue Gossick and Larry Andreasen.

'New Look' at Ascot Today as Jalopies Grind

The action-packed jalopy stock cars will have a "new look" today when they roar around the tough Ascot Park dirt track in a big California Auto Racing Inc. program.

The "new look" is a new and even trickier ⅝-mile course with eight turns, both right and left handed. Time trials begin today at noon with the first race, the trophy dash, starting at 2.

Gardena's Nick Thomas, who just one month ago was nearly unbeatable in Ascot Park's rugged Figure-8 stock cars, will try to regain this winning form tonight at 8 as the ARA stockers stage an eight-race program.

Bill highlighted his 4-year varsity career (1945-48) at Oregon State with all-Coast honors his senior year. Bill was line coach at Wichita in 1958 and prior to that (1953-57) he was a regular guard with the New York Giants. He was head coach at the Presidio of San Francisco (1951) and at Camp Drake, Tokyo, (1952) during his 2-year Army stint. Bill's rookie NFL playing season was 1949.

One thing you can bet, Bill never will subscribe to the maxim: It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game. With Bill it's win and stay alive in '65.

YANKS PROMINENT

Ralston, Moffitt Remain in Running

WIMBLEDON (UPI)—Two of America's brightest hopes—Dennis Ralston (men's singles) and Billie Jean Moffitt (women's singles) advanced Saturday in fourth and third-round play respectively in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Ralston breezed past Brazilian Thomas Koch, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1 to reach the quarterfinals and Miss Moffitt reached the fourth round in her division with a 7-5, 12-10 victory over Jill Blackman of Australia.

MOFFITT

Ralston, the Bakersfield, Calif., player joined Marty Riessen and Allen Fox as the U.S. survivors in men's singles while Justina Bricka and Jane Albert were among American women to join Miss Moffitt in the advance.

The men, therefore, have one more survivor than the Aussies who have dominated this tourney in recent years. Roy Emerson, however, is still highly favored.

* * * *

NANCY Richey, top-ranked in the United States and seeded fourth, pasted Rosemary Deloford of Britain, 6-1, 6-0, to enter the last 16. Miss Bricka of St. Louis had a tougher time reaching that plateau, outlasting Monique Salfati of France, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

Julie Heldman of New York had little trouble beating Jill Lloyd of Britain 6-2, 6-2, while Miss Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., advanced with a 6-4, 6-3 sweep of Helga Schultze of Germany.

Emerson, seeded first and favored to retain his title, won a grudge match from his former Aussie doubles partner, Ken Fletcher, 10-8, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9. Fletcher resents Emerson's return to the auspices of the Australian LTAA after the doubles partner had agreed to defy the association with an overseas tour.

Fred Stolle, the only other Aussie in the quarterfinals and the second seed, disposed of countryman Bob Hewitt, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Unseeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa upset sixth-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, 9-7, 6-4, 11-13, 11-9.

The quarterfinal pairings pit Emerson against Diepraam, Ralston against Riessen, Drysdale against Fox, and Osuna against Stolle. Emerson and Ralston would meet in the semifinal if they win their next matches.

TOP ONES IN BEST FORM

Margaret Smith (top) and Maria Bueno display forehand and backhand strokes which lends credence to their being No. 2 and 1 seeds, respectively, in Wimbledon tennis championships. Each has advanced to halfway mark.

'Tidal Wave' for Swim Meet

A tidal wave of great performances are predicted for the seventh Los Angeles Invitational Swimming and Diving meet July 9-10-11 as the nation's top aquatic stars announced their intention to compete.

Olympic gold medal winner Sharon Stouder of City of Commerce is the latest to file an entry for the L.A. Swim Stadium extravaganza that is a prelude to the national championships.

Among others who will compete are Patty Caretto, Jeanne Hallock, Sandra Nitta, Morgan Manning, Marilyn Ramenofsky and divers Patsy Willard, Sue Gossick and Larry Andreasen.

49er Sailor Wins U.S. Title

DETROIT—Henry Schofield of Long Beach State College was named the top intercollegiate sailor following the final series of races in the North American Dinghy championships Saturday over St. Clair Lake.

The 49er sailing team finished third in final point standings with 347. Rhode Island captured the title with 387½ points. San Diego State finished second with 357½.

TULANE 342, U. S. Merchant Marine 340, British Columbia 320, Cornell 290, U. Washington 284, Wayne State 268, U. S. Coast Guard Academy 268 and Kent State 166, trailed.

Bill Boyd, another 49er skipper, continues on to Sweden where he'll compete in a series of summer Dragon class races.

'New Look' at Ascot Today as Jalopies Grind

The action-packed jalopy stock cars will have a "new look" today when they roar around the tough Ascot Park dirt track in a big California Auto Racing Inc. program.

The "new look" is a new and even trickier ⅝-mile course with eight turns, both right and left handed. Time trials begin today at noon with the first race, the trophy dash, starting at 2.

Gardena's Nick Thomas, who just one month ago was nearly unbeatable in Ascot Park's rugged Figure-8 stock cars, will try to regain this winning form tonight at 8 as the ARA stockers stage an eight-race program.

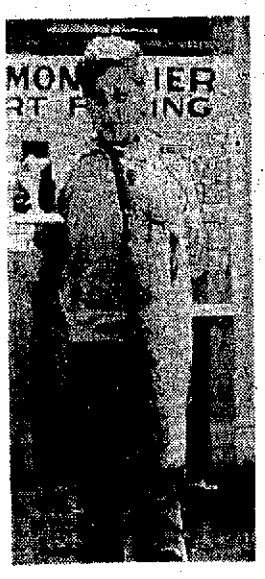

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Nine-Year-Old King For a Day

Steven Blaunt, 9 years old, showed the fishermen on the barge Islander (off Belmont Pier) how fishing is done last Monday when he caught a white sea bass that weighed nine pounds. It took a bit of skill to put the bass on deck, but Steven stayed with it. As far as the other fishermen were concerned, they said that Steven certainly was king for the day.

Bargemaster Fred Austin awarded Steven a trophy just as soon as he got it on deck. Steven lives at 11302 Crossdale St., Norwalk.

Barge fishing has been picking up rapidly, and there have been good catches of bonito, bass and barracuda and halibut. Taxis run hourly, on the hour, from Belmont Pier.

Seal Beach Pier's new barge, the Alaskan, went into operation this weekend about two miles off the pier. The specially designed craft is low in the water, with only about five feet of freeboard.

It is a square ender, affording more fishing space. It can accommodate 160 fishermen at one time. The Alaskan will be operated by bargemaster Ray Walker, and he says that an excellent galley will be maintained. Water taxis will operate from Seal Beach hourly, on the half-hour.

Along with a pickup in barge fishing, there has been an improvement in fishing at all the piers.

DAVEY'S LOCKER, NEWPORT BEACH, starts its annual yellowtail-albacore derby July 1 and goes through Oct. 15. The angler catching the largest of either species gets a two-day vacation for two persons at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas with all expenses paid. There will be other prizes, too.

Boats from Davey's Locker have been scoring heavily on large kelp bass downcoast at Three Arch Bay, Dana Point, Box Canyon and San Onofre, with the fish going to six pounds.

There's a run of yellowfin croakers in Newport Bay, and some anglers are getting spotfin croakers. Skiff fishermen out of Balboa Pavilion have been taking bonito, bass and an occasional barracuda out toward the harbor entrance.

Four passengers showed up Tuesday night at 8 o'clock for the Fisherman's (Pacific Landing) run to Catalina Island for night and early-morning fishing. They were well rewarded. They got into a school of baby black sea bass and caught five that averaged about 30 pounds each. Also, they caught 24 halibut that ranged from 20 to 30 pounds.

No further word has come from the boats looking for the advance guard of the albacore run. The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' chartered boat, Native Sun, landed two longfins last Sunday about 240 miles southwest of Long Beach. Biologists are predicting albacore will come within range of our sportfishing boats sometime in the first half of July.

THE ANNUAL SUMMER RUN of chinook and sockeye salmon has started up the Columbia River and the Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington Department of Fisheries have ordered a closed season for the next two weeks. Both commercials and sport fishermen agreed to the closure.

Also, the Yakima Indian Tribe was asked not to fish above Bonneville Dam. The Indians rejected that proposal, but said that they would restrict their fishing with gill nets to three days per week.

The strange situation developed when biologists appeared before the state commissions and told them frankly that the summer run of chinooks would total not more than 80,000 to 90,000, and that the run of sockeyes would be about the same.

Dams and pollution have ruined many upstream spawning beds and until those can be replaced, biologists want to get at least 80,000 of each species upstream to lay their eggs.

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission ordered an emergency closure of all streams containing chinooks after John R. Woolworth, state fish and game director, told the commissioners that only 12,000 chinooks were counted at the confluence of the Snake and Columbia Rivers. Some streams may be opened late in July.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Anglers have been hooking some big trout on the Kern River, particularly in the Miracle Hot Springs area. Surprisingly, the best bait is listed as cheese. Fish have ranged up to 7¼ pounds. But a real giant rainbow came out of Isabella Lake. Gus Clemens, Sun City, took one that weighed 9 pounds, 3 ounces. He was using worms and fishing from shore at Paradise Cove.

Walt Eschmann, Long Beach, L. H. Robinson, Costa Mesa, and Clifton M. Bell, Whittier, fished together at Rancho Buena Vista, Baja California, and each caught three marlin ranging up to 154 pounds. Eschmann caught four sailfish ranging up to an estimated 154 pounds; Robinson, four sailfish, ranging to 104 pounds, and Bell, three, with a high of 88.

Most of their fish were tagged and released and their weights estimated. In addition, the party caught 15 roosterfish, 5 bonito, 6 dolphin, 3 red snappers, 3 cabrilla and 4 pompano.

Bueno Heune, who owns Ken's Sporting Goods at Bridgeport, writes that fishermen are taking lunkers out of Bridgeport Lake every day, with trollers getting brown trout ranging from 4 to 7¾ pounds.

He also says that the East Walker River, Robinson Creek and Buckeye Creek are outstanding among the streams. The Little Walker and West Walker are roaring torrents and are practically unfishable.

Floyd Takes St. Paul Lead

Fires Torrid 65 as Aaron, Arnie Stay Within Sight

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Young Raymond Floyd overcame gale winds and intermittent heavy showers Saturday to fire a five-under-par 65 and take the 54-hole lead in the $100,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament with a 12-under-par 201.

Tommy Aaron, second round leader, came in with a 69 to trail Floyd by one stroke.

Floyd, who won the St. Petersburg Open in 1963 at the age of 20 to become the youngest professional tournament winner in 35 years, had four birdies and a bogey on the front side for a 33 and had an eagle and a birdie on the back for a 32.

Gene Littler and Bruce Devlin were three strokes back at 204 and Arnold Palmer was at 205.

Floyd, 22, started off the round with three birdies, including one on a 45-foot putt on the first hole. His chip shots were extremely accurate and a good share of his putts were fairly short ones.

He eagled the 510-yard par-5 12th when he hit the green with a 3-iron shot and holed a 15-foot putt. The ball jumped an inch into the air as it hit a spike mark but sailed into the cup.

PALMER, who trailed Aaron by two shots going into Saturday's round, had a one-under 70.

Jack Nicklaus had a 69 for 208. He had trouble on the back nine after finishing the front in three under.

Sam Snead shot a 69 for a 36-hole total of 211 and Tony Lema had a 72 for a 212.

Floyd went 62 consecutive holes without a bogey, including 27 in the U.S. Open in which he finished in a tie for sixth, his best showing of the year. He had one bogey Friday and another Saturday to give him just two in 81 holes of golf.

Winds gusted to 45 mph and driving rains pelted Keller Golf Course, but Floyd said the elements didn't bother him in his pursuit of the $20,000 first place money.

"My driving has been so good lately that the wind actually gave me an advantage over some of the other golfers," he said.

Floyd ranks 41st on the money lists this year with more than $11,000 in earnings. In 1964 he won more than $21,000, although he has yet to win a tourney since his 1962 victory at St. Petersburg.

Mann, at 6-3, Can't Miss Her Swing

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI)—Carol Mann, the tallest player on the women's pro golf tour at 6-3, shot a one-under-par 69 Saturday, one off the course record, for a 140 and a three-stroke lead in the $10,000 Lady Carling Open.

Miss Mann, who lives in neighboring Towson, added a 34-35 to her opening round 71 to wrest the lead from Kathy Whitworth going into today's final of the 54-hole tournament.

Miss Mann, who lost last year after leading the field going, into the final hole played methodical golf, getting good distance off the tee and backing her drives with a consistent chipping game.

'OUT-THOUGHT' MONSTER COURSE

Player's Brain, Not Brawn, Won Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The victory of singles hitter Gary Player and the collapse of muscle men Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus in the National Open golf tournament last week may have put some brakes on the wild stampede toward power golf.

"I learned to hit the ball straight before I learned to hit it far," said Player, the 150-pound little giant from South Africa who whipped another soft-baller, Kel Nagle, in a playoff.

PLAYER

"If I had to give one piece of advice to the weekend golfer it would be this: "Take it easy—don't try to kill the ball."

Killing the ball—hitting it so hard you can hear it whine—has been the growing tendency in the sport for the last several years, producing what Byron Nelson calls "a new breed of home run hitters."

"It's a different game," said Lord Byron, the pro king of the 1940s. "Nobody worries about style any more. They just get up there and bang the ball. They don't worry about trouble. They don't play for pars. They're always going for birdies."

The terrifying Bellerive course at St. Louis where the 1965 Open was played was both big and treacherous and made to order, the experts said, for sluggers such as Nicklaus and Palmer.

Palmer started with two 76s and failed to survive the halfway cut for the first time in 51 tournaments. Nicklaus shot 299, 19 over par, and finished 17 shots back of the lead. Other power hitters floundered.

"I have never felt it was wise to attack a golf course and I knew that to do so at Bellerive would have been suicidal," said Player.

"One of my idols in golf always has been Ben Hogan. I admired the way he was able to take a golf course apart mechanically, whether it was long or short.

"Hogan always said he played management golf. Like a talented billiard player, he put every shot in position for the next shot. I knew from playing Bellerive in practice that it was a course that you couldn't overpower.

"You had to out-think it. You had to keep the ball in play. That's exactly what I concentrated on doing."

"Not all of us are gifted with the strength and power of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer. I must admit I envy them. I have exercised and worked to get all the length possible out of my game. There's no doubt that power is a big asset on some courses.

"But I think too much emphasis is put on power by American players. I think all golfers, who want to improve, should practice accuracy — a free, easy swing."

Veterans Clash in State Finals

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI)—Vern Callison and Dr. Art Butler, two seasoned veterans, surged past a pair of promising youngsters Saturday to reach the finals of the 54th annual California State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Callison, 51, a champion here in 1959, handed 20-year-old Jim Johnson of Pleasanton a resounding 8 and 7 licking while Butler, 42, and the tournament medalist this year, built up a big lead over 19-year-old Vic Loustalot of Sacramento and hung on to win, 3 and 1.

Neither of the finalists was close to par on Pebble Beach. But their experience in pressure-packed tournament play and their knowledge of this treacherous seaside links helped overcome the power of Loustalot and Johnson.

Callison finished the morning round four-up on Johnson with a two-over-par medal of 74. He turned on the heat as the afternoon round began winning six of the first nine holes—two with birdies, three with pars and one with a bogey.

His bogey win on the 110-yard par three seventh hole was a story in itself.

* * * *

THE SACRAMENTO bar owner hit his tee shot into a trap. Johnson hit his in the same place. Callison tried to wedge it out and left the ball in the trap. Johnson then did exactly the same thing.

Callison finally pitched out next to the hole and made a four.

Johnsnn blasted 20 feet from the cup and missed the putt. That put the youngster 10-down and it was downhill from there.

Butler had a tougher time with Loustalot, son of professional Ed Loustalot of Valley Hi Country Club.

Callison and Butler go at it over the 36-hole route today. They have met in the state once before—in 1961 when Butler beat Callison one-up in a quarterfinal match.

Nagle 15 Back to Scottish Golf Winner

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Cobie Le Grange, 22-year-old South African Masters champion of England and Australia, Saturday won the 4,000 pounds ($11,200) Pringle of Scotland golf tournament with a nine-under-par total of 279.

Kel Nagle of Australia, who lost to Gary Player in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship last Monday, finished 15 strokes back of Le Grange with a 294.

Strong winds sent scores rocketing into the mid-70's.

Le Grange will play in the British and French Opens before returning to the United States to continue on the PGA circuit.

Sifford Captures L.A. City Title

Curtis Sifford of the hosting Griffith Park club defeated Alan Gealer of the Brentwood CC, 6 and 5, Saturday in the 36-hole finals of the 48th annual Los Angeles city men's golf championship on the Wilson course.

Sifford, who shot 69 for the first 18 holes, led by eight shots at the halfway mark. The mach was called at the 13th hole with Sifford ahead by six strokes.

deMetropolis, Lane Pace Hubert's Win

Paul deMetropolis and Tim Lane sparked Hubert's Cafeteria to a 7-2 win over Rossmoor Saturday in a Coast League Connie Mack game.

YANKS FAVORED

'Deaf Olympics' Start Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eighty-four athletes, including Hawaii swimmer Kelvin Mikasa, march into Byrd Stadium on the University of Maryland campus today to open the 10th annual International Games for the Deaf—the "Deaf Olympics."

It will be the first time the United States has hosted the games since they were inaugurated in Paris in 1924. With 178 athletes entered, more than any other country, the U.S. is given a fighting chance to take the over-all crown.

America took only 99 athletes to the 1961 Olympics in Helsinki and finished ahead in total gold medals but third, behind Russia and Germany, in points.

* * * *

SURPRISINGLY, the United States has never won a medal in men's swimming. But this year, men's swimming coach John Wieck of Warren, Mich., has two new entries who could spring upsets over favored swimmers from Poland, Denmark and Holland.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CLIPPINGER

Nine-Year-Old King For a Day

Steven Blaunt, 9 years old, showed the fishermen on the barge Islander (off Belmont Pier) how fishing is done last Monday when he caught a white sea bass that weighed nine pounds. It took a bit of skill to put the bass on deck, but Steven stayed with it. As far as the other fishermen were concerned, they said that Steven certainly was king for the day.

Bargemaster Fred Austin awarded Steven a trophy just as soon as he got it on deck. Steven lives at 11302 Crossdale St., Norwalk.

Barge fishing has been picking up rapidly, and there have been good catches of bonito, bass and barracuda and halibut. Taxis run hourly, on the hour, from Belmont Pier.

Seal Beach Pier's new barge, the Alaskan, went into operation this weekend about two miles off the pier. The specially designed craft is low in the water, with only about five feet of freeboard.

It is a square ender, affording more fishing space. It can accommodate 160 fishermen at one time. The Alaskan will be operated by bargemaster Ray Walker, and he says that an excellent galley will be maintained. Water taxis will operate from Seal Beach hourly, on the half-hour.

Along with a pickup in barge fishing, there has been an improvement in fishing at all the piers.

DAVEY'S LOCKER, NEWPORT BEACH, starts its annual yellowtail-albacore derby July 1 and goes through Oct. 15. The angler catching the largest of either species gets a two-day vacation for two persons at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas with all expenses paid. There will be other prizes, too.

Boats from Davey's Locker have been scoring heavily on large kelp bass downcoast at Three Arch Bay, Dana Point, Box Canyon and San Onofre, with the fish going to six pounds.

There's a run of yellowfin croakers in Newport Bay, and some anglers are getting spotfin croakers. Skiff fishermen out of Balboa Pavilion have been taking bonito, bass and an occasional barracuda out toward the harbor entrance.

Four passengers showed up Tuesday night at 8 o'clock for the Fisherman's (Pacific Landing) run to Catalina Island for night and early-morning fishing. They were well rewarded. They got into a school of baby black sea bass and caught five that averaged about 30 pounds each. Also, they caught 24 halibut that ranged from 20 to 30 pounds.

No further word has come from the boats looking for the advance guard of the albacore run. The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' chartered boat, Native Sun, landed two longfins last Sunday about 240 miles southwest of Long Beach. Biologists are predicting albacore will come within range of our sportfishing boats sometime in the first half of July.

THE ANNUAL SUMMER RUN of chinook and sockeye salmon has started up the Columbia River and the Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington Department of Fisheries have ordered a closed season for the next two weeks. Both commercials and sport fishermen agreed to the closure.

Also, the Yakima Indian Tribe was asked not to fish above Bonneville Dam. The Indians rejected that proposal, but said that they would restrict their fishing with gill nets to three days per week.

The strange situation developed when biologists appeared before the state commissions and told them frankly that the summer run of chinooks would total not more than 80,000 to 90,000, and that the run of sockeyes would be about the same.

Dams and pollution have ruined many upstream spawning beds and until those can be replaced, biologists want to get at least 80,000 of each species upstream to lay their eggs.

The Idaho Fish and Game Commission ordered an emergency closure of all streams containing chinooks after John R. Woolworth, state fish and game director, told the commissioners that only 12,000 chinooks were counted at the confluence of the Snake and Columbia Rivers. Some streams may be opened late in July.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Anglers have been hooking some big trout on the Kern River, particularly in the Miracle Hot Springs area. Surprisingly, the best bait is listed as cheese. Fish have ranged up to 7¼ pounds. But a real giant rainbow came out of Isabella Lake. Gus Clemens, Sun City, took one that weighed 9 pounds, 3 ounces. He was using worms and fishing from shore at Paradise Cove.

Walt Eschmann, Long Beach, L. H. Robinson, Costa Mesa, and Clifton M. Bell, Whittier, fished together at Rancho Buena Vista, Baja California, and each caught three marlin ranging up to 154 pounds. Eschmann caught four sailfish ranging up to an estimated 154 pounds; Robinson, four sailfish, ranging to 104 pounds, and Bell, three, with a high of 88.

Most of their fish were tagged and released and their weights estimated. In addition, the party caught 15 roosterfish, 5 bonito, 6 dolphin, 3 red snappers, 3 cabrilla and 4 pompano.

Bueno Heune, who owns Ken's Sporting Goods at Bridgeport, writes that fishermen are taking lunkers out of Bridgeport Lake every day, with trollers getting brown trout ranging from 4 to 7¾ pounds.

He also says that the East Walker River, Robinson Creek and Buckeye Creek are outstanding among the streams. The Little Walker and West Walker are roaring torrents and are practically unfishable.

Floyd Takes St. Paul Lead

Fires Torrid 65 as Aaron, Arnie Stay Within Sight

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)— Young Raymond Floyd overcame gale winds and intermittent heavy showers Saturday to fire a five-under-par 65 and take the 54-hole lead in the $100,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament with a 12-under-par 201.

Tommy Aaron, second round leader, came in with a 69 to trail Floyd by one stroke.

Floyd, who won the St. Petersburg Open in 1963 at the age of 20 to become the youngest professional tournament winner in 35 years, had four birdies and a bogey on the front side for a 33 and had an eagle and a birdie on the back for a 32.

Gene Littler and Bruce Devlin were three strokes back at 204 and Arnold Palmer was at 205.

Floyd, 22, started off the round with three birdies, including one on a 45-foot putt on the first hole. His chip shots were extremely accurate and a good share of his putts were fairly short ones.

He eagled the 510-yard par-5 12th when he hit the green with a 3-iron shot and holed a 15-foot putt. The ball jumped an inch into the air as it hit a spike mark but sailed into the cup.

PALMER, who trailed Aaron by two shots going into Saturday's round, had a one-under 70.

Jack Nicklaus had a 69 for 208. He had trouble on the back nine after finishing the front in three under.

Sam Snead shot a 69 for a 36-hole total of 211 and Tony Lema had a 72 for a 212.

Floyd went 62 consecutive holes without a bogey, including 27 in the U.S. Open in which he finished in a tie for sixth, his best showing of the year. He had one bogey Friday and another Saturday to give him just two in 81 holes of golf.

Winds gusted to 45 mph and driving rains pelted Keller Golf Course, but Floyd said the elements didn't bother him in his pursuit of the $20,000 first place money.

"My driving has been so good lately that the wind actually gave me an advantage over some of the other golfers," he said.

Floyd ranks 41st on the money lists this year with more than $11,000 in earnings. In 1964 he won more than $21,000, although he has yet to win a tourney since his 1962 victory at St. Petersburg.

Mann, at 6-3, Can't Miss Her Swing

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI) — Carol Mann, the tallest player on the women's pro golf tour at 6-3, shot a one-under-par 69 Saturday, one off the course record, for a 140 and a three-stroke lead in the $10,000 Lady Carling Open.

Miss Mann, who lives in neighboring Towson, added a 34-35 to her opening round 71 to wrest the lead from Kathy Whitworth going into today's final of the 54-hole tournament.

Miss Mann, who lost last year after leading the field going into the final hole played methodical golf, getting good distance off the tee and backing her drives with a consistent chipping game.

'OUT-THOUGHT' MONSTER COURSE

Player's Brain, Not Brawn, Won Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The victory of singles hitter Gary Player and the collapse of muscle men Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus in the National Open golf tournament last week may have put some brakes on the wild stampede toward power golf.

"I learned to hit the ball straight before I learned to hit it far," said Player, the 150-pound little giant from South Africa who whipped another soft-baller, Kel Nagle, in a playoff.

PLAYER

"If I had to give one piece of advice to the weekend golfer it would be this: "Take it easy—don't try to kill the ball."

Killing the ball—hitting it so hard you can hear it whine—has been the growing tendency in the sport for the last several years, producing what Byron Nelson calls "a new breed of home run hitters."

"It's a different game," said Lord Byron, the pro king of the 1940s. "Nobody worries about style any more. They just get up there and bang the ball. They don't worry about trouble. They don't play for pars. They're always going for birdies."

The terrifying Bellerive course at St. Louis where the 1965 Open was played was both big and treacherous and made to order, the experts said, for sluggers such as Nicklaus and Palmer.

Palmer started with two 76s and failed to survive the halfway cut for the first time in 51 tournaments. Nicklaus shot 299, 19 over par, and finished 17 shots back of the lead. Other power hitters floundered.

"I have never felt it was wise to attack a golf course and I knew that to do so at Bellerive would have been suicidal," said Player.

"One of my idols in golf always has been Ben Hogan. I admired the way he was able to take a golf course apart mechanically, whether it was long or short.

"Hogan always said he played management golf. Like a talented billiard player, he put every shot in position for the next shot. I knew from playing Bellerive in practice that it was a course that you couldn't overpower.

"You had to out-think it. You had to keep the ball in play. That's exactly what I concentrated on doing."

"Not all of us are gifted with the strength and power of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer. I must admit I envy them. I have exercised and worked to get all the length possible out of my game. There's no doubt that power is a big asset on some courses.

But I think too much emphasis is put on power by American players. I think all golfers, who want to improve, should practice accuracy — a free, easy swing."

Veterans Clash in State Finals

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI)—Vern Callison and Dr. Art Butler, two seasoned veterans, surged past a pair of promising youngsters Saturday to reach the finals of the 54th annual California State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Callison, 51, a champion here in 1959, handed 20-year-old Jim Johnson of Pleasanton a resounding 8 and 7 licking while Butler, 42, and the tournament medalist this year, built up a big lead over 19-year-old Vic Loustalot of Sacramento and hung on to win, 3 and 1.

Neither of the finalists was close to par on Pebble Beach. But their experience in pressure-packed tournament play and their knowledge of this treacherous seaside links helped overcome the power of Loustalot and Johnson.

Callison finished the morning round four-up on Johnson with a two-over-par medal of 74. He turned on the heat as the afternoon round began winning six of the first nine holes—two with birdies, three with pars and one with a bogey.

His bogey win on the 110-yard par three seventh hole was a story in itself.

THE SACRAMENTO bar owner hit his tee shot into a trap. Johnson hit his in the same place. Callison tried to wedge it out and left the ball in the trap. Johnson then did exactly the same thing.

Callison finally pitched out next to the hole and made a four.

Johnson blasted 20 feet from the cup and missed the putt. That put the youngster 10-down and it was downhill from there.

Butler had a tougher time with Loustalot, son of professional Ed Loustalot of Valley Hi Country Club.

Callison and Butler go at it over the 36-hole route today. They have met in the state once before—in 1961 when Butler beat Callison one-up in a quarterfinal match.

Nagle 15 Back to Scottish Golf Winner

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Cobie Le Grange, 22-year-old South African Masters champion of England and Australia, Saturday won the 4,000 pounds ($11,200) Pringle of Scotland golf tournament with a nine-under-par total of 279.

Kel Nagle of Australia, who lost to Gary Player in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship last Monday, finished 15 strokes back of Le Grange with a 294.

Strong winds sent scores rocketing into the mid-70's.

Le Grange will play in the British and French Opens before returning to the United States to continue on the PGA circuit.

YANKS FAVORED

'Deaf Olympics' Start Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eighty-four athletes, including Hawaii swimmer Kelvin Mikasa, march into Byrd Stadium on the University of Maryland campus today to open the 10th annual International Games for the Deaf—the "Deaf Olympics."

It will be the first time the United States has hosted the games since they were inaugurated in Paris in 1924. With 178 athletes entered, more than any other country, the U.S. is given a fighting chance to take the over-all crown.

America took only 99 athletes to the 1961 Olympics in Helsinki and finished ahead in total gold medals but third, behind Russia and Germany, in points.

SURPRISINGLY, the United States has never won a medal in men's swimming. But this year, men's swimming coach John Wieck of Warren, Mich., has two new entries who could spring upsets over favored swimmers from Poland, Denmark and Holland.

Affectionately Winner

By Associated Press

Affectionately proved herself one of the great mares of American turf history Saturday when she carried 137 pounds to a narrow victory in the $58,900 Vagrancy Handicap at Aqueduct for her sixth stakes triumph of the year.

The annals of modern racing fail to show a feat such as the 5-year-old daughter of Swaps and Searching accomplished in the seven furlongs run before 45,828.

Her margin was a narrow one as Sought After, packing a mere 111 pounds, closed fast in the final one-eighth of a mile only to lose by a neck. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs color bearer ran the distance in 1:23.

Face the Facts, under 119 pounds, was the best of the 11 other fillies and mares but she was no match for the first two in the thrilling finish.

The victory was worth $38,285 and boosted Affectionately's bank account to $528,750. She has won 27 of her 47 career starts, 21 of them at Aqueduct.

Affectionately paid $4.10, $3.20 and $2.30. Sought After returned $11.50 and $7.10 while Face the Facts paid $4.60 to show.

Turn To Talent romped to an easy victory and Ogirema scored narrowly in the two divisions of the Blue Hen Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Delaware Park.

Ogirema, ridden by Larry Lughry, sprinted the 5½ furlongs in 1:05 1/5 and paid $12.69, $7.40 and $6.20.

Turn To Talent, who now has won both her starts, paid $3.80, $3 and $2.80. Champagne Woman paid $4.40 and $3.80 and Pidgin returned $6.80.

Whistling Sea won the 106th running of the historic Queen's Plate at Woodbine race track and became the first western Canada-bred to annex Canada's equivalent of the Kentucky Derby in the United States.

The 3-year-old colt, owned by Paul Olivier of Calgary and regarded as a sprinter until his victory in the Plate trial division last Monday, led all the way in the 1¼-mile classic witnessed by the Queen Mother.

Isaduchess, owned by the Brookfield Farm of Harry Isaacs of Baltimore, closed strongly and won the $39,750 Modesty Handicap by 1½ lengths at Arlington Park.

Isaduchess, clocked in 1:23⅕, paid $7.60, $4.60, and $3.40.

BIT O' IRISH IN BING—HE GETS 'SWEEP'

DUBLIN (AP) — Bing Crosby bought a one-third interest in Meadow Court just hours before the Irish Derby and then watched Saturday as the American-bred colt won the $155,820 first place money by two lengths.

Meadow Court, a grandson of Tom Fool on his maternal side, was owned solely by Max Bell, a Canadian millionaire, on the eve of the race. Then he sold a one-third share to Crosby and another one-third to Frank McMahon, a Vancouver, B.C., industrialist and part owner of Alberta Ranch with veteran jockey Johnny Longden.

The race's result determined the winners in the second Irish Hospital Sweepstakes of 1965 with the holders of tickets on Meadow Court getting $140,000. Convamore was second and Wedding Present third. Ticket holders on the second place horse received $56,000 and those with tickets on Wedding Present received $28,000.

THEY'LL BOWL 'EM OVER!

Independent, Press-Telegram's All-America Youth Bowl team takes tips on high-pressure competition from Tommy Mason, Minnesota Vikings' all-pro halfback, prior to leaving for national roll-offs in New York City. Bowlers are Phil McAfee, Sharla McGinnis, Connie Adkins and Russ Mackeand.

ALL-AMERICA NATIONALS

I, P-T Bowlers Leave for N.Y. Monday

By DAVE TAYLOR

Four young Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Senior Team bowlers will take off Monday morning from Los Angeles to compete in the long-awaited All-America Youth Bowl National Senior Division Championships at the New York World's Fair.

The four 18-year-old I, P-T team shooters were winners among more than 150 local competitors in their age division who bowled in the recently concluded All-America Youth Bowl program sponsored by the I, P-T in association with AMF Pinspotters Corp.

Carrying the Long Beach colors to New York where they will bowl for national honors against champions from 15 other major U.S. cities are Phil McAfee, Russ Mackeand, Sharla McGinnis and Connie Adkins.

While in New York the foursome will tour the World's Fair, sightsee in Manhattan, be guests of AMF and singer Frankie Avalon at the world famous Copacabanna night club, attend a New York Mets baseball game and be honored with banquets at several of the famed World's Fair restaurants.

Their stay in New York will last five days during which they will be guests at the Fair Motor Inn at the World's Fair. Transportation for the young bowlers to New York and return is being provided by American Airlines.

The National Senior Championship tournament in New York climaxes the second year's running of the All-America Youth Bowl program sponsored nationally by AMF in cooperation with the nation's leading newspapers. More than 35,000 young bowlers across the country participated in the two-month Youth Bowl tournament elimination competitions.

In the Long Beach-Orange County area more than 1,200 youngsters competed in Youth Bowl, and Long Beach's I, P-T Junior Division Boys team won the Youth Bowl National Championship for its age class at the National Telephonic Tournament at Cal Bowl June 12.

Shua Grabs Lead With Sixth in Row

Shua won its sixth American Legion game in a row Saturday, 8-4 over Alamitos Bay, to take over first place in the Harbor League.

Allen Moore drove in five runs with two hits, including a bases-loaded triple and Jim Seida singled twice, raising his average to .511, to spark Shua.

Peterson leaped from fourth to a second-place tie with a 3-0 upset of Lakewood. Ken Alverson's bases-loaded single drove in two runs in the sixth-inning rally.

Randy Moffitt scattered five Lakewood hits, struck out seven and retired the last 13 batters in a row.

Rich Knox accounted for all three Flyer hits and drove home the deciding runs in a 4-2 victory over Wilmington.

In the fourth inning, Steve Petterson walked and winning pitcher Al Hoops got aboard on error. Knox followed with a triple to left-centerfield scoring Petterson and Hoops. Knox had singles in the first and sixth frames.

Pomona Nips Oxnard on Forfeit in 9th

Pomona was awarded a 1-0 victory over Oxnard Saturday night via a forfeit of a WSC game in the top of the ninth inning.

With Don Moore at bat for Pomona and two out and a runner at first base, he blasted a triple down the first base foul line, scoring the runner from first.

DeWayne Jones, manager of the Oxnard team, protested the hit, declaring it was foul. After a heated argument, he was ejected from the game along with first baseman Bob Flores.

* * * *

BOTH MEN refused to leave the field and umpire Lou Wilhite forfeited the game, giving the Bombers the win. Arguments and tempers continued to flare until it took a police escort to get Wilhite and base umpire Bill Gamboa safely off the field. Jones has protested the game.

The teams will play again tonight at Pomona.

Buena Park pounded out a 4-0 win over host Downey.

Gardena Slips By Chiefs

By CHUCK MEDICK

Gardena's Merchants scored twice in the first inning and the Lakewood Chiefs came back with one run in the first, and that was all the scoring as Gardena defeated Lakewood, 2-1, in a WSC game Saturday night at Mayfair Park.

Again it was Art Bunge, plus magnificent fielding and timely hitting, a good formula for wins. Bunge got the victory, his 10th of the season, allowing only five hits while striking out seven and walking none.

Affectionately Winner

By Associated Press

Affectionately proved herself one of the great mares of American turf history Saturday when she carried 137 pounds to a narrow victory in the $58,900 Vagrancy Handicap at Aqueduct for her sixth stakes triumph of the year.

The annals of modern racing fail to show a feat such as the 5-year-old daughter of Swaps and Searching accomplished in the seven furlongs run before 45,828.

Her margin was a narrow one as Sought After, packing a mere 111 pounds, closed fast in the final one-eighth of a mile only to lose by a neck. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs color bearer ran the distance in 1:23.

Face the Facts, under 119 pounds, was the best of the 11 other fillies and mares but she was no match for the first two in the thrilling finish.

The victory was worth $38,285 and boosted Affectionately's bank account to $528,750. She has won 27 of her 47 career starts, 21 of them at Aqueduct.

Affectionately paid $4.10, $3.20 and $2.30. Sought After returned $11.50 and $7.10 while Face the Facts paid $4.60 to show.

Turn To Talent romped to an easy victory and Ogirema scored narrowly in the two divisions of the Blue Hen Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Delaware Park.

Ogirema, ridden by Larry Lughry, sprinted the 5½ furlongs in 1:05 1/5 and paid $12.69, $7.40 and $6.20.

Turn To Talent, who now has won both her starts, paid $3.80, $3 and $2.80. Champagne Woman paid $4.40 and $3.80 and Pidgin returned $6.80.

Whistling Sea won the 106th running of the historic Queen's Plate at Woodbine race track and became the first western Canada-bred to annex Canada's equivalent of the Kentucky Derby in the United States.

The 3-year-old colt, owned by Paul Olivier of Calgary and regarded as a sprinter until his victory in the Plate trial division last Monday, led all the way in the 1¼-mile classic witnessed by the Queen Mother.

Isaduchess, owned by the Brookfield Farm of Harry Isaacs of Baltimore, closed strongly and won the $39,750 Modesty Handicap by 1½ lengths at Arlington Park.

Isaduchess, clocked in 1:23⅕, paid $7.60, $4.60, and $3.40.

ARKSRONI was far back in early stages, advanced steadily while saving ground on far turn, came through on inside entering stretch and under vigorous handling got up in last few strides. EASY LIME had speed from beginning, moved up steadily rounding stretch turn, took a short lead a furlong out but was unable to withstand winner's closing charge. CHARGER'S KIN forced pace from first few yards, held on with real determination after making bold effort a furlong out. CARPENTER'S RULE was always within striking distance while racing between horses on backstretch, made strong move entering stretch then appeared to hang in closing stages. NASHARCO was in command soon after start, weakened in stretch after setting brisk pace. TERRY'S SECRET was well back for first half mile, moved fast on outside in last quarter but was unable to reach a threatening position. PARKING TICKET had good speed to stretch then gave way. BLUE SURGE faded after a half mile.

BIT O' IRISH IN BING—HE GETS 'SWEEP'

DUBLIN (AP) — Bing Crosby bought a one-third interest in Meadow Court just hours before the Irish Derby and then watched Saturday as the American-bred colt won the $155,820 first place money by two lengths.

Meadow Court, a grandson of Tom Fool on his maternal side, was owned solely by Max Bell, a Canadian millionaire, on the eve of the race. Then he sold a one-third share to Crosby and another one-third to Frank McMahon, a Vancouver, B.C., industrialist and part owner of Alberta Ranch with veteran jockey Johnny Longden.

The race's result determined the winners in the second Irish Hospital Sweepstakes of 1965 with the holders of tickets on Meadow Court getting $140,000. Convamore was second and Wedding Present third. Ticket holders on the second place horse received $56,000 and those with tickets on Wedding Present received $28,000.

THEY'LL BOWL 'EM OVER!

Independent, Press-Telegram's All-America Youth Bowl team takes tips on high-pressure competition from Tommy Mason, Minnesota Vikings' all-pro halfback, prior to leaving for national roll-offs in New York City. Bowlers are Phil McAfee, Sharla McGinnis, Connie Adkins and Russ Mackeand.

ALL-AMERICA NATIONALS

I, P-T Bowlers Leave for N.Y. Monday

By DAVE TAYLOR

Four young Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Senior Team bowlers will take off Monday morning from Los Angeles to compete in the long-awaited All-America Youth Bowl National Senior Division Championships at the New York World's Fair.

The four 18-year-old I, P-T team shooters were winners among more than 150 local competitors in their age division who bowled in the recently concluded All-America Youth Bowl program sponsored by the I, P-T in association with AMF Pinspotters Corp.

Carrying the Long Beach colors to New York where they will bowl for national honors against champions from 15 other major U.S. cities are Phil McAfee, Russ Mackeand, Sharla McGinnis and Connie Adkins.

While in New York the foursome will tour the World's Fair, sightsee in Manhattan, be guests of AMF and singer Frankie Avalon at the world famous Copacabanna night club, attend a New York Mets baseball game and be honored with banquets at several of the famed World's Fair restaurants.

Their stay in New York will last five days during which they will be guests at the Fair Motor Inn at the World's Fair. Transportation for the young bowlers to New York and return is being provided by American Airlines.

The National Senior Championship tournament in New York climaxes the second year's running of the All-America Youth Bowl program sponsored nationally by AMF in cooperation with the nation's leading newspapers. More than 35,000 young bowlers across the country participated in the two-month Youth Bowl tournament elimination competitions.

In the Long Beach-Orange County area more than 1,200 youngsters competed in Youth Bowl, and Long Beach's I, P-T Junior Division Boys team won the Youth Bowl National Championship for its age class at the National Telephonic Tournament at Cal Bowl June 12.

Shua Grabs Lead With Sixth in Row

Shua won its sixth American Legion game in a row Saturday, 8-4 over Alamitos Bay, to take over first place in the Harbor League.

Allen Moore drove in five runs with two hits, including a bases-loaded triple and Jim Seida singled twice, raising his average to .511, to spark Shua.

Peterson leaped from fourth to a second-place tie with a 3-0 upset of Lakewood. Ken Alverson's bases-loaded single drove in two runs in the sixth-inning rally.

Randy Moffitt scattered five Lakewood hits, struck out seven and retired the last 13 batters in a row.

Rich Knox accounted for all three Flyer hits and drove home the deciding runs in a 4-2 victory over Wilmington.

In the fourth inning, Steve Petterson walked and winning pitcher Al Hoops got aboard on error. Knox followed with a triple to left-centerfield scoring Petterson and Hoops. Knox had singles in the first and sixth frames.

Pomona Nips Oxnard on Forfeit in 9th

Pomona was awarded a 1-0 victory over Oxnard Saturday night via a forfeit of a WSC game in the top of the ninth inning.

With Don Moore at bat for Pomona and two out and a runner at first base, he blasted a triple down the first base foul line, scoring the runner from first.

DeWayne Jones, manager of the Oxnard team, protested the hit, declaring it was foul. After a heated argument, he was ejected from the game along with first baseman Bob Flores.

* * * *

BOTH MEN refused to leave the field and umpire Lou Wilhite forfeited the game, giving the Bombers the win. Arguments and tempers continued to flare until it took a police escort to get Wilhite and base umpire Bill Gamboa safely off the field. Jones has protested the game.

The teams will play again tonight at Pomona.

Buena Park pounded out a 4-0 win over host Downey.

Gardena Slips By Chiefs

By CHUCK MEDICK

Gardena's Merchants scored twice in the first inning and the Lakewood Chiefs came back with one run in the first, and that was all the scoring as Gardena defeated Lakewood, 2-1, in a WSC game Saturday night at Mayfair Park.

Again it was Art Bunge, plus magnificent fielding and timely hitting, a good formula for wins. Bunge got the victory, his 10th of the season, allowing only five hits while striking out seven and walking none.

Waymire Faces Hawks Tonight

General manager Paul Gylling of the Buena Park Bobcats announced that he has acquired the contract of Eddie Waymire, former member of the Long Beach Nitehawks. The teams meet at Park Avenue tonight at 8:15.

Waymire, a lefthanded pitcher, first baseman and outfielder, has been a member of the Nitehawks since 1960. He was selected to the all-America softball team in 1960, '61 and '62 and has a lifetime batting average of .334.

July 4 Last Regatta in Old Stadium

The 17th annual July 4 inboard speedboat sweepstakes and aquaganza at Long Beach will be one of the last for 1965 on Marine Stadium. It may also be the last until 1967.

In early September a $1,383,000 program of construction and beautification will be started.

Face-lifting of the famed "lanky lagoon" will include such features as new launching ramps, off-street parking facilities, two-story concession and race officials building, portable and temporary bleachers on each side of the racing course.

Whatever 1966 brings, it won't prevent a record fleet from roaring over Marine Stadium in the big July 4 holiday benefit meet.

World Champ Gals in L.B.

By CHUCK MEDICK

The Huntington Park Blues, tied for second place in the Pacific Women's Softball League, will be the host team entertaining the world champion Portland Oregon Florists at Park Avenue Field Sunday, July 4, at 6:30.

There will be two seven-inning games.

The Blues, managed by June Hasty, have two .300 hitters, which is nothing short of sensational in women's softball. Infielder Nettie Morrison is belting the ball at a .316 clip while infielder Donna Baxter has an even .300.

Playing shortstop for the second year is Wilson High teacher Earlene Ulrich, who is hitting .286.

The visiting Florists will be in the area five days, playing doubleheaders at Huntington Park Wednesday, Buena Park Thursday and Friday, Orange Saturday and winding up the tour in Long Beach on Sunday.

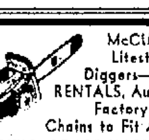

Clark Gets Pole for French Grand Prix

CLERMONT FERRAND, France (UPI)—Jim Clark of Scotland in a Lotus Saturday won the pole position for the French Grand Prix formula one auto race today at the Charade circuit.

The race is the fourth counting towards the 1965 world drivers championship.

Cycle Grand Prix

ASSEN, Netherlands (UPI)—Mike Hailwood of Britain, on an Italian-made MV motorcycle, won the main event Saturday of the Dutch TT Grand Prix, the 500 CC class, leading for 15 of the 20 laps.

Capetillo, Tirado Vie

TIJUANA, Mex.—Manuel Capetillo and Jose Ramon Tirado, among the best Mexican bullfighters in the last 10 years, will make their first season appearance at El Toreo de Tijuana today at 4.

Hector Obregon, whose only showing here was in 1960, will share with them a lot of six fine bulls.

Capetillo at the retirement of Carlos Arruza in 1953 took over the number one spot among Mexican matadores.

Tirado has cut more ears and tails than any other matador in Tiajuana. Since his local debut Aug. 4, 1957, Jose Ramon has been awarded 50 ears, three tails and one hoof in 32 corridas.

Millionaires Nab Top Spots

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (UPI)—A pair of oil millionaires from Midland, Tex., nailed down the two top grid positions for today's fifth leg of the 10-race U. S. road racing championship.

Jim Hall, who broke his own track record for a fastest lap with a 108.24 mph trip around the 2.3-mile course, teamed with Hap Sharp for the leadoff shpots in the 18th annual grand prix sports car race. Both men were driving Chaparral II's.

'Death Match' and Battle Royal Set

A Texas death match and a seven-man battle royal are scheduled as the double main event at this week's pro wrestling show at Municipal Auditorium.

Pedro Morales and the No. 1 Assassin are the combatants in the so-called death match, which continues until one wrestler is unable to continue.

Pro Grid Signings

Steelers—Split end Paul Martha, tight end Jim Kelly.
Patriots—Defensive ends Larry Eisenhauer, Bob Dee.

July 4 Last Regatta in Old Stadium

The 17th annual July 4 inboard speedboat sweepstakes and aquaganza at Long Beach will be one of the last for 1965 on Marine Stadium. It may also be the last until 1967.

In early September a $1,383,000 program of construction and beautification will be started.

Face-lifting of the famed "lanky lagoon" will include such features as new launching ramps, off-street parking facilities, two-story concession and race officials building, portable and temporary bleachers on each side of the racing course.

Whatever 1966 brings, it won't prevent a record fleet from roaring over Marine Stadium in the big July 4 holiday benefit meet.

World Champ Gals in L.B.

By CHUCK MEDICK

The Huntington Park Blues, tied for second place in the Pacific Women's Softball League, will be the host team entertaining the world champion Portland Oregon Florists at Park Avenue Field Sunday, July 4, at 6:30.

There will be two seven-inning games.

The Blues, managed by June Hasty, have two .300 hitters, which is nothing short of sensational in women's softball. Infielder Nettie Morrison is belting the ball at a .316 clip while infielder Donna Baxter has an even .300.

Playing shortstop for the second year is Wilson High teacher Earlene Ulrich, who is hitting .286.

The visiting Florists will be in the area five days, playing doubleheaders at Huntington Park Wednesday, Buena Park Thursday and Friday, Orange Saturday and winding up the tour in Long Beach on Sunday.

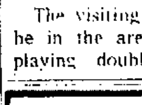

Clark Gets Pole for French Grand Prix

CLERMONT FERRAND, France (UPI)—Jim Clark of Scotland in a Lotus Saturday won the pole position for the French Grand Prix formula one auto race today at the Charade circuit.

The race is the fourth counting towards the 1965 world drivers championship.

Cycle Grand Prix

ASSEN, Netherlands (AP)—Mike Hailwood of Britain, on an Italian-made MV motorcycle, won the main event Saturday of the Dutch TT Grand Prix, the 500 CC class, leading for 15 of the 20 laps.

Capetillo, Tirado Vie

TIJUANA, Mex.—Manuel Capetillo and Jose Ramon Tirado, among the best Mexican bullfighters in the last 10 years, will make their first season appearance at El Toreo de Tijuana today at 4.

Hector Obregon, whose only showing here was in 1960, will share with them a lot of six fine bulls.

Capetillo at the retirement of Carlos Arruza in 1953 took over the number one spot among Mexican matadores.

Tirado has cut more ears and tails than any other matador in Tiajuana. Since his local debut Aug. 4, 1957, Jose Ramon has been awarded 50 ears, three tails and one hoof in 32 corridas.

Millionaires Nab Top Spots

WATKINS, GLEN, N. Y. (UPI)—A pair of oil millionaires from Midland, Tex., nailed down the two top grid positions for today's fifth leg of the 10-race U. S. road racing championship.

Jim Hall, who broke his own track record for a fastest lap with a 108.24 mph trip around the 2.3-mile course, teamed with Hap Sharp for the leadoff shpots in the 18th annual grand prix sports car race. Both men were driving Chaparral II's.

'Death Match' and Battle Royal Set

A Texas death match and a seven-man battle royal are scheduled as the double main event at this week's pro wrestling show at Municipal Auditorium.

Pedro Morales and the No. 1 Assassin are the combatants in the so-called death match, which continues until one wrestler is unable to continue.

Pro Grid Signings

Steelers—Split end Paul Martha, tight end Jim Kelly.
Patriots—Defensive ends Larry Eisenhauer, Bob Dee.

PREVIEWS OF New Films

"Operation Crossbow" dealing with a "now-it-can-be-told" World War II operation; a spoof on the art business, "The Art of Love" and "Genghis Khan," based on the warrior-emperor, are new films opening in the area Wednesday.

"Operation Crossbow" is an adventure thriller in which George Peppard plays an American agent parachuted into Nazi-occupied Holland with order to locate and destroy Hitler's secret V rockets. The cast includes Sophia Loren, Trevor Howard, John Mills, Richard Johnson, Tom Courtenay, Richard Todd and Lilli Palmer. Sophia, wife of a Nazi collaborater, falls in love with Peppard.

* * * *

CARL REINER wrote the script for "The Art of Love," a spoof on artists which stars Dick Van Dyke, Elke Sommer, James Garner, Angie Dickinson and Ethel Merman.

Van Dyke plays an artist who is unsuccessful who becomes famous after a phony "suicide death."

* * * *

GEORGE PEPPARD

SOPHIA LOREN

OMAR SHARIF

JAMES GARNER puts the finishing touch to disguise for Dick Van Dyke in "The Art of Love."

Kenton at Disneyland This Week

Stan Kenton and his orchestra will open a six-night holiday stand at Disneyland Tuesday as a part of the Park's summer-long parade of bands.

Kenton and his piano artistry will be presented nightly at the 20,000 Leagues bandstand through July 4.

Also on tap for the July 4 holiday is an expanded presentation of Disneyland's famous fireworks display, Fantasy in the Sky which will explode at 9 p.m. with the flight of Tinker Bell over Sleeping Beauty's Castle.

Starring in the Hootenanny Monday will be the Modern Folk Quartet.

Humdinger stars Tuesday include Jerry Wallace, Jan Rado and the Pair Extrordinaire along with the Disneyland Mustangs and Humdinger Dancers.

THE STARS

What They're Doing . . .

Sequel to "Room at the Top," "Life at the Top" is being produced in England with Laurence Harvey again starring as Joe Lampton. Jean Simmons co-stars . . . Peter O'Toole's next movie is "Venus Rising" with Audrey Hepburn . . .

O'TOOLE

HEPBURN

Hermione Baddeley joins the cast of "Bullwhip Griffin", Disney film with Roddy McDowall, Suzanne Pleshette, Kari Malden, Richard Haydn, Harry Guardino and Bryan Russell . . . Rod Steiger had completed assignment in Rome in "And There Was a Man" and returned to work in "Doctor Zhivago" in Madrid . . . Sue Lyon who has completed her third film, "7 Women," has incorporated and is buying real estate . . .

STANLEY

HERMIONE

Eva Marie Saint and director husband Jeff Hayden are in Santa Barbara for the summer . . . The title of MGM's "The Girl in the Glass Bottom Boat" with Doris Day has been changed. It's now "The Glass Bottom Boat." Studio mad at Doris Day? . . . Rick Nelson and his wife, Kristin, co-star in "Love and Kisses," Universal film, written by Ozzie Nelson. David Nelson appears briefly in the film . . .

Another family affair is "Bats with Baby Faces"—Haley Mills stars, her father John Mills directs and her mother, Mary Hayley Bell wrote the story . . . Guy Madison returned to Rome from hunting with bow and arrow in Mozambique. He's made 13 films in Rome, says he prefers pirate and ancient Roman roles he's had in Italy to the westerns he made—158 of them—in the U.S.

Dorothy McGuire and Fess Parker co-star in Disney's "Old Yeller," dog story . . . Tommy Kirk, Annette, Leon Ames and Stanley, the chimp, are "The Monkey's Uncle", story about a chimp trained to act like an average college student . . .

Film Rights to 'Dolly'

LONDON (AP) — Twentieth Century Fox announces it has acquired screen rights for the Broadway musical, "Hello, Dolly!" and will produce the film not later than 1971.

Bond Thriller Banned

JOHANNESBURG — The James Bond thriller "The Spy Who Loved Me," by Ian Fleming, has been banned in South Africa.

PREVIEWS OF New Films

"Operation Crossbow" dealing with a "now-it-can-be-told" World War II operation; a spoof on the art business, "The Art of Love" and "Genghis Khan," based on the warrior-emperor, are new films opening in the area Wednesday.

"Operation Crossbow" is an adventure thriller in which George Peppard plays an American agent parachuted into Nazi-occupied Holland with order to locate and destroy Hitler's secret V rockets. The cast includes Sophia Loren, Trevor Howard, John Mills, Richard Johnson, Tom Courtenay, Richard Todd and Lilli Palmer. Sophia, wife of a Nazi collaborater, falls in love with Peppard.

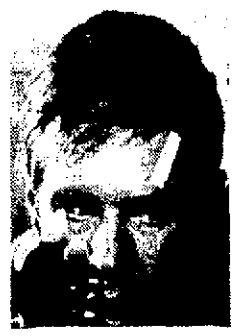

* * * *

CARL REINER wrote the script for "The Art of Love," a spoof on artists which stars Dick Van Dyke, Elke Sommer, James Garner, Angie Dickinson and Ethel Merman.

Van Dyke plays an artist who is unsuccessful who becomes famous after a phony "suicide death."

* * * *

GEORGE PEPPARD

SOPHIA LOREN

OMAR SHARIF

JAMES GARNER puts the finishing touch to disguise for Dick Van Dyke in "The Art of Love."

You'll love it! Over eleven million music lovers have enjoyed summer nights in Hollywood Bowl since that first one in 1922.

Now—Hear the Stars Talk at Movieland Wax Museum!
BUENA PARK: Sound has been added to sight at this world famous showplace! With new Acoustiguide you actually hear the film greats speak directly to you from the sound tracks of their finest films! Now you can see and hear Gable, Monroe, Garbo, Lanza, Cooper, Bogart and scores of other screen celebrities talk and sing as you stroll among the magnificent sets at Movieland, world's largest and most beautiful wax museum!
Bring the family and visit this fabulous "Stars Hall of Fame". On Beach Blvd. just south of the Santa Ana Fwy. in Buena Park. Cameras welcome. No charge for children under 8 with adult. Plenty of free parking. Come this week.

Barbie's Big Business

She's a cute doll — that's for sure — she has lots of fun and friends, a wardrobe that does not stop and fan clubs stretching across the country who send her more mail than most movie stars receive. And if you don't think this means big business, just take a look at some of these interesting jobs she has created — jobs that mean good salaries for you along with top benefits and pleasant working conditions.

VARITYPIST — In our unique business, we require some rather unusal business forms, cards and layouts. You'll design many of these yourself and do some drawings and paste-ups in addition. So you must be pretty creative in addition to having had at least 6 months varitype and headliner experience.

STATISTICAL CLERK: You'll help keep our sales forecasts up to date working in this sales controll position by compiling and analysing data for a weekly report. You'll need a background in bookkeeping or accounting and experience with the 10-key adding machine or calculator.

COST CLERK — Like to get around and work with lots of different people? This job offers just that — you'll be dealing with departments all over the company. You'll read and evaluate cost sheets and flow charts and prepare reports for our home and overseas operations. You must be particularly adept at math with working experience on the calculator.

Barbie's Big Business

She's a cute doll — that's for sure — she has lots of fun and friends, a wardrobe that does not stop and fan clubs stretching across the country who send her more mail than most movie stars receive. And if you don't think this means big business, just take a look at some of these interesting jobs she has created — jobs that mean good salaries for you along with top benefits and pleasant working conditions

VARITYPIST — In our unique business, we require some rather unusual business forms, cards and layouts. You'll design many of these yourself and do some drawings and paste-ups in addition. So you must be pretty creative in addition to having had at least 6 months varityper and headliner experience.

STATISTICAL CLERK: You'll help keep our sales forecasts up to date working in this sales controll position by compiling and analysing data for a weekly report. You'll need a background in bookkeeping or accounting and experience with the 10 key adding machine or calculator.

COST CLERK — Like to get around and work with lots of different people? This job offers just that — you'll be dealing with departments all over the company. You'll read and evaluate cost sheets and flow charts and prepare reports for our home and overseas operations. You must be particularly adept at math with working experience on the calculator.

I apply for Accumulative Accident Insurance, to become effective day policy is issued and dated. I understand that it takes about 10 days to issue a policy and agree (1) to pay the premium of 65c per month; (2) designate person who collects for my newspaper as my messenger to deliver premium to above office; (3) that policy will automatically expire if I fail to pay premium due. Insurance does not cover persons who have lost both hands and feet, or the sight of both eyes.

☐ FOR FIRST POLICY IN FAMILY — Send no money, pay carrier 65c each month at the same time you pay for paper.

☐ FOR EACH ADDITIONAL POLICY IN FAMILY — Enclose $7.50 Annual Premium with each application.

I apply for Accumulative Accident Insurance, to become effective day policy is issused and dated. I understand that it takes about 10 days to issue a policy and agree (1) to pay the premium of 65c per month; (2) designate person who collects for my newspaper as my messenger to deliver premium to above office; (3) that policy will automatically expire if I fail to pay premium due. Insurance does not cover persons who have lost both hands and feet, or the sight of both eyes.

☐ FOR FIRST POLICY IN FAMILY — Send no money, pay carrier 65c each month at the same time you pay for paper.

☐ FOR EACH ADDITIONAL POLICY IN FAMILY — Enclose $7.50 Annual Premium with each application.

LIMITATIONS—Benefits—except Doctor Bill and X-Ray expense—reduced one-half after 60th birthday. No reduction in benefits first year.

RENEWABLE at option of Company.

EXCEPTIONS—Benefits paid in accordance with terms of National Casualty Company policy HM7665-U. Does not cover accidents in a mine; in railroad yard or train except as fare-paying passenger; warfare; auto races, hernia.

This is only a partial description of the principal terms and provisions in the policy.

This insurance pays all benefits listed at left, (including higher benefits for Freeway and travel accidents). But, the important protection of this insurance is that it pays for almost every type of accident, AND in addition to your other insurance. You're protected 24-hours-a-day, whether at home or away, at school, at work, and while going to and from work. It's easy to get and easy to keep! Benefits are paid promptly.

Mercedes-Benz 190 D

MERCEDES-BENZ 190-D

The "D" Stands for Diesel . . . and for distance

It may be hard to believe that a car with the elegance and craftsmanship of the Mercedes-Benz 190 D could be so remarkably economical. But it's so.

A 7,000 mile fuel consumption test by one of the country's leading petroleum marketers proved the 190 D travels more than 30 miles per gallon. And Diesel fuel, available practically anywhere, costs about 40% less than gasoline.

Come on in for a test drive and we'll give you more proof why the Mercedes-Benz 190 D is the world's most economical full-size car.

Mercedes-Benz 190 D

MERCEDES-BENZ 190-D

The "D" Stands for Diesel . . . and for distance

It may be hard to believe that a car with the elegance and craftsmanship of the Mercedes-Benz 190 D could be so remarkably economical. But it's so.

A 7,000 mile fuel consumption test by one of the country's leading petroleum marketers proved the 190 D travels more than 30 miles per gallon. And Diesel fuel, available practically anywhere, costs about 40% less than gasoline.

Come on in for a test drive and we'll give you more proof why the Mercedes-Benz 190 D is the world's most economical full-size car.

Who sells used cars with warranty* protection like this?

Your Dodge Dealer does!

Look for this warranty seal. It marks the cars which are eligible for the unused portion of the Chrysler Corporation 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty.

It shows the exact number of months and miles still coming to you under that original factory warranty. A warranty that covers 100% of the parts and labor. One so strong only cars that were engineered better could carry it to begin with.

Any car that wears this seal, you can buy with confidence. All the cars below do.

*HERE'S HOW CHRYSLER'S ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY CONTINUES TO PROTECT YOU. Chrysler Corporation warrants all of the following vital parts of this car for 50,000 miles or five years after delivery to the original purchaser, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage.

Who sells used cars with warranty* protection like this?

Your Dodge Dealer does!

Look for this warranty seal. It marks the cars which are eligible for the unused portion of the Chrysler Corporation 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty.

It shows the exact number of months and miles still coming to you under that original factory warranty. A warranty that covers 100% of the parts and labor. One so strong only cars that were engineered better could carry it to begin with.

Any car that wears this seal, you can buy with confidence. All the cars below do.

*HERE'S HOW CHRYSLER'S ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY CONTINUES TO PROTECT YOU. Chrysler Corporation warrants all of the following vital parts of this car for 50,000 miles or five years after delivery to the original purchaser, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage.

PORT OF LONG BEACH:

It's Growing and In All Directions

(Editor's note: This is the second of a two-part series detailing expansion of Long Beach and Los Angeles Harbor development. Combined they are the fastest growing ports on earth.)

By LOU JOBST
Marine Editor

With more than $150 million already invested in its municipal harbor, Long Beach is launching ambitious plans to double its size and value.

The commercial-industrial expansion of the harbor, largest dry cargo port on the Pacific Coast and second only to Los Angeles Harbor in total business, is growing at both ends.

At the south or ocean terminus of the 2,200-acre port, new landfill is being extended toward the breakwater and several automated facilities have been completed recently or are in the mill.

At the north side of inner harbor district decrepit and antiquated facilities are being torn down and new structures are going up. Badly subsided and unused land also is being reclaimed.

Sections of Channels One and Two are being dredged and new wharfing put into place.

Biggest of the "old section" developments is the $10 million complex on Channel Two where 40 acres of badly subsided land has been filled and two major industrial projects erected.

The National Gypsum Co. plant, to be finished about Sept. 1, will cost $7 million and will employ 175 persons. The plant expects to import about 120,000 tons of gypsum and will produce 250 million square feet of wallboard.

Also at the location will be the clerical and administrative headquarters of the company for the western U.S. states.

Immediately adjacent to Nattrop is the new $1 million scrap facility of Pacific Terminals Inc. Pacific Terminals will handle approximately 300,000 tons of scrap its first year in operation.

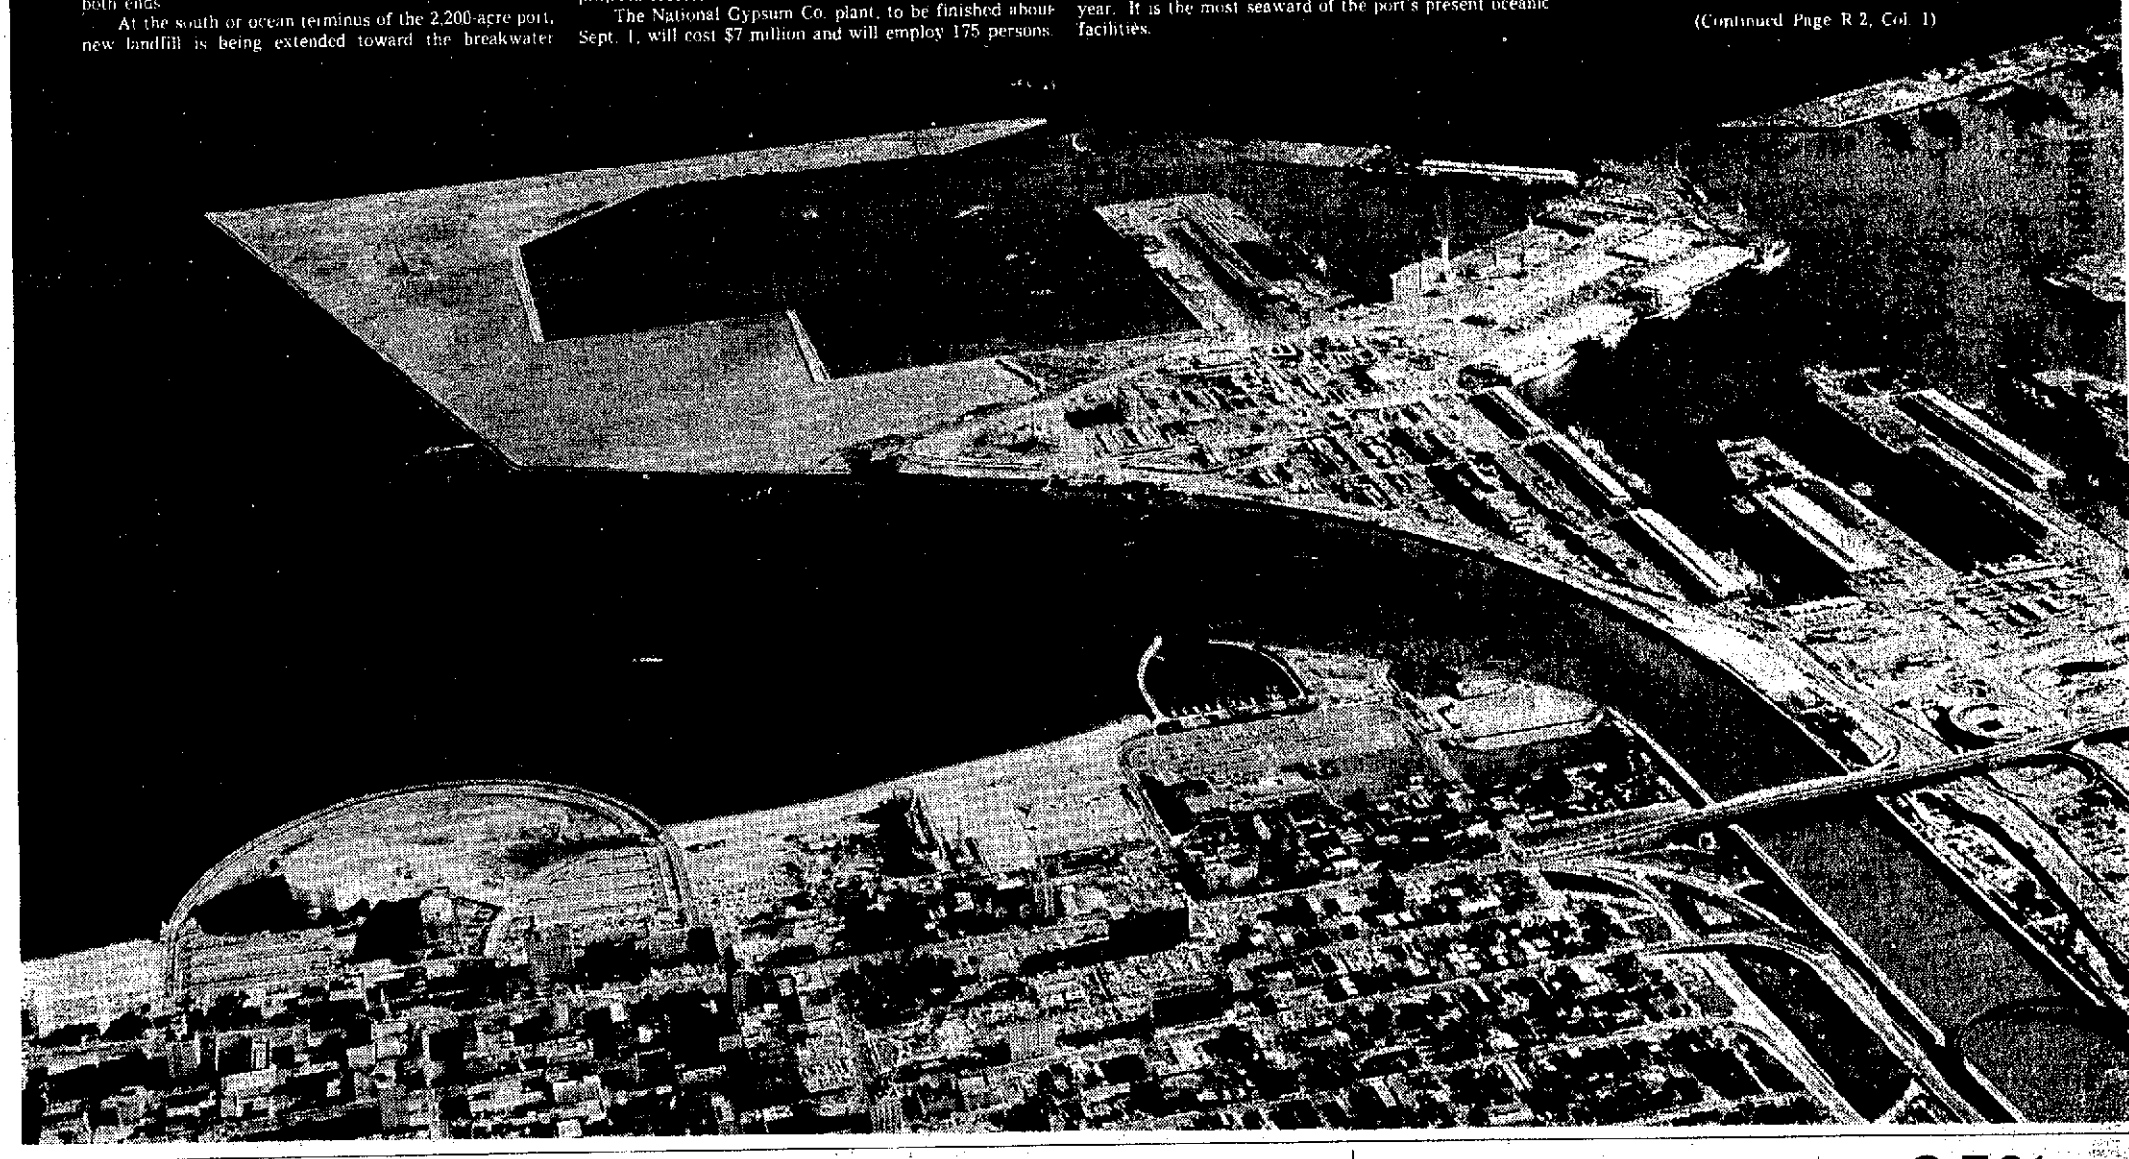

At the other end of the harbor and just west of the newly completed 311 acre landfill Pier J (to be dedicated later this year) is the new Pier F International Terminal. The Pier F center, costing $2.8 million, will function primarily as a steel products shipping center. It is expected to handle about 250,000 tons of steel products each year. It is the most seaward of the port's present oceanic facilities.

In the Seventh district are now under construction or [illegible] $60 unit Department of Agriculture inspection and administrative center on Pier A, 125 employes are present and the new plant for Ocean Salt Co., a firm which will handle about 100,000 tons annually.

Construction is due to start soon on a plant terminal for THUMS Long Beach Inc. on Pier G. Covering 236,000 square feet, the service center for the five companies oil combine will contain field offices, warehouse area, barge landing, small boat piers, a heliport and parking for more than 200 cars.

Recently put into operation is a new $2 million oil terminal at Berth 73 in the inner harbor. The facility, operated by Powering Co., has three 90,000 barrel storage

$650,000 Bank Remodeling Set

A major addition to downtown Long Beach has been revealed with Bank of America announcement of a $650,000 remodeling program for its Long Beach Main Office at 4th Street and Pine Avenue.

Roland E. Robbins, vice president and manager of the office, said the modernization project would retain the classic feature of the present structure, highlighted by gracious new appointments.

Architects plans and drawings are now near completion and actual construction will begin within a short time, Robbins said.

* * * *

THE STATELY exterior of the building will be emphasized by installation of simple white marble columns across the Pine Avenue frontage. An expanded main entrance with a glass mosaic tile mural above the main doors will complete the facade.

Continuing this theme, the present terra cotta finish will be removed and granite facing in a soft gray-pink will be installed.

A new overhang along the Pine and 4th Street sides will add to the classic design. Ornamental gold annodized grillwork will cover the towering side windows.

* * * *

INTERIOR FIXTURES will retain the marble bases, with dividers and appointments of bronze. Walnut paneling will be installed in the main room and rear area, with the marble wainscoating lowered to a height of four feet.

Throughout the rest of the building, floor coverings, fixtures and carpets will be installed.

"Our objective in the total effect of this major project is to add a commanding strength and quality to the modernization of downtown Long Beach, as well as creating a modern, pleasant, and convenient banking area for our customers," Robbins said.

CONTRACT SIGNED

Presbyterians to Build Church at 3rd and Atlantic

By VERN ANTHONY
Progress Section Editor

Covenant Presbyterian Church of Long Beach has signed a contract with Leonard V. Bouas Co. of Anaheim for construction at 3rd Street and Atlantic Avenue of a new church to cost nearly a million dollars. Work is expected to start soon.

Participating in the final contract action were the pastor, Rev. Hugh David Burcham; contractor Bouas; Albert G. Davis, president of the church board of trustees; Joseph M. Wilson, board secretary; Bennett Todd, Building Committee chairman and George McClean, Building Campaign director.

* * * *

CONSTRUCTION of a major church at 3rd and Atlantic will demonstrate faith in the downtown district of Long Beach, the pastor noted.

The new Covenant Church will rise on the site of the old Calvary Presbyterian Church which in 1963 was merged with the former First Presbyterian Church at 6th Street and Locust Avenue.

Additional property between Atlantic and Lime avenues along Third Street has been purchased and cleared by the church to make room for the large new plant which will include sanctuary, chapel, Fellowship Hall, educational buildings and administrative unit, all surrounding a large landscaped court. There will be off-street parking.

* * * *

ACTUAL amount of the contract, excluding the new pipe organ and certain other items to be provided by special memorial gifts, is $998,800.

In the meantime, the church, now with a membership exceeding 2,000, will continue to meet at the 6th and Locust church, which eventually will be razed.

Prior to demolition of the old Cavalry church, the cornerstone of the building was removed.

The church at 6th and Locust was built in 1907, and the old Calvary structure was built eight years later.

Why Tax Levy at 25% of Value? Assessor Tells

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Starting this week, the Progress Section will carry a series of articles by Philip E. Watson, Los Angeles County assessor, explaining the overall property tax system.)

By PHILIP E. WATSON

In the wake of the recent tax protests, more people than ever before are beginning to ask how our property tax structure works. As one element in this complex structure, I appreciate this opportunity to explain how my department fits into the whole.

The assessor's job, when you come right down to it, is very simply stated. It's not so simply accomplished in a county the size and complexity of ours, but that's another story.

My job is to make an assessment—in other words, to place a value—on every piece of taxable property in the county in uniform proportion. That means if your house is worth $50,000 and a house down the block is worth $25,000, it is my responsibility to see to it that your assessment is twice as high as that of your neighbor.

* * * *

IN LOS ANGELES County, since I have announced that all assessments will be made at 25% of market value, that would require an assessment of $12,500 on the $50,000 home and an assessment of $6,250 on the $25,000 home.

Where did I get the 25% assessment ratio?

I didn't just pick it out of the air. Nor did I pick it because of any special fondness for the number 25.

I announced the 25% ratio because when I took office in December of 1962, the State Board of Equalization had determined that the prevailing countywide assessment ratio here was 24.6%. I simply rounded it off at 25%, which for all practical purposes was then the existing average assessment ratio.

* * * *

UNDER PRESENT state law, the assessor does not have to announce the assessment ratio he is using. Some assessors have taken advantage of this by talking such gobbledygook as "I assess property at not to exceed 50% of my opinion of market value."

That leaves a wide range anything from 0 to 50. The net result of such evasion on the part of the assessor is that the average taxpayer finds it almost impossible to challenge the fairness of his assessment. Trying to pin down such a definition is something like trying to eat hot jello with a fork.

No Hope Seen for Automobile Liability Insurance Reduction

By KEN CHILCOTE
Business Editor

If you held any hopes for reduction in motorcar insurance rates in the near future, forget them. In fact, those spiraling rates, within a few years, may make today's rates look like "the good old days" were enjoyed in 1965.

Don't blame the insurance firms for the increases!

We each can blame ourselves, to some extent.

When we demand new styling that virtually does away with damage-deflecting bumpers; more power and speed and more fancy accessories, we are asking for trouble. Cost of repairs spirals as a result.

* * * *

ONCE IT was a minor claim for a dented fender. Today you virtually replace a fourth of your car exterior when fender damage results from a collision.

Last year, insurance companies writing automobile physical damage coverage—collision, comprehensive, fire and theft—suffered the severest underwriting losses in a decade, President James L. Dorris reported to the National Automobile Underwriters Association recently.

Continuing uptrend in automobile accidents is having its effect in increasing rates and he predicted that the rates are to continue increasing in the years ahead.

* * * *

"THERE IS nothing in the picture that we can see today which would indicate any downtrend," declared Dorris.

"Traffic congestion is mounting. Highways are not being improved fast enough to accommodate the increasing number of cars that stream off the assembly lines."

The past year stock companies affiliated with NAUA suffered a 5% underwriting loss on damage coverage in reimbursing car owners for damage to his own car.

An all-time record loss was suffered for coverage of all physical damage, the NAUA said.

Chief cause of the underwriting losses is the spiraling of average claim costs, which on private passenger cars was up 7% in the year.

"Taxes are responsible for about 2% of the annual increase in repair costs," Dorris continued.

* * * *

"LABOR constitutes at least one-half of the loss payments and thus, with wage increases a foregone conclusion as union contracts expire, automobile losses in terms of dollars will continue to soar."

During the past year 3.5 million more cars and trucks were added to the 73 million already operating on the highways.

"Most experts theorize that the accident rate is rising because of the sheer increase in road volume—a rise of 47% since 1954," he added.

"Rise in the number of vehicles produces a geometric rise in the number of accident opportunities. The U. S. surgeon general estimates that 70% of all persons driving today will have an accident within the next five years.

* * * *

"A CONTRIBUTING factor to the highway accident toll is the growth in the number of drivers under age of 20 and over 65.

"These two age groups account for 15% of the driving population but are involved in a much higher percentage of the total accidents.

"The youthful driver problem will increase since 3.75 million youngsters will reach the age of 18 years in 1965, about one million more than the average of the past few years."

Firm to Survey L.A. Harbor Management

The Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners recently selected the firm of Booz, Allen & Hamilton, Inc., 611 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, to conduct an industrial and administrative survey of Port of Los Angeles operation and management.

The survey, required every 10 years by city charter, will be an inclusive study, according to George D. Watson, commission president, and is expected to show that the department is being operated efficiently and economically.

"It also will develop practical plans for organization and operations to guide the department in the challenging year ahead," he said.

* * * *

EXPECTED TO take five months and to cost $60,000, the survey generally will encompass the following:

Organization and management setup of the Harbor Department; analysis of policies governing management of lands; adequacy of present dollar returns from Harbor-based firms; anaysis of present and future electronic data processing system; determination of port development potential; and possible application of newer management methods.

* * * *

WATSON SAID that Booz, Allen & Hamilton has been in business since 1914 and has had experience with similar surveys and studies including such clients as the New York Port Authority, Hawaii Harbor Department and other West Coast harbors.

County OKs Widenin Wilmington Ave. Stri

Widening of Wilmington Avenue between 223rd Street and Sepulveda has been approved by the Los Angeles County Road Department as part of a major road improvement program in the Watson Industrial Center area just west of Long Beach.

Wilmington Avenue presently is a two-lane roadway, 40 feet wide. It will be converted to a major divided highway, 84 feet wide, for a distance of nearly 1½ miles.

The Road Department anticipates asking for bids sometime this summer.

The Wilmington Avenue widening, as well as other road improvements scheduled for the area, were brought on by anticipat heavy traffic at the W son Industrial Center, cou ty spokesmen said. W mington, for example, the eastern boundary Phase One of the Center.

With more than $150 million already invested in its municipal harbor, Long Beach is launching ambitious plans to double its size and value.

The commercial-industrial expansion of the harbor, largest dry cargo port on the Pacific Coast and second only to Los Angeles Harbor in total business, is growing at both ends.

$650,000 Bank Remodeling Set

A major addition to downtown Long Beach has been revealed with Bank of America announcement of a $650,000 remodeling program for its Long Beach Main Office at 4th Street and Pine Avenue.

Roland E. Robbins, vice president and manager of the office, said the modernization project would retain the classic feature of the present structure, highlighted by gracious new appointments.

Architects plans and drawings are now near completion and actual construction will begin within a short time, Robbins said.

* * * *

THE STATELY exterior of the building will be emphasized by installation of simple white marble columns across the Pine Avenue frontage. An expanded main entrance with a glass mosaic tile mural above the main doors will complete the facade.

Continuing this theme, the present terra cotta finish will be removed and granite facing in a soft gray-pink will be installed.

A new overhang along the Pine and 4th Street sides will add to the classic design. Ornamental gold annodized grillwork will cover the towering side windows.

* * * *

INTERIOR FIXTURES will retain the marble bases, with dividers and appointments of bronze. Walnut paneling will be installed in the main room and rear area, with the marble wainscoating lowered to a height of four feet.

Throughout the rest of the building, floor coverings, fixtures and carpets will be installed.

"Our objective in the total effect of this major project is to add a commanding strength and quality to the modernization of downtown Long Beach, as well as creating a modern, pleasant, and convenient banking area for our customers," Robbins said.

Covenant Presbyterian Church of Long Beach has signed a contract with Leonard V. Bouas Co. of Anaheim for construction at 3rd Street and Atlantic Avenue of a new church to cost nearly a million dollars. Work is expected to start soon.

Participating in the final contract action were the pastor, Rev. Hugh David Burcham; contractor Bouas; Albert G. Davis, president of the church board of trustees; Joseph M. Wilson, board

The facility provides fuel to ships calling in the harbor.

Powerine, largest independent refinery and marketing chain in the western U.S., expects to bunker ships at a rate of 200,000 barrels per month.

Additional wharf work is under way in this district, too.

At the same time work has begun on construction of wharves for two berths on the projected Pier Y unit of the Pier J complex. Approximately $3.4 million will be needed for wharf construction and $1 million for engineering and backlot preparation work.

Plans calls for adding another 25 acres to the fill at the location, creating a 25-acre Pier Y. Pier Y is to be followed by a 50-acre Pier H immediately to its west and just east of the present Pier G.

At present there are nearly $25 million in new projects being designed for the port of Long Beach.

Biggest of these projects is the $15 million Gerald Desmond Bridge. Construction of this high level connection between mainland Long Beach and Terminal Island is expected to begin in late July or early August.

Additionally, according to the harbor department, there are $29.5 million in projects under construction in the harbor.

Banking Institute Conference Here

Saturday, July 10, the 1,532 members of the local Harbor District Chapter of the American Institute of Banking will host 400 delegates of District VII at the institute's 31st annual regional conference, according to Dean Andreasen, Harbor Chapter president and a department head at the Bank of America.

Sessions will be at the Edgewater Marina Inn Hotel.

Delegates to the conference will represent AIB chapters from all over Southern California, Hawaii and Arizona. In addition to general sessions and clinics on bank educational problems, the conference will be addressed by Vern Waldo, national vice president of the American Institute of Banking and vice president of the First National Bank of Nevada. Other speakers will be Wallace Jamie, director of public relations for the Carnation Co., and Stary Gange, a farmer and former banker who is now special consultant to the Southern California Gas Co.

THE AMERICAN Institute of Banking is the educational section of the American Bankers Association, and is the largest educational organization of its type in the world. With chapters and study groups in 571 cities and towns throughout the United States, its membership includes over 200,000 bank employes and officers.

Some 30 courses of study are available to bankers through the institute's educational program, and certificates are annually awarded to thousands of bankers for the successful completion of its prescribed courses.

During the school year just completed, the Harbor District Chapter honored 42 of its banker-students with certificates. Regional conferences of the type to be held at the Edgewater Hotel July 10, serve as clearing houses for the discussion and solution of mutual banking educational problems.

Assessor Watson Explains Policies

resolved to make it as easy and understandable as possible for any property owner to judge for himself whether he is being fairly treated by our office. That's why I announced the percentage assessment ratio, and why we continue to tell the people to multiply their assessment by four to find our opinion of the market value, and to come in to see if we're wrong.

While what I've said explains the "how" and "why" of the present 25% ratio, it's interesting to look back at the history of percentage ratios.

* * * *

OUR STATE constitution says, "All assessments must be made at full cash value." Dozens of court decisions have defined "full cash value" as "market value," the price in cash or cash equivalent at which property would change hands assuming both the buyer and seller to be willing and informed.

This would sound as if assessments, to be constitutionally legal, should be made at 100% of value, rather than at some percentage. In fact, a suit was recently filed to force assessors to asses at 100% of value, using this identical reasoning.

However, the courts ruled that regardless of what the constitution appeared to mean, percentage assessments were legal because usage and custom had, in effect, legitimized the practice. The courts pointed out that it made no practical difference whether property was assessed at 25, 50 or 100% so long as the same percentage was applied uniformly to all property.

* * * *

THE HISTORY of using a percentage assessment ratio is somewhat obscure. It would appear that in California assessing began at something approaching 100% of value back in 1850 when the state was admitted to the Union and our present property tax system was enacted. However, assessments tend to be made at conservative, rather than optimum, levels.

If we were assessing at 100%, three different appraisers might say the same house was worth $10,000, $10,500, or $11,000 and perhaps a strong case could be made for any of the three values. If we settled on $10,000, anyone who felt the property was worth $11,000 might argue that we were assessing at 90% instead of 100%, while we would maintain that the lower figure was indeed 100%.

Something like this appears to have happened in California assessment history over the last half of the 19th Century.

* * * *

ANOTHER FACTOR arguing for conservative value judgments was that at the time the state also levied a property tax against these assessments. Since the state tax rate was standard throughout the state, county assessors apparently began to inch their assessments downward to keep less money from going to Sacramento.

(As an example, if County A and B had identical amounts of property of $1,000,000 in full cash value, but County A used an 80% ratio while County B still maintained 100% assessments, County A's assessment roll would be only $800,000 against County B's $1,000,000 roll. With a statewide tax rate of $1 a hundred, County A would only pay $8,000 to the state on the same amount of property on which County B had to pay $10,000.)

* * * *

DURING THE first 30 years of this century, assessments dropped and leveled off at about a 50% ratio. However, during the depression, property values nosedived and assessments dropped accordingly. As the economy picked up in the late 30s and then into the war years, assesments never generally returned to the 50% ratio except on certain classes of property. When the State Board of Equalization began in 1955 to find the prevailing average assessment ratios, counties generally were at the 25% level.

One cynic has commented, "The mystery surrounding the assessment ratio gives the assessor a graveyard in which to bury his mistakes."

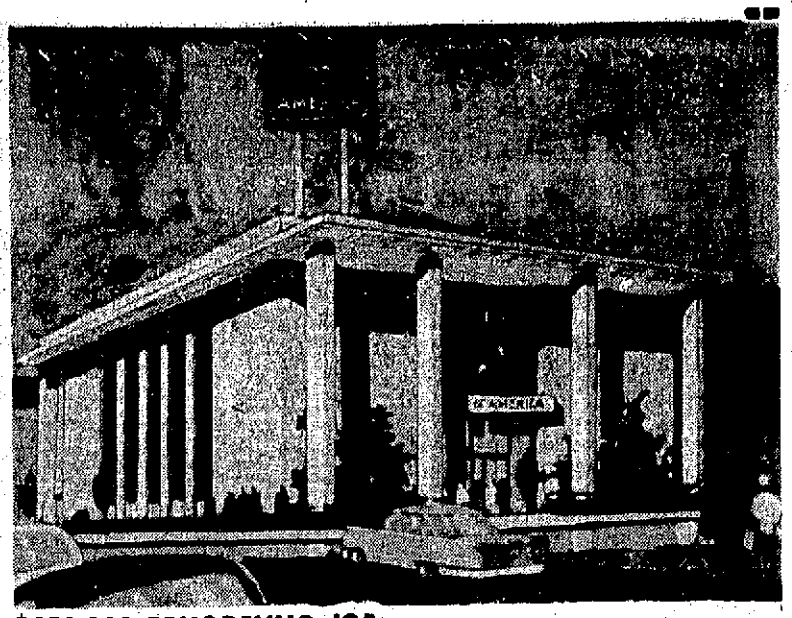

In Los Angeles County, we don't intend to bury our mistakes. We say openly our assessments are meant to be at 25%. If we've made a mistake, we expect you to bring it to light.

NATIONAL GYPSUM OFFICE BUILDING
This new administration building on Eighth Street west of Los Angeles River flood control channel is part of National Gypsum Co.'s new plant complex under construction in the Long Beach Harbor area. An aerial photo in last Sunday's edition mistakenly identified the facility as that of United States Gypsum. It is National.

tanks, one 67,000-barrel tank for diesel oil, and two 43,000-barrel tanks for gasoline.

The facility provides fuel to ships calling in the harbor.

Powerine, largest independent refinery and marketing chain in the western U.S., expects to bunker ships at a rate of 200,000 barrels per month.

Additional wharf work is under way in this district, too.

At the same time work has begun on construction of wharves for two berths on the projected Pier Y unit of the Pier J complex. Approximately $3.4 million will be needed for wharf construction and $1 million for engineering and backlot preparation work.

Plans calls for adding another 25 acres to the fill at the location, creating a 25-acre Pier Y. Pier Y is to be followed by a 50-acre Pier H immediately to its west and just east of the present Pier G.

At present there are nearly $25 million in new projects being designed for the port of Long Beach.

Biggest of these projects is the $15 million Gerald Desmond Bridge. Construction of this high level connection between mainland Long Beach and Terminal Island is expected to begin in late July or early August.

Additionally, according to the harbor department, there are $29.5 million in projects under construction in the harbor.

Banking Institute Conference Here

Saturday, July 10, the 1,532 members of the local Harbor District Chapter of the American Institute of Banking will host 400 delegates of District VII at the institute's 31st annual regional conference, according to Dean Andreasen, Harbor Chapter president and a department head at the Bank of America.

Sessions will be at the Edgewater Marina Inn Hotel.

Delegates to the conference will represent AIB chapters from all over Southern California, Hawaii and Arizona. In addition to general sessions and clinics on bank educational problems, the conference will be addressed by Vern Waldo, national vice president of the American Institute of Banking and vice president of the First National Bank of Nevada. Other speakers will be Wallace Jamie, director of public relations for the Carnation Co., and Stary Gange, a farmer and former banker who is now special consultant to the Southern California Gas Co.

THE AMERICAN Institute of Banking is the educational section of the American Bankers Association, and is the largest educatinnal organization of its type in the world. With chapters and study groups in 571 cities and towns throughout the United States, its membership includes over 200,000 bank employes and officers.

Some 30 courses of study are available to bankers through the institute's educational program, and certificates are annually awarded to thousands of bankers for the successful completion of its prescribed courses.

During the school year just completed, the Harbor District Chapter honored 42 of its banker-students with certificates. Regional conferences of the type to be held at the Edgewater Hotel July 10, serve as clearing houses for the discussion and solution of mutual banking educational problems.

Brown Towers Sets Open House on Anniversary

First anniversary of occupancy of the John Brown Towers, 3737 Atlantic Ave. will be observed with an open house from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Tenants will join in playing host to visitors, it was announced by Clinton H. Fowler, vice president and administrator in the John Brown organization.

There will be guided tours of the 14-story building, which contains 169 apartments. Fowler said invitations had been sent out but the event will be open to the public.

New Mobil Oil Executive Named

Harry Campbell, former president of Franco Western Oil Co., has been named assistant to the vice president of the Los Angeles Exploration and Producing Division of Mobil Oil Co.

HARRY CAMPBELL

Mobil recently acquired some oil producing properties and other assets of Franco Western.

Prior to joining Franco Western in 1948, Campbell was employed as petroleum engineer by Union Oil Co. He was graduated from the Colorado School of Mines with a degree in petroleum engineering.

Assessor Watson Explains Policies

resolved to make it as easy and understandable as possible for any property owner to judge for himself whether he is being fairly treated by our office. That's why I announced the percentage assessment ratio, and why we continue to tell the people to multiply their assessment by four to find our opinion of the market value, and to come in to see if we're wrong.

While what I've said explains the "how" and "why" of the present 25% ratio, it's interesting to look back at the history of percentage ratios.

* * * *

OUR STATE constitution says, "All assessments must be made at full cash value." Dozens of court decisions have defined "full cash value" as "market value," the price in cash or cash equivalent at which property would change hands assuming both the buyer and seller to be willing and informed.

This would sound as if assessments, to be constitutionally legal, should be made at 100% of value, rather than at some percentage. In fact, a suit was recently filed to force assessors to asses at 100% of value, using this identical reasoning.

However, the courts ruled that regardless of what the constitution appeared to mean, percentage assessments were legal because usage and custom had, in effect, legitimized the practice. The courts pointed out that it made no practical difference whether property was assessed at 25, 50 or 100% so long as the same percentage was applied uniformly to all property.

* * * *

THE HISTORY of using a percentage assessment ratio is somewhat obscure. It would appear that in California assessing began at something approaching 100% of value back in 1850 when the state was admitted to the Union and our present property tax system was enacted. However, assessments tend to be made at conservative, rather than optimum, levels.

If we were assessing at 100%, three different appraisers might say the same house was worth $10,000, $10,500, or $11,000 and perhaps a strong case could be made for any of the three values. If we settled on $10,000, anyone who felt the property was worth $11,000 might argue that we were assessing at 90% instead of 100%, while we would maintain that the lower figure was indeed 100%.

Something like this appears to have happened in California assessment history over the last half of the 19th Century.

* * * *

ANOTHER FACTOR arguing for conservative value judgments was that at the time the state also levied a property tax against these assessments. Since the state tax rate was standard throughout the state, county assessors apparently began to inch their assessments downward to keep less money from going to Sacramento.

(As an example, if County A and B had identical amounts of property of $1,000,000 in full cash value, but County A used an 80% ratio while County B still maintained 100% assessments, County A's assessment roll would be only $800,000 against County B's $1,000,000 roll. With a statewide tax rate of $1 a hundred, County A would only pay $8,000 to the state on the same amount of property on which County B had to pay $10,000.)

* * * *

DURING THE first 30 years of this century, assessments dropped and leveled off at about a 50% ratio. However, during the depression, property values nosedived and assessments dropped accordingly. As the economy picked up in the late 30s and then into the war years, assesments never generally returned to the 50% ratio except on certain classes of property. When the State Board of Equalization began in 1955 to find the prevailing average assessment ratios, counties generally were at the 25% level.

One cynic has commented, "The mystery surrounding the assessment ratio gives the assessor a graveyard in which to bury his mistakes."

In Los Angeles County, we don't intend to bury our mistakes. We say openly our assessments are meant to be at 25%. If we've made a mistake, we expect you to bring it to light.

GROUND-BREAKING CEREMONY HELD
Old California Hotel in Fullerton will be transformed into this Villa del Sol shopping plaza by developers Howard Eichen and J. K. Eichenbaum. Complex will include exclusive shops and fancy restaurant.

Villa del Sol Project Gets Under Way at Fullerton

FULLERTON — Conversion of the historic three-story California Hotel into an unusual shopping plaza moved a step nearer with groundbreaking ceremonies last week for the Villa del Sol project in downtown Fullerton.

Participants including County Supervisor William Phillips and Mayor Everette Farnsworth commented about "revitalization" of the downtown area and lauded Howard Eichen, president of the developing organization, whose liking for architectural charm and early California history led him to the project.

* * * *

THE HARBOR BOULEVARD landmark will undergo extensive alterations and additions to become a complex of exclusive small shops, a major restaurant and a cultural center.

The restaurant will have an interior of traditional old-California and Spain, with authentic artifacts and building materials utilized throughout. Within the 8,000-square-foot establishment, plans call for a sub-level "cave" and wine cellar, a grill, lounge area and main dining room.

Visitors to the development will cross a bridge and enter huge hand-wrought iron doors into the Old World elegance of early California's architecture and decor. A moat will run parallel with Harbor Boulevard's frontage over which the drawbridge will be placed.

THE CALIFORNIA HOTEL was erected by public subscription in the early 1920's and recently was subject of controversy when plans were introduced to raze the building in favor of a carwash.

Citizens and civil leaders alike were distressed by the possibility of losing a landmark.

The resulting furor attracted the attention of Eichen, 33, president of Development Coordinators, a Fullerton-based firm that handles design and construction aspects for major subdivisions throughout the West. He was absorbed with the challenge of restoring the hotel and by the opportunity of providing a dynamic addition to the downtown area.

* * * *

EICHEN, along with his partner on the project, J. K. Eichenbaum, owner of the hotel, will start construction immediately. Completion is slated for November of this year.

Lakewood Center, near Long Beach, was developed by Eichenbaum, whose other enterprises include the San Gabriel Valley Eastland Shopping Center, Canoga Park Valley Park Plaza and Fallbrook Center, on part of the old Platt Ranch at Fallbrook. His offices are in Beverly Hills.

Local Firm Acquired by Parsons Co.

The Ralph M. Parsons Electronics Co., Pasadena, has recently acquired the product line and personnel of Western Electrosystems, 1047 East Seventh St., Long Beach, Parsons vice president and general manager, C. W. Brandt announced.

"The addition of solid state commutators, analog - to - digital converters, active data filters, tape recorder electronics, and other products will assist in the growth potential of Parsons airborne telemetry systems and enhance our penetration into the digital electronics field," Brandt said.

Former Western Electrosystems co-owners, Neil Marshall and Larry Herrington, have been appointed as director of engineering and manager of special products respectively.

New Calculator Added to Line

Lloyd Stanley, district manager of the SCM-Marchant office at 2142 Long Beach Blvd., announced last week that the newest type of electronic desk-top calculator would be sold locally.

Named Cogito 240 and 240 SR, the new models will complement the varied line of push-button, single keyboard, 10-key and printing calculators already marketed by Marchant, Stanley said.

Awards Given to 61 Underwriters

Sixty-one members of the Long Beach Life Underwriters Association were honored last week at the group's monthly meeting at the Lakewood Country Club when they became recipients of the National Quality Award, one of the industry's most coveted honors.

The award is given annually to 15% of the 89,000 members of the 842 life underwriters associations in the nation who are so outstanding in services to clients that 90% of the sales made over a two-year period remain in force at the end of the second year.

Philip Grosser (agent-Mutual of New York), president-elect of the California Association of Life Underwriters, was the principal speaker and discussed "Complete Personal Protection."

Lloyd (Pacific Mutual), president of the local association, presided.

Music and Trade Talk on Program

BELLFLOWER — A short musical program by the "Oxford Four" and a talk on "Trade Exchanges" by Gregory Guydus of the Anthony Schools, Anaheim, will feature the Thursday breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors.

Breakfast starts at 7:30 a.m., in the Cerritos College Student Center.

Singers will include Margaret Shanor, who has sung with the Young Americans group; Dr. G. W. Abersold, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Mrs. Abersold, and Charles Harrell, director of the church choir.

Vietnamese Navy Role to Be Told

"The Role of the Vietnamese Navy in Counter-Insurgency" will be told to Long Beach Realtors and associates at their Tuesday breakfast meeting, according to Dick Saxon, program chairman.

COMDR. CALLAWAY

Speaker will be Navy Comdr. W. F. Callaway. The realty board meets at 7:15 a.m. in the Crown cafeteria.

Callaway served in World War II and has had varied naval assignments since. He now is assistant repair superintendent at Long Beach Naval Shipyard and lives in Rossmoor.

ADULT LUXURY LIVING

Spacious rooms, such as this, are provided in the Fernhill development in Huntington Beach. The homes are for families with children over 15 years.

Fernhill Homes Are Designed to Fit Needs of Adult Family

By designing planned development homes to fit the practical needs of adults, including families with children 15 or over, Fernhill in Huntington Beach continues to enjoy sales success, reports Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks Inc., sales agents.

Adults with children in their middle and late teens begin to find themselves with more leisure time on their hands, McFarland said, describing this as "a process which continues until the children have gone off to full adult lives of their own—at which time couples find they have more leisure than ever before." He pointed out that yardwork and home maintenance tend to become futile for people in this position.

* * * *

PLANNED development home ownership is designed to meet the needs of these people, in McFarland's view. All exterior maintenance is handled professionaly at Fernhill. The Fernhill homeowner is freed of these burdens.

Fernhill's two and three-bedroom, two-bath homes have up to 1600 square feet of living area. Prices start at $22,400 with 5% down and 30-year loans at 6¼%.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica Road south from San Diego Freeway to Warner Ave., then turn left to Fernhill.

Deauville Marina Units in Demand

The $4 million Deauville Marina apartment and boat slip development in Marina del Rey is over 50% leased in less than five weeks.

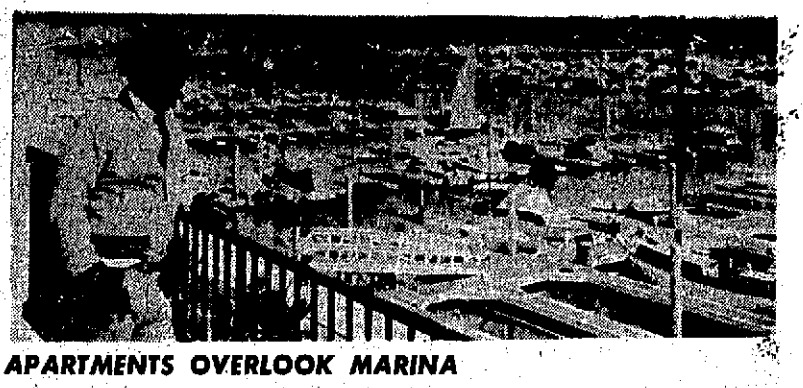

A. C. Black, partner of the Deauville builders of the project, noted that the rental pace is the fastest in the Marina's history.

* * * *

SITUATED on the tip of Marquesas Way, the units have water on three sides and command a view of the harbor channel. The project offers 120 one, two and three-bedroom apartments and 311 boat slips for craft from 25 to 80 feet in length.

The apartments include such features as: electric radiant ceiling heating, rock and brick fireplaces, walnut paneled bars, master suites with dressing rooms and all electric kitchens.

Deauville Marina can be reached via the San Diego freeway north to the Washington Blvd. off-ramp, west to the Marina del Rey and follow signs.

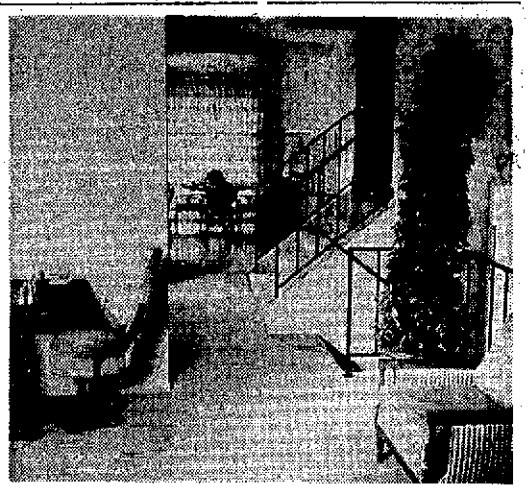

APARTMENTS OVERLOOK MARINA

A. C. Black, Deauville Marina partner, views the project's boat slips from apartment overlooking the water before taking his own yacht for a cruise.

Bids Due on Naval Station Mess Hall

Bids on the proposed $700,000 new mess hall for the U. S. Naval Station here, will be received until July 16 at the U. S. Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks, San Diego.

BUILT-IN LUXURY

Luxury of El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach is shown here with the family room in the foreground, dining room in the background, and the stairway to upstairs bedrooms and downstairs rumpus room in the center.

Townhouses Attract Many to Tustin

Diverse floor plans, tailored to small and large families, combined with prices below comparable residences, are drawing value-conscious buyers to Tustin Imperial Townhouses in Tustin, reports Jerry Farrow, owner of Farrow Realty Corp., sales agents for the development.

"Plans and prices are two big sales factors," he said, "and especially priced since the community is located in the prestige area of Tustin."

Closeness to schools, shopping, and employment centers is a third factor in the rapid sales of the homes which are offered from $14,995 to $18,550, Farrow said.

* * * *

"A FOURTH factor which makes the homes and location highly desirable," Farrow said, "is down payment. On conventional terms, buyers may purchase with $495 total down payment with the balance of the loan at 6% interest for 30 years. There are no second trust deed or balloon payments and buyers may have immediate occupancy."

Tustin Imperial Townhouses contain 134 two-three-four-and-five bedroom homes, with common green areas, recreational center, two swimming pools, shuffleboard courts and badminton courts.

The development may be reached by driving south on the Santa Ana Freeway, to the Red Hill turnoff in Tustin, right on Red Hill to Mitchell Ave., then left on Mitchell to models.

To Preview New Homes

A special preview of Showcase Homes in Westminster, providing prospective homebuyers the opportunity to take advantage of the "custom completion" plan will be held today, it was announced by McFarland & Mattocks, sales agents.

The "custom completion" plan gives the buyer a choice in the selection of the many details and planning to suit individual needs and requirements.

Priced from $25,950 spacious homes in the development on Hazard Ave. at Brookhurst, contain up to six bedrooms.

Fireplaces Appeal in El Dorado Park

Twenty-four fireplace designs are offered at El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach, according to Dick Winchester, sales and marketing manager for S & S Construction Co.

"The wide variety of fireplace designs, each adopted to the individual decor of that particular house it graces, is one of the elements of luxury planning that has gone into El Dorado Park Estates," Winchester said.

Other features include lath and plaster walls and acoustical type ceilings, ceiling insulation, vinyl floors in kitchens, service porches and some family rooms, slate, terrazo, or travertine entry-hall floors and aluminum framed sliding glass doors.

There are seven floor plans and 35 exterior designs in three, four, and five-bedroom homes.

Located on Spring St. at Los Alamitos in Long Beach, El Dorado Park Estates provide a full street of furnished models.

Various Financing Terms Told on Premier Homes

PREMIER OFFERS PREMIUM AREA

"Premium Fun Area," a large, fully-finished room with tiled floor and plumbing roughed in for wet bar or third bath, has proved a significant element in success of Premier Homes, booming Huntington Beach subdivision.

Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach offer three financing options to meet varying homebuyer needs, according to Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks Inc., sales agents.

Veterans' "no down" financing is offered with loans at 5¼%. The realtor said that the low interest rate was particularly attractive to buyers qualifying for veterans' benefits.

FHA minimum down financing is also offered. McFarland reports that FHA-backed loans have great appeal to homebuyers because of the "fundamental soundness" of the FHA package. "There is in addition a high degree of confidence in the home itself, which the buyer knows has been federally inspected at every stage of construction," he said.

* * * *

HOMEBUYERS seeking an alternative to the FHA and VA financing arrangements at Premier will find a conventional financing package to fit their budgets, McFarland said. Conventional financing is from 5% down with long-term loans.

The homes are priced from $24,750. Three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes in single and two-story plans are included.

The model home display on Terry Street in Huntington Beach includes a Russian house built from actual Soviet plans.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica south from San Diego Freeway to Warner. Turn left on Warner to Hwy. 39, and then left two blocks to Terry Street.

HAS BUYER APPEAL

Much buyer interest in Barkley Square is attracted by the unique patio-kitchen design which provides a combination of indoor-outdoor living.

Big Families Drawn to Barkley Square

Barkley Square's large one and two-story homes which feature three to four bedrooms are winning the attention of those large families who are attracted to Cypress and its strategic location to schools, shopping, recreation and industry, according to Stanley W. Simpson, president of Barkley Development Co.

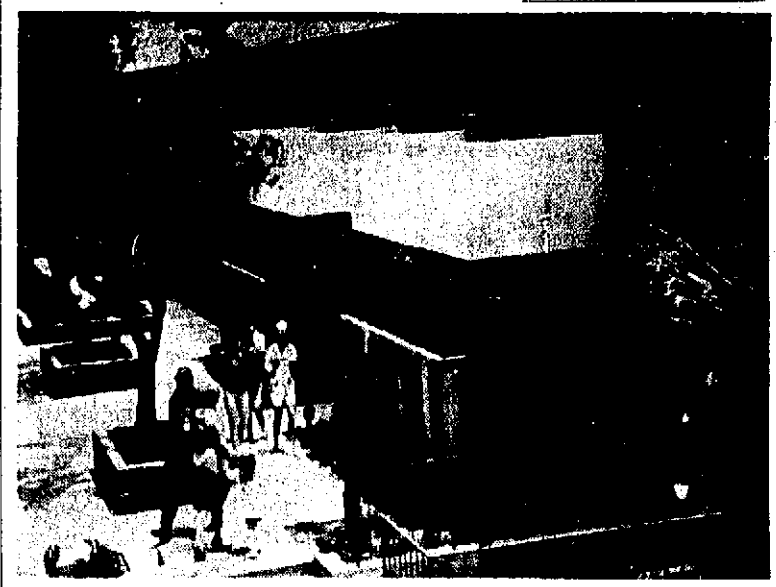

"I believe we can attribute the increased popularity of our homes to the fact that we've been able to fill the housing needs of sophisticated second and third-time home buyers moving up to a quality home that provides full value," Sampson said.

* * * *

A UNIQUE patio-kitchen design features of countertop on one wall that extends beyond the home's outer wall to form an outdoor snack bar near rear patio areas. Kitchen includes all built-in appliances.

VA, FHA and conventional financing is available on homes priced from $27,950.

Models may be reached by driving east on Carson to Moody, turn right to Barkley Square.

BAY VILLAGE NOW OPEN AT TORRANCE

Grand opening of Bay Village Family Apartments, 20530 Anza Ave., Torrance, was continuing this weekend, with entertainment and prizes. Built by R & B Development Co., Bay Village includes 128 one to four-bedroom units. Tenants will have use of clubhouse, pool and recreational facilities.

READY FOR OPENING

Three officials of Fireside Thrift are in Long Beach to conduct the opening of a new office at Third Street and Locust Avenue. From the left they are Joe Marchese, Southern California supervisor; Richard Werner, vice president, and L. D. Ladd, local office manager.

Office Opened Here by Fireside Thrift

Fireside Thrift, regarded as one of the nation's largest thrift and loan institutions, is opening an office at 146 E. 3rd St., in Long Beach. This new office on the southwest corner of Third and Locust Avenue, will be the 28th office in California for the company which is based in Redwood City.

Richard C. Werner, Fireside's vice president in charge of operations, said Long Beach was selected as a key city for the company because of its dynamic growth factor and economic soundness.

Lee Ladd, manager of the Long Beach office, said the company pays 4.85% per annum on passbook accounts. It also has 5 % $5,000 investment certificates which also earn an extra bonus. Loans from $100 to $3,000 are made by Fireside.

During the opening celebration refreshments and free gifts are offered.

Fireside's financial statement shows assets have grown from $7,260,840 in 1955 to $35,418,571 as of April 30.

Young Visitors to Adult Units Are Provided Fun

The "dear old golden rule days" of school aren't likely to be forgotten by youngsters who visit relatives at Huntington Bay, adult recreation community at Adams and Brookhurst Aves. in Huntington Beach.

"We have 15 school teachers living here now," says Jack Scougall, vice-president of marketing for Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc., "but youngsters who come here this summer won't have to worry about reading, writing and arithmetic — there will be too many other things for them to do!"

Scougall pointed out that Huntington Bay, with homes designed by Santa Ana architect Earl Kaltenbach, is a playland for summer fun.

* * * *

HUNTINGTON BAY'S adult residents entertain their young guests—usually grandchildren, nieces and nephews and their friends — every weekend in the Olympic-size swimming pool and the kiddie pool near the community's clubhouse.

"In the evening, it seems that everybody gets hungry from the day's activities," says Scougall, "and the picnic-barbecue area gets into full swing. The aroma of hamburgers and hot dogs on the barbecue grill really produces some excitement."

In the clubhouse, adults stage pancake breakfasts and potluck dinners and later enjoy card games, bingo and checkers.

The homes sell from $12,990 in one to three-bedroom models or three bedrooms with den. The project is three minutes' driving time from Huntington Beach State Park with its miles of shoreline.

The homes are furnished with washer and dryer, oven and range, disposal and completely nylon carpeted. A 5-year warranty on each home is given the purchaser.

HIS BOSS WINS

Should Gain Some Points

It may not be listed in "How to Win Friends"—but Don H. Lee of the Soule Steel Co. plant here sure struck the good way to influence his boss.

Lee, assistant secretary of the plant, was aiding a project of the local chapter of the National Association of Accountants and sold his boss a ticket.

George Thomas, chief accountant for Soule, won a holiday tour to Hawaii on the ticket.

AWARD-WINNING HOME
This Californian model of the varied stylings offered at the California Home Fair in Huntington Beach received Better Homes and Gardens Approved Value Design Award.

Home Fair Model Wins Approved Value Award

The Californian model at the California Home Fair, Alco-Pacific Construction Co's $8½ million residential community in Huntington Beach, has received the Approved Value Design Award in the Better Homes and Gardens 1965 Better Homes For All America Program.

The plans of the Californian, designed by Robert L. Barnett, AIA, were submitted to a panel of judges comprised of Ward Buzzell, National Association of Home Builders, John Normile, Better Homes and Gardens, and Stanley Edge, Housing Market Research. The award was based on floor plan, exterior styling and the quality of the materials and equipment.

* * * *

THE CALIFORNIAN provides functional living on three separate levels, says Barnett. We designed the lower level for utility, parking, storage, laundry and hobby rooms. The main level includes the family, entertainment-kitchen area with terraced patios leading off the family room and living room. The master bedroom suite is also on the main level with a private bath and dressing room.

On the upper quiet level of the home are the three family bedrooms and the second bath. A private balcony spans the exterior.

* * * *

THE THREE, four and five-bedroom homes are priced from $29,550 to $35,975 with many premium features included.

Visitors may view the award-winning Californian and four other furnished models daily at 16661 Beach Blvd. in Huntington Beach. Through the month of June, a representative selection of ceramics by Interspace is on display in the sales pavilion.

Win Prizes From Bank

Winners in the unique "House Full of Money" contest sponsored by the Anaheim-Obispo Branch of the Farmers & Merchants Bank have been announced by Gus A. Walker, president.

Grand prize winner was Ron F. Lucero, 9122 Mahalo Drive, Huntington Beach, who was presented a color television set.

Second prize went to Hubert S. O'Neal, 513 S. Colin, Compton, who won 44 uncirculated silver dollars. Third prize of 44 Kennedy halves went to Mike R. Weiss, 3635 E. Fifth St., Long Beach, and fourth prize of 44 new quarters went to C. B. Thompson of 719 Medio, Long Beach.

Over Thousand Now

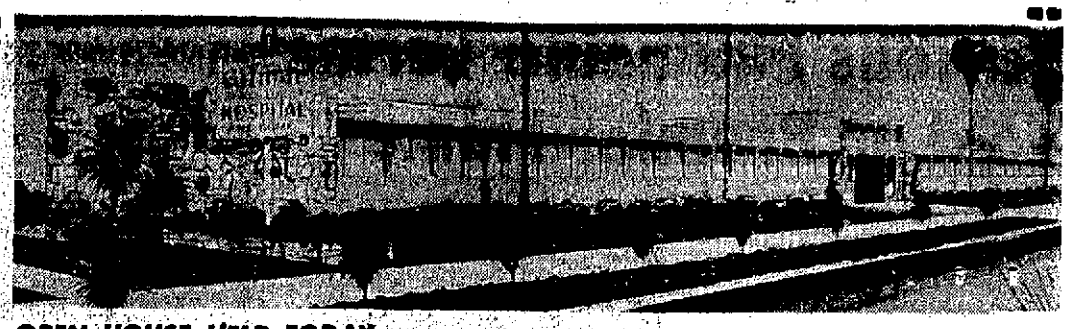

Society of Industrial Realtors total membership has topped the thousand mark for the first time in the group's 24-year history, according to James E. Hanson, president, of Newark, N.J.

Attracts Aerospace Employes

A survey of recent buyers at Rossmoor Townhouses, located two blocks from the Los Alamitos off-ramp of the San Diego Freeway, revealed that approximately 35% of the purchasers were employed in the aerospace and related industries.

Researchers, engineers and others employed at the North American and Douglas plants located within three miles of the Townhouse community comprise a great portion of the families now residing at Rossmoor.

This weekend a special showing of the new pool section at the luxurious $4 million development is scheduled by William Ballon, president, and Bernard Solomon, chairman of Jaymarc Corp., developers. The homes are immediately adjacent to Rossmoor Shopping and Business Center on Los Alamitos Blvd.

OPEN HOUSE HELD TODAY
Gilmar Convalescent Hospital and Home, 2725 Pacific Ave., will hold open house today. The facility, owned by Stivers Bros., contractors, will be administered by Gilbert Lee, executive director, and Daisy Hoagland, RN, as administrator. A new plan of five meals a day will be introduced and there is a recreation room, patios and a beauty salon.

College Park Home Features Appealing

Privacy is featured at College Park homes in the Rossmoor-Seal Beach area, according to Dick Winchester, sales and marketing manager for S & S Construction Co.

"The College Park floor plans bring one in from the entry way directly into a hallway," Winchester said. "This permits going directly to the kitchen without passing through the living room or dining room."

Plan 9, a two-story four-bedroom model, has a formal dining room screened from the living room. Family room on the opposite side of the kitchen provides another eating site, and also offers a fine social center away from the living room.

Selling from $25,300, they are available on four financing plans including VA, FHA Cal-Vet and conventional.

Visitors are invited to see the College Park models at Garden Grove Blvd. and Knott Street.

Named to Committee

Kenneth G. Walker, vice president, Farmers & Merchants Bank of Long Beach, has been appointed to the Committee on Legislation and Taxation within the California Bankers Association. Announcement was made by Frank M. Dana, CBA president and executive vice president, Bank of America, San Francisco.

Offer Easier Terms on Terra Casa Home

Remaining Terra Casa homes in Santa Ana have easier and even more attractive financing available than ever—only $995 down and with up to $1700 landscape and fence allowance.

The homes feature the distinguished styling of the Ranchero Era and have proven to be one of the most successful home developments.

V. J. Shrader, builder of the Spanish-styled homes, stated. "We feel the reason for such tremendous response of Terra Casa can be accounted for by the superb styling, intriguing quality and fine appointments that make every one of the five differently styled homes a distinctive residence, radiating its own special beauty."

* * * *

THE MULTITUDE of outstanding appointments is another attraction and enclosed patios, leading to double door entries, forced air heating, fireplaces in brick or stone, hardwood cabinets, colorful Formica countertops, built-in range & oven, dishwashers, pullman baths, luminous ceilings, extra large closets, nylon carpeting and aluminum sliding glass doors are featured.

"Each of these three, four and five-bedroom, two and three-bath spacious homes is created to give its new homeowner the maximum comfort and convenience," Shrader continued.

Furnished models are open daily. Go west on 17th Street to Wright. Turn right to Terra Casa.

AWARD-WINNING HOME
This Californian model of the varied stylings offered at the California Home Fair in Huntington Beach received Better Homes and Gardens Approved Value Design Award.

Home Fair Model Wins Approved Value Award

The Californian model at the California Home Fair, Alco-Pacific Construction Co's $8½ million residential community in Huntington Beach, has received the Approved Value Design Award in the Better Homes and Gardens 1965 Better Homes For All America Program.

The plans of the Californian, designed by Robert L. Barnett, AIA, were submitted to a panel of judges comprised of Ward Buzzell, National Association of Home Builders, John Normile, Better Homes and Gardens, and Stanley Edge, Housing Market Research. The award was based on floor plan, exterior styling and the quality of the materials and equipment.

* * * *

THE CALIFORNIAN provides functional living on three separate levels, says Barnett. We designed the lower level for utility, parking, storage, laundry and hobby rooms. The main level includes the family, entertainment-kitchen area with terraced patios leading off the family room and living room. The master bedroom suite is also on the main level with a private bath and dressing room.

On the upper quiet level of the home are the three family bedrooms and the second bath. A private balcony spans the exterior.

* * * *

THE THREE, four and five-bedroom homes are priced from $29,550 to $35,975 with many premium features included.

Visitors may view the award-winning Californian and four other furnished models daily at 16661 Beach Blvd. in Huntington Beach. Through the month of June, a representative selection of ceramics by Interspace is on display in the sales pavilion.

Win Prizes From Bank

Winners in the unique "House Full of Money" contest sponsored by the Anaheim-Obispo Branch of the Farmers & Merchants Bank have been announced by Gus A. Walker, president.

Grand prize winner was Ron E. Lucero, 9122 Mahalo Drive, Huntington Beach, who was presented a color television set.

Second prize went to Hubert S. O'Neal, 513 S. Colin, Compton, who won 44 uncirculated silver dollars. Third prize of 44 Kennedy halves went to Mike R. Weiss, 3635 E. Fifth St., Long Beach, and fourth prize of 44 new quarters went to C. B. Thompson of 719 Medio, Long Beach.

Over Thousand Now

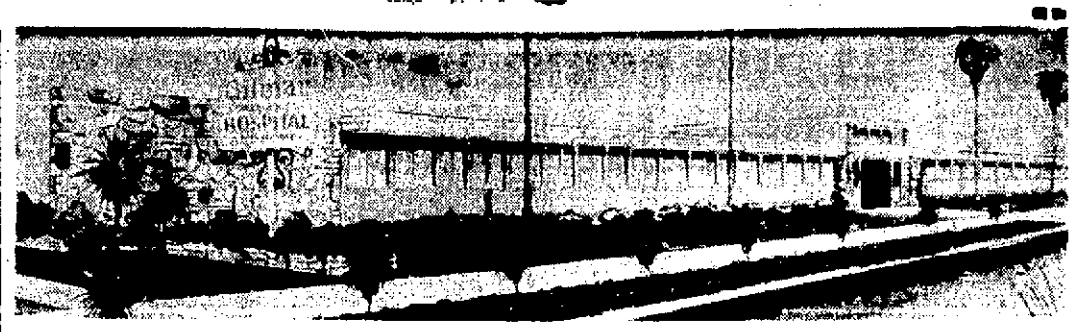

Society of Industrial Realtors total membership has topped the thousand mark for the first time in the group's 24-year history, according to James E. Hanson, president, of Newark, N.J.

Attracts Aerospace Employes

A survey of recent buyers at Rossmoor Townhouses, located two blocks from the Los Alamitos off-ramp of the San Diego Freeway, revealed that approximately 35% of the purchasers were employed in the aerospace and related industries.

Researchers, engineers and others employed at the North American and Douglas plants located within three miles of the Townhouse community comprise a great portion of the families now residing at Rossmoor.

This weekend a special showing of the new pool section at the luxurious $4 million development is scheduled by William Ballon, president, and Bernard Solomon, chairman of Jaymarc Corp., developers. The homes are immediately adjacent to Rossmoor Shopping and Business Center on Los Alamitos Blvd.

OPEN HOUSE HELD TODAY
Gilmar Convalescent Hospital and Home, 2725 Pacific Ave., will hold open house today. The facility, owned by Stivers Bros., contractors, will be administered by Gilbert Lee, executive director, and Daisy Hoagland, RN, as administrator. A new plan of five meals a day will be introduced and there is a recreation room, patios and a beauty salon.

College Park Home Features Appealing

Privacy is featured at College Park homes in the Rossmoor-Seal Beach area, according to Dick Winchester, sales and marketing manager for S & S Construction Co.

"The College Park floor plans bring one in from the entry way directly into a hallway," Winchester said. "This permits going directly to the kitchen without passing through the living room or dining room."

Plan 9, a two-story four-bedroom model, has a formal dining room screened from the living room. Family room on the opposite side of the kitchen provides another eating site, and also offers a fine social center away from the living room.

Selling from $25,300, they are available on four financing plans including VA, FHA Cal-Vet and conventional.

Visitors are invited to see the College Park models at Garden Grove Blvd. and Knott Street.

Named to Committee

Kenneth G. Walker, vice president, Farmers & Merchants Bank of Long Beach, has been appointed to the Committee on Legislation and Taxation within the California Bankers Association. Announcement was made by Frank M. Dana, CBA president and executive vice president, Bank of America, San Francisco.

Offer Easier Terms on Terra Casa Home

Remaining Terra Casa homes in Santa Ana have easier and even more attractive financing available than ever—only $995 down and with up to $1700 landscape and fence allowance.

The homes feature the distinguished styling of the Ranchero Era and have proven to be one of the most successful home developments.

V. J. Shrader, builder of the Spanish-styled homes, stated. "We feel the reason for such tremendous response of Terra Casa can be accounted for by the superb styling, intriguing quality and fine appointments that make every one of the five differently styled homes a distinctive residence, radiating its own special beauty."

* * * *

THE MULTITUDE of outstanding appointments is another attraction and enclosed patios, leading to double door entries, forced air heating, fireplaces in brick or stone, hardwood cabinets, colorful Formica countertops, built-in range & oven, dishwashers, pullman baths, luminous ceilings, extra large closets, nylon carpeting and aluminum sliding glass doors are featured.

"Each of these three, four and five-bedroom, two and three-bath spacious homes is created to give its new homeowner the maximum comfort and convenience," Shrader continued.

Furnished models are open daily. Go west on 17th Street to Wright. Turn right to Terra Casa.

When Long Beach Symphony Orchestra plays its first free starlight Serenade of the season Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Bixby Park, two longtime friends and musicians will hear their original compositions performed.

And one of the composers will be playing in the orchestra.

The two are Harriet Payne, violinist with the symphony, and Frank Allen Hubbell, musical director of Long Beach's International Beauty Pageant.

The Starlight program will include the melodious works of Rimsky-Korsakov, Gould, Bizet, Handel, Lerner-Loewe and Willson, and other selections to feature opera singers Howard Chitjian, Grace-Lynne Martin and Kenneth Remo.

Miss Payne's composition is "Overture on Stephen Foster Tunes." Hubbell's is "Gold Rush" from his three-part "California El Dorado."

The overture was composed for a festival in Indianapolis which was canceled, so this will be the premiere performance of the work.

The two composers have some strong, definite ideas about music.

They agree that music should bring enjoyment to the listener.

"MUSIC SHOULD HAVE melody with a long line and recognizable form. In the overture, I have taken 'Swanee River' and 'Oh, Susanna' as central themes and developed and embellished them for full orchestra. It was written as a festival piece, not meant to be a ponderous work," says Miss Payne.

The two also agree that music is a combination of inspiration and craftsmanship.

Says Hubbell, "Some contemporary work is just a series of tricks because the composer doesn't know the art of development. The music isn't sound structurally. It doesn't say anything because it is formless. You can stay within the present scales and laws and write inspiring music.

"The basics—high or low, fast or slow, loud or soft—are capable of infinite variation. It takes a great artist to make the difficult sound simple. The art of writing great music is to make it sound like it just flows out. That's hard work."

Adds Miss Payne, "Some modern composers seem to write by sticking a pen in ink and flipping it. The notes are wherever the spots land.

"Contrived work is mathematical only, not inspired. It stirs no emotion in the hearer. I don't like music that is just a kick down here and bang up there. Some contemporary works arouse excitement and emotion—they will live; others bore you to deatth—they will die."

MISS PAYNE is regarded as a top violinist. She plays viola with the Glendale Symphony, is first violist with the Orange County Symphony, is chairman of Fullerton Friends of Music, teaches at the Saturday Conservatory at California State College, Fullerton, plays frequently at Melodyland, is first violist with the Laguna Opera and for some years played with recording orchestras at Columbia, Universal and MGM studios.

In addition, she teaches second grade in Los Angeles City Schools.

In contrast to the premiere of Miss Payne's overture, Hubbell's "California El Dorado" has had many performances. "Gold Rush" is the final movement of the suite which begins with "Indian-Mission Times" and "Spanish Rancho Days."

For "Gold Rush" themes he has drawn upon ditties of the period. There are the Days of '49 theme—"In the days of old and the days of gold and the days of '49"—the theme of love and hope which is original, as is the Indian theme, and the California stage coach theme—"On board a California stage there's no respect for youth or age, but scrambled in between the seats like bedbugs in between the sheets."

"EL DORADO" had its first production at the Death Valley Centennial in 1949 with Hubbell as conductor and Jimmy Stewart as narrator.

WILD WAVES SAY

Some travel near, some travel far

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Society Editor

THEY ONLY went to Treasure Island on Alamitos Bay but, for a night at least, it was as far as needed to return to the Orient. It was a party at Les and Alice Dahl's deluxey new home at 45 Sea Isle Drive (see photo right) given for the gang from Long Beach Yacht Club who toured the Orient together earlier this year.

Everyone came dressed in kimonos purchased on tour. Host Les built low, you-gotta-sit-on-the-floor type oriental tables for dining. Co-hosts with Dahls were Naples area members of tour group—Dana and Myrna Brown, Dick and Vera Brookins, Leé and Shirley Caldwell, Marion and Laura Akins, Bernie and Lee Perry, La Nelle and Ray Fosholdt, Ceile Horton and Marma Herfter.

Of the 41 who made trip, 38 attended affair, which featured not only costumed guests, gorgeous hanging Japanese lanterns, a waterfall made especially for night, Japanese music piped through the home's intercom system, oriental food and saki, of course, AND a real Japanese in the person of Takachi Watanabe of Tokyo who helped arrange tour and happened to be in Southern Cal.

NOW THERE'S real faith for you (photo below) meaning faith positive they'd come home from Las Vegas with empty wallets, devoid of all but credit cards, their luggage—and happy memories of going happily for-broke and for fun.

Agnes Willits and Adaline Tyo were among the crowd attending La Sertoma International convention in LV this week. Others, who may or may not have been as direly affected in the purse department as those photoed expected to be, are Delores and Willis Kerr (he goes in as Sertoma president in next regime), Bob Tyo with Adaline, Ed Willits with Agnes, Marcella and Russ Best, Doris and Chuck Skillman, Vic and Janet Victorson, Myrtle and Jerry Tollefson and Nelle McNally. For the record, Marcella and Nelle both are past presidents of La Sertoma International and so were VIP at conclave.

SOME BABBLING about the Brooks' family. John and Elizabeth were here from Palo Alto to visit his parents, Flo and John Sr. They left baby son, Stephen, 3, with grandma and grandpa for this past week with Flo delegated to fly him back home as of today.

But the big news for Brooks is that son, William, graduated from Stanford Law School. He and wife, Candy, will be down July 1 to visit through July 4.

EXCITING summer adventure has begun for Kathy Nesbitt, Bill and Kay's daughter. She breezed through town from studies at UC Berkeley, pausing briefly, then flew to Hamburg, Germany, where she will be a governess in a German home, helping the family's 5-year-old son with English, American version, while she improves her German. She'll travel with her "family" through Germany and Austria and on to their summer home at Lake Lugano, Switzerland, where they'll stay. Before returning Stateside, Kathy will have two weeks to travel other places in Europe.

How did she get job? Through American Students in Service program at UC (probably other colleges) which aids students get jobs overseas. Seems that Americans are in great demand as tutors, as governesses and in other summer jobs in most countries.

HOBBLE-DE-HOY, not hippity-hop, is the way Mary Thompson and Bev Carver arrived at Nightingale's first board meeting of year last week, conducted at home of Nancy Daniels in Huntington Harbour.

Both gals arrived on crutches. Mary, who broke her leg skiing, finally has mended enough to hobble around, and Bev recently had surgery on both feet.

EVERYTHING went like clockwork when Henry and Frances Clock launched their new 45-foot cruiser, Tick Tock, at Lido Isle. Custom built by a Costa Mesa firm, the Clock's new boat is powered by twin diesels that should send it flying over the waves. Frances broke the traditional bottle of champagne on the prow and Tick Tock was set afloat for a dockside champagne party and stand-up buffet. Finishing touches were to be put on this week and beginning of sea trials will take place this coming week.

DISTINGUISHED houseguest at Dorothy and Dan Dunlap's home during this past week has been Tim Wanglee of Bangkok. Tim, a top business man who deals internationally in shipping, banking and teak wood, is a graduate of Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. He and the Dunlaps met through a mutual friend who also is a BYU grad.

On a world-wide business tour and now enroute home, he really has been entertained here. The Dunlaps and Mildred and Ken Wing combined forces to fete him at a happy hour at the Dunlap's and dinner at the Wing's. Jonah and Helen Jones entertained him at a dinner. "B" and John Hancock had a party in his honor and, then Thursday, flew him in their private plane, with the Dunlaps, to Las Vegas to show him around Neonsville. That was the grand finale before he continued his travels.

But before that, on eve of departure, Doris and Jim Wood took their yacht, Sylva II, to the guest dock at Long Beach Yacht Club for a boat party during the fun to watch conclusion of weekly "Wet Wednesdays" sailing races, after which all dined together at the club.

Christine Hjorth, John Tomlinson repeat vows

MRS. JOHN C. TOMLINSON

Ens. John Christopher Tomlinson, USN, serving on the USS Halsey Powell, took Christine Glyndale Hjorth as his bride Saturday afternoon in St. Hedwigs Catholic Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ernest Hjorth, 3425 Lilly Ave. Adrienne Hjorth was maid of honor and Pamela Klein and Mrs. William Duke completed the entourage. The bride chose a full-length sheath gown with open cutwork on the bodice, sleeves and chapel train.

* * * *

HER HUSBAND, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tomlinson of Studio City, chose William Duke as best man and Randall Hjorth, Thomas Fortmann and James Schembs as ushers.

The newlyweds are graduates of Stanford University. The new Mrs. Tomlinson was an Assistance League of Southern California debutante; her husband is a member of Delta Upsilon.

They will reside in Long Beach after returning from a honeymoon to the Santa Cruz mountains and San Francisco.

Two events told for City Club

Life members of Woman's City Club will gather Monday noon at the clubhouse, 1309 E. Third St., for a potluck luncheon and afternoon of cards. Vada Cox will be in charge assisted by Mmes. L. J. Oberson, S. F. Stipp and E. T. Nickerson.

The WCC Rocking Chair Club, composed of past presidents, will meet Tuesday for luncheon at Crown Cafeteria to welcome into membership, Mrs. J. M. Taylor. New officers to be installed are Mrs. Nickerson, president, Cox and Taylor.

Some travel near, some travel far

THEY ONLY went to Treasure Island on Alamitos Bay but, for a night at least, it was as far as needed to return to the Orient. It was a party at Les and Alice Dahl's deluxey new home at 45 Sea Isle Drive (see photo right) given for the gang from Long Beach Yacht Club who toured the Orient together earlier this year.

Everyone came dressed in kimonos purchased on tour. Host Les built low, you-gotta-sit-on-the-floor type oriental tables for dining. Co-hosts with Dahls were Naples area members of tour group—Dana and Myrna Brown, Dick and Vera Brookins, Lee and Shirley Caldwell, Marion and Laura Akins, Bernie and Lee Perry, La Nelle and Ray Fosholdt, Ceile Horton and Marma Herfter.

Of the 41 who made trip, 38 attended affair, which featured not only costumed guests, gorgeous hanging Japanese lanterns, a waterfall made especially for night, Japanese music piped through the home's intercom system, oriental food and saki, of course. AND a real Japanese in the person of Takachi Watanabe of Tokyo who helped arrange tour and happened to be in Southern Cal.

NOW THERE'S real faith for you (photo below) meaning faith positive they'd come home from Las Vegas with empty wallets, devoid of all but credit cards, their luggage—and happy memories of going happily for-broke and for fun.

Agnes Willits and Adaline Tyo were among the crowd attending La Sertoma International convention in LV this week. Others, who may or may not have been as direly affected in the purse department as those photoed expected to be, are Delores and Willis Kerr (he goes in as Sertoma president in next regime). Bob Tyo with Adaline, Ed Willits with Agnes, Marcella and Russ Best, Doris and Chuck Skillman, Vic and Janet Victorson, Myrtle and Jerry Tollefson and Nelle McNally. For the record, Marcella and Nelle both are past presidents of La Sertoma International and so were VIP at conclave.

SOME BABBLING about the Brooks' family. John and Elizabeth were here from Palo Alto to visit his parents, Flo and John Sr. They left baby son, Stephen, 3, with grandma and grandpa for this past week with Flo delegated to fly him back home as of today.

But the big news for Brooks is that son, William, graduated from Stanford Law School. He and wife, Candy, will be down July 1 to visit through July 4.

EXCITING summer adventure has begun for Kathy Nesbitt, Bill and Kay's daughter. She breezed through town from studies at UC Berkeley, pausing briefly, then flew to Hamburg, Germany, where she will be a governess in a German home, helping the family's 5-year-old son with English, American version, while she improves her German. She'll travel with her "family" through Germany and Austria and on to their summer home at Lake Lugano, Switzerland, where they'll stay. Before returning Stateside, Kathy will have two weeks to travel other places in Europe.

How did she get job? Through American Students in Service program at UC (probably other colleges) which aids students get jobs overseas. Seems that Americans are in great demand as tutors, as governesses and in other summer jobs in most countries.

HOBBLE-DE-HOY, not hippity-hop, is the way Mary Thompson and Bev Carver arrived at Nightingale's first board meeting of year last week, conducted at home of Nancy Daniels in Huntington Harbour.

Both gals arrived on crutches. Mary, who broke her leg skiing, finally has mended enough to hobble around, and Bev recently had surgery on both feet.

EVERYTHING went like clockwork when Henry and Frances Clock launched their new 45-foot cruiser, Tick Tock, at Lido Isle. Custom built by a Costa Mesa firm, the Clock's new boat is powered by twin diesels that should send it flying over the waves. Frances broke the traditional bottle of champagne on the prow and Tick Tock was set afloat for a dockside champagne party and stand-up buffet. Finishing touches were to be put on this week and beginning of sea trials will take place this coming week.

DISTINGUISHED houseguest at Dorothy and Dan Dunlap's home during this past week has been Tim Wanglee of Bangkok. Tim, a top business man who deals internationally in shipping, banking and teak wood, is a graduate of Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. He and the Dunlaps met through a mutual friend who also is a BYU grad.

On a world-wide business tour and now enroute home, he really has been entertained here. The Dunlaps and Mildred and Ken Wing combined forces to fete him at a happy hour at the Dunlap's and dinner at the Wing's. Jonah and Helen Jones entertained him at a dinner. "R" and John Hancock had a party in his honor and, then Thursday, flew him in their private plane, with the Dunlaps, to Las Vegas to show him around Neonsville. That was the grand finale before he continued his travels.

But before that, on eve of departure, Doris and Jim Wood took their yacht, Sylva II, to the guest dock at Long Beach Yacht Club for a boat party during the fun to watch conclusion of weekly "Wet Wednesdays" sailing races, after which all dined together at the club.

GIRL SCOUT HOSTESSES SHOW VISITORS FROM AUSTRALIA MAP OUTLINING SCOUT ACTIVITIES . . . Roby Riddett (L.), Ruth Burr, Trudy Monk and Trikki Stanford.

THREE-WEEK VISIT

Australian guides join girl scouts

The arrival of two Australian girl guides has created excitement among the Greater Long Beach Girl Scout Council as they prepare a variety of events for the visitors.

The guides—Trudy Mont of Seaford, Australia, and Robyn Riddett of East Bentleigh, both communities in the state of Victuria — will be guests of the council for three weeks preceding the Senior Girl Scout Roundup in Farragut, Idaho, July 15-27.

A reception is being given for the visitors today from 2 to 4 p.m. by the Board of Directors of the Council.

* * * *

ON JUNE 29 they will camp with the International Patrol at Skyland Ranch, enabling them to work as a unit before the roundup. A potluck family dinner will be held Sunday, July 11, and on Tuesday, July 13, the group will leave Los Angeles for their three-week stay in Idaho.

Past activities planned for the Australian duo include a tea last Monday and a beach party last Friday at Bolsa Chica State Park.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Stanford and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Burr have been selected as official hostesses for the visitors. They will live as family members during their stay.

Mrs. Tex Western is coordinating plans for the visitors.

Couples honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, Carmel

Beard-Small

Marie Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Small of 3220 Chestnut Ave., recited nuptial vows with Stanley Claude Beard Saturday evening in the Del Rey Hills Evangelical Free Church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Beard of Manhattan Beach.

The bride wore a floor length gown with chantilly lace bodice and bouffant skirt of lace tiers forming a chapel train.

Mrs. William A. Kohl, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Lawrence Neff, Mrs. Ronald D. Swick, Jennifer Van Syoc and Gail Potwin completed the entourage.

* * * *

THE GROOM chose his brother Edward as best man and Spencer W. Beard, Richard A. Hartman, Ronald D. Swick and Jim A. Small to seat guests.

The new Mrs. Beard was graduated from Garden Grove High School and Wheaton College in Illinois. She also attended Westmont College in Santa Barbara and is a member of Young Life, Youth for Christ.

Her husband, a Pepperdine College graduate, attended El Camino College and was captain of the baseball teams.

Following a trip to Carmel and Lake Tahoe, the couple will reside in Pasadena.

Uzes-Horovenko

Marriage of Long Beach State College graduates Joan Ellen Horovenko and Robert Leavitt Uzes was solemnized Saturday evening in Paramount Methodist Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Horovenko, Long Beach, and Mrs. Francoise H. Uzes, Downey.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta with applique and seed pearls accenting the bodice. Her attendants were her sister, Mrs. Carl Yarbrough, matron of honor, and Mrs. George Johnson, Marily DeCesare, Janice Horovenko and Sandra Nordstrom.

Francois D. Uzes attended his brothe as best man and ushers were George M. Johnson, Charles A. Uzes and John E. Rigby. Russell Uzes was ring bearer.

* * * *

THE NEWLYWEDS will reside in Downey on return from a honyemoon trip to Carmel, San Francisco and Lake Tahoe.

The new Mrs. Uzes received early schooling in Paramount and was graduated in social work from LBSC. Her husband, who served as president of the engineering student body at LBSC, received his master's degree from USC.

SAUNA BATH IRONS OUT KINKS

Now...even people have gone drip-dry

By Mary Ellis Carlton • Director, Women's News

Not very many people know about it, but a sauna bath is the hottest fad in town.

"I'm absolutely astounded that more Long Beach people aren't familiar with the therapeutic wonders of a sauna bath," says Irish-born Wally Rosenberg.

He and his Irish colleen wife are Long Beach-based members of a corporation that's just gone all out to painstakingly panel a room with the necessary redwood, install the hotter-than-yikes heat unit and all the other sauna accoutrements.

The bake-and-bask room is added attraction for a new budget-type barber shop and beauty shop ("we believe in prices that make it possible for all women to have their hair done professionally") at Broadway and Locust Ave.

"BUT!" . . . repeat . . . "hardly anyone here knows about sauna . . . and that surprises me," said hale, hearty and handsome Rosenberg.

"It's Finland's national purpose, you know," he said. "The Finns have been sauna bathing for a thousand years. And it was a way of life with us in Ireland. (He plans to fly home for a visit this summer.)

"Currently saunas are making a big impression on Americans. In Santa Monica, they're popping up all over . . . and in California, three military bases boast saunas," he recited.

Then came the challenge: "Why don't you take one?" he suggested. "It's the hottest trend going.'

SINCE EXPOSURE to challenge is my middle name, I decided to sweat this one out, too. And sweat I did!

With temperatures ranging from 180-200 degrees (approximately 70 degrees hotter than the average steam bath), the luxury oven outsizzles the Equator.

Here's the bake-bath technique: first take a hot shower . . . then into the sauna for 15 minutes (if you can last that long—my limit was 13) . . . out and into a cold shower. After that, a 15-minute rest (you'll need it!) . . . then repeat the procedure.

While in the sauna, everything happens . . . your heart pounds, perspiration flows, muscles palpitate and you're sure you've got more circulation than the public library. After the second session (each sauna becomes more enjoyable, they say), you feel utterly relaxed, unbelievably invigorated, and your skin feels clean to the pore. Besides that, if you're like most, the scales will show a three-to-four-pound countdown. Increased blood circulation forces blood into circulation problem areas, relieving tensions and ironing out kinks.

No wonder those Finns are in such fine fettle!

DEAR ABBY

Why do men escape stigma?

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our pastor said in a sermon recently that the white wedding gown and veil should be denied the unchaste bride. I know he felt compelled to preach a sermon on this topic because he has been put in the embarrassing position lately of having to baptize the babies of "brides" whom he had married in white bridal costumes only five and six months earlier. He said that our young people should know that there are penalties for unchastity and rewards for purity.

ABBY

I would like to ask if this applies only to women. How about the men? Should we not expect them to be chaste as well? We hear so much about the "fallen woman." How about the fallen man? CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: I know it's unfair, but somehow the men seem to escape the stigma. The unchaste woman has "fallen." The unchaste man has merely "slipped."

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: A very attractive young woman has come to town from a foreign country. The trouble is—she doesn't speak a word of English. I am very much attracted to her, and if I can read the universal language in her eyes, she seems to be attracted to me, too. How can I communicate with her if she makes no effort whatsoever to learn my language? SMITTEN

DEAR SMITTEN: Learn hers.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband doesn't believe in having any friends except "business friends." He's a junior executive with an ad agency, and almost every night of the week we have to entertain people who might be able to do him some good.

Don't young married people ever socialize with people just because they like them? I suggested inviting a very attractive couple across the hall in for dinner, and my husband said, "Don't start up with them. He's only an insurance salesman and he can't do me any good!" Is it a wife's obligation to confine her social life to her husband's business friends? HELPMATE

DEAR HELPMATE: If a woman is married to a man who must entertain for business reasons, she should cooperate, and do it graciously. But for a man to limit his social life to only those who can "do him some good" is both selfish and calculating. And one who goes through life with a "what-can-he-do-for-me" attitude misses one of man's greatest pleasures —friends for friendship's sake. You can help your husband by building his self-confidence. And by telling him that no one succeeds in business without really trying. But some people try too hard.

SAUNA BATH IRONS OUT KINKS

Now...even people have gone drip-dry

By Mary Ellis Carlton • Director, Women's News

Not very many people know about it, but a sauna bath is the hottest fad in town.

"I'm absolutely astounded that more Long Beach people aren't familiar with the therapeutic wonders of a sauna bath," says Irish-born Wally Rosenberg.

He and his Irish colleen wife are Long Beach-based members of a corporation that's just gone all out to painstakingly panel a room with the necessary redwood, install the hotter-than-yikes heat unit and all the other sauna accoutrements.

The bake-and-bask room is added attraction for a new budget-type barber shop and beauty shop ("we believe in prices that make it possible for all women to have their hair done professionally") at Broadway and Locust Ave.

"BUT!" . . . repeat . . . "hardly anyone here knows about sauna . . . and that surprises me," said hale, hearty and handsome Rosenberg.

"It's Finland's national purpose, you know," he said. "The Finns have been sauna bathing for a thousand years. And it was a way of life with us in Ireland. (He plans to fly home for a visit this summer.)

"Currently saunas are making a big impression on Americans. In Santa Monica, they're popping up all over . . . and in California, three military bases boast saunas," he recited.

Then came the challenge: "Why don't you take one?" he suggested. "It's the hottest trend going."

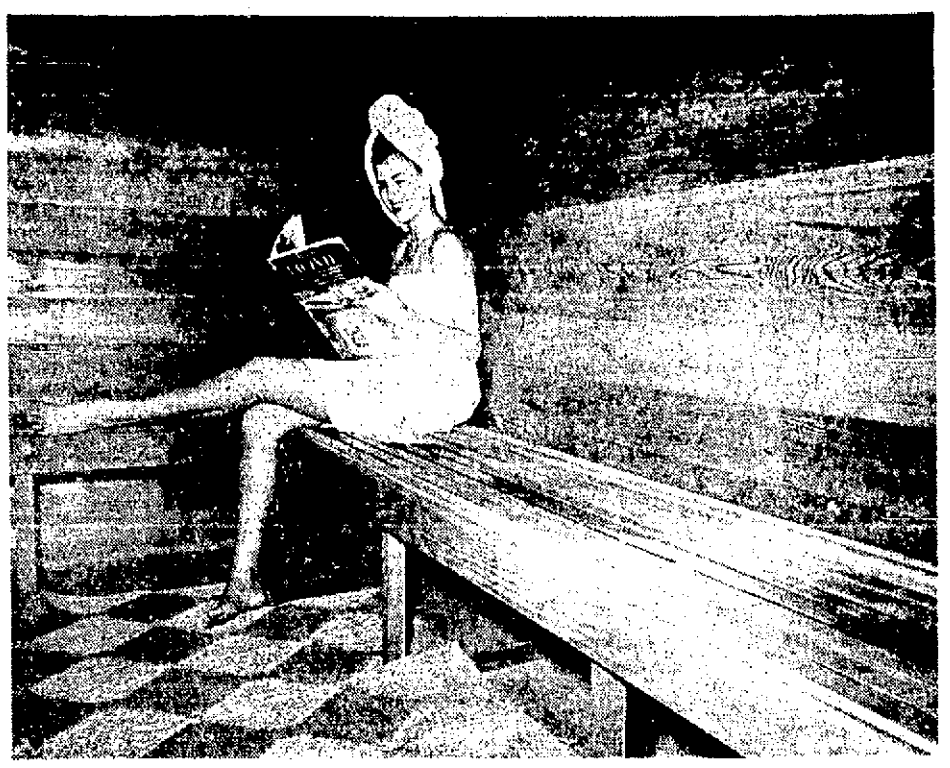

SINCE EXPOSURE to challenge is my middle name, I decided to sweat this one out, too. And sweat I did!

With temperatures ranging from 180-200 degrees (approximately 70 degrees hotter than the average steam bath), the luxury oven outsizzles the Equator.

Junior League announces, fetes 1965 crop of debs

Junior League of Long Beach announced the names of the 10 young women who will be presented at the league's sixth annual debutante ball, then honored them at a duo of smart affairs the past week.

The debs will make their bow Dec. 29 at Pacific Coast Club at one of winter's smartest functions. Proceeds will go to the league's Community Trust Fund, which finances philanthropic projects in welfare, cultural and educational fields.

The young women from the Long Beach, Harbor and Palos Verdes Peninsula area and their mothers were first entertained by Mrs. William F. Wagner, ball chairman, and her committee at an informal coffee in the Rolling Hills home of Mrs. Robert S. Griffith.

* * * *

PURPOSE of the coffee was to acquaint debs with each other and the ball committee members and to outline plans and procedures and answer questions they might have.

Debutantes and their parents are Misses Karen Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Cole; Diane Louise Donaldson, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Dean Donaldson; Catherine Luise Grady, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Westmyer; Nancy Lee Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edward Jackson; Catherine McGowen, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Ramsey McGowen; Christine Lindsay Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter William Ralphs Jr.; Nancy Jeanne Neibling, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Alden Neibling; Catherine Helen Roggeveen, Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Roggeveen; Mary Elizabeth Siragusa, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Louise Siragusa; Michele Martine Trutanic, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas F. Trutanic.

* * * *

THE YOUNG women were subsequently honored by the league at its traditional Debutante Tea Friday in the home of Mrs. William H. Cree Jr. Receiving guests with Mrs. Cree were Mrs. Jay C. Moorhead, league president, and Mrs. Wagner.

Assisting at the tea were Mmes. James Brennan, chairman, John B. Merrell III, John B. Halbert Jr., Walter Landis Jr., Thomas Turner, Bert Paul Jr., Daniel O'Toole, George R. Johnson, Lynn Evans, Leslie E. Still, Philip B. Putnam Jr., Harry Ridings Jr. and George Ruppert, all members of the ball committee.

Community program announced

The Gladora Theater Studio of Inglewood will present a one-hour dance review for the Community Program in Municipal Auditorium at 8 p.m., Monday.

The studio will present 30 starlets, ages 3 years to 23 years, featuring songs and dances from Broadway shows.

* * * *

CARL H. Robertson will lead the community singing to open the program at 7:30 p.m. Regina Beam is accompanist.

The Tyo Orchestra will play for the old-time and square dance following the stage show. Joe Marshall will be caller.

NOW ON HONEYMOONS

Local couples repeat vows Friday, Saturday

Hutcheson-Peterson

All Saints Episcopal Church was setting Saturday afternoon for the nuptials of Ann Louise Peterson, Long Beach, and Robert Bellenden Hutcheson Jr., South Gate.

The bride, teacher at Hoover Junior High School, is daughter of Mrs. Everett John Peterson, Ann Arbor, Mich., and the late Mr. Peterson. She wore a gown of white linen trimmed with seed pearls and rose point lace.

Her sister, Marilyn Jo Peterson, was maid of honor; Ann Chapin was junior bridesmaid.

* * * *

SON OF Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Hutcheson, Kern City, the bridegroom was attended by Robert Alber, best man, Harold Chapin and Carl Harvey, ushers.

Mrs. Hutcheson was graduated from the University of Michigan, where she affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta. Her husband, a graduate of UC, Berkeley, is taking graduate study at USC. He was a member of Bachelors' Club of Long Beach.

Perkins-Burt

A gown of Chantilly lace with triple tiered train and a crown of white satin holding a veil of illusion were worn by Kathryn J. Burt for her marriage to Joe B. Perkins Friday evening in Church of Our Fathers, Cypress.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burt, 2960 Vuelta Grande Ave., the bride was attended by Betty Lemons, maid of honor, her sister Rebecca Burt and Mary Copeland, bridesmaids. She was graduated from Wilson High School and Long Beach State College and taught for two years in Fountain Valley School District.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mrs. Verneal Perkins, Tucson, Ariz., was served by the bride's brother, David L. Burt, as best man. Ushers were James Griffiths, Roy Burt and Kenneth S. Burt.

The newlyweds will make their home in Tucson following a honeymoon in Utah and Wyoming. Perkins was graduated from Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Tex.

Burris-Coakley

Wearing a full-length white bridal gown of satin with Viennese lace trim, Michaela A. Coakley became the bride of Vernon A. Burris during a 1 p.m. ceremony Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Coakley Jr., 3218 Studebaker Road, was attended by her sister, Susan Coakley, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Renee Stepman and Sharon Rodgers and flower girl was Susan Lish.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Burris, 4501 Bellflower Blvd., asked L. Patrick Coakley, brother of the bride, to stand with him as best man. Ushers were William Brodt and Richard Burris, brother of the bridegroom. John Coakley, a brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

The newlyweds are graduates of Millikan High. He attended Long Beach City College.

the Elks Club for the 200 wedding guests, the couple departed for a honeymoon in Palm Springs and San Diego.

Duffy-McCarey

Saint Mathews Catholic Church was setting for the marriage of Norma Eugenia McCarey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. McCarey, 3020 E. 6th St., and Paul Michael Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Duffy, 3976 Rose Ave.

The Irish linen gown chosen by the bride was trimmed in Venise lace with scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt featured a detachable chapel train.

* * * *

JACQUELINE Caire served as maid of honor and Mary Kathryn Duffy, sister of the groom, and Mrs. David Hamilton completed the entourage.

The groom chose his brother Dennis as best man and Patrick Duffy, another brother; Frank Hodges, Michael McCormick and Sam Bertuca to seat guests.

The newlyweds were graduated from St. Anthony High School. The bride attended Immaculate Heart College and was graduated from San Jose State, where she was a member of Chi Omega. Her husband, now attending Long Beach City College, served in the U.S. Air Force.

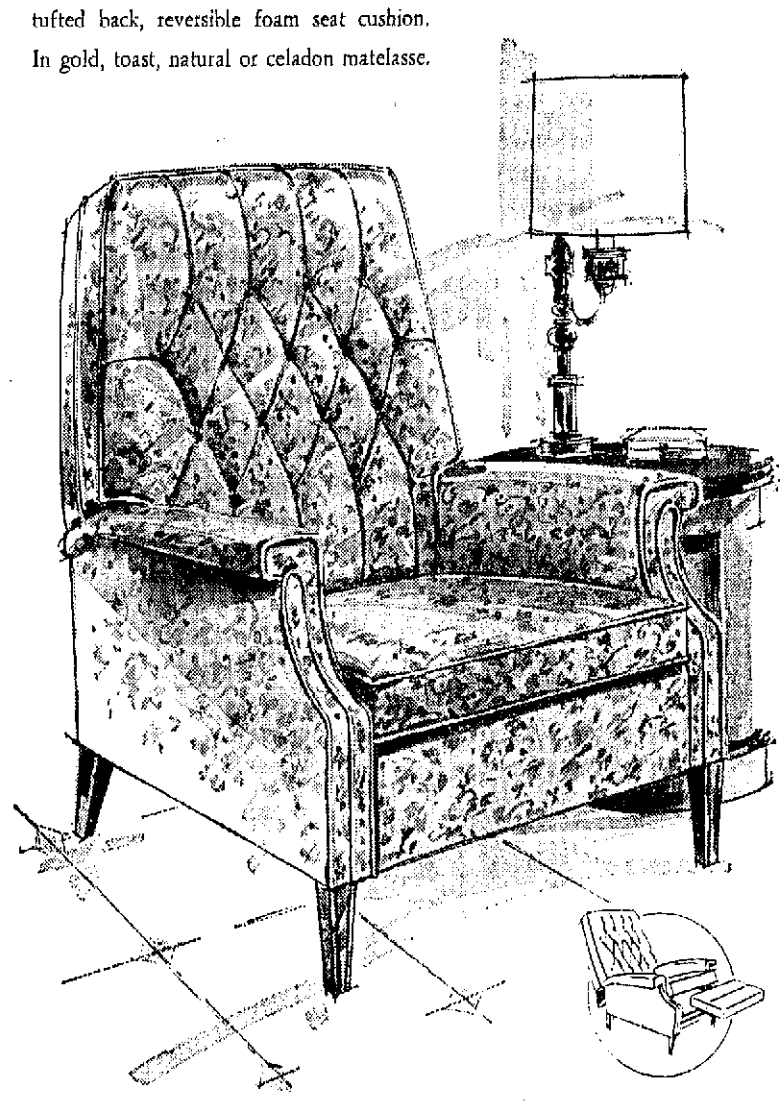

A garden reception will be held in the home of the bride's parents before the couple leaves for a honeymoon at Grand Canyon. They will reside in Alhambra.

MRS. VERNON BURRIS

MRS. PAUL M. DUFFY

NOW ON HONEYMOONS

Local couples repeat vows Friday, Saturday

Hutcheson-Peterson

All Saints Episcopal Church was setting Saturday afternoon for the nuptials of Ann Louise Peterson, Long Beach, and Robert Bellenden Hutcheson Jr., South Gate.

The bride, teacher at Hoover Junior High School, is daughter of Mrs. Everett John Peterson, Ann Arbor, Mich., and the late Mr. Peterson. She wore a gown of white linen trimmed with seed pearls and rose point lace.

Her sister, Marilyn Jo Peterson, was maid of honor; Ann Chapin was junior bridesmaid.

* * * *

SON OF Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Hutcheson, Kern City, the bridegroom was attended by Robert Alber, best man. Harold Chapin and Carl Harvey, ushers.

Mrs. Hutcheson was graduated from the University of Michigan, where she affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta. Her husband, a graduate of UC, Berkeley, is taking graduate study at USC. He was a member of Bachelors' Club of Long Beach.

Perkins-Burt

A gown of Chantilly lace with triple tiered train and a crown of white satin holding a veil of illusion were worn by Kathryn J. Burt for her marriage to Joe B. Perkins Friday evening in Church of Our Fathers, Cypress.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burt, 2960 Vuelta Grande Ave., the bride was attended by Betty Lemons, maid of honor, her sister Rebecca Burt and Mary Copeland, bridesmaids. She was graduated from Wilson High School and Long Beach State College and taught for two years in Fountain Valley School District.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mrs. Verneal Perkins, Tucson, Ariz., was served by the bride's brother, David L. Burt, as best man. Ushers were James Griffiths, Roy Burt and Kenneth S. Burt.

The newlyweds will make their home in Tucson following a honeymoon in Utah and Wyoming. Perkins was graduated from Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Tex.

Burris-Coakley

Wearing a full-length white bridal gown of satin with Viennese lace trim, Michaela A. Coakley became the bride of Vernon A. Burris during a 1 p.m. ceremony Saturday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Coakley Jr., 3218 Studebaker Road, was attended by her sister, Susan Coakley, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Renee Stepman and Sharon Rodgers and flower girl was Susan Lish.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon A. Burris, 4501 Bellflower Blvd., asked L. Patrick Coakley, brother of the bride, to stand with him as best man. Ushers were William Brodt and Richard Burris, brother of the bridegroom. John Coakley, a brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

The newlyweds are graduates of Millikan High. He attended Long Beach City College.

the Elks Club for the 200 wedding guests, the couple departed for a honeymoon in Palm Springs and San Diego.

Duffy-McCarey

Saint Mathews Catholic Church was setting for the marriage of Norma Eugenia McCarey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. McCarey, 3020 E. 6th St., and Paul Michael Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Duffy, 3976 Rose Ave.

The Irish linen gown chosen by the bride was trimmed in Venise lace with scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt featured a detachable chapel train.

* * * *

JACQUELINE Caire served as maid of honor and Mary Kathryn Duffy, sister of the groom, and Mrs. David Hamilton completed the entourage.

The groom chose his brother Dennis as best man and Patrick Duffy, another brother; Frank Hodges, Michael McCormick and Sam Bertuca to seat guests.

The newlyweds were graduated from St. Anthony High School. The bride attended Immaculate Heart College and was graduated from San Jose State, where she was a member of Chi Omega. Her husband, now attending Long Beach City College, served in the U.S. Air Force.

A garden reception will be held in the home of the bride's parents before the couple leaves for a honeymoon at Grand Canyon. They will reside in Alhambra.

Comedy at Community

Reminiscing about the past when they were youthful and tempestuous lovers are Lana Holmes Smith and Terrence Doyle in scene from "Dodo in Love," current comedy at Community Playhouse, 5021 E. Anaheim St. It will continue Thursdays at 7:45 p. m., Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p. m. through July 17.

'Square' callers to confer

Success of the initial program last summer has prompted University of California Extension to offer the second annual Leadership Conference for Square Dance Callers on the UCLA campus July 6 and 7.

The conference is planned to increase the skill of the caller as a teacher and to expose him to ideas, techniques, and methods of adult learning. Enrollment is limited to those engaged in calling and teaching square dancing. Co-sponsors of the program are "Sets in Order," the official magazine of square dancing, the UCLA Department of Dance, and University Extension.

* * * *

BEGINNING Tuesday, July 6, at 9:30 a.m., the program in Rieber Hall will conclude at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, July 7. Highlight of the two-day conference is a dinner for all participants July 6 at the Miramar Hotel in Santa Monica.

Dr. Eva Schindler-Rainman, adult educator, professional consultant, leadership and social welfare specialist, is coordinator and principal speaker.

Persons interested in attending the two-day conference may contact University Extension offices at UCLA for information.

Brian Bedford and Juliet Mills star in Ann Jellicoe's comedy hit, "The Knack," at Huntington Hartford Theater, Los Angeles, through Saturday. The cast also includes Sam Waterston and Paul Savior.

'New York School' art strips conventions

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"The New York School: First Generation," is an overwhelming exhibit of 122 paintings, most of them in heroic scale. The exhibit will continue at Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 5905 Wilshire Blvd., through Aug. 1, and is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day but Tuesday. There is an admission fee to this show of $1.00 for adults and 25 cents for children.

This is actually 15 one-man shows of the great American pioneers of this movement, often referred to as "abstract expressionism." It comprises a retrospective of the movement which in the 1940s and '50s swept the world, and precipitated American artists out of regionalism and away from adherance to European schools.

* * * *

ACCORDING to Robert Motherwell, one of the participating artists, it grew up as a cross-pollination largely between the European artist refugees (like Max Ernst, Mondrian, the Surrealists) and the American artists who had been preserved as such by WPA projects.

The exhibit includes early and later works by each man so that the viewer can see his evolution. For instance, Willem De Kooning's early work is of a recognizable figure, smoothly painted. His later "Woman" series is painted with brutal freedom so that the viewer senses a leering presence, though no contour is identifiable.

* * * *

THE OTHER artists are William Bazoites, Arshile Gorky, Adolph Gottlieb, Philip Guston, Hans Hofmann, Franz Kline, Barnett Newman, Jackson Pollock, Richard Pousette-Dart, Ad Reinhardt, Mark Rothko, Clyfford Still, and Bradley Walker Tomlin.

Only the retrospective of generations in the future will know how lasting the art of each will be. But, the sum of their contribution is a heritage of utter freedom for the artist, for, one by one, they stripped away every convention of painting to assert that the creative act must be a direct statement by the individual.

Back to Ash

The Rising Sons, who made their debut with folk-oriented rock and roll at the Ash Grove, 8162 Melrose Ave., last month will return Tuesday. They will play through July 11, sharing the bill with the Bluegrass Band, string band group.

Festival big as all outdoors

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Three art experts have been named to serve as judges in the 13th annual All City Outdoor Art Festival competition in Barnsdall Park, 4800 Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles.

They are Frank Ackerman, painter; Howard Warshaw, artist - teacher; and Maurice Tuchman, curator of modern art for Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

This largest outdoor art festival of its kind is held each summer to give local artists, amateur and professional, opportunities to exhibit their works and compete for a total of $7,200 in cash and purchase awards. Awards money is being donated for the 11th year by Home Savings and Loan Association. Registration deadline was June 21. Entries were limited to persons living within 30 miles of Los Angeles City Hall.

Folk singing, band and chamber music concerts, performances by a cartoonist and live demonstrations in several art media make up the entertainment planned for each weekend afternoon. Programs are scheduled July 10, 11, 17 and 18 beginning at 1 p.m. Admission is free.

INTERNATIONAL recognition is being given to Lucille Brown Greene for her one-woman exhibit of abstract oil paintings and drawings in Italy.

Mrs. Greene lived in Long Beach for many years and just recently moved to Beverly Hills. She is well known here through her paintings in the permanent collections at Long Beach Museum of Art and Long Beach State College, and her lectures on modern art to art associations, civic and community groups.

Galeria D'Arte Schneider in Rome will exhibit her paintings until mid-July. Last year she had a one-woman show at the Peacock Gallery in San Francisco, and prior to that a one-woman show at Galeria Internationale in New York City. A member and former officer of the California Water Color Society and a member of Los Angeles Art Association, she has been listed in "Who's Who in American Art" and "Who's Who of American Women."

A graduate of UCLA, she studied with MacDonald Wright, Millard Sheets, Richard Haines and the late Rico Lebrun and now teaches art at Santa Monica city college.

MEN AND WOMEN interested in combining art with introspection will be given an opportunity to do so in four art retreats at St. Andrew's Priory on the Hidden Springs Ranch in Valyermo during August.

Conducted by the Benedictine Monks who have converted the 400-acre ranch in Los Angeles County into a retreat center, the sessions are designed for non-professionals who would like to create their own art objects in the inspirational atmosphere of the colorful monastery in the foothills.

From Aug. 2 to 7 workshops on collage will be conducted by Heine Kusel of Fresno State College with conferences on "Symbolisms in Human Life" held by Rev. Frederic Debuyst, editor of "Art D'Eglise."

Aug. 9 to 14 driftwood sculpture and sumi brush work will be taught by Rev. Thaddeous Yang and the conferences by Rev. Debuyst will be on "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God."

F. Carlton Ball of the University of California fine arts department will lead the workshop on slab pottery during the Aug. 16 to 21 period and the conferences on "Christianity and Contemporary Society" will be conducted by Rev. Wallace Daily.

For the final Aug. 23 to 28 retreat, Sister Monica Julie, S.N.D., of Belmont College will instruct a workshop on serigraph and the Very Rev. Raphael Vinciarelli will hold two daily conferences on general subjects.

Each retreat is limited to 15 persons of any faith. The fee of $50 includes room and board, tuition and art supplies. Complete details may be obtained from Rev. Werner P. de Morchoven, St. Andrew's Priory, Valyermo.

MEN AND WOMEN interested in combining art with introspection will be given an opportunity to do so in four art retreats at St. Andrew's Priory on the Hidden Springs Ranch in Valyermo during August.

Conducted by the Benedictine Monks who have converted the 400-acre ranch in Los Angeles County into a retreat center, the sessions are designed for non-professionals who would like to create their own art objects in the inspirational atmosphere of the colorful monastery in the foothills.

From Aug. 2 to 7 workshops on collage will be conducted by Heine Kusel of Fresno State College with conferences on "Symbolisms in Human Life" held by Rev. Frederic Debuyst, editor of "Art D'Eglise."

Aug. 9 to 14 driftwood sculpture and sumi brush work will be taught by Rev. Thaddeous Yang and the conferences by Rev. Debuyst will be on "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God."

F. Carlton Ball of the University of California fine arts department will lead the workshop on slab pottery during the Aug. 16 to 21 period and the conferences on "Christianity and Contemporary Society" will be conducted by Rev. Wallace Daily.

For the final Aug. 23 to 28 retreat, Sister Monica Julie, S.N.D., of Belmont College will instruct a workshop on serigraph and the Very Rev. Raphael Vinciarelli will hold two daily conferences on general subjects.

Each retreat is limited to 15 persons of any faith. The fee of $50 includes room and board, tuition and art supplies. Complete details may be obtained from Rev. Werner P. de Morchoven, St. Andrew's Priory, Valyermo.

L.B. band concerts to begin Thursday

Long Beach Municipal Band, under direction of Charles Payne, will make its first appearance in Long Beach Recreation Department's summer musical series in Bixby Park at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The band will present a variety of musical selections, opening with music from "My Fair Lady." Also featured will be a cornet trio, flute trio and trombone trio. Additional programming will include a medley from Henry Mancini's most famous songs.

* * * *

HIGHLIGHT of the evening will be appearance of xylophone soloist Lynda Sue Marks.

Following the band concert the Youth Talent Showcase, under supervision of the Recreation Department, will present variety acts directed by Dan Dyer.

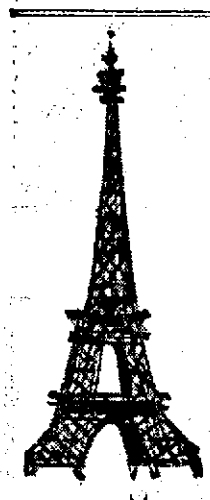

The program is open to the public, admission free.

Couple will wed Sept. 4

Mrs. Lee Houston Phillips of Long Beach announces the betrothal of her daughter, Anita Dianne, to Richard Earl Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Davidson of Dublin, Calif.

A graduate of Wilson High School, Miss Phillips is now attending Pepperdine College. Her fiance is a graduate of Pepperdine.

A Sept. 4 wedding is being planned.

. . . and there's only One Wilma Hastings too!

Many people promise many things. But when it comes to finishing schools, there's only ONE Wilma Hastings, the exclusive leader in Long Beach for 20 years.

hearsal was scheduled for early morning the day of performance. The production was staged with a large cast; the surrounding area and hills were the stage. But at early morning the stands were full and the rehearsal was canceled. By performance time, 65,000 people jammed the area and 35,000 more jammed the roads.

"All you could see were miles of automobile bumpers glinting in the sun."

The production led in 1950 to collaboration with Meredith Willson on another spectacular, "The California Story," given in Hollywood Bowl with Lionel Barrymore as narrator. It set an attendance record that still stands—125,000 for five performances. Wayne Dailard, producer of the International Beauty Pageant, was director.

The show was given 45 performances in San Diego's "Festival of the Pacific" in 1956, '57 and '58, attracting 478,000.

Next came "The Oregon Story" in 1959 and "The Kansas Story" in 1961 done by the same team.

"THESE SPECTACULARS are exciting to do because they recreate history, preserving the folklore, legends and music. People leave with a new love of their country, saying 'Did that really happen here?' Can you think of a better way to fight Communism?"

The "El Dorado" especially pleases Hubbell, whether given as an orchestral piece as it will be Tuesday, or as a spectacular. California history has been his lifelong interest and he knows every Gold Rush town in the state.

Tuesday's concert will be followed by others Aug. 24 and Sept. 14. The immensely popular outdoor programs were founded by Mrs. Herman H. Ridder, now honorary chairman. Wallace Arntzen is chairman this year.

Miss Payne and Hubbell agree on another thing.

"The Starlight Serenades are wonderful! It's a delight to see the many families enjoying good music beautifully played. Let's enter the world of fantasy and let natural response and emotions take over. Natural emotions can do a lot for you if you let them, without worrying about analyzing and understanding every note. Just sit back and enjoy the music."

Luncheon is slated

A "luncheon is served" benefit will be sponsored by Women's Guild, Church of Religious Science, at noon Thursday at 505 E. 16th St. with Mrs. Kasper Caspersen in charge.

"Luncheon is served" is a national fund-raising program available to women's organizations in 29 major cities. Operated as a community service for over 18 years, it provides luncheons for non-profit church, club and civic groups.

Mary Crossland, home economist, will be mistress of ceremonies. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Marie Batcheller, 3571 Claremont Ave. Committee members include Mmes. Adele Reed, Carrie Fry, Harriet Jones and Dorcas Shaw.

The public is invited. Door prizes will be awarded and cards will be played.

WHAT PRICE ART

At the Vincent Price showing

When "Women Against Cancer" staged a benefit showing at the Beverly Hilton of Vincent Price's Collection of Fine Art, sponsored by Sears, celebrities almost outdazzled the 1,800 original art treasures. Above, actress Carolyn Jones of "The Munsters" and Mrs. Vincent Price. At right, actor and Mrs. Robert Stack. Mrs. Stack looked like a walking-talking work of art in a flower-splashed dress.

AMONG THE COLORFUL FIGURES AT LAVISH ART SHOW . . . Charles W. Teed, (L.) manager, Sears-Long Beach; Maria Mark, president, "Women against Cancer," Vincent Price, genius behind monumental art venture; Arthur M. Wood, vice-president, Sears Pacific-Coast Territory; and Mrs. Charles Teed.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

His 'doll' is in doldrums

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have such a dirty wife I'm seriously thinking of taking the kids and leaving her to wallow in her filth.

She was a living doll when we got married; now she's a dirty witch! She is plain lazy and doesn't seem to have any pride at all. I'm ashamed to take her out and our friends have stopped calling.

The children always look dirty and ragged because she doesn't bathe them or care how they look.

We live in a nice neighborhood and have a beautiful home (it was until she moved in!), have all the modern appliances and plenty of money. We could afford a maid but I fear she would become so lazy I couldn't possibly bear her as a wife.

I'm always inventing excuses for the way she, the kids and the house look, but I'm running out. I'm losing the respect and love I had for her but it would come back if she would only come out of her slum life.

Maybe some of your readers have had similar problems and can help me. —FRANTIC HUSBAND

DEAR FRANTIC HUSBAND:

I surely hope some of our readers can help because I just don't understand why a "living doll" should turn into a "dirty witch" when she has all the advantages your wife apparently has.

I have just a couple of ideas. Couuld it be possible that she doesn't feel well? There just might be some physical reason for her "lazy" behavior.

Also, a maid might be the right idea. Perhaps all the work entailed in keeping a beauiful home beautiful plus taking care of two small children is too much for her and finding she can't keep up with it, she just gave up completely. If other wives in the neighborhood have maids, it's only fair that your wife have one

At least, I think it's worth a try. If she's as bad as you say, it would do no harm to have a maid and it might, just might, be the answer to your problem.—M.M.

Graduation party—Navy style

Capt. Harry Frishman (USNR), and Mrs. Frishman, right, chat with Cmdr. W. F. Callaway (USN) and Mrs. Callaway preceding a dinner party concluding academic year for the Naval Reserve Officers School 11-4 in the officers club at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station. Capt. Frishman, director of publications for the Long Beach school district, was presented an award during the event for heading the unit which was recently judged "the best in the 11th Naval District and one of the outstanding officer schools in the nation." Commander Callaway, who recently returned from a year's tour in Saigon as senior shipyard advisor with the Vietnamese Navy, was guest speaker at the dinner, telling experiences during contact with "junk" force.

IN HAWAII, MEXICO, OREGON

Next step---honeymoons

MRS. GERALD SHORT

Short-Olson

En route to Hawaii for a two-week honeymoon stay are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Eugene Short (Sandra Kay Olson), who exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon in Bethany Lutheran Church.

A Long Beach home awaits their return.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Olson, Lakewood, the new Mrs. Short wore a gown of organza and Chantilly lace with a veil of silk illusion held by a pearl tiara. She was attended by her sisters, Donna and Linda Olson, as maid of honor and bridesmaid.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Short, Trentwood, Wash., was attended by Tom Clissold, best man, and Jerry Dean, usher.

The bride is an alumna of Lakewood High School and attended Long Beach City College. Her husband is a graduate of Washington State University.

MRS. LYLE PARKER

Parker-Smith

Formal ceremonies Friday evening in Bethany Lutheran Church united in marriage Sandra Elaine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krajian, Lakewood, and Lyle Allan Parker of Los Angeles.

On return from a honeymoon trip to Mexico, the newlyweds will reside in Los Angeles, where the bridegroom is a senior in the California College of Medicine. He studied earlier at Compton College and UCLA, where he affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

THE BRIDE chose for her wedding a sheath gown of tiered Chantilly lace with overskirt of silk organza and carried a cascade of mystery gardenias. Bridal attendants were Laurel Ann Gaiser, maid of honor; Sue Carpenter, Mrs. Richard Klink and Mrs. Dean Robertson.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker, San Bernardino, chose Stephen Parker of Torrance as best man. The 300 guests were shown to their places by William Burton, Edwin Hersh and Khuong Minh.

Mrs. Parker received early schooling in Bellflower and attended Long Beach City College and UCLA prior to graduating from San Jose State College, where she was a student of nursing.

MRS. FRANK POLLARD

Pollard-Dahl

Three hundred guests gathered Friday evening in St. Timothy Lutheran Church to witness the marriage of Carole Jeanne Dahl to Frank Pollard. The newlyweds will reside in Bellflower following an Oregon honeymoon trip.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Dahl, Lakewood, is a teacher at Jane Addams School. An alumna of Lakewood High, she was graduated from California Lutheran College.

* * * *

SHE WORE for her wedding a gown of silk organza and Alencon lace with chapel train.

Betty Jeanne Dahl was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Brenda Priest, Mmes. Frederick Kemp, Donald Hossack and Karsten Lundring. Attendants for the bridegroom, son of Mrs. Mary Pollard, Bellflower, were Lloyd Adney Pollard, best man, and Ronald Arntsen, Donald Barry, Allan Negstad and Glenn Ravenscroft, ushers. He was graduated from Poly High School.

Aces: the big slam bugaboo

We have pointed out earlier this week that you normally use Blackwood to make sure that your opponents can't start out by cashing two aces against your slam contract. When you are sure that your side holds at least three aces you don't need to use Blackwood unless you are interested in getting to seven.

North has 18 high card points. His partner has opened one no-trump and they are playing a 15 to 17 point no-trump so North sees that the partnership total is between 33 and 35. This leaves 7 points or less for the enemy and 7 points can never represent two aces. Of course 35 points might produce 13 tricks, but without a five card suit you just don't want to be in seven.

After West opened the ace of spades South had no trouble running off the rest of the tricks. He had 11 top tricks and while East did have both minor suits stopped he had to unguard one of his jacks when South finished cashing high cards in the major suits and that gave South his twelfth trick.

* * * *

CURIOUSLY enough, West could have beaten the hand had he led any card but the spade ace and had followed up by ducking the first two spade leads.

East would be able to discard a heart on the second spade and could hang on to both diamonds and clubs until the cows came home.

West would probably lose his ace of spades but East would collect one trick in each minor suit and two tricks are enough to defeat any slam contract.

Do you have to get special auto insurance to go into Mexico?"

YES. YOUR American insurance doesn't cover you. The American side of every border town is hung with the advertising signs of places that sell it—full coverage runs something like a couple of dollars a day.

* * * *

"What do you do when you get a parking ticket in Mexico?"

YOU DON'T get parking tickets. The policeman unscrews your license plates and takes them to the station. You go reclaim them and pay the fine. (If you drive without them, you get picked up and it's more fine.)

However — nearly everywhere you park, you find a man with a cap with a badge on it waving you in. He takes care of whatever the parking regulation is. Tip him one peso (8 cents) when you leave. If it's a policeman who does this, tip him the same.

* * * *

Tipping of policemen, mailmen, etc. is quite all right in Mexico. A couple of dollars tipped to the border officials, who make out your auto papers and look at your luggage, is welcome.

* * * *

"Is Antoine's considered the outstanding restaurant in New Orleans? We have two nights. . . ."

FRIENDS in New Orleans still say the best is Galatoire's. But Antoine's is certainly famous. Last time I was in town, I couldn't get in—it was that crowded. Nice place to polish off the evening is Court of Two Sisters (outdoor) with a flaming cafe diablo. And make the morning coffee scene at the French Market on the river.

"I understand Congress is going to cut down the amount you can bring in duty-free. Also the amount of liquor."

PROBABLY—down to $50 duty free. No free $10-or-under gifts by mail and less than the gallon of liquor now allowed. But not at present. Right now you are allowed $100 duty-free — really about $150 because Customs allows wholesale value. In addition, you can send as many $10-or-under gifts as you want. But not two to the same person on the same day. The duty-free exemption from the Virgin Islands is double—$200.

* * * *

"It seems to me you are encouraging people to spend dollars overseas. They should be told to spend them in America."

NOTHING so complicated as that—nobody has ever asked me to fix an editorial policy for a newspaper. I write a good part of the time from overseas. Not about travel. But I have to travel to get there. So people ask me how to get the most for their money when traveling. And if I know, I answer, that's all.

* * * *

"Is there a list of events in Europe?"

AIR FRANCE has a free directly of the big trade expositions, international fairs, etc. at any Air France office. (Might be handiest for planning your tour so you can AVOID them. These things fill all hotels and restaurants.)

* * * *

"Do you recommend a week in Paris for two young men with $500?"

NO. I recommend two weeks in Copenhagen.

* * * *

"Anything we can take along for presents?"

A BOX of long, thin, black, cigars. Danish girls are very high on cigars. They are smoked in public. So make them elegant. Some of the Philippines cigars might be good.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Airline seeks to expand into 7 cities

Continental Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for approval to expand its route system into four more states and seven cities. It presently serves nine states and 21 cities.

The Los Angeles-based airline requested authority to add San Diego, Las Vegas, Colorado Springs and Omaha to its existing Los Angeles-Denver-Kansas City-Golden Jet route.

It also asked for permission to operate between Minneapolis/St. Paul and Los Angeles via Denver, Las Vegas and San Diego; via Denver, Tucson, Phoenix and San Diego; and via Denver, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas and San Diego. In addition, the company seeks to operate Minneapolis/St. Paul and San Francisco/Oakland via Denver and Salt Lake City.

Continental said it would serve the requested new routes with aircraft from its present and planned fleet of aircraft including Boeing 707s, Boeing 320Cs, Boeing 720Bs, Douglas DC-9s and Viscount IIs.

Delta, United open joint Orange office

In a move to expand service in Orange County, Delta Air Lines and United Air Lines last week opened a joint sales-service office at 120 Town and Country Center in Orange.

Dave Crabb and Bob Nelson, of Delta and United, respectively, are in charge. Earnest A. LaMarre, sales manager for United, said similar operating procedure and high quality of service makes the joint arangement compatible.

Dominican tour

The first vacation package tour centered exclusively on the Dominican Republic has been introduced by Pan American World Airways and Carribbean Holidays, New York.

The "Caribbean Jubilee" offers seven days at the El Embajador Intercontinental Hotel, entertainment and sightseeing in the ancient city of Santo Domingo. Departures will be every Saturday via Pan Am Jet Clipper from John F. Kennedy Airport.

Graduation party—Navy style

Capt. Harry Frishman (USNR) and Mrs. Frishman, right, chat with Cmdr. W. F. Callaway (USN) and Mrs. Callaway preceding a dinner party concluding academic year for the Naval Reserve Officers School 11-4 in the officers club at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station. Capt. Frishman, director of publications for the Long Beach school district, was presented an award during the event for heading the unit which was recently judged "the best in the 11th Naval District and one of the outstanding officer schools in the nation." Commander Callaway, who recently returned from a year's tour in Saigon as senior shipyard advisor with the Vietnamese Navy, was guest speaker at the dinner, telling experiences during contact with "junk" force.

Next step---honeymoons

MRS. GERALD SHORT

Short-Olson

En route to Hawaii for a two-week honeymoon stay are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Eugene Short (Sandra Kay Olson), who exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon in Bethany Lutheran Church.

A Long Beach home awaits their return.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Olson, Lakewood, the new Mrs. Short wore a gown of organza and Chantilly lace with a veil of silk illusion held by a pearl tiara. She was attended by her sisters, Donna and Linda Olson, as maid of honor and bridesmaid.

* * * *

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Short, Trentwood, Wash., was attended by Tom Clissold, best man, and Jerry Dean, usher.

The bride is an alumna of Lakewood High School and attended Long Beach City College. Her husband is a graduate of Washington State University.

MRS. LYLE PARKER

Parker-Smith

Formal ceremonies Friday evening in Bethany Lutheran Church united in marriage Sandra Elaine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krajian, Lakewood, and Lyle Allan Parker of Los Angeles.

On return from a honeymoon trip to Mexico, the newlyweds will reside in Los Angeles, where the bridegroom is a senior in the California College of Medicine. He studied earlier at Compton College and UCLA, where he affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

THE BRIDE chose for her wedding a sheath gown of tiered Chantilly lace with overskirt of silk organza and carried a cascade of mystery gardenias. Bridal attendants were Laurel Ann Gaiser, maid of honor; Sue Carpenter, Mrs. Richard Klink and Mrs. Dean Robertson.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parker, San Bernardino, chose Stephen Parker of Torrance as best man. The 300 guests were shown to their places by William Burton, Edwin Hersh and Khuong Minh.

Mrs. Parker received early schooling in Bellflower and attended Long Beach City College and UCLA prior to graduating from San Jose State College, where she was a student of nursing.

MRS. FRANK POLLARD

Pollard-Dahl

Three hundred guests gathered Friday evening in St. Timothy Lutheran Church to witness the marriage of Carole Jeanne Dahl to Frank Pollard. The newlyweds will reside in Bellflower following an Oregon honeymoon trip.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Dahl, Lakewood, is a teacher at Jane Addams School. An alumna of Lakewood High, she was graduated from California Lutheran College.

* * * *

SHE WORE for her wedding a gown of silk organza and Alencon lace with chapel train.

Betty Jeanne Dahl was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Brenda Priest, Mmes. Frederick Kemp, Donald Hossack and Karsten Lundring. Attendants for the bridegroom, son of Mrs. Mary Pollard, Bellflower, were Lloyd Adney Pollard, best man, and Ronald Arntsen, Donald Barry, Allan Negstad and Glenn Ravenscroft, ushers. He was graduated from Poly High School.

Aces: the big slam bugaboo

We have pointed out earlier this week that you normally use Blackwood to make sure that your opponents can't start out by cashing two aces against your slam contract. When you are sure that your side holds at least three aces you don't need to use Blackwood unless you are interested in getting to seven.

North has 18 high card points. His partner has opened one no-trump and they are playing a 15 to 17 point no-trump so North sees that the partnership total is between 33 and 35. This leaves 7 points or less for the enemy and 7 points can never represent two aces. Of course 35 points might produce 13 tricks, but without a five card suit you just don't want to be in seven.

After West opened the ace of spades South had no trouble running off the rest of the tricks. He had 11 top tricks and while East did have both minor suits stopped he had to unguard one of his jacks when South finished cashing high cards in the major suits and that gave South his twelfth trick.

* * * *

CURIOUSLY enough, West could have beaten the hand had he led any card but the spade ace and had followed up by ducking the first two spade leads.

East would be able to discard a heart on the second spade and could hang on to both diamonds and clubs until the cows came home.

West would probably lose his ace of spades but East would collect one trick in each minor suit and two tricks are enough to defeat any slam contract.

Do you have to get special auto insurance to go into Mexico?"

YES. YOUR American insurance doesn't cover you. The American side of every border town is hung with the advertising signs of places that sell it—full coverage runs something like a couple of dollars a day.

* * * *

"What do you do when you get a parking ticket in Mexico?"

YOU DON'T get parking tickets. The policeman unscrews your license plates and takes them to the station. You go reclaim them and pay the fine. (If you drive without them, you get picked up and it's more fine.)

However — nearly everywhere you park, you find a man with a cap with a badge on it waving you in. He takes care of whatever the parking regulation is. Tip him one peso (8 cents) when you leave. If it's a policeman who does this, tip him the same.

* * * *

Tipping of policemen, mailmen, etc. is quite all right in Mexico. A couple of dollars tipped to the border officials, who make out your auto papers and look at your luggage, is welcome.

"Is Antoine's considered the outstanding restaurant in New Orleans? We have two nights. . . ."

FRIENDS in New Orleans still say the best is Galatoire's. But Antoine's is certainly famous. Last time I was in town, I couldn't get in—it was that crowded. Nice place to polish off the evening is Court of Two Sisters (outdoor) with a flaming cafe diablo. And make the morning coffee scene at the French Market on the river.

Snowmobiles range glacier on 'dome' of Canada Rockies

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

BANFF — JASPER NATIONAL PARKS, Canada: You take the route of the fur traders, around snowfields dirtied by avalanches, and aqua green lakes—some still partially frozen over—from Lake Louise north to the Columbia Icefields, the true "dome" of the Rocky Mountains.

Only the early trappers didn't have it so good. Instead of breaking trail through corridors of vast forests and around a bewildering gallimaufry of lofty peaks creamed with snow, you glide over a smooth highway in your own car or in a powerful sightseeing bus of the Brewster-Rocky Mountain-Gray Lines.

The highway — No. 93 — comparatively new with easy grades and turns, stretches through country that was practically inaccessible to travelers a few years ago. Now, autos are experiencing no difficulty tackling the hardest climb—Sunwapta Pass, elevation 6,675 feet.

* * * *

COLUMBIA Icefields, so far as is known the largest glacier south of the North Pole and north of the South Pole, stretch out over 140 square miles. The glaciered ice ranges from 600 to 3,000 feet deep. You turn off for a snowmobile ride on Athabasca glacier, a six-mile-long ice cube. And in the doing you are greeted by Mt. Columbia (12,294 feet) and Mt. Alberta (11,874 feet).

A scure of snowmobiles work like ants taking visitors on sorties over the Athabasca, dodging slush and deep crevasses. One was driven to the very rim of a yawning crevasse. Its passengers who got out for a look were aghast. The driver explained that during the six years the caterpillar-type vehicles have been operating there has not been a major accident.

Where the snowmobile stopped, the driver said, the glacier was approximately 1,025 feet deep. No one knows how many denizens of the forest were caught by anavalanche and still lie undecomposed in this giant deep-freeze.

* * * *

THE RIDE over the world's largest glacier is, of course, unforgettable. But the getting there and the return is even more spectacular as the 76-mile ride unfolds page after page of nature's wonders on the hump of the Rockies (best guide is the pamphlet "Canada's Icefield Highway," available from Canadian Government Travel Bureau, 510 W. 6th St., Los Angeles).

For here are such marvels as blue-green Peyto Lake, just beginning to thaw. Weeping Wall, a myriad of waterfalls tumbling hundreds of feet down a perpendicular, granite cliff. The towering hulk of snow-covered Battleship Mountain. Rivers rushing to the Arctic on the north, Hudson's Bay on the east, the Pacific on the west. And much, much more.

* * * *

BEAR, elk, deer and other animals inhabit the Lake Louise area. The streams abound with speckled, rainbow and cutthroat trout. Throughout are picnic sites along the highways with freshly-sawed pine blocks for firewood (free).

One of the charming spots at Lake Louise Village is the Post Hotel, open all year, practically surrounded by ski lifts, and a drive of only three miles from the lake. The rooms, impeccably neat and clean, cost $10 double, $7.50 single. You pay 95 cents for a breakfast of ham, eggs, toast and coffee. Gasoline costs 50.4 cents for an Imperial gallon (equal to 1¼ U.S. gallons). And—you won't believe this—you pay only a nickel to use the pay phone!

Travel by the book

A NEW GUIDEBOOK, "The American Tourist Manual for the U.S.S.R." lives up to its title. In addition to nearly 200 pages of late information on meals (recent Intourist menu reproduced), weather, visas, currency, transportation, and regulations including actual forms the tourist will encounter, it contains a four-color map of the country.

There are sketch maps of principal cities, floor plans of the Kremlin, the Bolshoi, GUM (State Department Store), the Hermitage and the Metro. One chapter is devoted to the Russian language, and the book contains more than 60 recent photos.

Price postpaid is $2 from Printing Consultants, Box 636 Federal Square, Newark, N.J. 07101.)

* * * *

AVAILABLE at local Kodak dealers or for $2.95 (plus 25c for mailing and handling) from This Week Magazine (Box 62-A, Mount Vernon, N.Y.) is "Vacation Planner and Road Atlas," a new concept in travel aids.

The guide supplies maps of all 50 states, plus Canada, Central America and the Caribbean, and city maps of 212 communities. On the reverse side of each map are listed special events, historic sites, and vacation facilities.

The atlas offers tips on travel photography and suggests the most photoscenic locations in each state. A special section is devoted to tips on car care, and a handy trip diary.

The price includes a bonus book of coupons that entitles individual tourists to special discounts and group admission rates from a variety of hotels, restaurants, attractions, car rentals and sightseeing tours.

Canada popular

Because of cultural ties and the geographical proximity of the two nations, 10,300,000 U. S. residents traveled to Canada in 1964, making it by far the most popular foreign nation among Americans. Statistics released by the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) show that these Americans spent $550 million while traveling for business or pleasure, an increase of $28 million over 1963.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Laguna's art fete on in July

The world-famed Pageant of the Masters, highlight of the 30th annual Laguna Beach Festival of Arts, opens July 10 at the seaside art colony, and continues each night through Aug. 15.

The works of some 30 master painters and sculptors will be recreated inside huge gilt grames, with living models. As in the past, the breath-taking reproduction of Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper" will close each show.

At the same time, 200 artists, sculptors, ceramists and handicrafters will display their works on the six-acre Festival of Arts grounds.

* * * *

ONE OF THE top events of its kind in the west will be the Santa Barbara National Horse Show, July 9-17, in the Earl Warren showgrounds.

For those who enjoy a longer drive, the hunters' and fisherman's paradise of Bishop will hold the Eastern Sierra Tri-County Fair, July 8-11. Events include an RCA rodeo, horse show, junior livestock auction, kids' parade and crowning of a beauty queen.

Two new coins

Two new French coins are now going into circulation, reports Pan Am. One is a copper-and-nickel 50 centime piece, worth about 10c; the other is a silver 10-franc coin, worth about $2.

The beautiful surroundings of Mt. San Jacinto State Park will provide the setting for Photo Day at the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway, July 25, according to Manager O. L. "Mac" McKenney.

The tramway itself, its movement to and fro in craggy Chino Canyon, the spectacular views of the desert 8,000 feet below, are all shots worthy of any amateur or professional photographer.

The tramway operates daily from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. except Tuesdays when it opens at 11 a.m.

Caverns open at Lake Shasta

Lake Shasta Caverns, the new limestone labyrinth just north of Redding which opened to the public for the first time last year, has started its second season with the added attraction of a brim-full Lake Shasta.

A 15-minute catamaran cruise across the lake—from the caverns parking lot just off U.S. 99 to the base of the mountain in which the subterranean caves are located—is one of the highlights of a visit. Buses then carry visitors 800 feet up the moutain to the main opening.

Snowmobiles range glacier on 'dome' of Canada Rockies

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

BANFF — JASPER NATIONAL PARKS, Canada: You take the route of the fur traders, around snowfields dirtied by avalanches, and aqua green lakes—some still partially frozen over—from Lake Louise north to the Columbia Icefields, the true "dome" of the Rocky Mountains.

Only the early trappers didn't have it so good. Instead of breaking trail through corridors of vast forests and around a bewildering gallimaufry of lofty peaks creamed with snow, you glide over a smooth highway in your own car or in a powerful sightseeing bus of the Brewster-Rocky Mountain-Gray Lines.

The highway — No. 93 — comparatively new with easy grades and turns, stretches through country that was practically inaccessible to travelers a few years ago. Now, autos are experiencing no difficulty tackling the hardest climb—Sunwapta Pass, elevation 6,675 feet.

* * * *

COLUMBIA Icefields, so far as is known the largest glacier south of the North Pole and north of the South Pole, stretch out over 140 square miles. The glaciered ice ranges from 600 to 3,000 feet deep. You turn off for a snowmobile ride on Athabasca glacier, a six-mile-long ice cube. And in the doing you are greeted by Mt. Columbia (12,294 feet) and Mt. Alberta (11,874 feet).

A score of snowmobiles work like ants taking visitors on sorties over the Athabasca, dodging slush and deep crevasses. One was driven to the very rim of a yawning crevasse. Its passengers who got out for a look were aghast. The driver explained that during the six years the caterpillar-type vehicles have been operating there has not been a major accident.

Where the snowmobile stopped, the driver said, the glacier was approximately 1,025 feet deep. No one knows how many denizens of the forest were caught by anavalanche and still lie undecomposed in this giant deep-freeze.

* * * *

THE RIDE over the world's largest glacier is, of course, unforgettable. But the getting there and the return is even more spectacular as the 76-mile ride unfolds page after page of nature's wonders on the hump of the Rockies (best guide is the pamphlet "Canada's Icefield Highway," available from Canadian Government Travel Bureau, 510 W. 6th St., Los Angeles).

For here are such marvels as blue-green Peyto Lake, just beginning to thaw. Weeping Wall, a myriad of waterfalls tumbling hundreds of feet down a perpendicular, granite cliff. The towering hulk of snow-covered Battleship Mountain. Rivers rushing to the Arctic on the north, Hudson's Bay on the east, the Pacific on the west. And much, much more.

* * * *

BEAR, elk, deer and other animals inhabit the Lake Louise area. The streams abound with speckled, rainbow and cutthroat trout. Throughout are picnic sites along the highways with freshly-sawed pine blocks for firewood (free).

One of the charming spots at Lake Louise Village is the Post Hotel, open all year, practically surrounded by ski lifts, and a drive of only three miles from the lake. The rooms, impeccably neat and clean, cost $10 double, $7.50 single. You pay 95 cents for a breakfast of ham, eggs, toast and coffee. Gasoline costs 50.4 cents for an Imperial gallon (equal to 1¼ U.S. gallons). And—you won't believe this—you pay only a nickel to use the pay phone!

Travel by the book

A NEW GUIDEBOOK, "The American Tourist Manual for the U.S.S.R." lives up to its title. In addition to nearly 200 pages of late information on meals (recent Intourist menu reproduced), weather, visas, currency, transportation, and regulations including actual forms the tourist will encounter, it contains a four-color map of the country.

There are sketch maps of principal cities, floor plans of the Kremlin, the Bolshoi, GUM (State Department Store), the Hermitage and the Metro. One chapter is devoted to the Russian language, and the book contains more than 60 recent photos.

* * * *

AVAILABLE at local Kodak dealers or for $2.95 (plus 25c for mailing and handling) from This Week Magazine (Box 62-A, Mount Vernon, N.Y.) is "Vacation Planner and Road Atlas," a new concept in travel aids.

The guide supplies maps of all 50 states, plus Canada, Central America and the Caribbean, and city maps of 212 communities. On the reverse side of each map are listed special events, historic sites, and vacation facilities.

The atlas offers tips on travel photography and suggests the most photoscenic locations in each state. A special section is devoted to tips on car care, and a handy trip diary.

The price includes a bonus book of coupons that entitles individual tourists to special discounts and group admission rates from a variety of hotels, restaurants, attractions, car rentals and sightseeing tours.

Canada popular

Because of cultural ties and the geographical proximity of the two nations, 10,300,000 U. S. residents traveled to Canada in 1964, making it by far the most popular foreign nation among Americans. Statistics released by the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) show that these Americans spent $550 million while traveling for business or pleasure, an increase of $28 million over 1963.

Caverns open at Lake Shasta

Lake Shasta Caverns, the new limestone labyrinth just north of Redding which opened to the public for the first time last year, has started its second season with the added attraction of a brim-full Lake Shasta.

A 15-minute catamaran cruise across the lake—from the caverns parking lot just off U.S. 99 to the base of the mountain in which the subterranean caves are located—is one of the highlights of a visit. Buses then carry visitors 800 feet up the moutain to the main opening.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Laguna's art fete on in July

The world-famed Pageant of the Masters, highlight of the 30th annual Laguna Beach Festival of Arts, opens July 10 at the seaside art colony, and continues each night through Aug. 15.

The works of some 30 master painters and sculptors will be recreated inside huge gilt grames, with living models. As in the past, the breath-taking reproduction of Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper" will close each show.

At the same time, 200 artists, sculptors, ceramists and handicrafters will display their works on the six-acre Festival of Arts grounds.

* * * *

ONE OF THE top events of its kind in the west will be the Santa Barbara National Horse Show, July 9-17, in the Earl Warren showgrounds.

For those who enjoy a longer drive, the hunters' and fisherman's paradise of Bishop will hold the Eastern Sierra Tri-County Fair, July 8-11. Events include an RCA rodeo, horse show, junior livestock auction, kids' parade and crowning of a beauty queen.

Two new coins

Two new French coins are now going into circulation, reports Pan Am. One is a copper-and-nickel 50 centime piece, worth about 10c; the other is a silver 10-franc coin, worth about $2.

The beautiful surroundings of Mt. San Jacinto State Park will provide the setting for Photo Day at the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway, July 25, according to Manager O. L. "Mac" McKenney.

The tramway itself, its movement to and fro in craggy Chino Canyon, the spectacular views of the desert 3,000 feet below, are all shots worthy of any amateur or professional photographer.

The tramway operates daily from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. except Tuesdays when it opens at 11 a.m.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

He does an admiral-able job with potato pancakes

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.-P-T Food Editor

This is the story of a "landlubber" (he was born in Bryan, Ohio) who went to sea and straight to the top of the mast. Today's Chef of the Week, R. Adm. Ned W. Sprow, is Commander, 11th Coast Guard District. Though headquartered in Long Beach, his command includes Nevada and the Colorado River, Arizona and the Parker Dam.

While attending prep school in Baltimore, Md., Sprow set his sites on the Naval Academy. Then he heard that the Coast Guard School in New London, Conn., had lots to offer, so he took the examination, made the grade and was sent to Boston. The first assignment was fighting rum runners aboard a destroyer.

Since then, practically every assignment has been terminated by his return to Boston. He served on the International Ice Patrol three years and has arrived, straight from the balmy South Pacific, in 10 helnw zero weather. He served in the Boston Navigation Branch as chief of aids, also on a Coast Guard cutter.

* * * *

SPROW'S life in the Coast Guard has been rather "fluid," to say the least. It's a wonder he's not been caught guarding the wrong beach. His itinerary reads like this: New York City, two years; St. Petersburg, Fla., three. Next it was New Jersey, then San Diego. Back to Norfolk, Va., and the Neutralizing Patrol aboard the Coast Guard cutter, Alexander Hamilton.

He has taught navigation at the Maritime Service Station in Alameda, Calif., and the Coast Guard Training Station, as well. In San Pedro, he put the USS Coronado into commission and sailed her to the South Pacific and back. He served five years in the Military Morale Division at Coast Guard Hdq., Washington, D. C., before being sent to Miami, Fla.

Somewhere in my notes he did a hitch in the Philippines; had a two-year stay in Honolulu (complete with family) as chief personnel officer, 14th Coast Guard District; returned to Washintgon, D. C., as aid to the Navigation Division; then became chief of staff, 13th Coast Guard District, Seattle, Wash. And, now, since 1961, it's Long Beach—and he's still here.

* * * *

MATRIMONIALLY speaking, the Coast Guard is rather a get-up-and-go deal, also. Mrs. Sprow (Babs) was born in Maine, met the admiral in St. Petersburg, married him in New Jersey and "soloed" on her honeymoon aboard a ship, en route to San Diego. She arrived abnard an Army transport, he on a Coast Guard cutter.

The Sprows have a son, Ned II, a senior and political science major at Long Beach State College. Daughter Jill is a freshman at the same school. Otherwise, and nautically, she runs a boat in

REAR ADM. NED W. SPROWL

Story Book Land at Disneyland.

A Rotarian, the Admiral serves on the Board of Directors, Long Beach Red Cross, and on the committee of management, Armed Services YMCA. He's also active on the Long Beach Council of Boy Scouts.

Our "Chef" seems constantly to haunt the galley —especially if there's a batch of Potato Pancakes to be whipped up.

POTATO PANCAKES

6 small to medium potatoes
1 medium onion
1 egg
1 tblsp. flour
Salt and pepper to taste
Dash of ac'cent

Early Rose or other new potatoes are best. Using a coarse grater, grate potatoes and onion. Mix all ingredients together. Spoon onto a lightly greased hot (380 degrees) frying pan and bake on both sides until golden brown and crisp on edges. This recipe should make 8 medium size pancakes. Serve with hog jowl bacon (Boston influence) and applesauce. (You also can add the extra egg yolks to the batter if you happen to be making Ramos Lizzes at the same time.)

IMPORTANT! Make this batter when you're ready to use it. Made in advance, the potatoes have a tendency to turn brown and watery. It's very simple, but the results are great.

Miss Case is wed in chapel ceremony

At high noon Saturday in Memorial Chapel, Camp Pendleton, Kathleen Joan Case and Lt. Eugene S. Vejtasa exchanged wedding vows.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Case, 3709 Lemon Ave., wore a satin gown with Chantilly lace overblouse. Her illusion veil was held by a tiara of pearls and brilliants.

Members of the bridal entourage included Mrs. Robert E. McGuire, matron of honor; Lt. Sammy Lee Owens, best man; Mrs. John F. Schaefer, Lts. James Taylor, Jay Woodard and Joseph Stewart.

* * * *

THE NEW Mrs. Vejtasa graduated from St. Anthony's High School and attended Long Beach City College and Long Beach State College. Her husband, son of Capt. (USN) and Mrs. Stanley W. Vejtasa, of Bonita, Calif., graduated from Humbolt State College.

MRS. EUGENE VEJTASA

The couple will reside in Hawaii.

Wed Saturday, will honeymoon in Hawaii

Griggs-Beckner

St. Timothy Lutheran Church was setting for the 3 p.m. nuptials Saturday which united Judith Carol Beckner and Frederick W. Griggs III. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Beckner, Downey; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Griggs Jr., Los Alamitos.

For her marriage the bride chose a formal gown of Venetian lace and silk organza and carried a bouquet of white orchids and stepanotis. Her sister, Mrs. Reijer Groenveld served as matron of honor and Marne Griggs, sister of the bridegroom, was a bridesmaid. Other bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Parks, Mrs. Dennis O'Hern, Carla Aichle and Shirley Holmes.

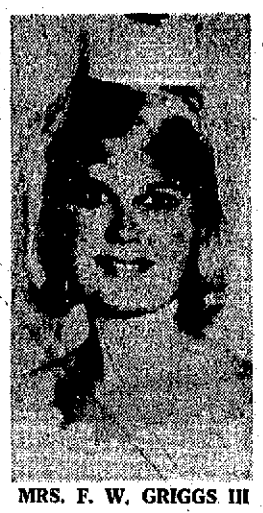

* * * *

MICHAEL DRISCOLL was best man; guests were seated by Steven Luker, William McCullough, William McCook, Richard Parks and James Beckner.

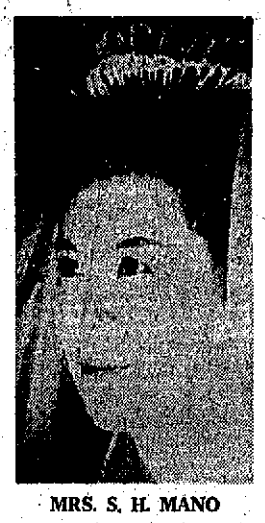

After their wedding; the couple greeted their 600 guests at a reception in the Petroleum Club.

Upon return from a honeymoon in Hawaii, they will reside in Seal Beach.

The bride, a graduate of Downey High School and Long Beach State College, is a member of Delta Delta Delta. Her bridegroom was graduated from Wilson High School and Long Beach City College.

MRS. F. W. GRIGGS III

MRS. S. H. MANO

Mano-Kawano

Long Beach State College graduates Darlene Miki Kawano and Susumu Henry Mano were married in a formal late afternoon ceremony Saturday in Grace Lutheran Church.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yoshinori Kawano, Long Beach; the bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Toraji Mano, Torrance. For the ceremony the new Mrs. Mano was gowned in a Cahill original of imported satin with Alencon lace bodice and bell-shaped skirt that terminated in a chapel train.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Yayashida, matron of honor, and Mrs. Mits Tanimura and Miss Janet Mitsui. Best man was George Mano and ushers were Kenneth Hayashida and Mits Tanimura.

* * * *

PRIOR TO college the bride graduated from Poly High and her husband from Artesia High. At State she was a member of Califas, Southern California Teachers Association, California Association for Childhood Education, East-West Club and a was a song leader. The bridegroom, a chemist with Procter and Gamble's Long Beach plant, was a member of East-West Club and Chemistry Club. The bride is a teacher at John Muir Elementary School.

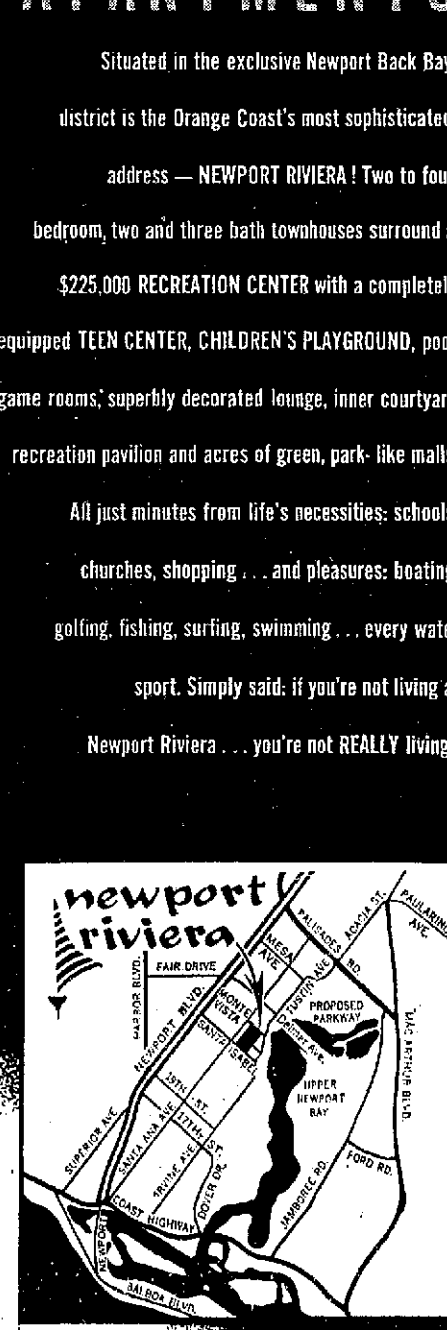

Following a honeymoon trip to Hawaii, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

Summer Skin Care
It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion from harsh sun rays and will give the skin a cool, milky bloom even on the hottest days. Your druggist can supply you with oil of Olay for your personal needs.

The Sprows have a son, Ned II, a senior and political science major at Long Beach State College. Daughter Jill is a freshman at the same school. Otherwise, and nautically, she runs a boat in Story Book Land at Disneyland.

A Rotarian, the Admiral serves on the Board of Directors, Long Beach Red Cross, and on the committee of management, Armed Services YMCA. He's also active on the Long Beach Council of Boy Scouts.

Our "Chef" seems constantly to haunt the galley—especially if there's a batch of Potato Pancakes to be whipped up.

POTATO PANCAKES

- 6 small to medium potatoes
- 1 medium onion
- 1 egg
- 1 tblsp. flour
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Dash of ac'cent

Early Rose or other new potatoes are best. Using a coarse grater, grate potatoes and onion. Mix all ingredients together. Spoon onto a lightly greased hot (380 degrees) frying pan and bake on both sides until golden brown and crisp on edges. This recipe should make 8 medium size pancakes. Serve with hog jowl bacon (Boston influence) and applesauce. (You also can add the extra egg yolks to the batter if you happen to be making Ramos Lizzes at the same time.)

IMPORTANT! Make this batter when you're ready to use it. Made in advance, the potatoes have a tendency to turn brown and watery. It's very simple, but the results are great.

Miss Case is wed in chapel ceremony

MRS. EUGENE VEJTASA

At high noon Saturday in Memorial Chapel, Camp Pendleton, Kathleen Joan Case and Lt. Eugene S. Vejtasa exchanged wedding vows.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Case, 3709 Lemon Ave., wore a satin gown with Chantilly lace overblouse. Her illusion veil was held by a tiara of pearls and brilliants.

Members of the bridal entourage included Mrs. Robert E. McGuire, matron of honor; Lt. Sammy Lee Owens, best man; Mrs. John F. Schaefer, Lts. James Taylor, Jay Woodard and Joseph Stewart.

* * * *

THE NEW Mrs. Vejtasa graduated from St. Anthony's High School and attended Long Beach City College and Long Beach State College. Her husband, son of Capt. (USN) and Mrs. Stanley W. Vejtasa, of Bonita, Calif., graduated from Humbolt State College.

The couple will reside in Hawaii.

Potluck cards

Officers will be in charge of the afternoon and evening when Long Beach Temple 63, Pythian Sisters, has a 4 p.m. business session followed by potluck supper and cards Monday at Machinists Hall, 728 Elm Ave.

Wed Saturday, will honeymoon in Hawaii

Griggs-Beckner

MRS. F. W. GRIGGS III

St. Timothy Lutheran Church was setting for the 3 p.m. nuptials Saturday which united Judith Carol Beckner and Frederick W. Griggs III. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Beckner, Downey; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Griggs Jr., Los Alamitos.

For her marriage the bride chose a formal gown of Venetian lace and silk organza and carried a bouquet of white orchids and stepanotis. Her sister, Mrs. Reijer Groenveld served as matron of honor and Marne Griggs, sister of the bridegroom, was a bridesmaid. Other bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Parks, Mrs. Dennis O'Hern, Carla Aichle and Shirley Holmes.

* * * *

MICHAEL DRISCOLL was best man; guests were seated by Steven Luker, William McCullough, William McCook, Richard Parks and James Beckner.

After their wedding, the couple greeted their 600 guests at a reception in the Petroleum Club.

Upon return from a honeymoon in Hawaii, they will reside in Seal Beach.

The bride, a graduate of Downey High School and Long Beach State College, is a member of Delta Delta Delta. Her bridegroom was graduated from Wilson High School and Long Beach City College.

Mano-Kawano

MRS. S. H. MANO

Long Beach State College graduates Darlene Miki Kawano and Susumu Henry Mano were married in a formal late afternoon ceremony Saturday in Grace Lutheran Church.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yoshinori Kawano, Long Beach; the bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Toraji Mano, Torrance. For the ceremony the new Mrs. Mano was gowned in a Cahill original of imported satin with Alencon lace bodice and bell-shaped skirt that terminated in a chapel train.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Kenneth Yayashida, matron of honor, and Mrs. Mits Tanimura and Miss Janet Mitsui. Best man was George Mano and ushers were Kenneth Hayashida and Mits Tanimura.

* * * *

PRIOR TO college the bride graduated from Poly High and her husband from Artesia High. At State she was a member of Califas, Southern California Teachers Association, California Association for Childhood Education, East-West Club and a was a song leader. The bridegroom, a chemist with Procter and Gamble's Long Beach plant, was a member of East-West Club and Chemistry Club. The bride is a teacher at John Muir Elementary School.

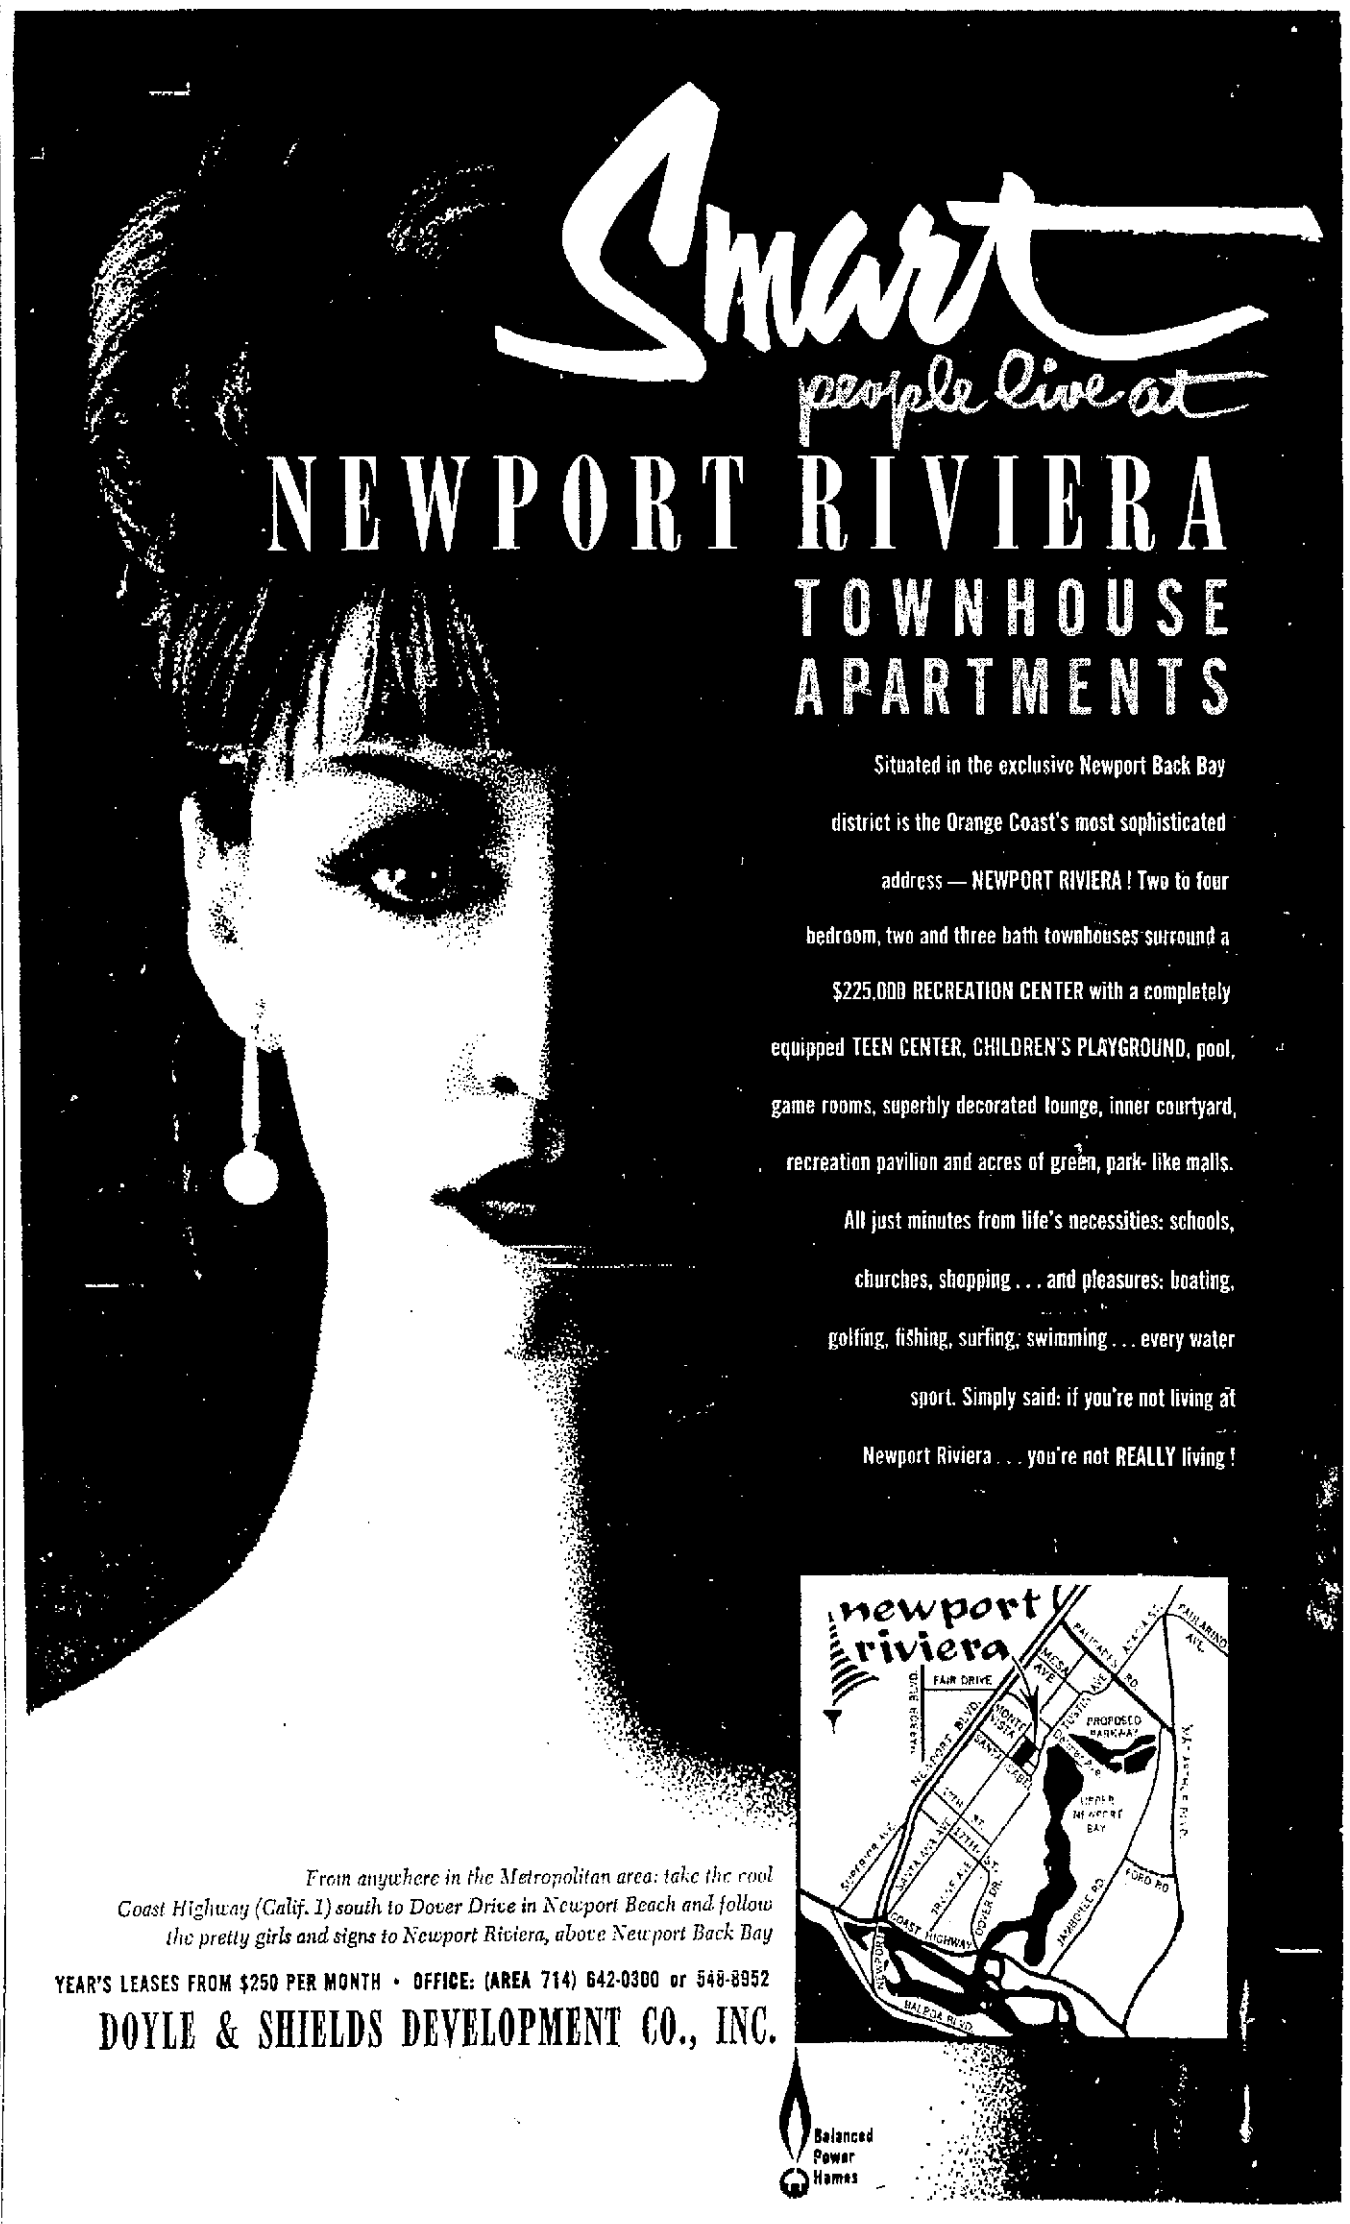

Following a honeymoon trip to Hawaii, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

Summer Skin Care
It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion from harsh sun rays and will give the skin a cool, milky bloom even on the hottest days. Your druggist can supply you with oil of Olay for your personal needs.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on BOEDE.—N.B., San Pedro.

N.B.: BOEDE was initiated in medieval Holland as Van der Boede. This family was native of Zeeland. Van der Boede deciphers as "from the little house," based on the Middle North German term "Bode." Another source was the Old Low German "Bodo," deciphered as "messenger and herald." The Van der Boede armorial shield is divided in half by a zigzag line, the left section black, the right, silver. Across the top are three gold diamonds on a red stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please inform us on GULL. — A. M., Torrance; C. G., Harbor City.

A. M., C. G.: GULL, an early English surname, began as "Gul" descriptive of "frank and kind one." Ancesters include Clement and Richard Le Gul of Oxford in the late 1200s. Gull was also derived from an ancestral shop sign trademark picturing a seagull. In Switzerland "Gull" was a dialectical term for "rooster," an additional shop sign origin. The English Gull family armorial shield is covered with six vertical silver and blue stripes. Along the top edge of the shield is a gold stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the background of the Dutch name AERTS.—F.H., Long Beach.

F.H.: AERTS is an archaic Frisian-Dutch derivative of the term "Hardi," meaning "strong one. Surname evolution produced Harts, Arts and Aerts from "Hardi. The Aerts coat-of-arms from Rotterdam, Holland has a silver chevron overlaid on a black band across the center of the shield. Above the band the shield is red, decorated with three silver crescents; below the chevron the shield is gold, emblazoned with three green clover leaves.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give data on HANNA. — A. R., Garden Grove.

A. R. HANNA goes back over ten centuries to the Gaelic Irish clan name O'Hannaidh. This early name deciphers as "sons of the delayer," pertaining to a chieftain who employed delaying tactics in war. O'Hannaidh was modernized as Hanna and Hannah in the 16th century. This clan were first recorded in Limerick,

What's your Safe Boating IQ? That's a fair enough question to pose to most anyone in this coastal area as thousands of landlubbers have turned sailors to ride the crest of small-boating popularity. There's much, much more to sailoring than running up a piece of canvas or starting up a motor. Staff writer Jack Baldwin has assembled some pertinent facts about boating and an interesting quiz sheet on boating safety, and you'll find it all in next week's Southland Magazine.

We didn't advertise last month simply because we could not handle any additional business. The reason why we were loaded with jobs can best be illustrated with this example: Mr. S. on Stevely in Long Beach has now completed his job with our assistance. His cost $3,600 including our modest fee. Average contract bid from 4 remodeling companies was $4,700. How long would it take you to save $1,100? This is why we are so busy.

Discouraged by High Prices!

Did you know that most remodeling companies subcontract almost all of each job?

Did you know that these remodeling companies mark up their jobs 35% to 60% over actual costs?

Do you like the idea of paying that kind of premium?

NOT A CONTRACTOR

Paging Casey Jones!

By Vera Williams

IF CASEY JONES dropped in at the Jack B. Welles home, 208 Mira Mar Ave., he would doff his railroader's cap with considerable respect.

Before him he would see a miniature—not so miniature at that!—of the railroads that used to snort and chug through the Rockies bringing silver, lead and zinc ore to the smelters at Denver.

And then, if Casey Jones had the time, he could sit down and pore through 6,000 annual passes, dated from 1850 through 1964 representing 1,800 different railroads! They include passes issued to Abraham Lincoln and to Jay Gould.

WELLES, a telegrapher on the Denver, South Park and Pacific lines from 1903 until 1938, headquarters at Como, Col., before World War I and later at Denver, considers himself the historian for "The Railroads Time Forgot," the narrow gauges in the Rockies—Denver South Park & Pacific, Denver, Leadville & Gunnison, Colorado Central, Florence & Cripple Creek, and the Denver, Boulder & Western.

His miniature railroad, which represents all of these railroads, is 40 by 30 feet, three tiers high—630 feet of "S" gauge track on which he operates 35 locomotives, 195 cars of various types, with switches, water tanks, stations, all with panel control. He even has a Morse telegraph system so he can send and receive messages.

Upwards of 10,000 persons — "everybody from gandy dancers to railroad presidents," he says — have visited his railroad. Visitors are welcome, any afternoon and most evenings, Sundays excepted. On Sundays he and his wife, Katharyn, go somewhere.

NOW ABOUT the passes: In 1950 he began collecting old railroad annual passes and compiled into log books to be donated to the National Museum of Transport at St. Louis. He sent out 12,000 inquiries to railroad people over the United States, Canada and Mexico, and several foreign countries.

To date, he has collected passes from 1,800 different railroads. Among these are the famous Abe Lincoln annual pass issued by the Illinois Central in 1857 to "A. Lincoln, Attorney for Company" and a gold plated pass issued by the Silverton Railroad in 1889 to Jay Gould.

In 1851, Charles Minot, then superintendent of the old New York and Erie Railroad sent the first telegraphic train order via Morse code, which set the pace and system for railroad train operations for the next 110 years. Welles has a pass Charles Minot issued in 1854 to a telegraph operator named A. W. Andrews.

In 1951, the centennial was commemorated by erection of a monument on the station grounds of the Erie Railroad at Harriman, N.Y., where the first train order by telegraph originated.

MINOT came West after the Civil War and the city of Minot, N.D., is named for him.

Welles says 90% of the passes in his collection were issued by railroads forgotten by time, and only 10% represent railroads still in operation.

His collection of passes is valued at more than $20,000. He has refused several offers of $2,500 for the Abraham Lincoln pass.

At the end of this year, he will send his collection of passes, compiled in five volumes, each 11- by 14-inch page cellophane wrapped, to the National Museum of Transport—a gift for posterity.

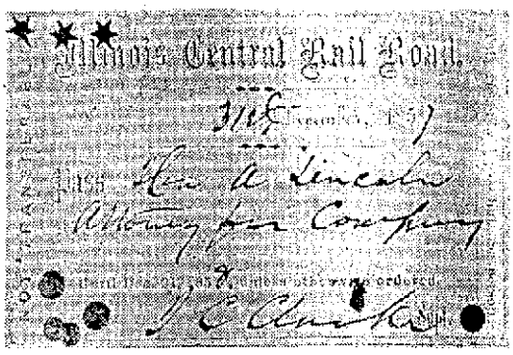

How about his railroad?

"It will go to my grandchildren," he says, "Jeffrey and Jennifer Lake, 6 and 5 years old."

Veteran railroad telegrapher Jack Welles and one of his prized models of locomotives that once chugged through the Rockies in Denver area.

We didn't advertise last month simply because we could not handle any additional business. The reason why we were loaded with jobs can best be illustrated with this example: Mr. S. on Stevely in Long Beach has now completed his job with our assistance. His cost $3,600 including our modest fee. Average contract bid from 4 remodeling companies was $4,700. How long would it take you to save $1,100? This is why we are so busy.

Discouraged by High Prices!

Did you know that most remodeling companies subcontract almost all of each job?

Did you know that these remodeling companies mark up their jobs 35% to 60% over actual costs?

Do you like the idea of paying that kind of premium?

OR

Would you like to save excessive profit and be able to control the quality of your job (with our help) rather than leaving it to individuals who profit more the less they pay to get your job done? Plus have (US) expert consultant-planning and supervision of your job making your job the best possible! !

those who have already planned their job and have plans, or are having plans drawn, don't hesitate to call SUB-IT anyway. We will be happy to send one of our consultants to show you your job's actual cost and explain our very unique service with no obligation.

NOT A CONTRACTOR

Paging Casey Jones!

By Vera Williams

IF CASEY JONES dropped in at the Jack B. Welles home, 208 Mira Mar Ave., he would doff his railroader's cap with considerable respect.

Before him he would see a miniature—not so miniature at that!—of the railroads that used to snort and chug through the Rockies bringing silver, lead and zinc ore to the smelters at Denver.

And then, if Casey Jones had the time, he could sit down and pore through 6,000 annual passes, dated from 1850 through 1964 representing 1,800 different railroads! They include passes issued to Abraham Lincoln and to Jay Gould.

WELLES, a telegrapher on the Denver, South Park and Pacific lines from 1903 until 1938, headquarters at Como, Col., before World War I and later at Denver, considers himself the historian for "The Railroads Time Forgot," the narrow gauges in the Rockies—Denver South Park & Pacific, Denver, Leadville & Gunnison, Colorado Central, Florence & Cripple Creek, and the Denver, Boulder & Western.

His miniature railroad, which represents all of these railroads, is 40 by 30 feet, three tiers high—630 feet of "S" gauge track on which he operates 35 locomotives, 195 cars of various types, with switches, water tanks, stations, all with panel control. He even has a Morse telegraph system so he can send and receive messages.

Upwards of 10,000 persons — "everybody from gandy dancers to railroad presidents," he says — have visited his railroad. Visitors are welcome, any afternoon and most evenings, Sundays excepted. On Sundays he and his wife, Katharyn, go somewhere.

NOW ABOUT the passes: In 1950 he began collecting old railroad annual passes and compiled into log books to be donated to the National Museum of Transport at St. Louis. He sent out 12,000 inquiries to railroad people over the United States, Canada and Mexico, and several foreign countries.

To date, he has collected passes from 1,800 different railroads. Among these are the famous Abe Lincoln annual pass issued by the Illinois Central in 1857 to "A. Lincoln, Attorney for Company" and a gold plated pass issued by the Silverton Railroad in 1889 to Jay Gould.

In 1851, Charles Minot, then superintendent of the old New York and Erie Railroad sent the first telegraphic train order via Morse code, which set the pace and system for railroad train operations for the next 110 years. Welles has a pass Charles Minot issued in 1854 to a telegraph operator named A. W. Andrews.

In 1951, the centennial was commemorated by erection of a monument on the station grounds of the Erie Railroad at Harriman, N.Y., where the first train order by telegraph originated.

MINOT came West after the Civil War and the city of Minot, N.D., is named for him.

Welles says 90% of the passes in his collection were issued by railroads forgotten by time, and only 10% represent railroads still in operation.

His collection of passes is valued at more than $20,000. He has refused several offers of $2,500 for the Abraham Lincoln pass.

At the end of this year, he will send his collection of passes, compiled in five volumes, each 11- by 14-inch page cellophane wrapped, to the National Museum of Transport—a gift for posterity.

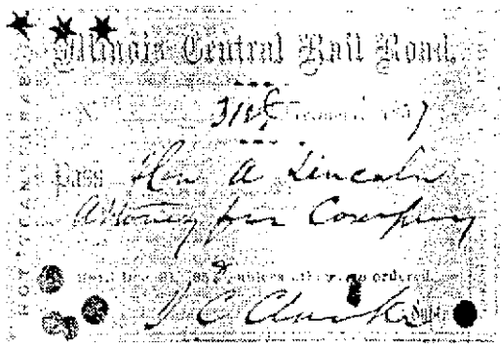

How about his railroad?

"It will go to my grandchildren," he says, "Jeffrey and Jennifer Lake, 6 and 5 years old."

Gospel Line to Russia

By Aubrey B. Haines

Many persons condemn communism, but a Southern Californian resolved to do something constructive. When David V. Benson was 19 years of age, he began to study the Russian language and graduated later from UCLA with Russian as his major.

Then he spent two years at Harvard in the seminary and in postgraduate Russian studies. After three years at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena he graduated in 1958. During this time he prepared sermons and Bible studies in Russian.

In the fall of 1958, Russia For Christ was incorporated under California law as a nonprofit religious organization. Benson met Paul Freed, president of the Voice of Tangier, a powerful missionary short-wave radio station in Morocco. Together they planned to record Russian-speaking religious programs in Los Angeles and ship them to Tangier for beaming towards Russia. Five half-hour programs each week were broadcast into the heart of Russia. They included a theme song—a familiar Russian hymn—the best in Russian choir music, a solo or a duet, Scripture readings, and a sermon.

CAREFULLY, Benson drafted the sermons, which were translated by a skilled Russian-born woman, Mrs. Abromava, into Russian. Helping them were many Russians in the Los Angeles area who sent the best they could to their beloved country. "Many of them still had families in Russia," Benson said, "and all had experienced the terror and cruelty of communist persecution before they reached America." Some persons who later assisted Benson themselves once listened to his programs in Iron Curtain countries.

"At first we used Russian recordings for the musical portions of the programs," Benson says. "But I wanted a choir that sang in Russian. Unable to find one, I persuaded Dr. Charles Hirt, director of the Hollywood First Presbyterian Church choir, to develop one. We taught the choir members to sing in phonetics, and the choir sang impeccable Russian." At first all broadcasting was transmitted from the Voice of Tangier. Two years later, however, Far Eastern Broadcasting in Manila began carrying the gospel deep into Russia. A third missionary station, Team Radio in Inchon, Korea, beams the programs 2,200 miles into the Soviet Union.

"ONE OF OUR strongest allies is the very government that may topple if the Russia-For-Christ movement succeeds," Benson said. "There's no apparent blocking of our religious programs in Russia as long as they're not political."

Today, David Benson is a Southern California Baptist minister, but he has turned the organization over to persons who would continue what he began.

...And Now to Comedy

PETER O'TOOLE, whose enormous international popularity rests on his many impressive performances in straight dramatic roles, has taken on his first comedy assignment with Charles K. Feldman's "What's New Pussycat?" A modern story set in Paris, the film is as zany as its title suggests.

O'Toole plays an editor of "Chic," one of the leading fashion magazines of Paris. The pressure of work (so many beautiful girls) brings him to Peter Sellers, a mixed-up Viennese Professor. Romy Schneider, O'Toole's lovely fiancee, has trouble of her own competing with such dolls as Paula Prentiss, a stripper at the Crazy Horse Saloon; Capucine, a beautiful neurotic, and Ursula Andress, who parachutes for kicks. Woody Allen, the talented comedian, makes his screen debut in the United Artists release as an actor and as author of the screenplay. He portrays Victor, an un-dresser at the Crazy Horse. Clive Donner directed the movie in Technicolor.

"THIS IS MY first comedy film and it has been an education to be working in a style completely new to me," says the Irish-born O'Toole. "The script is full of wonderful American humor and quite a switch from 'Lawrence of Arabia,' 'Becket' and 'Lord Jim.'"

"I've played farce in the theatre but this is completely different — 'way-out' is the way co-producer Dick Sylbert describes it — but there is quite a bit of sharp social satire in the dialogue."

O'Toole is quick to refute the allegation that he has become tired of Shakespearean roles.

"I love playing Shakespeare, but I prefer to play Shakespeare in repertory," he explains. "One becomes very groggy speaking verse night after night."

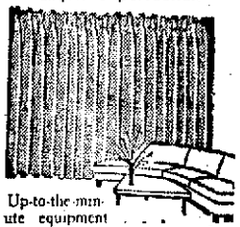

As a fashion magazine editor, Peter O'Toole encounters glamour girls daily, has trouble convincing fiancee, Romy Schneider, of love.

O'Toole brings flowers—in the pot—to his fiancee in a Paris street scene in "What's New Pussycat?" a United Artists comedy.

Ghosts on Hilltop

The Hollywood Academy of Magical Arts boasts a castle loaded with odd gimmicks and legerdemain

By JODI LAWRENCE
Pictures by Jerry Romanoff

HIGH ON a Hollywood hill stands a ghostly Victorian mansion.

It's the Magic Castle, 7001 Franklin Ave., a magicians' club operated by the Hollywood Academy of Magical Arts.

Ghosts and gimmicks haunt the place. There's a screaming monster in the club elevator. A ghost gramophone plays by itself.

In the music hall, a ghost apparently seated at a grand piano, plays any number a guest requests. Nearby an 1895 Imhof orchestrion flashes lights and plays seven musical instruments, unaided by a visible human being.

Throughout the Victorian-style castle, practice rooms are crowded with members and guests doing card tricks and other parlor magic.

THE MAGIC CASTLE, a home for fans of magic, is said to be the only club of its kind in the United States. Now in its third year, it boasts 300 regular (professional and amateur magicians) and 800 associate (interested fans of magic) members.

Hearing that the mansion, for 20 years an actors' boarding house, was to be wrecked, Milt Larsen, a writer for "Truth or Consequences," decided it could be converted into a home for magic.

Magic Castle was opened Jan. 3, 1963. By the end of the year, a kitchen and dining rooms had been opened. Practice rooms were added. Present plans call for building a research library on magic.

Today, entrance to the club is through a sign-in reception room featuring velvet-covered walls, gas lighting and stained glass windows salvaged from local mansions. A statue dedicated to traveling magicians stands under a striped canopy.

ONE WHISPERS "Open Sesme" to a stern iron owl. At these words, a secret door behind a fake bookcase swings open to the club interior.

Inside are posters and paintings of Thurston, Dante and Houdini, plus Houdini's crystal ball and an 1860 haunted clock dial. The clock dial, grandfather of the ouija board, answers questions with "Yes" or "No."

The ghost gramophone plays voices of show people of the past, and there are slides from the Hippodrome Theater where magic acts once shared billing with other vaudeville.

A Mystic 13 Room being built on the second floor will be for private parties of 12, with chairs for 13. At midnight, a mysterious 13th guest will take up the 13th chair.

ONCE A YEAR, members of the Hollywood Academy present a nonprofit evening of magic for children at the Wilshire Ebell Theater. The show features professional magicians and mechanical "scary" scenery.

Every evening at the Magic Castle, regular magicians—Jay Ose and Larry Jannings—perform. Members and guests often join in the performances.

Club members include Paul Newman, Charlton Heston, Rock Hudson, Dick Van Dyke, Joan Blondell. Blackstone, with his white mane, dapper clothes and great black cape, is a club legend. Other members include a dentist, a garment cutter, a psychiatrist and a hairdresser.

VICTORIAN furnishings provide a plush but Charles Adams-cartoon atmosphere. The furniture came from antique stores, junk yards and wrecked Southern California

"Open Sesame" is the magic words used by the author (left) to gain admission into the interior of Magic Castle in Hollywood.

Jay Ose, one of club's professional magicians, performs for club member and movie star, Charlton Heston.

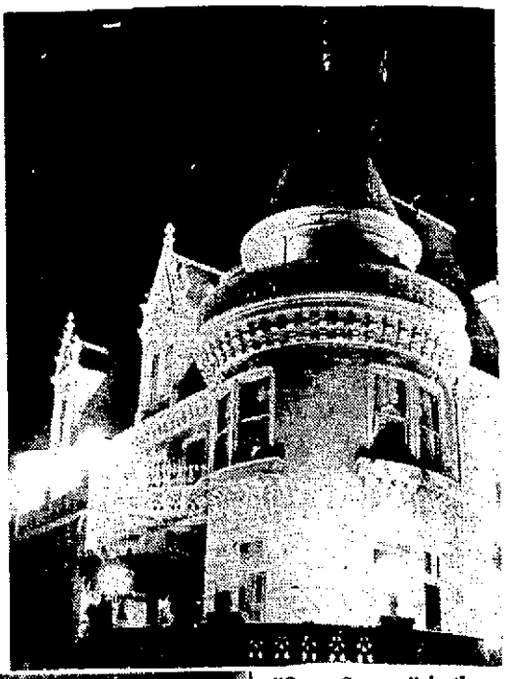

Harry Houdini, shown in photo under poster, once owned the crystal ball pictured here.

Blackstone the Magician and Milt Larsen, founder of Magic Castle, trade card tricks.

It peers millions and billions and quintillions of miles into the night to unlock secrets of the universe: A telescope at Southern California's Mt. Palomar Observatory is unlocking

Palomar Observatory (above), showing 200-inch, 48-inch and 18-inch domes. Moonlight is reflected from the opened dome of 200-inch telescope, right, as astronomers probe into depths of space in search of some of answers to the whys and wherefors and what is taking place within the universe.

The Grandest Discovery in the Stars

By JEROME HALL

AT THE ENTRANCE to a museum atop Palomar Mountain, far from the distractions of the day's busyness, there is a sign that explains it all.

"Astronomy's task is to define the structure and substance of the universe; what is in it and where; how and where it began and what is happening to it now."

It is a task quite unfulfilled, but nowhere are the astronomers making strides as fast as at Mt. Palomar Observatory in Southern California. From beneath the huge silvered dome that glistens against the sun, many secrets of the universe are being unlocked. Within the world-famed dome is the largest telescope on earth, the 530-ton Hale telescope, more commonly and more importantly identified as the only 200-inch lens telescope.

Each cloudless night one of the 15 or so astronomers on the Mt. Palomar staff climbs into an elevator that whisks him toward the top of the dome where he crawls into a small cage at the telescope's prime focus point, some 75 feet above the floor of the observatory.

THERE HE SITS through the night, often in below-zero temperatures, for an observatory, cold and dark during daylight hours, comes alive when its No. 1 enemy, the sun, gives way to the glitter and gleam of the stars.

The Mt. Palomar Observatory has been especially active in recent weeks and, in fact, May and June have been termed "the most exciting time in astronomy since the development of the telescope."

The huge looking-glass at Mt. Palomar has unlocked secrets of the universe during the past months that have thrown astronomy into a tizzy. The feeling is that finally the science will establish whether the universe is endless, and because of the intensive work at Palomar that answer may be forthcoming in a matter of months, possibly within a year.

Astronomy is divided into two camps—those scientists who believe it to be an open, endless universe (a theory based on ancient Greek mathematician Euclid's plane geometry) and those who contend the universe is curved (based on an Einstein theory of gravitational pull of stars, galaxies) and thus closed, finite.

IN RECENT reports to the Astrophysical Journal, two Palomar astronomers, Drs. Maarten Schmidt and Allan Sandage, revealed discoveries of "objects" further out in space than ever before recorded.

These findings have strengthened the two scientists' belief that the universe is not endless, but closed—the evolution of a "big bang" some 12 billion years ago when all matter in the universe was in one place. According to the theory, the universe has been continually growing larger since that momentous explosion.

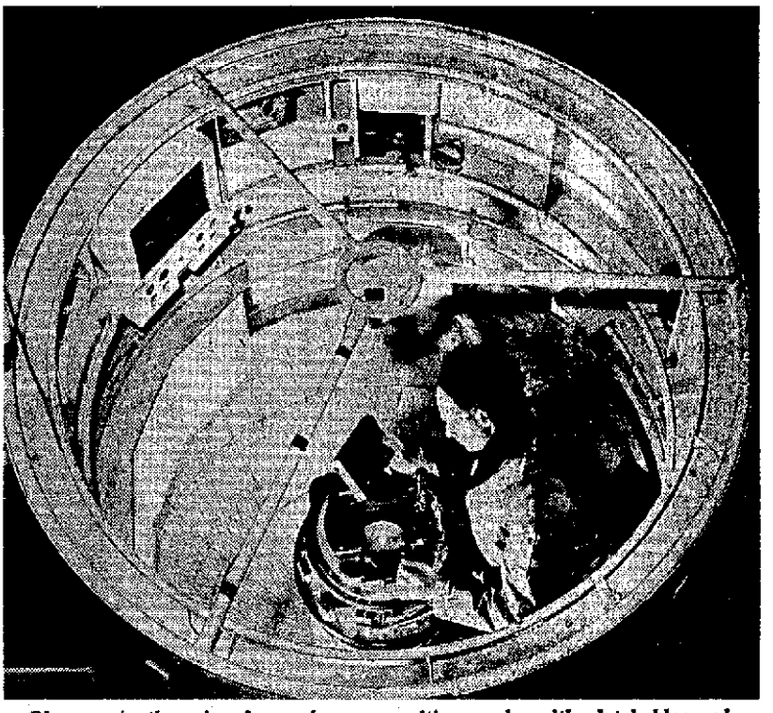

The Palomar scientists readily admit their findings are far from complete but the recent discoveries "provide us with the long-sought keys" to the answer.

And the answer will be the grandest revelation that science can envision.

THE COMMON conception of astronomy, a deeply mysterious science to all outside it, is a false one. The mention of astronomy brings to the mind of most a picture of a bearded man with long white smock peering intently to a long black tube pointed toward the heavens. According to the old joke, his fellow astronomer, also with beard and long white smock, says:

"Somezing tells me, Hans, dat eet iss not green cheese."

Your House Number Needs to Be Seen

IF YOUR house sits back some distance from the street, the best location for your house number is where it can be most easily seen from the street. If you have no fence, you may want to place the house number on the lawn where it is plainly visible from walk or street.

House number signs on the lawn may be as simple or elaborate as desired. An unusually picturesque lawn sign is a group of animals (see illustration). Use your imagination when selecting your house number sign for the lawn as it will add decoration and interest to your home. But keep one thing always in mind—your house number has to be seen. Your friends, visitors and tradesmen will thank you for that every time they visit your home.

Twigs and leaves make up this fun "portrait" —a conversation item as well as a pastime.

Do It with Twigs

By Virginia Clark

MANY persons have had their portraits done in oils, but just to be different, try a portrait in twigs?

A self-portrait of curved twigs, small seed pods and dry leaves, gathered in your own yard, a park, a canyon or the beach, and glued to a background of tan wrapping or construction paper, will give you several hours of fun and a longtime conversation piece. There are many advantages to this instant portraiture. You'll find that there are no negatives to develop, no expensive canvas and paints to purchase, and no waiting for the picture to dry. This likeness is done instantly, while you wait, and here's how.

First study your face, or the face you're "painting." Is the chin large and round, or small and pointed? Is the hair thick or thin? Is it piled high, or does it hang loose. Are the eyes open wide, or partly closed? Analyze these things carefully before you gather twigs and leaves so you'll know what to look for.

A PICNIC or field trip to collect these materials is an adventure in itself, especially if you're an apartment dweller. Dry materials are best for the portrait, so if you want to use a daisy for that wide-eyed look, or the right-shaped green leaf for that full luscious mouth, press them first between the pages of a magazine placed under a large dictionary or other weight to dry. In order to have a good choice, collect more material than you need.

With the nature things spread out before you, and the paper and glue at hand, you're ready to create. Place the chin piece first, then the hair and the neck. Glue these down only when you have the proportions just the way you want them. Next you can put some red crayon lightly on the cheek area, rubbing the color into the paper with your finger tips. Indicate the ears with brown. Then place eyebrows (twigs or bark) eyes, nose and mouth. When you're satisfied that they are right, glue them down. Jewelry, such as necklace and earrings may be made of small flat pebbles or pieces of bark.

SINCE THE challenge and charm of this portrait is its natural, irregular quaintness, it's best not to cut materials. Tear a leaf in half, or pull a flower into pieces, but use the parts as they are. A "purist" might object to our even tinting the the cheeks, but I do it to give the face shape, and bring it alive, and I don't believe it is cheating.

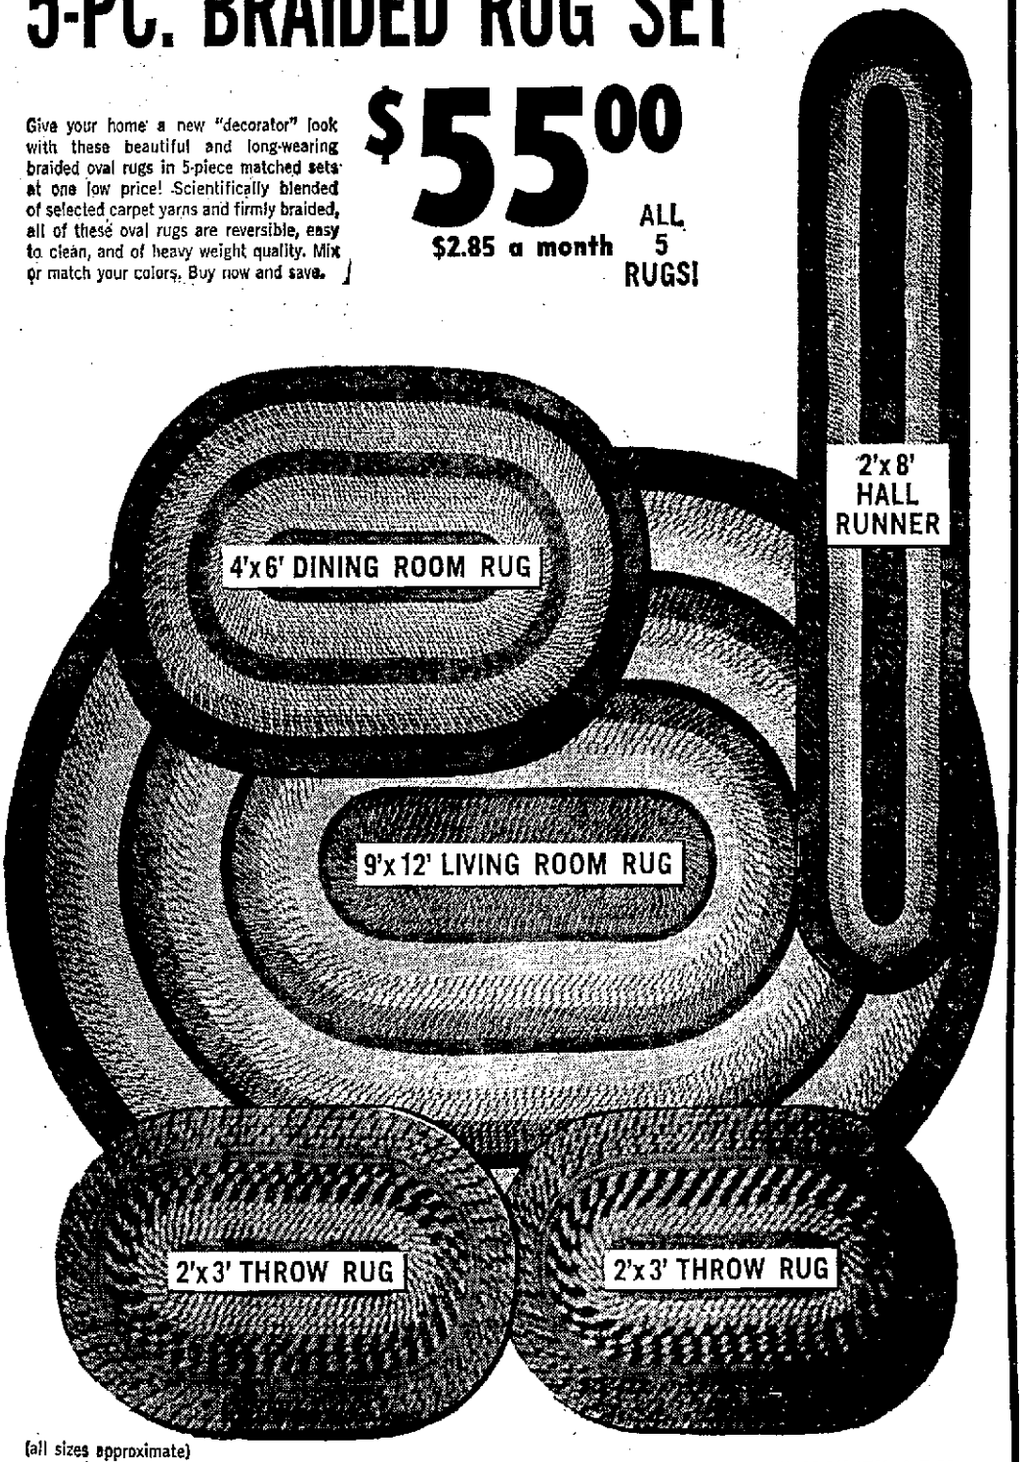

After your initial success, family members and friends may want to "sit" for their portraits, and leaders of youth groups may find this an excellent sideline for field trips.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

Design for Family Fun and Comfort

By Stella George

WITH the simple addition of a family room which was designed by Stanley Goldin, AIA, the Los Alamitos home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Russ, 3232 Quail Run Ave. achieved everything needed for family fun and company entertaining. The new addition extends the length of the kitchen and the dining room and part way to the dinette area on the other side of the kitchen. It is probably one of the most lived-in rooms of the home.

A walk-in wet bar is adjacent to the doorway near the kitchen. The bar faces the family room which has all the "extras" including a conversation center in front of the TV set, a game table and chairs near the glass wall which faces the patio, and an abundance of storage units hidden behind attractive shuttered doors.

FURNISHINGS are warm, and inviting. A black sofa faces twin occasional chairs upholstered in a tweedish fabric. End tables and a game table set are done in avocado finish. An unusual but functional accessory is a choir boy desk. The thick rug is dyed in tones of avocado and beige. A counter in front of the kitchen sink extends into the room but can be shut off with paneled doors if desired. The entire wall surrounding the TV set is shelved for books and knickknacks.

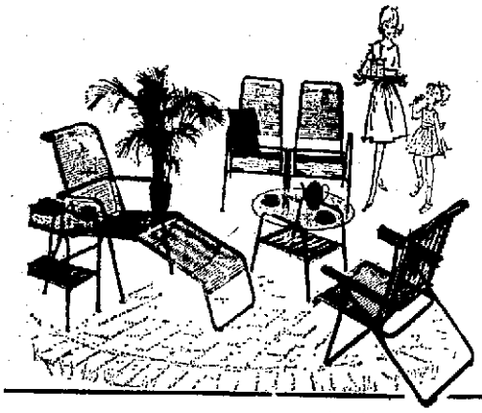

The formal dining room is furnished with an English motif. A soup tureen forms

MANY YEARS IN THE LONG BEACH AREA

Southland Magazine is your entree to a different home each week, offering an opportunity to see how others developed decorative themes, incorporated comforts, solved family housing problems.

Looking from the music center of the living room through the dining room and into the new family room (background) that completed home's facilities.

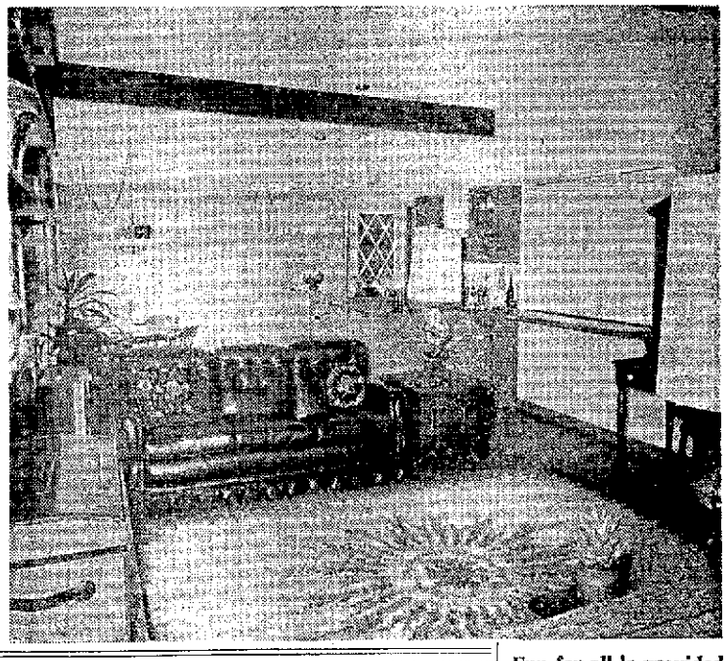

the centerpiece for the table, adding a note of quaintness.

The living room is, in a sense, divided into two parts: The music center and the conversation grouping in front of the fireplace. In the latter, two large comfortable chairs face the fireplace. The chairs are upholstered in avocado velvet. They appear to be new, and fit into the scene perfectly; however, Mrs. Russ states that they have been in use for many years. A large brass plaque dominates the wall above the fireplace. The hearth which originally extended into the living room, and thus formed an entry, has been shortened, and makes the living room larger.

A NEEDLEPOINT chair faces the fireplace grouping, and backs the grand piano in the music center. A floral sofa faces occasional chairs across the way.

Skillful decoration makes the living room appear extra large. The hearth is one example. Another is the fact that the owners replaced what was supposed to be a planter beside the fireplace by making the area part of the room and placing an antique desk (otherwise known as a lady's secretary) where the planter was to be.

There are many details which make the home distinctive. Bedspreads in the master bedroom, for example, are handsome Spanish rugs, very much at home in their new surroundings. Artistically placed pictures, mostly of the family, form wall decorations.

Fun for all is provided in the new family room. Game table and chairs are to left rear of black sofa, a walk-in bar to the far right. Cabinet doors at right center open to the kitchen.

Don't Junk It; Swap It!

By Mary Howard Hays

"SWAP MEET TODAY." This roadside sign could prove to be your guide to many hours of the fascinating and increasingly popular pastime of flea marketing.

The swap meet is really a sort of kissin' cousin to the flea markets of Europe. It's somewhat smaller, open in most cases only on Sundays and there are seldom any permanent stalls or counters. But the selection of items offered for sale or barter is every bit as varied and intriguing as can be found at its famous counterparts.

The Saugus swap meet is open each Sunday, and only about 1½ hours driving time from Long Beach. Take the San Diego freeway northbound over the hills and across the San Fernando Valley, past the huge reservoir to where it blends into old Highway 99, now called the Golden State; north on 99 a few miles to the new Valencia golf course and the Saugus turn off, east on the turn off road for about three miles to San Fernando Road which runs parallel to the railroad tracks, left turn here and go north again, following the tracks to the Saugus stadium, which is well known to most auto racing fans.

THERE'S A CHARGE of 50c per car and the parking area is immense. You may stay as long as you wish and many families make a full day of it, either bringing their lunch or buying it at one of the refreshment stands at the rear of the stadium.

Here, under some cottonwood trees, two long rows of cars, trucks, trailers, campers and station wagons line either side of a wide paved roadway. Behind each, displayed on card tables, makeshift counters, even on rugs spread on the ground, is a wild array of vendibles—the outpouring of dozens of storage closets, attics and garages with something for all. Antiquers, collectors and gadget gatherers have a ball.

Items: a genuine hand-painted chamber pot, a set of beautifully crocheted antimacassars, a ship in a bottle or a milk glass epergne, a butter churn, a hand-cranked washing machine.

There are treasures, too, discovered often when least expected. Imagine buying, as I once did, an exquisite little Dresden shepherdess for a quarter. Of course I wasn't really sure of what I had until I got the dirt off her, but then there she was, perfect in every detail.

FOR THOSE with disposable items, there's a seller's fee of $2—and after a day's selling you should have enough room in the garage, plus extra cash, to start buying again.

It's a round robin affair, this way, but it's fun and an inexpensive way to collect whatever it is that you collect.

Spring-like colors decorate the Dorothy Draper Dream Home living room in New York World's Fair Better Living Center. Light brown finish of book tables, a pair of commodes from Henredon's Custom Folio Two collection and a square, parquetry-topped cocktail table contrast attractively with lime-green Mohawk carpet and off-white damask covering twin Tuxedo sofas. Upholstery, drapes are teamed.

Dorothy Draper's Dream Home

NOW THAT the World's Fair is open, and all its exciting exhibitions unveiled, it is generally admitted that the most enchanting of all the houses on display is the concept of interior designers rather than of an architect.

Dorothy Draper's Dream Home, unique building-within-a-building in The Better Living Center, is an original architectural design right off the drawing boards of her firm, Enterprises, Inc. Mrs. Draper and Gary Pizzarelli, president-designer of Dorothy Draper Enterprises, have worked together for a dozen years, and where color, scale and design are concerned they are totally "en rapport." So this house is not a vague concept of how we may live in some airy future, but a lovely, liveable home that can be fulfilled to fit today's budget.

ITS ENCHANTING look has a great deal also to do with the fact that its components were personally selected to go together. Handsomely crafted furniture by one of the country's top manufacturers, Henredon Furniture Industries, was chosen exclusively to furnish the interior.

The charming fabrics, which were a special design by Mrs. Draper for Bloomcraft, Inc., are used as curtains, bedspreads and for upholstery. These fabrics bring an air of sunshine into the entire house. Like the furniture, they are sold in retail stores throughout the country.

Lighting by Westinghouse was especially created to be an integral part of the total environment.

Mrs. Draper worked from the inside out to create this dream home. First she decided on the size and shape of each particular room and thoughtfully planned them in practical relationship to each other. The resulting floor plan is unusual—a fan shape surrounding a glass-enclosed garden that includes a tree growing right up through the roof—but it is a plan that works.

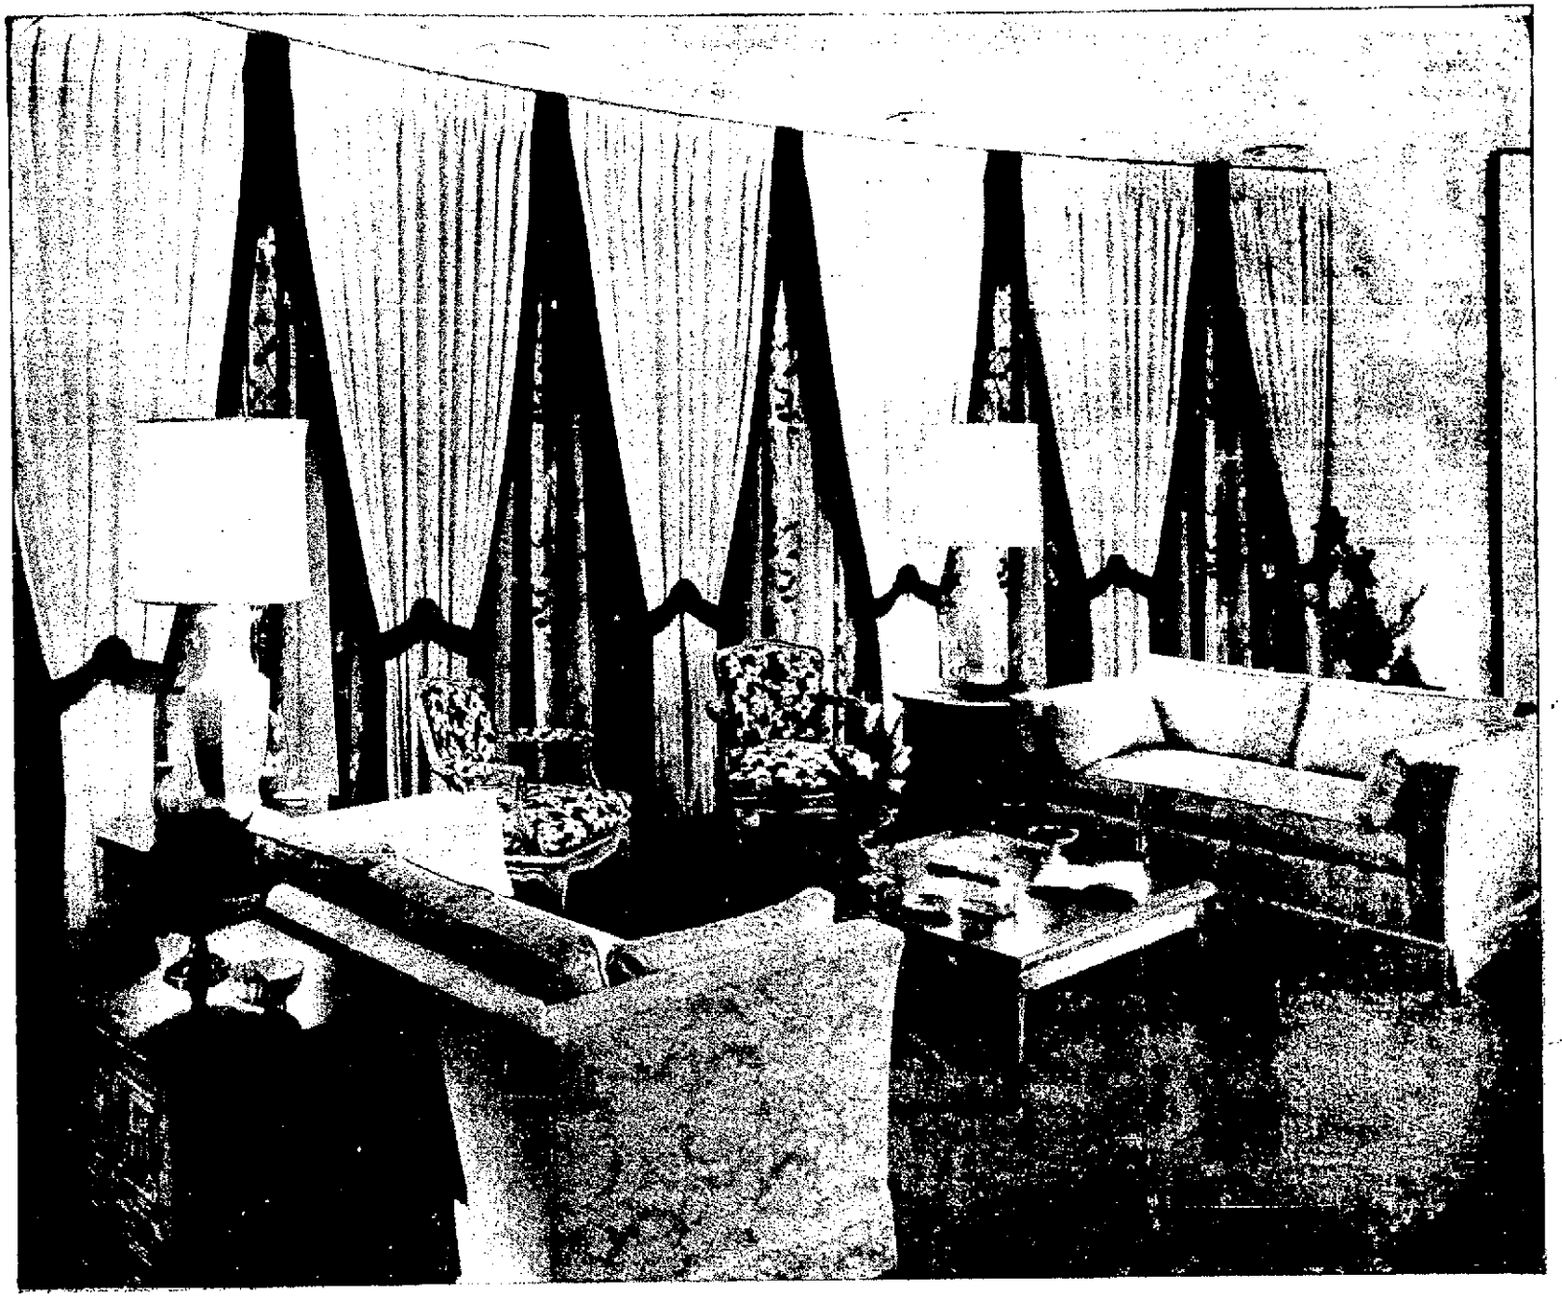

THE COMPONENTS include a master bedroom of extreme elegance with its own sitting-room area; a "dual" room with folding doors that divide it into a bedroom and a guest sitting room; a formal living room that is reached from both the big, well-equipped kitchen and the handsome square dining area, and a music recreation room with plenty of seating space, a big television, and a grand piano for family music-making.

The plan is completed with two bathrooms — one for each bedroom — plus a powder room for guests, a circular hall with a staircase spiralling to the roof garden, and a number of tall closets. The result is a perfect home for a married couple with one or two children, or for a retired pair who enjoy having space to accommodate visitors—family or friends.

As well, it is a house of ideas that could be adapted for comfortable living by families in any number of situations or geographical areas—even, in fact, by designers of apartment houses, who might have to forgo giving each tenant a roof garden but could well adopt the idea of an enclosed "green" area.

CONSTRUCTED of white brick, large-windowed and with floors of vinyl and marble in the uncarpeted areas, the Dorothy Draper Dream Home has its own heating and air-conditioning system.

All the style and flair for which Dorothy Draper is noted is evident in the design and decoration. Colors are vibrant and spring-like throughout the house. In the living room, a lime green and white color scheme complements the beauty of the exquisite woods used in a parquetry-topped cocktail table and twin commodes from Henredon's Custom Folio Two collection.

Dorothy Draper's Dream Home, unique building-within-a-building in The Better Living Center, is an original architectural design right off the drawing boards of her firm, Enterprises, Inc. Mrs. Draper and Gary Pizzarelli, president-designer of Dorothy Draper Enterprises, have worked together for a dozen years, and where color, scale and design are concerned they are totally "en rapport." So this house is not a vague concept of how we may live in some airy future, but a lovely, liveable home that can be fulfilled to fit today's budget.

ITS ENCHANTING look has a great deal also to do with the fact that its components were personally selected to go together. Handsomely crafted furniture by one of the country's top manufacturers, Henredon Furniture Industries, was chosen exclusively to furnish the interior.

The charming fabrics, which were a special design by Mrs. Draper for Bloomcraft, Inc., are used as curtains, bedspreads and for upholstery. These fabrics bring an air of sunshine into the entire house. Like the furniture, they are sold in retail stores throughout the country.

Lighting by Westinghouse was especially created to be an integral part of the total environment.

Mrs. Draper worked from the inside out to create this dream home. First she decided on the size and shape of each particular room and thoughtfully planned them in practical relationship to each other. The resulting floor plan is unusual—a fan shape surrounding a glass-enclosed garden that includes a tree growing right up through the roof—but it is a plan that works.

THE COMPONENTS include a master bedroom of extreme elegance with its own sitting-room area; a "dual" room with folding doors that divide it into a bedroom and a guest sitting room; a formal living room that is reached from both the big, well-equipped kitchen and the handsome square dining area, and a music recreation room with plenty of seating space, a big television, and a grand piano for family music-making.

The plan is completed with two bathrooms — one for each bedroom — plus a powder room for guests, a circular hall with a staircase spiralling to the roof garden, and a number of tall closets. The result is a perfect home for a married couple with one or two children, or for a retired pair who enjoy having space to accommodate visitors—family or friends.

As well, it is a house of ideas that could be adapted for comfortable living by families in any number of situations or geographical areas—even, in fact, by designers of apartment houses, who might have to forgo giving each tenant a roof garden but could well adopt the idea of an enclosed "green" area.

CONSTRUCTED of white brick, large-windowed and with floors of vinyl and marble in the uncarpeted areas, the Dorothy Draper Dream Home has its own heating and air-conditioning system.

All the style and flair for which Dorothy Draper is noted is evident in the design and decoration. Colors are vibrant and spring-like throughout the house. In the living room, a lime green and white color scheme complements the beauty of the exquisite woods used in a parquetry-topped cocktail table and twin commodes from Henredon's Custom Folio Two collection.

Picnic Cheese Bread

Cheese Bread has many taste-tempting places on menus and can go picnicking when wrapped in foil to be heated over the grill. For recipe, see story below.

By Mildred K. Flanary

YOU CAN take it with you! Piping hot Cheese Bread, simple as A-B-C to fix, can be the hearty and delectable hit of the picnic. Made from biscuit mix and grated nippy cheese this taste-tempting bread is baked and caried to the picnic in aluminum foil.

Cheese Bread may be sliced, spread with garlic butter and wrapped in foil to be heated over the grill to complement almost any meal. It is delightful at home or as a picnic snack, delicious hot or cold. Just roll back the foil to release the tantalizing aroma of hot bread.

Cheese Bread

1 egg
1½ cups milk
3¾ cups biscuit mix
¾ cup grated natural sharp cheese, such as Cheddar

Heat oven to 350 deg. (mod.). Beat egg and add milk. Stir in biscuit mix and cheese. Beat 30 seconds until well blended. Pour into well greased, waxed paper-lined loaf pan, 9x5x3". Bake 1 hour. Let cool a few minutes. Slice ½" thick and serve. Or, cool thoroughly, wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate overnight.

Slice thin. Also good tasted.

Garlic Cheese Bread: Slice Cheese Bread (above) and spread with Garlic Butter: add garlic salt sparingly or grated fresh garlic to ½ cup (1 stick) butter. Wrap loaf in aluminum foil and place on charcoal grill until bread is heated through, 15 to 20 min. Serve hot.

PIZZA takes a different form in a recipe that wins $5 for Dennis Hembree, 208 Artesia Blvd., Long Beach 90805. The recipe:

Pizza by the Yard

1 loaf French bread—18" long
1 lb. ground beef
⅓ cup Parmesan cheese
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup ripe olives
Salt and pepper to taste
½ tsp. oregano, crushed
1 6-oz. can tomato paste
2 tomatoes, peeled and sliced
6 slices sharp cheese or mozzarella

Cut loaf lengthwise in half. Combine meat with next 7 ingredients. Spread evenly on each bread half. Broil about 12 minutes or until meat is done. Alternate slices of tomatoes and cheese. Broil again one or two minutes or until cheese melts.

COIN ROUNDUP

Maundy Money

By Maurice M. Gould

MAUNDY MONEY, which is distributed by the King or Queen of England each year, is an historic ceremony which dates back to the 13th century and is an important part of English tradition.

The original ceremony called for the reigning monarch to distribute gifts of money and clothes among the beggars and paupers. Also, in the early years, there was the washing of the beggars' feet by the royalty, because this was considered an act of humiliation, just as Jesus did to his disciples.

During the reign of Elizabeth I, this was temporarily discontinued because it was thought to be beneath the dignity of the reigning monarch.

The ceremony still takes place on Maundy Thursday and is usually held in Westminster Abbey, where the Queen distributes the Royal Maundy Money among elderly and infirm.

Maundy coins were never distributed in large numbers and have always been popular with collectors in England. They now have a universal appeal, but only a few dealers have any worthwhile stocks of them.

Even the issues of the past few years sell for $65 per set, and the 1965 issue has been offered at $75; it became available on Maundy Thursday, April 15, after the distribution by Queen Elizabeth II at Canterbury Cathedral.

The 1953 Coronation date is very rare and sells for $225.

NOW THAT HAWAII is the 50th state, more and more interest is being shown in the coins and tokens of the islands.

One of the tokens which circulated at the time of King Kamehameha the IV is half-dollar size struck in white metal. The obverse has a portrait of the King, with the legend, HIS MAJESTY, KAMEHAMEHA THE IV. The reverse has a beehive in the center, with the legend, JOHN THOMAS WATERHOUSE, IMPORTER, HALE MAIKI.

Rare Waterhouse Token of Hawaii bears likeness of isles' King Kamehameha IV.

This token is now very rare and most difficult to find in nice condition because of its composition.

Almost all of the Hawaiian tokens struck before 1900 demand handsome premiums, and they were produced in limited quantities.

The Waterhouse Token sells at from $200 to $500, depending on condition, but is seldom offered for sale.

SEVERAL readers have written: "Is it illegal to hold U. S. gold certificates?"

You may now hold gold certificates and keep them in your collection or use them in numismatic displays. Previous to April 1964 it was illegal to have these items in one's possession.

They are now listed in all of the new paper money catalogs.

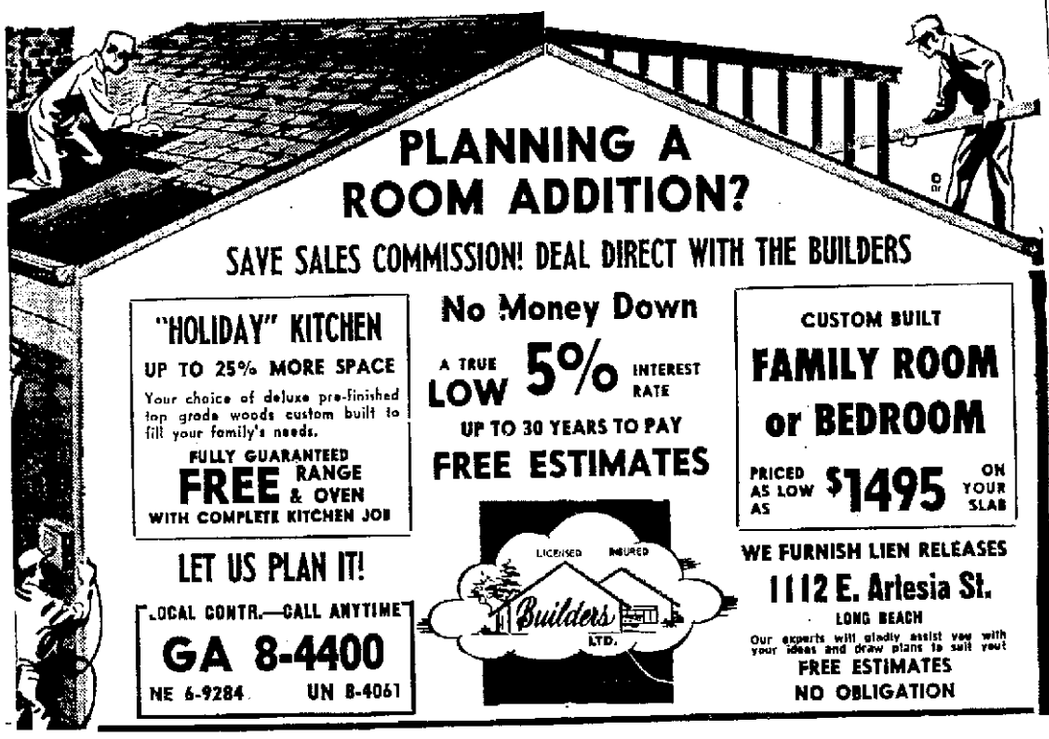

Many millions of these gold certificates are outstanding and they are found tucked away in safe deposit vaults and other places where they were put for safekeeping. Many were put away by hoarders hoping that some day they could be redeemed for gold, just as the notes state.

They are easily obtained in badly worn condition, but to get them in crisp or exceptionally nice condition is another matter.

The worn pieces are still nominally priced at not a great deal over face value, but the top condition pieces can bring three, four or more times face value without difficulty.

Occasionally, fairly large hoards show up, items which have been out of circulation for a number of years.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Senior Dizziness

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

WHEN AN aged motorist moves his head upward or sideward to compensate for limitations in vision, he may get into trouble.

The warning comes from Dr. Manuel Rodstein, senior associate medical director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Such maneuvering of the head may compress a neck artery supplying the brain to bring about dizziness, weakness or even fainting while at the steering wheel.

A back rest for the head would help to reduce the number of traffic accidents caused by the phenomenon, Dr. Rodstein reported to a sight-saving conference sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

ROUTINE immunization of all children with measles vaccine has been urged by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

The Academy's committee on the control of infectious diseases says:

"Measles can be the next infectious disease to be eliminated from the United States if the presently available vaccines are widely used."

Six measles vaccines are now commercially available. All have been approved and licensed by the Division of Biologic Standards of the U. S. Public Health Service.

A BATTERY-POWERED wheelchair that can climb stairs has won two Canadian inventors a $5,000 prize in an inventors contest.

The chair carries its occupant in an upright position whether it is moving up, down or on the level. It can be folded to fit into an automobile trunk.

No information is currently available on the cost or how the chair can be obtained.

PRIOR USE of oral contraceptives does not jeopardize future pregnancies, a team of Seattle researchers reports.

Invetsigators at the University of Washington School of Medicine studied 75 patients. Finding: Prior use of birth-control pills did not adversely affect either the time required to become pregnant, the course of the pregnancy or the resultant progeny.

Drugs used in the study were Enovid, Norinyl, Ortho-Novum-2 and Oracon.

The study was reported to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

BAD BREATH in middle-aged persons is sometimes a result of attempts to diet, says Dr. R. Gwyn Evans in The Practitioner.

He says that examining physicians should ask such patients if they are deliberately omitting one or two meals a day, for such a practice, he contends, can often lead to offensive breath.

Other causes of chronic bad breath: low-grade sinus infection and persistent furring on the back of the tongue.

WOMEN ATHLETES taking strenuous exercises daily have found they can predict onset of a cold, according to a report in London's Medical News.

The women felt unable to perform the normal amount of exercises about two or three days previous to development of cold symptoms.

ACUTE appendicitis in a newborn premature infant, often thought to be an unusual circumstance, may not be as rare as believed, a French medical journal reports. In one year alone, four cases were reported in the medical literature, the article notes.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

mansions. Shutters on the Magic Castle originally hung on the Norma Talmadge Building on Sunset Strip.

A 50-foot stained glass dome dominates the main dining room. Originally the dome was bought by a man who planned to build a house around it in Bel Air. The dome was too bulky for him. He had it carted by crane and transported by truck in an elaborate operation to a warehouse, where it rested for two years.

Milt Larsen learned of the dome and bought it. With an ordinary wrench, he dismantled it in a few minutes and hauled it in his station wagon to the Magic Castle. The glass constructions were made to be taken apart in minutes.

Magical? Perhaps it is because the whole castle is a place of magic.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Senior Dizziness

By Ben Zinser
Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

WHEN AN aged motorist moves his head upward or sideward to compensate for limitations in vision, he may get into trouble.

The warning comes from Dr. Manuel Rodstein, senior associate medical director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

Such maneuvering of the head may compress a neck artery supplying the brain to bring about dizziness, weakness or even fainting while at the steering wheel.

A back rest for the head would help to reduce the number of traffic accidents caused by the phenomenon, Dr. Rodstein reported to a sight-saving conference sponsored by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

ROUTINE immunization of all children with measles vaccine has been urged by the American Academy of Pediatrics.

The Academy's committee on the control of infectious diseases says:

"Measles can be the next infectious disease to be eliminated from the United States if the presently available vaccines are widely used."

Six measles vaccines are now commercially available. All have been approved and licensed by the Division of Biologic Standards of the U. S. Public Health Service.

A BATTERY-POWERED wheelchair that can climb stairs has won two Canadian inventors a $5,000 prize in an inventors contest.

The chair carries its occupant in an upright position whether it is moving up, down or on the level. It can be folded to fit into an automobile trunk.

No information is currently available on the cost or how the chair can be obtained.

PRIOR USE of oral contraceptives does not jeopardize future pregnancies, a team of Seattle researchers reports.

Invetsigators at the University of Washington School of Medicine studied 75 patients. Finding: Prior use of birth-control pills did not adversely affect either the time required to become pregnant, the course of the pregnancy or the resultant progeny.

Drugs used in the study were Enovid, Norinyl, Ortho-Novum-2 and Oracon.

The study was reported to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

BAD BREATH in middle-aged persons is sometimes a result of attempts to diet, says Dr. R. Gwyn Evans in The Practitioner.

He says that examining physicians should ask such patients if they are deliberately omitting one or two meals a day, for such a practice, he contends, can often lead to offensive breath.

Other causes of chronic bad breath: low-grade sinus infection and persistent furring on the back of the tongue.

WOMEN ATHLETES taking strenuous exercises daily have found they can predict onset of a cold, according to a report in London's Medical News.

The women felt unable to perform the normal amount of exercises about two or three days previous to development of cold symptoms.

ACUTE appendicitis in a newborn premature infant, often thought to be an unusual circumstance, may not be as rare as believed, a French medical journal reports. In one year alone, four cases were reported in the medical literature, the article notes.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

mansions. Shutters on the Magic Castle originally hung on the Norma Talmadge Building on Sunset Strip.

A 50-foot stained glass dome dominates the main dining room. Originally the dome was bought by a man who planned to build a house around it in Bel Air. The dome was too bulky for him. He had it carted by crane and transported by truck in an elaborate operation to a warehouse, where it rested for two years.

Milt Larsen learned of the dome and bought it. With an ordinary wrench, he dismantled it in a few minutes and hauled it in his station wagon to the Magic Castle. The glass constructions were made to be taken apart in minutes.

Magical? Perhaps it is because the whole castle is a place of magic.

Mama Got Carried Away

By Eleanor Avery Price

CONFUCIUS once said, "In all things success depends upon previous preparation." Hank and Sarah Willingham, 8271 Peters Ave., Midway City, took the best care possible of their German shorthaired pointer, Furstenfeld's Betta, before and during her recent pregnancy, and they hoped for a big litter. But 14 pups! Betta, after all!

While 14 pups in one litter isn't a world's record (a St. Bernard had 23 babies), it shattered the nights' sleep of the Willinghams, because rotation and supplementation were in order, and puppies are always hungry. (And so are little boys of which the Willinghams have two.) But the proud owners dug in for the duration, and presently the tintinnabulations of the alarm clock set for every two hours were silent. And the Willinghams now know that the reward for something well done is to have done it. Of course there still are a lot of little feet underfoot.

WHEN THE FIRST American establishment of the German shorthaired pointer was accomplished by Dr. Charles R. Thorton, he had in mind that a dog's worth is judged by what it can do, but he was thinking in terms of the field not the maternity ward. The breed is very versatile. He can point upland game, retrieve ducks from water, trail coon, rabbits and deer. He is all business, works the ground carefully, ranges moderately, picks up the faintest scent and follows it through with his remarkable nose. His mild temperament makes him a joy as a family dog.

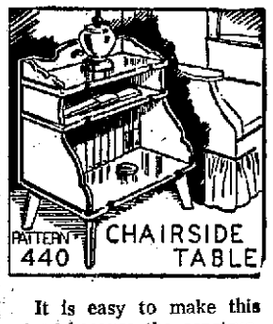

He is the result of selective breeding. In the 17th century, German sportsmen were fond of their German pointer, a dog created from Spanish pointer and bloodhound, as he was a good bird dog but slow, cumbersome, and not too attractive. Eventually the sportsmen cast their eyes across the sea and admired the American pointer who combines Spanish pointer, foxhound, and bloodhound, and who has dash and good looks. They imported a few and crossed them with their heavy gun dogs. Then they made a double cross of the old Spanish dog and infused a lesser amount of bloodhound and foxhound. The result was a speedier dog with an outstanding scenting ability, a dog reduced somewhat in size, and more graceful. His color was liver or liver and white.

AND SO it became the American sportsmen's turn to look across the sea and admire the German shorthaired pointer. Dr. Thorton and others continued to improve the breed in this country.

All sporting dogs including German shorthaired, as well as hounds and non-sporting breeds are exhibited today at Kennel Club of Beverly Hill's show and trial at Pan Pacific Auditorium, Los Angeles. Dogs are benched until 9 p.m. Alva Resenberg will select best in show this evening about 10:30 p.m.

ENTRIES are being taken now for Ventura and Santa Barbara dog shows July 31 and Aug. 1, respectively.

Mitchener Explores Canaan

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

JAMES A. MICHENER rummages through 11,800 years of theology, mythology, sociology, philosophy and political science in a massive (909-page) novel, a story of the evolution of the Holy Land from Canaan to modern Israel.

All this emanates from the archaelogical excavation of a mythical mound called "Tell Makor," tell meaning "mound" and makor meaning "source." Hence the title, "THE SOURCE" (Random House, $7.95).

Michener researched the work of the famous tell of Hazor, excavated by Yagael Vadin, former Israeli army chief of staff, and unfolds his narratives through the findings of a mythical team headed by an Irish-American, Dr. John Cullinane. With Cullinane are Dr. Ilan Eliav, Israeli government overseer and former hero of the War of 1948; Jemail Tabari, an Arab who fought on the other side but stayed on for Reconstruction; and for a time, Dr. Vered Bar-El, beautiful Israeli authority on dating pottery. She's the love interest.

The team digs two trenches down 15 levels, uncovering 15 periods of civilization, unearthing such artifacts as a spent bullet at the top level, a Turkish gold coin, a gold menorah, a Crusaders' castle, a coronerstone of a synagogue converted into a church, a marble hand grasping a blade, off a Greek statue, a horned altar, a clay figure of the goddess Astarte (who reminds Cullinane of Vered Bar-El) and, finally, a flint and bone sickle, Level XV, dated nearly 10,000 B.C.E.

These are charted on cards by Cullinane and, with maps and diagrams, he reconstructs Michener's version of the way of life at each level, starting inversely from Canaanite fertility rites, to the glories of Biblical Israel, Greek domination, Roman butchery, the rise of Christianity, Islamic conquest, the Crusades, Spanish torture, Turkish destruction, the pogroms and, at last, the rebirth of Israel.

Michener appears to offer a central thesis—that all generations are bound together by the ageless laws of happiness and justice, under the same God, but sometimes God can use a little human assistance.

LANDRU, the 20th century French Bluebeard who found his lovers, and his victims, by placing small ads in the daily papers, has been portrayed in a number of books and movies, including the Chaplin film "Monsier Verdoux."

Now comes a novel: "LANDRU" by Rene Masson (Doubleday, $5.95) which presents this gruesome mass murderer and the lives he led: his position as head of a happy family, and his secret second world of innocent mistresses in idyllic country cottages, whom he strangled and disposed of when boredom overcame him. Not for the squeamish. "Landru" was translated from the French by Gillian Tindall.

"THE RING IN MEIJI" by William Butler (Putnam, $6.95) is a long, often powerful novel about the Westernization of feudal Japan in the 1860s and 1870s. The cyclical plot presents three main strands: the commercial rise of a group of Americans, the contrasting rise of two Japanese brothers as samurai and politicians, and a running history of the imperial court. These stories constantly twist and reverse themselves.

The son who kills his father is himself killed in his prime. The American who wants little gets everything, while the grabhanded American who wants all loses most of it. Historical forces rise to power and are washed away while Mount Fuji looks down impassively.

ON SATURDAY, Sept. 8, 1883, Sen. William Sharon, fabulously wealthy "King of the Comstock," was arrested in his San Francisco hotel suite on a charge of adultery.

This was the beginning of one of the most celebrated court cases in California history, a bitter, brutal battle that for nearly 10 years swamped the courts with civil suits ranging from divorce to libel to slander and criminal prosecutions that included adultery, perjury, larceny and murder.

The fight was between the "Senator," 64, and a financial wizard, and poor, but pretty Sarah Althea Hill, who claimed to be his wife and asked for half his $30-million fortune.

The complete story of the historic case is told in "SARAH AND THE SENATOR" (Howell-North, $5.95) by Robert H. Kroninger.

A native Californian, the author is a Superior Court Judge, and a graduate of the University of California, Law School.

THE AMERICAN decision to give embattled Great Britain 50 vintage naval destroyers during the fateful summer of 1940 was a historic action with lasting consequences.

"The deal," as it was called by critics, brought a dramatic end of U.S. isolationism and inexorably pushed the nation into the role of world leadership it still carries.

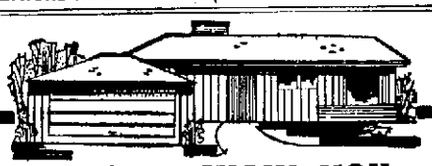

Vociferously opposed in many corners, the destroyers for island bases trade was worked out between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, as the means by which England would retain control of the seas.

The minute-by-minute development of this great enterprise is told in "FIFTY SHIPS THAT SAVED THE WORLD" by Philip Goodhart (Doubleday, $5).

The author analyzes the background of the destroyer negotiations and the men who made the decision, recounts history of the bases given the U.S. and brings the reader up to date on what happened to the old "four stackers" that went to Great Britain.

"A SENSE OF LIFE", translated by Adrienne Foulke (Funk & Wagnalls, $5) is the first English translation of "Un Sens a la Vie," a posthumously collected group of essays by Antoine de Saint Exupery. These miscellaneous short pieces, written over a lifetime, reveal the famous aviator-writer-philosopher's deep humanism and sense of the potential worth of the individual. Saint-Exupery, author of "Wind, Sand and Stars," "Night Flight" and "Southern Mail," disappeared on a reconnaissance flight over France in World War II.

ON SATURDAY, Sept. 8, 1883, Sen. William Sharon, fabulously wealthy "King of the Comstock," was arrested in his San Francisco hotel suite on a charge of adultery.

This was the beginning of one of the most celebrated court cases in California history, a bitter, brutal battle that for nearly 10 years swamped the courts with civil suits ranging from divorce to libel to slander and criminal prosecutions that included adultery, perjury, larceny and murder.

The fight was between the "Senator," 64, and a financial wizard, and poor, but pretty Sarah Althea Hill, who claimed to be his wife and asked for half his $30-million fortune.

The complete story of the historic case is told in "SARAH AND THE SENATOR" (Howell-North, $5.95) by Robert H. Kroninger.

A native Californian, the author is a Superior Court Judge, and a graduate of the University of California, Law School.

THE AMERICAN decision to give embattled Great Britain 50 vintage naval destroyers during the fateful summer of 1940 was a historic action with lasting consequences.

"The deal," as it was called by critics, brought a dramatic end of U.S. isolationism and inexorably pushed the nation into the role of world leadership it still carries.

Vociferously opposed in many corners, the destroyers for island bases trade was worked out between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, as the means by which England would retain control of the seas.

The minute-by-minute development of this great enterprise is told in "FIFTY SHIPS THAT SAVED THE WORLD" by Philip Goodhart (Doubleday, $5).

The author analyzes the background of the destroyer negotiations and the men who made the decision, recounts history of the bases given the U.S. and brings the reader up to date on what happened to the old "four stackers" that went to Great Britain.

"A SENSE OF LIFE", translated by Adrienne Foulke (Funk & Wagnalls, $5) is the first English translation of "Un Sens a la Vie," a posthumously collected group of essays by Antoine de Saint Exupery. These miscellaneous short pieces, written over a lifetime, reveal the famous aviator-writer-philosopher's deep humanism and sense of the potential worth of the individual. Saint-Exupery, author of "Wind, Sand and Stars," "Night Flight" and "Southern Mail," disappeared on a reconnaissance flight over France in World War II.

1965 SNAPSHOT CONTEST RULES

1. This contest is open only to amateur photographers. Anyone is eligible, excepting employees of the Independent, Press-Telegram and the Orange County Evening News, and individuals who personally are engaged in the manufacture, sale, commercial finishing or professional use of photographic goods.

2. Pictures taken after July 1, 1964, are the only ones eligible. Either black-and-white or color PRINTS accepted only. Pictures made with any make of camera or film may be entered providing an original negative (black and white) or a color transparency can be furnished. An entrant need not do his own photofinishing. Negatives and transparencies may not be retouched, and no art work may be done on negatives, transparencies or prints. No composite pictures, multiple printing or montages are permitted.

Do NOT send negatives with entries. Keep negatives of color or black-and-white prints until requested by the Amateur Snapshot Contest Editor. (Only original negatives and transparencies accepted.) This newspaper and the sponsors of the Newspaper National Snapshot Awards assume no responsibility for negatives, prints or transparencies.

3. No print or enlargement more than 10 inches in the longest dimension will be accepted. Pictures should NOT be mounted or framed.

4. No person who has won a "final" or national award in any picture contest conducted by this newspaper within the past year is eligible for entry. No person may win more than one national prize.

5. Contest opens May 23, 1965 and entries will be accepted until Monday, July 12, 1965. Pictures must be postmarked no later than midnight of the day prior to above final acceptance date, or delivered in person to the Independent, Press-Telegram (604 Pine Ave., Long Beach) by noon of the acceptance date.

6. All entries will be judged on general interest and appeal. Photographic quality, while important, will not be the deciding factor. In order to be entered in the Newspaper Snapshot Awards, an entrant winning a prize for one of the eight best pictures must send the original negative or transparency to the Independent, Press-Telegram, accompanied by, if it contains the likeness of any person, the written consent of such person, or persons, to the use of the picture for purpose of illustration, advertising, or publication in any manner. The entrant must also sign a statement that said picture or a closely similar picture of the same subject or situation has not been and will not be entered in any snapshot contest, or any exhibit, or salon where prizes are awarded, other than the one conducted by the Independent, Press-Telegram & Orange County Evening News, and has not heretofore been and will not be offered for publication in any manner, and that he, or she, has not entered and will not enter any picture or pictures in the contest of any other newspaper participating in the Twenty-Seventh Annual (1965) Newspaper Awards.

7. To be eligible for entry in this contest, the entrant must reside in the home-delivery area served by these newspapers.

8. To enter this contest, mail no more than four (4) prints each week as you desire, within the contest dates to this newspaper's "Amateur Snapshot Contest Editor". ON THE BACK OF EACH PICTURE PRINT YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS CLEARLY IN INK.

Tonic for Storage Blues

Storage for barbecue, garden and patio items, or use as a pool cabana, or carport—if roof is extended. Whatever it is, this pergola is the answer.

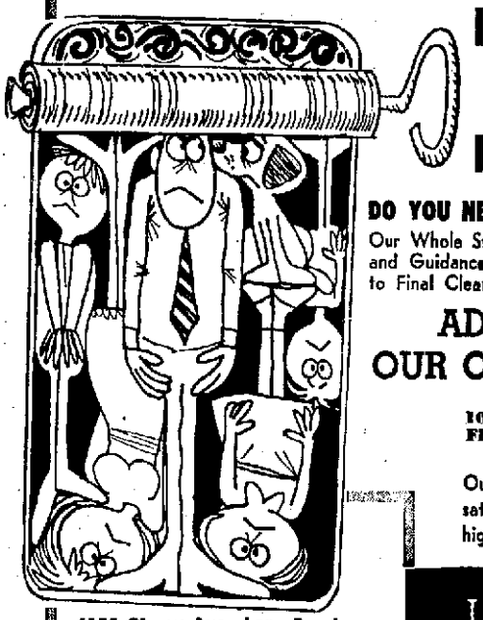

By Steve Ellingson

IF YOUR home has the storage blues, you'll find this delightful, yet practical, storage pergola the best tonic you could ask for. It has 100 different uses. Since the roof is paneled, it makes a shady and dry place for your barbecue table and benches along with a cheerful eating area. The storage compartment has doors on both sides, a wonderful place to keep garden and carpentry tools, bicycles, barbecue equipment and dozens of other items. And, if you gardeners need a potting shed, this one can't be beat. It puts all your gardening equipment and supplies, including soil, sand and leaf mold within easy reach, all beautifully organized.

IF YOU HAVE a swimming pool, just leave out the shelves and you have a cabana for dressing and keeping your pool equipment. It's good looking and adds to the appearance of any yard. The roof may be extended for a carport, in case you need one.

Building this attractive, practical storage pergola in your yard is an easier job than you'd guess, it was designed expressly for amateur weekend carpenters. It's a permanent home improvement, well worth the labor and material cost. Because it's paneled and roofed with completely waterproof exterior type plywood, it will last as long as your house. Ask the women folk in your family (or you girls ask the men) if they think it would be convenient for storing gardening tools and other supplies. Everybody wants to eliminate clutter, this pergola does it. Not expensive either, when you do it yourself.

TO OBTAIN the easy-to-follow storage pergola plan No. 382, send $1 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellington, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

Palomar Telescope

But there is nothing terribly mysterious about astronomy if you can comprehend that what you see on clear nights is just exactly what happened up there about 35,000 years ago. What the telescope reaches out to see is what happened 100 million years ago.

It is less difficult to understand astronomy if you begin by realizing that the solar system is 7,300 trillion miles across, a comparatively minute portion of our galaxy. And consider, too, that there are 100 million known galaxies.

The image of the white-smocked astronomer peering into the long black tube is shattered by one visit to an observatory. Hundreds of visitors who tour the Griffith Park Observatory in Los Angeles each week learn more about the mysteries of space than was known by all the men of science a mere 200 years ago. One of the things the visitor learns is that astronomers make their discoveries in laboratories and libraries, surrounded by plaster walls and ceilings.

WHEN THE astronomer spends a chilly night high in the Palomar dome at prime focus it is to make photographs that reach as far as 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles distant—a billion light years away. The sun, by comparison, is but eight light minutes away and the moon less than two seconds (the speed of light is 186,000 miles per second.)

The telescope does not magnify, but collects light on its highly-polished aluminum surface, reflecting onto a photographic plate for permanent record. The mirror absorbes 400,000 times more light than the naked eye.

After two or three nights' work at the observatory, the astronomer returns to the lab at, in the case of Palomar's scientists, the California Institute of Technology (Cal Tech) in Pasadena. CIT and the Carnegie Institute of Washington jointly operate the three observatories at Mt. Palomar (18-inch and 48-inch telescopes in addition to the 200-inch scope) and two at Mt. Wilson near Pasadena (60-inch and 100-inch telescopes), giving Southern California, the world headquarters for astronomy, one-quarter of existing mirror surface.

UNTIL THE 200-inch looking-glass at Palomar Mountain was put into operation in 1948, the 100-incher at Mt. Wilson was the world's largest. This telescope revolutionized man's concepts of space. For 30 years it unlocked secrets that astounded science. Then in 1948, after 20 years of planning and construction, the Palomar 200-incher began probing the uncountable galaxies.

Cal Tech and the Carnegie Institute are laying plans for another 200-inch telescope to be housed in South America, but it will be another 10 to 15 years before it is in operation. The costs and construction problems are enormous. The Hale reflector at Palomar is a 14½-ton piece of glass made of pyrex, the same material from which ovenware and coffee pots are manufactured. After the glass was poured and cured for many months, it was polished for 11½ years.

The 200-inch telescope named for George Ellery Hale who in 1903 started the Mt. Wilson Observatory (near Pasadena) with a 3½-inch telescope, was designed specifically to determine the geometry of the universe and has done its job well.

It has extended our horizon several times over. It recently reached into the far beyond to tell us of an explosion taking place about 30,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles from Palomar Mountain an explosion estimated to be three trillion times more powerful than if our own sun erupted.

But the scientists aren't worried about it because, you see, though we are just finding out about it at the rate of 186,000 miles per second, the eruption actually began about 10 trillion years ago, give or take a billion or two.

Called "Moonglow," this handsome redwood fence has decorative inserts made of plastic.

'Privacy Barrier'

DAYS when a fence was a source of irritation to a neighbor or to a cattleman are long gone. The homeowner now looks upon a fence as an extension of the basic plan for bringing the outdoors into his design for living instead of singing the plaint of "Don't Fence Me In." A fence or "privacy barrier," as it is termed by some landscape architects, can be an extension of the exterior design of the home or it can be complementary to that design, providing a barrier against strong winds, excessive sunlight, traffic noises, and unsightly adjacent lot, or an attractive control to keep children and pets in—or out, as the case may be.

The first job in building a fence is the planning. Even if you hire a fence contractor to come and do the work, you will want to see a working plan — which you may develop yourself from your own ideas, or through the services of a registered landscape architect. One good source of ideas is the recently published "Redwood Fences." an 8-page booklet with many color illustrations and 32 sketches of fence details. Copies are available at your local redwood lumber yard or by sending a dime to the California Redwood Association, 617 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Calif., 94111.

A GOOD fence material is all-heart grade of redwood, combining economy, durability and versatility. Construction heart grades (which may include some tight knots) may be used where the fence is in contact with the ground. The heartwood of redwood contains a natural resistance to decay and termites.

Redwood fences need no treatment at all and weather into a handsome driftwood gray. When it is desired to match the siding patterns and finish of the house exterior, it is recommended that a water repellent treatment be used. This will elliminate the leaching out (darkening phase) of the chemicals within the wood and stabilizes redwood's color at a soft, buckskin tan. If it is planned later to stain or paint the fence, this repellent treatment makes a good prime coat.

After the fence is complete, the same patterns and styles may be used for pool enclosures (required by law in many areas), tool sheds, garden shelters, decks, raised beds, paving dividers, planter boxes and a host of other attributes to the complete landscaping of the setting for your home. Your redwood lumber dealer has a number of idea booklets from the California Redwood Association.

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week . . .Chrysanthemums bought in bloom this month can be cut back when flowering is finished for a second bloom in the fall.

Zinnias can go in now. Warm weather will push them ahead to quick bloom, so mass them in a sunny spot in enriched soil. Buy dwarf types for edgings and large-scale ground covers; tall, medium and pompom varieties for bedding and cut flowers.

Shear privet hedges so that they taper slightly from a wider base. This exposes the lower part of the hedge to sunlight, keeps it healthy and green.

Feed potted tuberous begonias every two weeks now with fish liquid food. Those grown in the ground need food only once a month.

Corn can be planted now. Also squash and beans for your late summer enjoyment.

For summer white to enhance a buffet table or a new dress, plant sweet scented gardenias in rich, acid soil, in containers or in the ground.

Hard to Beat

Single or double flowered portulacas will provide brilliance in that hot, dry place where nothing else will grow. They furnish a carpet of color that is hard to beat. All it takes is a packet of seeds and the planting—no further care.

Palomar Telescope

But there is nothing terribly mysterious about astronomy if you can comprehend that what you see on clear nights is just exactly what happened up there about 35,000 years ago. What the telescope reaches out to see is what happened 100 million years ago.

It is less difficult to understand astronomy if you begin by realizing that the solar system is 7,300 trillion miles across, a comparatively minute portion of our galaxy. And consider, too, that there are 100 million known galaxies.

The image of the white-smocked astronomer peering into the long black tube is shattered by one visit to an observatory. Hundreds of visitors who tour the Griffith Park Observatory in Los Angeles each week learn more about the mysteries of space than was known by all the men of science a mere 200 years ago. One of the things the visitor learns is that astronomers make their discoveries in laboratories and libraries, surrounded by plaster walls and ceilings.

WHEN THE astronomer spends a chilly night high in the Palomar dome at prime focus it is to make photographs that reach as far as 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles distant—a billion light years away. The sun, by comparison, is but eight light minutes away and the moon less than two seconds (the speed of light is 186,000 miles per second.)

The telescope does not magnify, but collects light on its highly-polished aluminum surface, reflecting onto a photographic plate for permanent record. The mirror absorbes 400,000 times more light than the naked eye.

After two or three nights' work at the observatory, the astronomer returns to the lab at, in the case of Palomar's scientists, the California Institute of Technology (Cal Tech) in Pasadena. CIT and the Carnegie Institute of Washington jointly operate the three observatories at Mt. Palomar (18-inch and 48-inch telescopes in addition to the 200-inch scope) and two at Mt. Wilson near Pasadena (60-inch and 100-inch telescopes), giving Southern California, the world headquarters for astronomy, one-quarter of existing mirror surface.

UNTIL THE 200-inch looking-glass at Palomar Mountain was put into operation in 1948, the 100-incher at Mt. Wilson was the world's largest. This telescope revolutionized man's concepts of space. For 30 years it unlocked secrets that astounded science. Then in 1948, after 20 years of planning and construction, the Palomar 200-incher began probing the uncountable galaxies.

Cal Tech and the Carnegie Institute are laying plans for another 200-inch telescope to be housed in South America, but it will be another 10 to 15 years before it is in operation. The costs and construction problems are enormous. The Hale reflector at Palomar is a 14½-ton piece of glass made of pyrex, the same material from which ovenware and coffee pots are manufactured. After the glass was poured and cured for many months, it was polished for 11½ years.

The 200-inch telescope named for George Ellery Hale who in 1903 started the Mt. Wilson Observatory (near Pasadena) with a 3½-inch telescope, was designed specifically to determine the geometry of the universe and has done its job well.

It has extended our horizon several times over. It recently reached into the far beyond to tell us of an explosion taking place about 30,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles from Palomar Mountain an explosion estimated to be three trillion times more powerful than if our own sun erupted.

But the scientists aren't worried about it because, you see, though we are just finding out about it at the rate of 186,000 miles per second, the eruption actually began about 10 trillion years ago, give or take a billion or two.

Called "Moonglow," this handsome redwood fence has decorative inserts made of plastic.

'Privacy Barrier'

DAYS when a fence was a source of irritation to a neighbor or to a cattleman are long gone. The homeowner now looks upon a fence as an extension of the basic plan for bringing the outdoors into his design for living instead of singing the plaint of "Don't Fence Me In." A fence or "privacy barrier," as it is termed by some landscape architects, can be an extension of the exterior design of the home or it can be complementary to that design, providing a barrier against strong winds, excessive sunlight, traffic noises, and unsightly adjacent lot, or an attractive control to keep children and pets in—or out, as the case may be.

The first job in building a fence is the planning. Even if you hire a fence contractor to come and do the work, you will want to see a working plan — which you may develop yourself from your own ideas, or through the services of a registered landscape architect. One good source of ideas is the recently published "Redwood Fences." an 8-page booklet with many color illustrations and 32 sketches of fence details. Copies are available at your local redwood lumber yard or by sending a dime to the California Redwood Association, 617 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Calif., 94111.

A GOOD fence material is all-heart grade of redwood, combining economy, durability and versatility. Construction heart grades (which may include some tight knots) may be used where the fence is in contact with the ground. The heartwood of redwood contains a natural resistance to decay and termites.

Redwood fences need no treatment at all and weather into a handsome driftwood gray. When it is desired to match the siding patterns and finish of the house exterior, it is recommended that a water repellent treatment be used. This will eliminate the leaching out (darkening phase) of the chemicals within the wood and stabilizes redwood's color at a soft, buckskin tan. If it is planned later to stain or paint the fence, this repellent treatment makes a good prime coat.

After the fence is complete, the same patterns and styles may be used for pool enclosures (required by law in many areas), tool sheds, garden shelters, decks, raised beds, paving dividers, planter boxes and a host of other attributes to the complete landscaping of the setting for your home. Your redwood lumber dealer has a number of idea booklets from the California Redwood Association.

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week . . .Chrysanthemums bought in bloom this month can be cut back when flowering is finished for a second bloom in the fall.

Zinnias can go in now. Warm weather will push them ahead to quick bloom, so mass them in a sunny spot in enriched soil. Buy dwarf types for edgings and large-scale ground covers; tall, medium and pompom varieties for bedding and cut flowers.

Shear privet hedges so that they taper slightly from a wider base. This exposes the lower part of the hedge to sunlight, keeps it healthy and green.

Feed potted tuberous begonias every two weeks now with fish liquid food. Those grown in the ground need food only once a month.

Corn can be planted now. Also squash and beans for your late summer enjoyment.

For summer white to enhance a buffet table or a new dress, plant sweet scented gardenias in rich, acid soil, in containers or in the ground.

Hard to Beat

Single or double flowered portulacas will provide brilliance in that hot, dry place where nothing else will grow. They furnish a carpet of color that is hard to beat. All it takes is a packet of seeds and the planting—no further care.

The Hardy Pink Locust Tree

By Joe Littlefield

SUMMER heat and winter chill, even the extremes of the desert, are tolerated by the pink flowering locust tree, which also accepts gravelly, alkaline and dry soils while providing light summer shade.

The tree is leafless (deciduous) during the winter. The soft green, compound leaves have seven or more leaflets. The clusters of fragrant pink blossoms bloom in May.

Annual light pruning, thinning or trimming of branches improves the shape of most all trees, whether evergreen or deciduous. Both type of trees are trimmed when they have finished blooming.

Trees growing in lawn areas must be considered in watering schedules. Too much water can be very detrimental to trees—infrequent but deep irrigation is best.

One grass that grows under trees in shade, as well as full sun, is St. Augustine. Some gardeners love it because it chokes out most weeds, and is a welcome lawn where neighborhood children romp and play on it. It is tough.

OTHER GARDENERS dislike it mainly because it grows into flower beds. It needs to be kept in bounds along walks, driveways, flower beds, and also should be trimmed around tree trunks, and sprinkler heads.

It turns a yellow in colder winter sections of Southern California, a condition to be overcome by early fall sowing of annual rye grass seed with top dressing of steer manure. As the lawn starts to grow again, it kills out the fading rye grass. Another trick is to apply a lawn fertilizer heavily in mid-September, followed by a light feeding a month later. The soil has to be thoroughly moist, grass tops dry before feeding, then watered well afterwards, lawn kept moist first few days, then watered as needed. St. Augustine lawn stays a fair green throughout the winter in milder areas.

ST. AUGUSTINE lawns, like Bermuda (devil grass) develop a thick matty growth. Dying leaves and runners eventually form a "thatch" that even long lawn waterings don't penetrate through it to soak the soil.

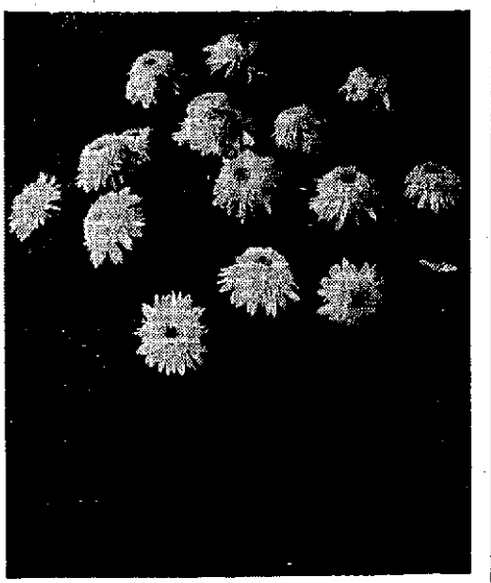

These two kinds of lawns should be "scalped" in the spring every three years or so, down to soil level to remove the matted growth and thatch, then soaked well. A day later apply a lawn turf food, water in well. Keep moist for the first couple of days, then water as needed.

Lawns, if scalped in the fall season, should be seeded with a winter rye grass lawn, then top dressed with steer manure. The winter lawn gradually dies out in the summer and the St. Augustine or the Bermuda grass takes over.

So far, no seeds are available of St. Augustine lawn. It is sold in flats in nurseries. Squares several inches in size are planted into a grass or bare area to grow together to form a lawn.

PROFESSIONAL landscape gardeners having to plant a large area of St. Augustine usually dump the flats of the sod upside down, tear apart the lawn, and plant individual sprigs with a joint or two on them. The joints sprout roots, then develop runners.

The gardener jabs a screw driver on a slant about an inch into the soil, sticks a portion of the jointed sprig end into the slanted hole, firms soil with fingers, and presto it is planted. The sprigs usually are spaced about three to five inches apart. After planting, a mulched of steer manure or a fine mulch material is applied and then kept moist till lawn has grown together.

Dorothy Digs in the Garden

If you have been pinching back your chrysanthemums regularly the plants should now be low and bushy. You should check for evidence of snail or insect damage. If snails are around, scatter some pellets under the plants and in other cool, dark places near them.

To prevent insect, rust, or mildew damage, start late next month spraying with a copper-nicotine spray every two weeks. Your rose spray should be good. Remember, prevention is easier than the cure.

You should stake your chrysanthemums and start training them early so you will have beautiful flowers on nice straight stems this fall.

If you want large blossoms, pinch off all side buds as they form so all the growth will go into the main flower.

Starry Eyed

An unusual form of the easily-grown, multi-hued annual phlox is that called "star" phlox. The petals of each little bloom are pointed at the tips instead of gently rounded, thus giving the effect of myriad stars. A selected strain is, appropriately, called Twinkle.

These delightful small flowers are sometimes of a single color, sometimes patterned with one color on a ground of a second hue. Always they're delicately fragrant.

THERE'S NO mystery about what makes a really successful restaurant operation tick. All that's required is a location on a busy street, consistently friendly, courteous service; a bright, cheerful decor and a menu to suit every caprice and whim of a finicky public.

You'd be surprised how many restaurants fail because they can't match those requirements. On the other hand, Nik's Restaurant and Viking Room, 3400 Cherry Ave. at Wardlow Road, is one of Long Beach's most thriving dining enterprises because it scales all those requirements with ease. It's co-owners, Nick Nickoloff and his son, Carl, are two of the most modest, soft-spoken restaurateurs I've ever met. They never boast about their accomplishments because they're a pair of doers —not talkers.

NIK'S MENU is one of the most appropriate I've ever encountered, designed to please every palate and pocketbook. In the smart Viking Room lounge, for example, you can enjoy a special dinner, with wine included, for as little as $1.20 to $1.50, according to what night you're there. (The specials don't apply on Sundays.) But the menu and surroundings are also fully suited to such gourmet repasts as the lobster tail and steak combination, $3.60 on a generous complete dinner. Other excellent meals are in the $2 range.

In the coffee shop you can enjoy a New York cut steak for $2.30, with onion rings, soup or crisp green salad, baked potato, beverage and dessert. For merely $1.55 you can have halibut fish sticks with tartar sauce and all the aforementioned side items. You can also dine in the coffee shop for as little as $1.25 to $1.45, including entree, soup or salad, potato, vegetable and beverage. Open every day, Nik's is so versatile it serves breakfasts and luncheons as well as fancy sundaes and rich ice cream malts created at its fountain.

SUNDAY TREATS — Again and again I receive this query from readers: "Where can I find a really good charcoal - broiled steak?" In reply I usually mention several restaurant choices, invariably including Oscar Contratto's top-notch Apple Valley Steak House, 733 E. Broadway in downtown Long Beach. This restaurant has one of the largest varieties of steaks in town, ranging from single to double and triple cuts of top sirloins and New Yorks, plus filets and minute steaks, priced from $3.95. The dinners are large, and extremely well prepared.

Actress Offers Definite Ideas About Money

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

The actress is the daughter of a woman who was the United States' treasurer so it is not surprising that the television star has some definite ideas about money.

"Men," said blonde, blue-eyed Pat Priest, "have their faces on money. Women should at least have their hands on it."

Pat has the role of Marilyn, the normal-looking one, in CBS-TV's "The Munsters."

Pat is the daughter of Ivy Baker Priest, who served as U.S. treasurer during the Eisenhower administration.

And Pat is a woman who has second thoughts, for example, on the fact that women don't have their faces on money.

* * * *

"IT'S AMAZING there isn't a woman on the dollar bill," she said. "There are some famous women in our history, my Mother, Clare Booth Luce, Betsy Ross, Carrie Nation.

"We could start by putting their faces on dollar bills, then work their way for such a monetary honor.

"As a matter of fact," she said, "I don't even manage the money in our household.

"It seems I have difficulty in keeping the check book in order. I'll write a blank check and forget to enter it."

* * * *

THE MONEY management in her household is handled by her husband, Pierce Jensen, a real estate man.

"He likes to stay up late at night paying the bills and balancing the checkbook — gives him something to do."

Pierce doesn't have her on any type of allowance and is really quite generous in giving her whatever she wants.

"It's easy," said Pat. "When you want something, start campaigning three weeks ahead of time.

"Then pretty soon, he'll think it's his idea. And he'll say, 'What we need is a vacation. Just a weekend somewhere.'

"Which is exactly what you've wanted during that three weeks of campaigning."

Speaking somewhat more seriously, Pat confided that it was she who was most intently interested in building up their savings account. It was she that "scrimps."

* * * *

FURTHERMORE, depending on the situation, she didn't see anything wrong with a woman managing the household budget.

"If a woman has a good business sense and has proven it to the man she's going to marry, she should manage the money providing she has the time to do it.

"Or it could be a mutual setup."

Although managing money is not her particular forte, Pat feels that she has succeeded in properly budgeting her time to be a proper mother and wife as well as an actress.

"During the day," she said, "my children (Pierce III, 8, and Lance, 4) are at school and my husband is at work.

"I'd be alone anyway."

"I'm home at 5:30 and, when I come in, my time is theirs'. I can just sit down with them. We have a housekeeper who prepares the meals.

"Our time, before dinner, is spent in conversation. Also, after dinner until the boys' bedtime, is family time."

To be sure, Pat hasn't worked out yet where she could budget time to take voice and dancing lessons.

"Everyone," she said, "not just actresses, has certain things they would like to do and there just aren't enough hours in the day."

One thing she's certain about: She's not going to find those extra hours by sacrificing one second of "family time."

SPECIAL

THE BOLSHOI BALLET—"Swan Queen," Stalingrad," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Chinese Acrobat" are among the numbers performed by the renowned Russian ballet troupe in the second 90-minute portion of a 3-hour special taped during the group's 1959 visit to Los Angeles. Choreographer Agnes DeMille (see also ABC's "Issues and Answers" today) is narrator, at 7:30 p.m., ch. 5.

MEET TONI DALLI—The new romantic Italian singer is featured in a special 30-min. program of music to be seen via tape at 10 p.m., ch. 13.

VIET NAM DEBATE—Another administration Bundy meets the professors. Last week it was McGeorge on CBS, and now at 11 p.m., ch. 5, it's William, assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs. Joining Bundy and moderator David Susskind on "Open End" are deputy assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs William J. Jordan plus professors Wesley Fishel (Michigan), George M. Kahin (Cornell), Stanley Millet (Briarcliff) and Mary Wright (Yale).

SPECIAL

THE BOLSHOI BALLET—"Swan Queen," Stalingrad," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Chinese Acrobat" are among the numbers performed by the renowned Russian ballet troupe in the second 90-minute portion of a 3-hour special taped during the group's 1959 visit to Los Angeles. Choreographer Agnes DeMille (see also ABC's "Issues and Answers" today) is narrator, at 7:30 p.m., ch. 5.

MEET TONI DALLI—The new romantic Italian singer is featured in a special 30-min. program of music to be seen via tape at 10 p.m., ch. 13.

VIET NAM DEBATE—Another administration Bundy meets the professors. Last week it was McGeorge on CBS, and now at 11 p.m., ch. 5, it's William, assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs. Joining Bundy and moderator David Susskind on "Open End" are deputy assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs William J. Jordan plus professors Wesley Fishel (Michigan), George M. Kahin (Cornell), Stanley Millet (Briarcliff) and Mary Wright (Yale).

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "Hollywood Talent Scouts," premiered Tuesday on channel 2.

There is nothing novel about "Talent Scouts" and its format — established stars introducing young professionals. But in the adroit hands of Art Linkletter, and dressed up with celebrities and a half-dozen interesting newcomers, there is nothing wrong with it.

"Hollywood Talent Scouts," as this summer-blooming CBS perennial is called, turned out to be an easy-going, entertaining variety hour in its premiere.

—Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

If "Hollywood Talent Scouts" can live up to the promise of its first show, it could make competitive reruns on other stations also-rans.

As host Art Linkletter noted, these were "bright, young professionals."

Comic Bob Charles, who added to his patter with whimsical facial expressions, did an apt satire on the Clay-Liston fight, including his introduction of "Robert Goulet and his version of the Star Spangled Banner."

A 14-year-old girl, Yolanda White, belted out two songs ala Ethel Merman in her mellowful, bellowful prime.

Pianist Ronny David demonstrated that, under the touch of an artist, a piano is an orchestra in itself.

All in all, a very entertaining program.

Program: "The Bolshoi Ballet," first part aired last Sunday on channel 5 and concluding performance scheduled for today.

Television shows its enormous ability as a recorder of artistry in a handsome two-part recreation of highlights of the Bolshoi Ballet.

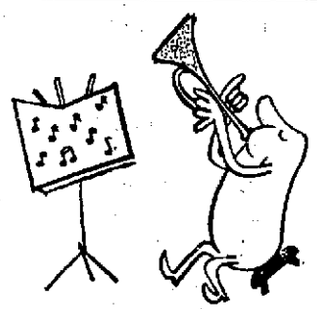

To the true balletomane the Bolshoi is considered the pinnacle organization of dance, a position it has held in the medium for more than a century. In recording portions of its repertory, producer Ted Mills, director Charles Dubin, lighting director Imero Florewtino, designer Ed Stephenson and the entire KTLA production staff, who taped the company in 1959 during its U.S. tour at a cost of $1,339,753.35, can be congratulated for presenting the company in a manner as artistic and honest as if it were on the stage.

Televising, under cameramen Jim Cassin, Gary Westfall, Bill Matheson, Baldwin Baker and John Kipp, is devoid of any gimmicks, a true and eloquent indication of the ability of tv to capture an art form in a manner that makes the recording medium itself an artistic form.

Selection of material, three hours taken from six hours and 40 minutes recorded from 33 ballets in the company's repertoire, initially intended by the late Matty Fox for pay-tv airing, was in itself an enormous artistic challenge. KTLA remains with pieces that could continue the programming in the future.

SPECIAL

WHERE THE ACTION IS — Premiere. Music with a modern beat is offered by top recording artists in a daily half-hour show taped at various locations where young people find excitement. Linda Scott and Steve Alaimo are regulars in the Dick Clark-produced series, with the 2 p.m., ch. 7 opener guesting Jan and Dean, Dee Dee Sharpe and the Newbeats in numbers taped at Will Rogers State Beach, Whiskey-a-Go-Go and P.O.P.

A TIME FOR US—"Flame In the Wind" gets a new name, new emphasis and a new 2:30 p.m., ch. 7 time slot. Series now focuses on sisters Jane and Linda Skerba (Beverly Hayes, Joanna Miles), one seeking a career as an actress in New York, the other remaining at home and trying to win her sister's discarded fiance.

SUMMER PLAYHOUSE—Eleven unsold comedy pilots move into Andy Griffith's 8:30 p.m., ch. 2 slot for the summer, with opener starring Jeremy Slate, Connie Sawyer and Karen Steele. An impoverished painter inherits a town in southern California, only to find that the town is bankrupt and is counting on him to put it on its feet.

IT'S WHAT'S Happening, Baby! — Sargent Shriver's Office of Economic Opportunity wants the less privileged out-of-school teenagers to know about opportunities available to them in such war on poverty projects as the Job Corps and the CYA. So CBS contributed 90 minutes of time at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, and New York's top deejay, Murray the K (Kaufman), rounded up the donated talents of top recording stars for what he calls "a kind of World Series of popular music." Producer Barry Shear uses the taped-around-the-nation format of his successful Emmy-winning "The Lively Ones," to include Johnny Mathis, Herman's Hermits, Johnny Rivers, Marvin Gaye, Cannibal and the Headhunters, Ray Charles, the Dave Clark Five, Bill Cosby, the Drifters, the Four Tops, Jan and Dean, Gary Lewis and the Playboys, the Miracles, the Righteous Brothers, the Supremes, the Temptations, Chuck Jackson, Tom Jones, Little Anthony and the Imperials, Pattie and the Bluebells, the Ronettes, Dionne Warrick, Mary Wells, Martha and the Vandellas, Fred Gwynne, George Barrows (Hollywood Gorilla) and Katherine Minner (little old lady from Pasadena). This covers about everyone but the Beatles, who'll be seen Aug. 28 in an hour film on ch. 9.

SPECIAL

WHERE THE ACTION IS — Premiere. Music with a modern beat is offered by top recording artists in a daily half-hour show taped at various locations where young people find excitement. Linda Scott and Steve Alaimo are regulars in the Dick Clark-produced series, with the 2 p.m., ch. 7 opener guesting Jan and Dean, Dee Dee Sharpe and the Newbeats in numbers taped at Will Rogers State Beach, Whiskey-a-Go-Go and P.O.P.

A TIME FOR US—"Flame in the Wind" gets a new name, new emphasis and a new 2:30 p.m., ch. 7 time slot. Series now focuses on sisters Jane and Linda Skerba (Beverly Hayes, Joanna Miles), one seeking a career as an actress in New York, the other remaining at home and trying to win her sister's discarded fiance.

SUMMER PLAYHOUSE—Eleven unsold comedy pilots move into Andy Griffith's 8:30 p.m., ch. 2 slot for the summer, with opener starring Jeremy Slate, Connie Sawyer and Karen Steele. An impoverished painter inherits a town in southern California, only to find that the town is bankrupt and is counting on him to put it on its feet.

IT'S WHAT'S Happening, Baby! — Sargent Shriver's Office of Economic Opportunity wants the less privileged out-of-school teenagers to know about opportunities available to them in such war on poverty projects as the Job Corps and the CYA. So CBS contributed 90 minutes of time at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, and New York's top deejay, Murray the K (Kaufman), rounded up the donated talents of top recording stars for what he calls "a kind of World Series of popular music." Producer Barry Shear uses the taped-around-the-nation format of his successful Emmy-winning "The Lively Ones," to include Johnny Mathis, Herman's Hermits, Johnny Rivers, Marvin Gaye, Cannibal and the Headhunters, Ray Charles, the Dave Clark Five, Bill Cosby, the Drifters, the Four Tops, Jan and Dean, Gary Lewis and the Playboys, the Miracles, the Righteous Brothers, the Supremes, the Temptations, Chuck Jackson, Tom Jones, Little Anthony and the Imperials, Pattie and the Bluebells, the Ronettes, Dionne Warrick, Mary Wells, Martha and the Vandellas, Fred Gwynne, George Barrows (Hollywood Gorilla) and Katherine Minner (little old lady from Pasadena). This covers about everyone but the Beatles, who'll be seen Aug. 28 in an hour film on ch. 9.

Baldness Is Not Hereditary, Says Scalp Specialist

Offers Free Examination and $2.00 Trial Treatment to Demonstrate Amazing New Methods (Next 8 Days Only)

How dandruff and a tight scalp can cause hair loss is explained by Trichologist S. I. Turoff. Turoff directs the large organization of Turoff Hair and Scalp Experts.

"You will find no medical proof for the popular belief that baldness is actually hereditary," says S. I. Turoff, Chief Trichologist of the Turoff Hair and Scalp Experts, when interviewed recently. "If this belief were true, why would a person start to lose hair rapidly, say at the age of 30? Why did the loss start then, rather than sooner — or later? You started losing hair at that particular time because some scalp disorder or systemic trouble was added to your inherited weakness.

Why Does Baldness Start on Top?

"Another question put to me very often is, 'Why does baldness start on top?' The reason for that is the crown of your head simply does not enjoy the same vigorous blood circulation as the sides. You get older, scalp tensions increase, dandruff and foreign matter pack the shrinking hair follicles — and your hair roots actually 'starve' for lack of blood."

Combining the knowledge of eminent scientific authority with new and startling discoveries, S. I. Turoff and his staff of highly experienced trichologists have developed a special treatment to normalize scalp tension, falling hair, dandruff, itchy scalp and thinning hair. These may be Nature's danger signals for oncoming baldness. Biochemistry, electrotherapy, physiotherapy, together with Turoff exclusive formula help restore your scalp to health and vitality.

Trichologist Turoff went on to say, "No matter what stage of baldness you have reached, your hair can be regrown if the roots are not dead.

"Professional examination of your scalp is the first step toward a healthy head of hair. Turoff trichologists do not prescribe treatment until such an examination has been made, nor will they prescribe treatment for systemic cases that cannot be benefitted. Every scalp is an individual problem requiring special medication.

"We have found that because approaching baldness DOES NOT PAIN, people who are in urgent need of treatment are prone to keep putting it off until it is too late. To reach those people quickly, we are making a special offer all this week.

Money-Back Guarantee and $2.00 Trial Visit This Week

"If the free examination shows you can be helped, you can receive your first four Turoff Treatments on a money-back guarantee all this week. If you decide to undertake treatment, your first treatment will cost simply $2.00. You are guaranteed satisfaction on or about your fourth treatment or your money will be refunded in full."

SPECIAL

LUCY-DESI Comedy Hour — Selected repeats of the hour-long comedy series make their annual appearance for a summer run—this time spelling Danny Kaye for 11 weeks at 10 p.m., ch. 2. Danny Thomas and his former TV family are guests on the opener, in which the Ricardos rent their Connecticut home to the Williams family, then find themselves without a roof over their heads when Ricky's Hollywood commitment is canceled.

PART OF THE WAY with LBJ — Advisers to former Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy join ABC's Howard K. Smith and historian Sidney Hyman in a critical evaluation of Lyndon B. Johnson as President, during "ABC Scope" at 10:30 p.m., ch. 7. James MacGregor Burns (JFK), Malcolm Moos (Ike) and Leon Keyserling (HST) will assess Johnson's accomplishments during his 19 months in office, and discuss his achievements and leadership qualities.

(Editor's Note: Last Sunday "TeleVues" published a story about Eddie Albert's need for a video wife in his new fall series. Since publication, that need has been satisfied by signing Eva Gabor for the role.

Meanwhile, we've received a letter from a woman who thought she might qualify. Although the Eddie Albert video-wife quest is over, we're publishing the letter in case any other TV star is in the market).

I'm 5-feet tall, weigh 102 pounds, red hair, green eyes and a flair for comedy. I'm 31 years old.

My looks are considered very good although I couldn't say—by now, I'm used to them.

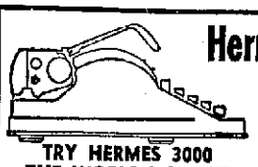

My acting ability is the size of a thimble. Had a female Lewis and Martin team for three years and we played for all the large organizations back home.

At present, I've written a skit, gathered the dancers (of which I'm one) and directed a show that will be presented in July for one of the officers leaving a military installation.

By now, you know my sense of humor. Just writing this letter, knowing that I couldn't be considered, took a lot of spoofing of myself.

Rae Schultz,
Huntington Beach

You don't make it clear whether you were Lewis or Martin.

Pan and Fan Mail

(Editor's Note: Last Sunday "TeleVues" published a story about Eddie Albert's need for a video wife in his new fall series. Since publication, that need has been satisfied by signing Eva Gabor for the role.

Meanwhile, we've received a letter from a woman who thought she might qualify. Although the Eddie Albert video-wife quest is over, we're publishing the letter in case any other TV star is in the market).

I'm 5-feet tall, weigh 102 pounds, red hair, green eyes and a flair for comedy. I'm 31 years old.

My looks are considered very good although I couldn't say—by now, I'm used to them.

My acting ability is the size of a thimble. Had a female Lewis and Martin team for three years and we played for all the large organizations back home.

At present, I've written a skit, gathered the dancers (of which I'm one) and directed a show that will be presented in July for one of the officers leaving a military installation.

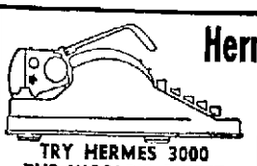

By now, you know my sense of humor. Just writing this letter, knowing that I couldn't be considered, took a lot of spoofing of myself.

Rae Schultz,
Huntington Beach

You don't make it clear whether you were Lewis or Martin.

SPECIAL

SUSPENSE THEATRE — Series' final first run drama stars Gary Lockwood, Don Gordon, Sally Kellerman and Peter Breck in a drama of a musician's courage in the face of a vengeful gangster. Once-famous jazz pianist is brought out of a year's exile to be sadistically taunted by a bigtime underworld gangster, with whose bride the tortured youth has been desperately in love. The mobster knows the pianist will not strike back because of his fear of injuring his hands and ruining his career. Show it at 10 p.m., in color, on channel 4, with repeats running until Dean Martin replaces Como in this hour next fall.

Maternity Clothes

NEW YORK (UPI)—The proprietors of a successful television series are not apt to overlook any commercial tie ins. Elizabeth Montgomery, star of Screen Gems' "Bewitched" on ABC, is going to start the fall season of the series as a pregnant video wife, with a number of episodes leading up to the birth of the baby. Coincidentally, there will be placed on the market a line of "Bewitched" maternity clothes designed by Stanley Goodman. Miss Montgomery also is scheduled to have her second real-life baby in November. Her husband is William Asher, director of the series.

BACKACHE & TENSION SECONDARY TO KIDNEY IRRITATION
After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headache, Backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain-relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

SPECIAL

SUSPENSE THEATRE — Series' final first run drama stars Gary Lockwood, Don Gordon, Sally Kellerman and Peter Breck in a drama of a musician's courage in the face of a vengeful gangster. Once-famous jazz pianist is brought out of a year's exile to be sadistically taunted by a bigtime underworld gangster, with whose bride the tortured youth has been desperately in love. The mobster knows the pianist will not strike back because of his fear of injuring his hands and ruining his career. Show it at 10 p.m., in color, on channel 4, with repeats running until Dean Martin replaces Como in this hour next fall.

Maternity Clothes

NEW YORK (UPI)—The proprietors of a successful television series are not apt to overlook any commercial tie ins. Elizabeth Montgomery, star of Screen Gems' "Bewitched" on ABC, is going to start the fall season of the series as a pregnant video wife, with a number of episodes leading up to the birth of the baby. Coincidentally, there will be placed on the market a line of "Bewitched" maternity clothes designed by Stanley Goodman. Miss Montgomery also is scheduled to have her second real-life baby in November. Her husband is William Asher, director of the series.

U.S. Enlists Disc Jockey to Aid Job Campaign

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — An unusual partnership involving the Office of Economic Opportunity and a hip disc jockey known as Murray the K will be airborne Monday with a 90-minute television special on the CBS network (9:30 p.m., channel 2) designed to inform the country's youths what the OEO can do for them.

Sargent Shriver, director of the OEO, which is handling President Johnson's "War on Poverty" campaign, called in Murray the K. "I'll tell the kids about them first, and then I" tell them all that is being offered by the OEO and what they can do about it.

"I'm not going to preach to them. You can't lecture kids of that age. All you can do is lay it out for them and hope they pick up on it. I'm not going to tell them what to do. I'm no Messiah and never would want to be.

"Who do kids turn to when they're in trouble? Their parents, clergymen or a favorite disc jockey? Uh-uh. They turn to their best friend. Since everyone is a potential best friend, I'm trying to reach them with this show as well as kids who may be in trouble."

* * * *

NO ONE connected with the show will get paid. CBS will pick up the air charges. Among the prominent entertainers already signed are the Righteous Brothers, Ray Charles, Tom Jones, the Supremes, Johnny Mathis and Dionne Warwick.

This is not the first effort by the 38-year-old Murray the K to deal with youngsters. He's been to a number of high schools in this area to discuss the dropout problem.

"In the tough areas, I didn't go to the social workers," he explained. "I went to the gang leaders. I told them I'd be having a little show at the school and that I'd do a little talking. I suggested they might help out by rounding up the kids. I assured them that, at least, they'd get a good show. We had kids in line around the block.

"I really don't know if this has helped. There's no way of measuring results. But I've got to think it helped or I wouldn't have kept on doing it, and I would not be doing this now."

MURRAY THE K

K (for Kaufman) after an aide had discovered from inquiries among various youngsters that his name cropped up often when they were asked whose words they were most likely to heed.

Armed with credentials as television - radio consultant to the OEO, the disc jockey, whose syndicated radio programs are heard throughout the country, began planning a television show that would have special appeal for the 15-to 21-year age group. CBS agreed to air the program, originally slated for 60 minutes and then expanded to 90.

* * * *

"IT'S WHAT'S Happening, Baby!" will be an entertainment program involving top talents that appeal to the young, with some OEO "commercials" scattered through it.

"There are some areas in which the OEO is not completely set up," said Murray

Versatile Actor

Raymond Bailey of "The Beverly Hillbillies" acted on Broadway in "The Front Page," "Mister Roberts" and "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

'Peyton Place'

ABC's "Peyton Place," which started life a little less than a year ago with eight regular characters, had a roster of 24 when it completed its 100th episode recently.

57 Insurance question of the week?

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT "SERVES YOU FIRST"

Is your insurance agent authorized to display this Professional Emblem of the National Association?

"Do you know that if you have no traffic tickets or accidents your local Independent Insurance Agent can sell you auto insurance at prices low or lower than those offered by the 'cutraters'?"

Ask any member of this Professional Association affiliated with State and National Associations. Find them in the Yellow Pages.

Personality Parade

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, Parade, 733 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. When Hubert Humphrey visited Dallas recently, did the Secret Service take special precautions to protect his life?—Charles Lang, Oklahoma City, Okla.

A. Yes. Five routes from the airport to the hotel were plotted, but the Dallas police were not told which one would be taken by Humphrey until the last minute. Then they were notified by code. Dallas detectives, armed with rifles and shotguns, were stationed at strategic route spots.

Q. For many years a notorious bigot and anti-Semite sat on the bench of the U.S. Supreme Court. He refused even to pose with those justices who were Jewish. Can you reveal his name?—D. Bryant, Washington, D.C.

A. James Clark McReynolds, associate justice of the Supreme Court, 1914-41. He wrote more opinions finding acts of Congress unconstitutional than any other Supreme Court justice. A bigot, he was most reluctant to pose in group photos with fellow justice Louis Brandeis. McReynolds was one of the reasons the late Franklin D. Roosevelt tried unsuccessfully to "pack the Supreme Court."

Q. Is it true about actress Tina Louise and Jim Aubrey?—D. Herlihy, New York, N.Y.

A. Theirs is a warm friendship.

Q. What's happened to Dorothy Lamour? Has she retired from films?—Vincent Allen, Miami, Fla.

A. She lives in Towson, Md., is touring this summer in DuBarry Was a Lady.

Q. Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands — her father, Prince Bernhard, was a member of the Nazi transportation corps. Her German boy friend, Klaus von Amsberg, an ex-Nazi maybe?—D. E., Jersey City, N.J.

A. Klaus von Amsberg, 38, a member of the West German Foreign Office, was born in Dotzingen in 1926, raised in Africa, educated in Germany, served as a private in a German panzer unit stationed in Italy. No Nazi. He met Princess Beatrix last year when both were guests of Prince Moritz of Hesse. The Princess was so taken with him that a week later her father began making inquiries about him in Germany.

Q. Is it true that the underworld has several parole board members in various states on its payroll?—N. T., Raleigh, N.C.

A. According to J. Edgar Hoover, some corrupt parole officials have been on the take from the Mafia or Cosa Nostra syndicate in this country.

Q. Would you be kind enough to run a photo of the famous Siamese twins, and tell me the name of the great surgeon in Italy who successfully separated them?—L. A. Salerno, Clifton, N.J.

A. The surgeon, 53-year-old Dr. Luigi Solerio of Turin. The twins, Giuseppina and Santina Faglio, 6.

Q. Who said to his girl friends, "You can ask me for anything you like except time."?—George Fiebelman, New Orleans, La.

A. Napoleon.

Q. The real names, please, of Lenin, Trotsky, and Stalin?—Lewis Knox, Princeton, N.J.

A. Lenin—Ulyanov; Trotsky—Bronstein; Stalin—Djugashvili.

Q. Bernard Kalb and Marvin Kalb of CBS—are they brothers or in any way related?—Diane Gold, New York, N.Y.

A. Brothers.

Q. Who is the Premier of France, and what did he do before he became Premier?—Charlotte Scott, Detroit, Mich.

A. The French Premier at this writing is Georges Pompidou, former director of the Rothschild bank in Paris.

Q. Is there any publishing house which prints paperback editions of medical textbooks? I mean at reasonable prices for medical students of which I am one. By "reasonable" I mean one or two dollars.—D. E. E., Boston, Mass.

A. Dover Publications, 180 Varick St., New York, N.Y., offers a History of Pathology for $2, A History of Surgical Anesthesia for the same price. Crest Books, the pocket book arm of Fawcett Publications in New York is producing reasonable science books. So, too, are most of the major publishing houses, under different imprints. Whether the latest medical textbooks are now as reasonable as $1 in paperback is doubtful.

Q. What does Rex Harrison's son, Noel, look like? I understand he's cute. Some information would be welcome. — Heidi Jacobs, Chicago, Ill.

A. Noel Harrison, 31, used to play the guitar, sing songs, scratch out a living by working in English clubs. A few weeks ago he was booked into a New York club, The Living Room, drew excellent notices. Previously in 1960 he had flopped in New York. Harrison returns to New York any day now for a cluster of TV and personal appearances. He is married, has four children, lives in Fulham, England.

Q. Is it true that a whole group of Italian film stars and directors who keep mistresses because they cannot divorce their wives in Italy, plan to take French citizenship so they can get divorced?—D. R. L., Baltimore, Md.

A. It is true of Carlo Ponti, off and on again husband of Sophia Loren, and possibly three Italian film directors and actors who prefer at this time to remain nameless.

Q. What is the famous Adam and Eve joke that Danny Thomas likes to tell?—S. L. Carver, Miami Beach, Fla.

A. EVE: Do you really love me, Adam?
ADAM: Who else?

REPORT FROM VIETNAM

EVEN THE ENEMY LIKES THESE YOUNG AMERICANS

by MARJORIE HOPE

To the 45,000 U.S. military serving in embattled Vietnam, add 80 young American volunteers who each day literally risk their lives in a struggle as grim as the war itself. These young people—65 men and 15 girls—are fighting somehow to yank a way of life into the realities of the 20th century.

Serving on two-year contracts for $80 a month, these young Americans representing International Voluntary Services are schooling South Vietnamese peasants in improved agricultural techniques, working in public health programs or teaching science, vocational subjects and English. Operating out of 30 centers scattered throughout the countryside, they live with the peasants, share their dangers and hardships, even learn to speak the extremely difficult language.

IVS, founded in 1953, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., is the only voluntary group working in Vietnam. It has gone into dangerous areas of the world where the Peace Corps has not. While IVS-ers have seldom been under fire, they are prepared for anything. Some of them work in the strife-torn Delta, some in parts of the country more free of Viet Cong control. Washington has said IVS will remain in Vietnam as long as there are Americans there.

ENCOUNTERS WITH VC

Encounters with the Viet Cong—direct or indirect—are part of everyday life for IVS-ers. Agricultural teams may arrive in a town to pick up supplies—only to discover that the warehouse was burned down an hour before. Carlie Allender has received printed warnings telling her not to be in contact with the military. Leslie Small tells of a time he stopped along a road in the Delta to take pictures and was invited into a farmer's house for tea. Another guest there was rather "unusual," and began to argue that the Viet Cong represented the Vietnamese—while the others tried to keep him quiet.

When the Viet Cong attacked My Tho, Kirk Dimmit witnessed the sudden deaths of several Vietnamese he had known. Then quickly he began organizing an escape for the remaining villagers. After being flown to Saigon to report the incident, Kirk insisted on returning to My Tho to attend the funeral of the slain villagers. Although authorities wanted to transfer him immediately afterwards from this dangerous area, Kirk stayed on for several weeks to help maintain the morale of the people. Before leaving My Tho, he was cited by the American ambassador for heroism.

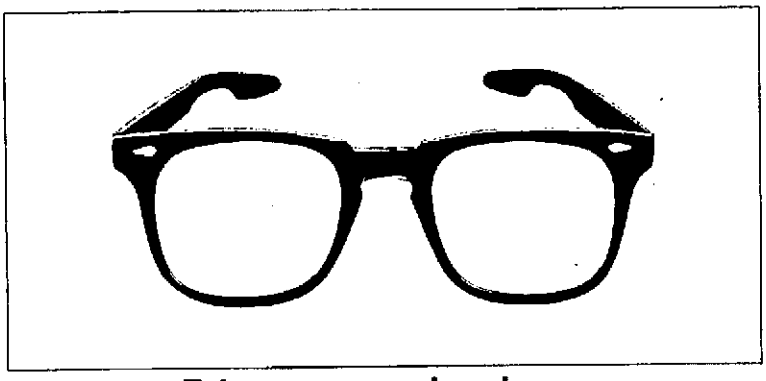

Despite these experiences, there have been no casualties during the eight years IVS-ers have worked in Vietnam. How have they been able to avoid accidents?

IVS teams are based in towns held by the government, and members work out from there into more remote areas. How far they venture depends on the individual—on his feelings about this, and on how well he knows the people. Leaders never ask team members to go into areas they do not wish to enter. On the contrary, they ask the group to take precautions. Sometimes they have had to hold back IVS-ers.

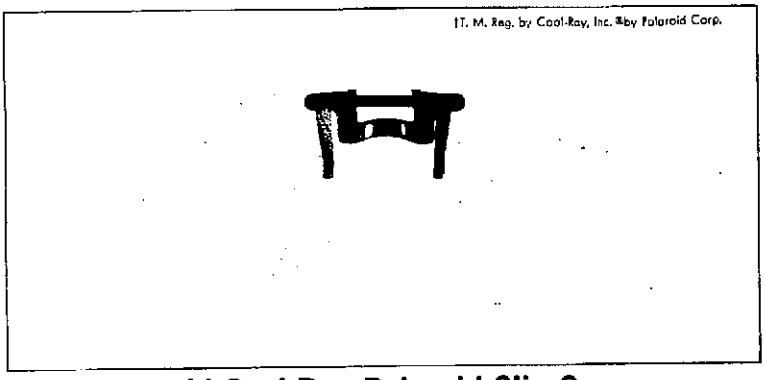

Actually, the Viet Cong seldom molest American civilians and generally warn them against going into certain areas. As a Vietnamese school principal put it, "The Viet Cong know how much the people appreciate IVS-ers — the VC wouldn't dare touch them." In fact, IVS members have heard themselves described in Communist broadcasts as young people working for the good of the villagers who should not be molested.

It is very difficult to describe a "typical day" in IVS, for members are constantly adapting to new situations. John Sommers, for instance, is a hamlet education adviser who may do anything from seeing that cement for school foundations is mixed properly, to distributing health pamphlets, or helping raise rabbits to supplement the salaries of local Vietnamese teachers. During a month he often makes more than 70 visits by helicopter to 50 different hamlets in the two Highland provinces in which he works. If the helicopter breaks down, he may stay overnight in a Montagnard tribesman's hut, dining on rice wine and fish, learning to play the Montagnard flute and sleeping on a woven bamboo platform.

When the floods came last fall, John helped mobilize teams of Vietnamese students headed for the disaster areas. He joined malaria specialist William Betts and other IVS-ers to work in lash-

Operating out of 30 centers scattered throughout the countryside, they live with the peasants, share their dangers and hardships, even learn to speak the extremely difficult language.

IVS, founded in 1953, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., is the only voluntary group working in Vietnam. It has gone into dangerous areas of the world where the Peace Corps has not. While IVS-ers have seldom been under fire, they are prepared for anything. Some of them work in the strife-torn Delta, some in parts of the country more free of Viet Cong control. Washington has said IVS will remain in Vietnam as long as there are Americans there.

ENCOUNTERS WITH VC

Encounters with the Viet Cong—direct or indirect—are part of everyday life for IVS-ers. Agricultural teams may arrive in a town to pick up supplies—only to discover that the warehouse was burned down an hour before. Carlie Allender has received printed warnings telling her not to be in contact with the military. Leslie Small tells of a time he stopped along a road in the Delta to take pictures and was invited into a farmer's house for tea. Another guest there was rather "unusual," and began to argue that the Viet Cong represented the Vietnamese—while the others tried to keep him quiet.

When the Viet Cong attacked My Tho, Kirk Dimmit witnessed the sudden deaths of several Vietnamese he had known. Then quickly he began organizing an escape for the remaining villagers. After being flown to Saigon to report the incident, Kirk insisted on returning to My Tho to attend the funeral of the slain villagers. Although authorities wanted to transfer him immediately afterwards from this dangerous area, Kirk stayed on for several weeks to help maintain the morale of the people. Before leaving My Tho, he was cited by the American ambassador for heroism. .

Despite these experiences, there have been no casualties during the eight years IVS-ers have worked in Vietnam. How have they been able to avoid accidents?

IVS teams are based in towns held by the government, and members work out from there into more remote areas. How far they venture depends on the individual—on his feelings about this, and on how well he knows the people. Leaders never ask team members to go into areas they do not wish to enter. On the contrary, they ask the group to take precautions. Sometimes they have had to hold back IVS-ers.

Actually, the Viet Cong seldom molest American civilians and generally warn them against going into certain areas. As a Vietnamese school principal put it, "The Viet Cong know how much the people appreciate IVS-ers — the VC wouldn't dare touch them." In fact, IVS members have heard themselves described in Communist broadcasts as young people working for the good of the villagers who should not be molested.

It is very difficult to describe a "typical day" in IVS, for members are constantly adapting to new situations. John Sommers, for instance, is a hamlet education adviser who may do anything from seeing that cement for school foundations is mixed properly, to distributing health pamphlets, or helping raise rabbits to supplement the salaries of local Vietnamese teachers. During a month he often makes more than 70 visits by helicopter to 50 different hamlets in the two Highland provinces in which he works. If the helicopter breaks down, he may stay overnight in a Montagnard tribesman's hut, dining on rice wine and fish, learning to play the Montagnard flute and sleeping on a woven bamboo platform.

When the floods came last fall, John helped mobilize teams of Vietnamese students headed for the disaster areas. He joined malaria specialist William Betts and other IVS-ers to work in lashing winds for 15 hours a day, 7 days a week, loading and unloading relief supplies, vaccinating the people against cholera and teaching them they must boil their water.

Agricultural teams are mainly concerned with developing new crops and new techniques—always in the framework of resources right there in the community. George McDowell, who is stationed with his wife, Renie, at Soc Trang in the Delta, introduced huge watermelons from Georgia—which became such a success that one peasant kept three of them on his Buddhist altar.

Teachers in IVS have found that the Vietnamese are extremely eager to learn home economics, experimental science and particularly, English. Jay Parsons, who lives with a Vietnamese family in Hué, teaches English to more than 200 students 41 hours a week.

FOCUS ON HUMAN RESOURCES

The primary focus of IVS (which also operates in Laos, Cambodia, Algeria, Syria, Jordan and Lebanon) has always been less on plants or projects than on developing human resources. In Vietnam it has achieved this by working through traditional local leadership to teach villagers who in turn will teach others.

It has also sparked a "domestic IVS"—the Voluntary Youth Association of Vietnam. Recently a Vietnamese writer told me, "There is no hope for our country unless the peasants feel the central government is really with them. And one way to achieve that is to send out teams of students to work with the peasants."

It was a Vietnamese, too, who commented, "It's a pity IVS has to work on so small a scale. It's the greatest American success in Vietnam. These young people have helped us recognize the real problems of our country: low productivity, ignorance, division between classes. IVS-ers are actually doing the things the Communists are always promising."

Carole Tyler, with attorney Myron Ehrlich, refused to testify against her boss, Bobby Baker, invoked Fifth Amendment.

OPEN TO DISCUSSION

Should secretaries testify against their bosses?

by Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON.

Who knows the most about a man's day-to-day dealings—his wife, minister, doctor, lawyer or private secretary? In one form or another, the law protects the secrets he confides to all except his secretary. Should he find himself in trouble, the others may not reveal those secrets without his consent. Yet his secretary, whose confidential knowledge could make her the most damaging witness against him, can be compelled to testify.

A private secretary is expected to receive confidences and to keep her mouth shut. Her very title is taken from the word "secret." She is an office "wife" who shares his confessions, an office "doctor" who knows what pills he must take, an office "lawyer" who helps prepare material for her employer's attorney.

Is it right that on the witness stand she should be forced to divulge confidences that the others could not be asked? And if out of loyalty she should try to avoid testifying against her boss, is it fair that she should risk her own freedom?

Consider the tragic career of Nancy Carole Tyler, who in 1961 innocently applied for a job as Bobby Baker's secretary. During four short years at his side she came to know more about his shenanigans than anybody save the former Senate aide himself.

When Baker's bubble exploded before the Senate Rules Committee, the small-town beauty queen from Lenoir City, Tenn., refused to testify against him. Demure and poised under the hot lights, she pleaded the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination to more than three dozen questions. Her bee-stung lips were silent then, as they are now silent forever. For when Carole plunged into the Atlantic in a stunting plane recently, the waves closed over a part of the Bobby Baker story that no one else could tell.

TO PROTECT BOBBY

Her lawyer, Washington attorney Myron Ehrlich, confirmed to PARADE that she took the Fifth more to protect Baker than herself. "Carole knew where the skeletons were hidden in Bobby's closet," said Ehrlich. "What she didn't know from her own observation, Bobby boasted about in front of her."

Perhaps Carole's loyalty was misplaced, but a man high in the government paid her this tribute—"Every official in Washington should have attended her funeral, because of the example she set to secretaries."

Hundreds of thousands of other girl Fridays may never find themselves in the same dramatic crunch, but they are equally vulnerable if the boss goes wrong. Should they be required to divulge his secrets? Or should the confidential employer-secretary relationship be protected by law?

PARADE has questioned lawyers, employers and secretaries, who have given many opinions. But all agree with Richmond, Va., attorney Lewis Powell, Jr., president of the American Bar Association, who withheld his own opinion but declared, "The question bears the closest examination."

Several attorneys point out that a secretary usually can avoid testifying by falling back on the same protection available to her employer—the Fifth Amendment. In most states the failure to report a crime is a felony. Thus if the employer is guilty of a violation, his secretary usually would be aware of it and would be guilty of at least a failure to report. Therefore she would be within her rights to plead that her answers might incriminate her.

However, there are new laws on the books which permit a prosecuting attorney to grant immunity to witnesses whose testimony he needs. Once immune

Thus if the employer is guilty of a violation, his secretary usually would be aware of it and would be guilty of at least a failure to report. Therefore she would be within her rights to plead that her answers might incriminate her.

However, there are new laws on the books which permit a prosecuting attorney to grant immunity to witnesses whose testimony he needs. Once immune from prosecution, a secretary could no longer claim self-incrimination. Indeed, it is not uncommon for a district attorney to threaten to prosecute a private secretary unless she takes the stand against her boss. Shouldn't she be entitled to the same privilege as a clergyman or an attorney?

Bobby Baker's attorney, the famed trial lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, doesn't think so. He told PARADE: "The courts are jealous about extending the confidential relationship. I would have to agree."

But Carole Tyler's defender, Myron Ehrlich, sides with the secretaries. He points out that a boss will often confide to his secretary the very information he gives to his lawyer, who can claim privilege and refuse to disclose it to the court. "What use is that privilege," asked Ehrlich, "if the secretary who typed up the same information can be made to disclose it?"

One whose secretaries have kept his secrets is Congressman Adam Clayton Powell (D., N.Y.). He has taken his secretaries with him gallivanting around the globe. He put one up for a while in a villa on the Riviera. He took two with him on a tour of Paris night spots. Only one secretary, Hattie Freeman Dodson, was ever compelled to take the stand against him. She was forced to testify at his trial on charges that he had failed to pay income taxes. But Hattie took full responsibility on herself for transferring such nondeductible items as boats, liquor and Democratic Party donations to deductible categories. He was acquitted.

WILLING WITNESS

Bobby Baker had another secretary, Mrs. Margaret Broome, who was his loyal girl Friday from 1955 to 1961. But she saw her duty differently than did Carole. Though Baker tried to persuade her to remain silent, Mrs. Broome answered the questions of Senate investigators freely and frankly.

The confidential relationship is based on the theory that a man must give his full confidence to his legal, medical and spiritual advisers. Over the centuries, society has recognized that these intimate counselors must be entrusted with secrets or they cannot do their work—the lawyer because he must defend his client, the doctor because he must listen to a person troubled in mind or body, the clergyman because he listens to someone troubled in soul. A husband and wife also cannot testify for or against each other because the marital status affects their competence as witnesses.

Does the private secretary really belong in the same category? Everyone interviewed by PARADE agrees that a secretary should not talk about her employer's affairs, but some draw the line between civil and criminal trouble.

Mrs. Lillian Martino, head of the International Secretaries Association, herself a veteran secretary, holds that no secretary should be compelled to testify against the boss in a civil suit. But in the case of a criminal violation, she declared, "It would be her duty as a citizen to testify." Mrs. Martino added quickly: "I wouldn't like to take the stand against my boss."

John Pemberton, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, very much agrees that secretaries should not be forced to testify against their employers, and his associate director, Alan Reitman, is even more emphatic. "The personal secretary becomes an adjunct to the executive," he said. "She is like a wife in the office and receives deeply personal confidences."

A few men don't need to worry about their secretaries testifying against them. They had the foresight to hire their wives as secretaries.

Texas Congressman John Dowdy, whose wife works in his office, told PARADE he believes a secretary should keep her mouth shut whether she is married to the boss or not. "I hope," he said, "that all my employees would consider office information privileged."

Wisconsin Congressman Alvin O'Konski, whose wife has been his private secretary for 22 years, claims he has no secrets a secretary couldn't discuss anyway: "A congressman's work is public property."

Mrs. Elmer Holland, wife of the Pennsylvania congressman, acknowledged that it might be a secretary's duty in rare circumstances to testify against her boss. "But a secretary," she said firmly, "should certainly remain loyal to her boss." As for her own wife-secretary status, she explained, "It was cheaper for my husband to marry me than to hire a secretary."

Other lawyers hold that privilege is too easily abused. One famous criminal attorney, who wants his name withheld, told PARADE: "Public policy would be completely frustrated if any businessman could prevent his secretary from testifying. Law enforcement demands that secretaries be subject to examination."

And a West Coast district attorney argued: "If secretaries were given special privilege before the law, what about junior executives? Even the office boy might stumble on secrets. Carried to a logical conclusion, it would mean that no employee could be called on to testify against an employer."

In practice, few secretaries under pressure appear to have kept the stubborn silence of Carole Tyler. The same week that she plunged to her death, two other Washington secretaries took the stand against their former bosses. They told what they knew about the financial dealings of ex-Pentagon officials facing conspiracy and embezzlement charges.

Helen Harper, who had been secretary to the former administrative finance officer, John Wylie, told about driving his car to his bank and depositing envelopes containing $6,000 to his account. Ruth Hudgins, who had worked for the former deputy director of advanced research, William Godel, testified how he had turned in a government voucher for his wife's expenses on a Far East trip. The government relied heavily on both secretaries in convicting both men of conspiracy and Wylie of embezzlement.

In the celebrated Sherman Adams–Bernard Goldfine case, the textile tycoon's secretary, Mildred Paperman, remained loyal until threatened with jail herself. Sherman Adams was forced to resign as White House chief of staff, you may recall, for accepting gifts from Goldfine. Miss Paperman was tough and tight-lipped at first, denying any knowledge of Goldfine's gifts and payments to politicians. But faced with a prison sentence, she suddenly produced a list of names, dates and amounts, and even offered corroboration from a personal diary. In return for her co-operation she was given a suspended sentence and fined $12,500 after pleading guilty to evading personal income taxes.

A SECRET LOVE

More than one secretary, out of pique, has tipped off authorities to her boss's violations. For example, it was a private secretary, the late Helen Campbell, who brought about the downfall of former House Un-American Activities chairman, J. Parnell Thomas. The aging Miss Campbell had nourished a secret love for Thomas. But when he began showing interest in a young secretary, she became a secret enemy.

Before she let jealousy turn her completely against him, she followed Thomas one evening as he drove the younger woman home. Through green eyes Miss Campbell watched the congressman escort the young secretary to her apartment. She waited, but he didn't come out. Next morning she drove by the apartment and found Thomas' car still there. She was still prepared to give him the benefit of the doubt. It was possible, she reasoned, that he might have gone home, then come back in the morning to pick the young woman up and give her a lift to Capitol Hill. But if that were so, Helen Campbell's reason told her, the radiator of his car would still be warm. Miss Campbell debarked from her car, marched over to the congressman's car and felt the radiator. It was cold.

But for that cold radiator, Thomas might never have gone to jail. For Helen Campbell's testimony led to his conviction and imprisonment for accepting kickbacks.

When New York Judge Melvin Osterman was faced with sensational bribery charges, his private secretary, Grace O'Shaughnessy, was the chief government witness against him. She had been his close confidante for 16 years but testified in return for immunity from prosecution for herself.

Helen Campbell acted from bitterness, Grace O'Shaughnessy for self-preservation. Were their employers entitled to some protection from their testimony? That private secretaries do have a special relationship with their bosses is unquestioned. But should they qualify for consideration under the law?

In some states the privilege granted to lawyers already has been extended to their secretaries. But this exempts them only from testifying about the affairs of their boss's clients. They can still be compelled to take the witness stand against the boss himself if he should ever become the defendant.

Perhaps Lillian Martino's qualified answer is the most sensible. Under certain circumstances, justice might best be served by granting the confidential privilege to private secretaries. But it must always remain a point of law, if there is to be any law at all, that it is the duty of the citizen to report a felony.

What is your opinion?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Q. Lewis—the "Q" stands for nothing—is a radio, TV, and film comedian who was born in New York, educated at the University of Michigan, and now works in Hollywood. Thin, asthmatic, and myopic, a frequent occupant of the psychoanalyst's couch, Lewis is nevertheless a very funny, witty man in his late 40's who has made a career of replacing more people on more shows than he can remember. In the summer of 1947 he replaced an ailing Godfrey, and since then has replaced Jackie Gleason, Faye Emerson—the list is so endless that he now bills himself as "The Great Replacement." Currently Lewis is a guest replacement on What's My Line?, an emcee on a noontime TV game, Call My Bluff, then does a daylight version of To Tell the Truth. In Hollywood the comic has worked in Good Neighbor Sam and Ski Party, and says he's a natural to play "the friend of the hero, the not-so-handsome guy who doesn't get the girl in the end." Herewith some of the man's favorite jokes:

Everyone always wants to know how come I'm still a bachelor. That's because my dad once explained marriage to me in this fashion: "A few words mumbled over your head and you're married. Then, a few words mumbled in your sleep, and you're divorced."

A girl I know recently got divorced for religious reasons. She worshiped money, and he didn't have any.

I recently discovered a fabulous labor-saving device: a rich old woman.

Like everyone else I've met rich Texans. The richest one I know owns 50 head of Cadillacs. Last time I saw him he drove up to the Sheraton Hotel in Houston in a Cadillac, and a Jaguar with white sidewall feet jumped out.

My favorite season is the football season. What other time of the year can a bachelor like me stroll down the street with a girl under one arm and a blanket under the other, and no one asks questions?

I am the proud owner of a Rolls-Royce. My car is so expensive the motor doesn't purr—it sneers.

Have you heard about the tree surgeon who fell out of his patient?

A well-known American game hunter flew to New Guinea for some hunting. After two weeks he was captured by a tribe of head shrinkers. They held him captive for six months in which time everyone thought he was dead. Finally he managed to escape and make his way to Port Moresby. First thing he did was to call his wife in California.

"Darling," she sobbed, "it's a miracle that you're alive. An absolute miracle! How are you?"

"I'm all right," the hunter explained, "except that I have no clothes. Would you please fly me some? I could use the following immediately: Three shirts size 15½, socks size 11½, shoes size 10-C, and oh yes, I can use a hat here to protect my forehead."

"What size, darling?"

"One and seven-eighths."

Most women want a man with a will of his own—made out to them.

ANECDOTE OF THE WEEK

■ Comedian Jerry Lewis in Paris to screen the film version of Boeing Boeing, attended a dinner party. He was seated next to a lovely Swiss woman who spoke English with a thick French accent. "What part of Switzerland do you live in?" Lewis asked.

"In ze norz."

Jerry nodded. "What beautiful lakes you have," he said. "I'll never forget them."

"But how you can see zem?" his dinner partner asked. "Zey are under ze table." ■

What's so different about summer colds?

Are they really runnier, sneezier, snifflier, stuffier? Do they really last longer? That's what a lot of people say.

One thing is sure: they come at the wrong time. Just when you want to be out enjoying the sun and the fun of summer. That's when a cold can turn you into a drip.

Well, you don't have to let it get you down. One Contac® capsule in the morning, another at night, and soggy sniffles go away. You can breathe freely again. Have fun again.

It's all because of those more-than-600 tiny "time pills" in every Contac capsule. They're timed to keep relieving your cold symptoms for up to 12 hours. They dry your sniffles, check sneezes and clear your stuffy nose all day or all night. When you take Contac you don't care whether a summer cold is the worst kind or not. You hardly know you have a cold at all!

A NEW PARADE EDUCATION AWARD HONORS

AMERICA'S PACEMAKER SCHOOLS

by R.H. HUBBARD

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

Many of the children in this city would never have had a chance to go to kindergarten if it hadn't been for the determination of one woman. Deeply disturbed by the dismal record of boys and girls who were deprived of preschool training, Mrs. Fred Schmutz, a Little Rock housewife, fought for a kindergarten plan and put together an organization that made it work.

In the increasingly complex field of education, every community and every state has its own special problems. Like Mrs. Schmutz and her organization, KEEP (Kindergarten Educational Enrichment Program), others in all parts of the country have taken vigorous and effective action to improve their schools.

And to give them deserved recognition, PARADE and the National Education Association have established the "Pacemaker" award, to be given each year to the school or school system in each state which has made the most valuable contribution to education.

This year's winners were selected following an extensive nation-wide NEA survey. Final determination of the winners (listed on page 14) was made by PARADE and NEA president Dr. Lois Edinger. Awards, including that to Little Rock's KEEP, will be presented this week at the NEA convention in New York.

Leadership in better education doesn't come only from educators. Little Rock's Mrs. Schmutz and the women of KEEP have amply demonstrated that. Arkansas is one of the states that don't provide funds for public kindergarten classes, and these women became disturbed over the shortcoming.

Mrs. Schmutz, wife of a local television executive, was a member of a women's group interested in education. Two years ago she came across a study of Little Rock schools by George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. She was distressed to find that a large proportion of the city's 1st-graders, virtually all from low-income families, were held over every year. These were children who had had no preschool training at all and therefore had to spend their 1st-grade year "learning how to learn."

Relief at Last

Mrs. Berry Finds Relief at Last From Itching

Mrs. Thelma Berry

"My husband spent hundreds of dollars," writes Mrs. Thelma Berry of Gary, Ind., "trying to find relief for the awful itching, burning hellfire and torment of my irritated skin. We tried everything, including many doctors' prescriptions.
"Then I tried RESINOL Soap and RESINOL Ointment. The fiery itching eased, the cracked, irritated skin felt soothed and relieved. I continued using RESINOL, telling myself—this is too good to be true. Now my hands and skin are smooth, white, with no trace of trouble."
Remember—quickly relieve itching and burning of pimples, piles or hemorrhoids, rash, chapping, chafing with soothing, super-lanolated RESINOL Ointment and Soap. Relief fully guaranteed or your money back. At all druggists.

A ROCKEFELLER GIFT KICKS OFF THE CAMPAIGN

garten problem with other members of her women's group. Together they developed a preliminary plan for once-a-week classes in neighborhood churches. Volunteer teachers were to be recruited from church members and college students. The school systems would outline a program of instruction.

The initial response to the plan was discouraging. But in November 1963 Mrs. Schmutz showed the plan to Little Rock Superintendent of Schools Floyd W. Parsons. And Jan. 22, 1964—"I'm not likely to forget that date," Mrs. Schmutz recalls—Assistant Superintendent John Fortenberry announced that the school administration had accepted the KEEP plan and would start a six-week kindergarten program in June.

Raising funds

Because Arkansas law didn't permit public financing of kindergarten, it would be necessary to charge tuition—$18 per child for the 6-week session. That meant the program would be closed to those who needed it most—the underprivileged—unless funds could be raised. Mrs. Schmutz and four neighbors went to work. KEEP was formally registered as a fund-raising organization.

Donations trickled in slowly, until Arkansas's most prominent philanthropist, Winthrop Rockefeller, gave $2,500. In just 3 months, KEEP collected $7,434.70.

When classes started on June 1, 1964, there were 863 children enrolled in 24 schools for the 6-week program. Of this total, 440 paid full tuition, 253 paid a part and 170 paid nothing. KEEP provided the supplementary funds.

This summer "Operation Headstart," a nation-wide federal program to provide kindergarten training for underprivileged children, will get under way. Little Rock schools will receive $134,000 to finance an 8-week session, with longer days and free lunches, for 760 children from low income families.

There will be another six-week KEEP kindergarten program, too, serving those who don't qualify for "Operation Headstart."

If the combined PARADE-NEA "Pacemaker" plaques are intended for those "leading the way to better education for America's youth," it would seem obvious Mrs. Schmutz and her KEEP associates have done an award-winning job.

garten problem with other members of her women's group. Together they developed a preliminary plan for once-a-week classes in neighborhood churches. Volunteer teachers were to be recruited from church members and college students. The school systems would outline a program of instruction.

The initial response to the plan was discouraging. But in November 1963 Mrs. Schmutz showed the plan to Little Rock Superintendent of Schools Floyd W. Parsons. And Jan. 22, 1964—"I'm not likely to forget that date," Mrs. Schmutz recalls—Assistant Superintendent John Fortenberry announced that the school administration had accepted the KEEP plan and would start a six-week kindergarten program in June.

Raising funds

Because Arkansas law didn't permit public financing of kindergarten, it would be necessary to charge tuition—$18 per child for the 6-week session. That meant the program would be closed to those who needed it most—the underprivileged—unless funds could be raised. Mrs. Schmutz and four neighbors went to work. KEEP was formally registered as a fund-raising organization.

Donations trickled in slowly, until Arkansas's most prominent philanthropist, Winthrop Rockefeller, gave $2,500. In just 3 months, KEEP collected $7,434.70.

When classes started on June 1, 1964, there were 863 children enrolled in 24 schools for the 6-week program. Of this total, 440 paid full tuition, 253 paid a part and 170 paid nothing. KEEP provided the supplementary funds.

CHINESE ALMOND COOKIES
(Hang-Yen-Bang)

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon almond extract
30 (about) whole almonds (unblanched)
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon water

Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Blend in shortening with pastry blender. Combine egg, water and almond extract; sprinkle on dry mixture; stir with fork until mixture comes away from sides of bowl. Knead smooth; chill 1 hour (no longer). Form into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Flatten to about ⅛-inch thickness. Press almond in center of each. Beat egg yolk and remaining water together; brush over cookies. Place on baking sheet. Bake at 350° for 20 to 25 minutes or until pale golden brown. Makes about 2½ dozen.

OTTO PREMINGER

HOLLYWOOD'S MOST CONTROVERSIAL CHARACTER

by LLOYD SHEARER

LONDON.

To the average filmgoer—a teenage female, 14 to 19—a motion picture director means practically nothing.

Ask a dozen teenagers or even a dozen random adults as I have, to name one film director of importance. The probability is they can't. Yet, as almost everyone in Hollywood recognizes, the motion picture is the director's medium. Once a production begins, it's the director who assumes the responsibility of every facet, who assumes the mantle of dictator.

In a business of minor fuehrers, no director has earned the reputation of being more dictatorial and despotic, tyrannical and tantrumental than Otto Preminger, a pinking bald, pale blue-eyed, 60-year-old refugee from Vienna who storms through life as if he invented it.

Director and producer of such commercial hits as The Moon Is Blue (1953) The Man with the Golden Arm (1956) Anatomy of a Murder (1959) Exodus (1960) Advise and Consent (1962) The Cardinal (1963) In Harm's Way (1965), Otto Preminger, currently directing his 25th film here, Bunny Lake Is Missing, has over the years been panned and praised in the following quotes as the most contradictory and controversial character in motion pictures:

"A beast . . . a genius . . . a cruel, vicious sadist . . . basically a man of high principle . . . a producer of commercial claptrap . . . a charming, Continental sophisticate . . . a director whose themes are invariably too large for his talents . . . a full-blooded s.o.b. . . . a director of great skill and insight . . . If there were any justice in the world today, Otto Preminger would be a bar of soap. . . . In an industry of moral pygmies, he stands out, a fearless giant in his fight for freedom and his battle against censorship . . . He is the kind of man who if he ever murdered his parents, would cop a plea on the grounds that he was left an orphan . . . Thanks to Preminger the public today has the choice of seeing adult, mature, realistic films. No man is more responsible for breaking the autocratic, old-fashioned motion picture code which for so many years stifled artistic integrity in Hollywood."

Victoria, 4, with mother, former Hope Bryce, Otto's third wife whom he wed in 1960.

MAKE LIVING EASIER—TAKE A LOOK AT THESE SMART NEW IDEAS DESIGNED FOR YOUR HOME AND YOUR FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

No flats: Squeeze a new material from its plastic bottle into one of your present tires and it's said to convert it to a punctureproof tire. According to the maker, it forms a protecting fluid coating inside which moves to fill a hole immediately without loss of air. Independent laboratory tests support the claim and indicate the material can seal as many as 9 nail holes. 16-oz. bottle (for one average-size tire): $2.75. Heritage, Dept. PP, Box 111, New York, N. Y. 10012.

Sewing compact: You can keep all your sewing and darning materials in this new storage unit (below). It has spools for thread and bobbins, jars for buttons and snaps, graduated slots for scissors, compartments for patterns and trimmings. 30"x16"x6". Made of knotty pine, with copper hardware, it comes ready to finish. $19.95. Better Woods, Dept. PP, 508 Washington, Belleville, N. J.

Dispenser and container: Here's a doubly useful accessory for your car (below)—a combination tissue dispenser-litter container that can go at your right hand in easy reach as you drive. It holds box of tissue in lid which flips up to reveal windproof, waterproof litter section below. A wire adapter goes on bottom of unit and bends to conform with, and hold to, your car's transmission hump. $3.95. Wright, Dept. PP, 10800 S. Central, Chicago Ridge, Ill. 60415.

Safety gaff for fishermen: Just push a button on this one (below) and it's ready for use—and no chance at other times of anyone in your boat stepping on an exposed hook. Closed, it's 8" long, can hang from belt or go in pocket. With automatic safety lock, noncorroding plastic handle. $4.95. Fisher, Dept. PP, 4454 Central Ave., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sun bag: Handy new item for your trips to the beach is an 18"x18"x4" carryall bag that unfolds to become an 18"-high canopy under which you can shield your face from the sun. And in addition to carrying such items as suntan lotion, comb, magazines, towel and beach shoes, it comes equipped with folding backrest chair that fits in the bottom along with a 6'-long terry cloth reclining pad, a foam rubber pillow and a plastic drawstring bag for wet swim suit. Canvas or vinyl plastic in colors. $19.95. For details, write: SunBag, Dept. PP, 2565 S. Fillmore, Denver, Colo. 80202.

Screen cleaner: Quick and easy way to remove dust and dirt from your window and door screens is with this new cleaning device (below). Just roll it lightly over a screen and the double-action revolving brushes do the cleaning job in a few seconds. $1. Sunset House, Dept. PP, Sunset Bldg., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90213.

OTTO PREMINGER

HOLLYWOOD'S MOST CONTROVERSIAL CHARACTER

by LLOYD SHEARER

LONDON.

To the average filmgoer—a teenage female, 14 to 19—a motion picture director means practically nothing.

Ask a dozen teenagers or even a dozen random adults as I have, to name one film director of importance. The probability is they can't. Yet, as almost everyone in Hollywood recognizes, the motion picture is the director's medium. Once a production begins, it's the director who assumes the responsibility of every facet, who assumes the mantle of dictator.

In a business of minor fuehrers, no director has earned the reputation of being more dictatorial and despotic, tyrannical and tantrumental than Otto Preminger, a pinking bald, pale blue-eyed, 60-year-old refugee from Vienna who storms through life as if he invented it.

Director and producer of such commercial hits as The Moon Is Blue (1953) The Man with the Golden Arm (1956) Anatomy of a Murder (1959) Exodus (1960) Advise and Consent (1962) The Cardinal (1963) In Harm's Way (1965), Otto Preminger, currently directing his 25th film here, Bunny Lake Is Missing, has over the years been panned and praised in the following quotes as the most contradictory and controversial character in motion pictures:

"A beast . . . a genius . . . a cruel, vicious sadist . . . basically a man of high principle . . . a producer of commercial claptrap . . . a charming, Continental sophisticate . . . a director whose themes are invariably too large for his talents . . . a full-blooded s.o.b. . . . a director of great skill and insight . . . If there were any justice in the world today, Otto Preminger would be a bar of soap . . . In an industry of moral pygmies, he stands out, a fearless giant in his fight for freedom and his battle against censorship . . . He is the kind of man who if he ever murdered his parents, would cop a plea on the grounds that he was left an orphan . . . Thanks to Preminger the public today has the choice of seeing adult, mature, realistic films. No man is more responsible for breaking the autocratic, old-fashioned motion picture code which for so many years stifled artistic integrity in Hollywood."

Victoria, 4, with mother, former Hope Bryce. Otto's third wife whom he wed in 1960.

Various views

The above is a fair sample of the broad spectrum of opinion held on Preminger. Few people who have worked with him can discuss Otto with equanimity.

Jean Seberg, the young actress from Marshalltown, Iowa, discovered by Preminger for Saint Joan, one of his few flops, told me, "Preminger has the power to project terror, and for a long while he terrified me. Of course, back then I was completely unknowing and inexperienced."

Several years ago I asked Billy Wilder, one of the wittiest directors in Hollywood, where I might find Preminger. "He's at one of his two summer homes," he quickly cracked, "Belsen or Buchenwald."

The other side of the coin is presented by Jimmy Stewart who starred for Otto in Anatomy of a Murder. "He is one of the most competent, professional directors I've ever worked with," says Stewart. "He is always well-prepared. He knows what he wants, and he gets it." Says John Wayne who worked for him in In Harm's Way, "Sure, he explodes easy. But he always treated me like a gentleman." Before she came down with her three brain strokes, actress Pat Neal discussed Preminger with me. "He was once an actor," she explained, "and he understands our problems. If he raves and rants once in a while, that's his technique. Certainly, he's a most generous man. Do you know he paid me $10,000 a day?"

Lyle Wheeler, possibly the greatest of all Hollywood art directors and a man who has worked with Preminger through 17 films, says, "Like many men, and General Eisenhower is a fine example, Otto's got a short fuse. On the set he ignites easily. But boom! And it's all over with. In private, as you well know, he's one of the most charming, urbane, cultured men you could meet. This stuff about his being a terror has now become a legend, and Otto's too much of a showman not to perpetuate the legend. But underneath it all, he's about as hard as cotton. Look at the way he carries on with his kids."

Frolicsome father

Preminger has 4-year-old twins, Mark and Victoria, and when I interviewed him for this article, I found him playing with them in his fourth floor suite at the Dorchester Hotel. He was doting, indulgent, as frolicsome and warmhearted as any father could be. When a barber entered to cut his son's hair, Preminger was so solicitous of the boy one would think the child was headed for major surgery.

During the haircut, little Mark, the image of his dad, began to whimper. Preminger was immediately on his feet and in his rasping, grating, sandpaperish voice, roaring at the barber. "Vy are you taking so long? Vy must you make a production of it? I told you. He does not like to have his hair cut. Vy don't you listen? Cut it qvickly."

When the barber finished, Preminger gave him a 2-pound tip ($5.60), explained to me: "Ven you are a father late in life as I am, you are so taken by the vonder of it all, you vant to enjoy your children so intensely that lots of time you overdo it. My vife says I am spoiling them, and maybe she is right. But they are such nice children." He beckoned to them and immediately they came into his arms. "A man who has such lovely children," he said softly, "cahn't be all bad." He kissed each child softly, then after much persuasion agreed to talk a little about himself.

A doting father, Preminger fusses over son while hotel barber cuts boy's hair.

"You have known me for a long time," he began. "I am no monster. If sometime I behave badly, vich one of us does not? I do not remain long mad. I am a picture-maker. That is my job. I try to do it as vell as I can. I try to express my philosophy, my vay of life, vat I stand for in my pictures. I am an independent producer. I am beholden to no one. I am my own mahster. I cater to no one.

"I have always had confidence in myself. I have always been villing to gahmble on myself. I am no diplomat. But I do not go out of my vay to hurt people. I do not engage in flattery. If people ahsk me for an opinion, I give it honestly. Success makes honest behavior possible. This I have learned.

"I try to say something in my pictures and to say it in an exciting fashion. People say I have fought censorship for publicity's sake. This is nonsense. Vy should a film be banned because it contains the words 'virginity' and 'seduce' vich is what happened in the case of The Moon Is Blue? Vy should a police commissioner in Chicago ban Anatomy of a Murder because it contains the word, 'contraceptive?' I feel strongly about such things, and that's vy I fight them. If some good emerges, then it must be because others feel the same vay as I.

"I have no quarrel with the press and no quarrel with Hollywood. I think only that a picture-maker must be judged on the basis of his pictures—not on his temperament. That's all I ahsk."

BRIGHTER, SAFER NIGHT DRIVING

by F. D. FALES, JR.

RALEIGH, N.C.

You're driving on a rainy night along one of those dark, tricky roads. You come to a curve and suddenly the road seems to disappear. Heading toward you is another car and in the glare of the oncoming headlights you can't see a thing—no dividing line, no road edge, no signs, no fence, nothing.

All motorists have faced this kind of situation and known the frustration and moments of terror accompanying it. Yet this sort of night driving hazard—as these photos clearly show—could easily and inexpensively be eliminated.

These photos are the result of a series of tests conducted by PARADE on roads in and around this North Carolina city. Massing together a full array of reflective materials they were conducted to find out whether or not thousands of America's worst night driving death traps could be wiped out.

And the tests indicate they can—by better use of the car's own headlights. Under usual night driving conditions, most of this light is dissipated in dangerous glare or wasted on fields, woods and empty lots. But if it is properly reflected, entire highway complexes of crossroads, under- and overpasses, bridges, abutments and fences can be made starkly clear, even on the darkest of nights.

The treatment

The PARADE tests, worked out with North Carolina highway engineers, concentrated on four of the most common night driving dangers—the dark and sudden curve, the killer crossroads, the hidden bridge, city glare. In each case, a test crew made a run-through under "normal" driving conditions. Undetected were road edges, fences, curbs, signs... even an overhead blinker light. But after "treatment" with reflectors, "glow" tapes, and luminous paint and plastic devices, each "blind" danger spot was made marvelously and safely clear.

For example, in 90 minutes a two-man crew drove 20 slender posts coated with reflective paint and topped by plastic "mirrors" along the outer edge of a sharp curve. A subsequent night test showed the curve to be well-defined in our approaching headlights. Similar "treatment" to what had been a killer crossroads made curbs, signs and an overhead traffic light glow like stars. Painting an entire bridge with $70 worth of luminous paint made it stand out as if floodlit.

Highway safety researchers recently discovered we need "anchors" to drive properly—objects upon which to focus our eyes as we drive. These "anchors" help us judge speed, position, direction. At night, reflective materials would provide the "anchors" our eyes need.

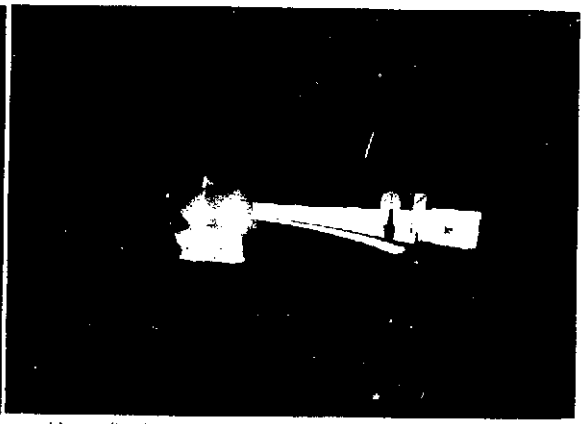

The techniques are known, their use relatively limited to the larger highways. But PARADE's tests prove night driving can be made safer for all roads. We only need care.

BEFORE

AFTER

After reflective material is applied, dimensions of the bridge are made clear and easily discernible in the headlights of driver's car.

PARADE'S SPECIAL

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

RUSSIA TODAY. Next Olympic Games will be held in Mexico City (alt., 7,800 ft.) in 1968. The Soviet Union is determined to win all events -- so determined in fact that its track squad has already been moved to a special training camp in the Caucasus Mountains. There, at an altitude of 7,500 feet, training is already under way. After three years of practice at that height, the Soviet runners should be fully acclimated when they race in Mexico City...For the first time since 1917 the Russians have issued an official manual on sex, an answer to the mounting demand that teenagers be supplied with some knowledge of the subject. Published by the official Soviet publishing monopoly, the manual was completely sold out three hours after it first appeared unheralded on the bookstands ...The first jukebox in the Soviet Union was recently installed in a Moscow youth club, and the teenagers keep it going every minute ...Aside from the food service in the major Russian hotels which is unbearably slow, what foreign tourists complain about the most is the lack of telephone books in the U.S.S.R. There just aren't any, which makes phoning anyone a federal case...Two biggest foreign hit plays in Moscow: My Fair Lady and Lady Windermere's Fan...Russian scientists, trying to produce nicotine-free cigarettes, are grafting their tobacco leaves onto tomato plants. The tobacco loses its nicotine but it takes on the taste of new-mown hay. Gregory Iljin, Moscow's crack biochemist, has been working on the project for years...Biggest run on a Gorky Street women's wear shop occurred recently when the store stocked Baby Doll pyjamas at $30 a pair...Jazz is now acceptable in the Soviet Union. Reason: Premier Kosygin owns one of the largest collections of New Orleans jazz band recordings...Russians with rubles prefer to buy furniture from Czechoslovakia rather than purchase the awful, hideous junk manufactured by their own workmen.

COLLEGE ENTRANCE. High school seniors finding it difficult to gain college admission can receive help from one of the following three outfits organized to match student-seeking colleges with prospective college students: College Admissions Center, 610 Church Street, Evanston, Ill. 60201; College Admissions Assistance Center, 41 East 65th St., New York, N.Y. 10021; Catholic College Admissions & Information Center, 305 McKinley St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20015. The fee is $15. The organization sends the student's transcript and college entrance scores to various colleges which in turn contact the student if they want him.

Chesterfield People:

They like a mild smoke, but just don't like filters. (How about you?)

Finn Gurholt is a chef at a resort in Utah

Malcolm W. Frasier distributes marine supplies in Massachusetts

Chesterfield People get the taste that satisfies. Do you?

Marion Brand, of Pennsylvania, is a cruise ship hostess

If you like a mild smoke, but just don't like filters, enjoy the mildest-tasting Chesterfield in 52 years. Tastes great, tastes mild: CHESTERFIELD KING.

"It's Hidden Magic–the new hair spray that holds and holds... yet loves to be combed!"

Spray it...if your hair does get mussed...it combs right back!

"New Hidden Magic stands up to a windy day with all the holding power of a stiff hair spray—only Hidden Magic isn't stiff! It's enchantingly easy to comb. The reason is an exclusive new holding ingredient... *Flexinol. Procter & Gamble invented it. And it leaves your hair soft and flexible. Really combable! And if that isn't Hidden Magic, my name isn't Wanda the Witch."

P.S. There's also a Hidden Magic "For Extra Control." Just look for the red label.
